

Primm Drug Scores 3-1 Win Over Murrell Carpet Co. Here Last Thursday Night

Primm Drug knocked the Murrell Carpet Co. softball team of Lubbock out of second place in the South Plains League here last Thursday night, winning 3-1, on the five-hit pitching of Red Denham.

Boyd Reese, Lubbock hurler, outdid the strong-armed druggist, though, allowing but two hits, walking three and fanning eight. Denham gave free passes to two and struck out 16, bringing his league-leading whiff total to 189. In the Shaughnessy playoff picture, Teage-Bailey of Brownfield is almost certain to be first, with Murrell Carpet, Primm, Reese, Farmer and Murrell Furniture fighting for the three other series spots.

Palomino Gift Shop Enlarges Quarters

The Palomino Gift Shop owned by Lois Taylor and Jane Wade, which had its initial opening April 20, 1951, are now enjoying larger quarters, but at the same location, on Seagraves highway.

When the Stinnett Blind company moved out of the south part of the building, an arch was cut between it and the gift shop, making the shop 24x30 feet floor space. The new part will be for the display of the fine china, crystal and more expensive line of gift items. This also enables them to carry a larger stock of the nicer gift items and at the same time have more display room in the older part for their jewelry, novelties, linens, etc.

Lois and Kate invite you to call on them and see the enlarged stock of gift items. Read their ad elsewhere in this issue.

Writes Events of Early Texas History

Actual events from Texas history, culled from a wealth of research data at the University of Texas, Austin, give a genuine flavor to "Divine Average," a novel of the Texas frontier.

Elithe Hamilton Kirkland conceived the idea for her historical novel while examining rare border depositions documents in the University library's Texas Collection and archives. Six years' research and writing on Texas history 1838-1858 were based on many more years of general study of that period.

Some of the characters in the novel, published by Little, Brown & Co. of Boston, are people who really lived in those colorful times.

Mrs. Kirkland, a native of Coleman County, dedicated her book to her parents, the late Free Hamilton and Eva Hamilton, both of pioneer farm and ranch families. She is the wife of Dr. R. D. Kirkland, Austin osteopathic physician and surgeon.

Before producing her first book, Mrs. Kirkland had a career in teaching, newspaper writing and radio. Her articles have appeared in a number of Texas daily and weekly papers.

DISAPPEARING INK MAN BELIEVED LOCATED

Deputy Sheriff Cliff Jones stated to a reporter of this paper early Wednesday, that it was believed the man who gave some checks here, using disappearing ink, has been located. Charges of fraud and swindle have been filed against the man, and Cliff believed that the arrest of the man was just a question of a few hours.

Primm 9-5 Record

Primm now has a 9-5 record, Murrell Carpet and Farmer 9-4 and Reese is in second with 10-4. Murrell Furniture of Plainview has 6-6, but if enough happened could wind up in a tie for fourth, necessitating a playoff to get in the playoffs.

The Carpetmen became the first team to enter the state tournament to be held here August 11, President Ralph Bumpass announced. Entry fee for the state is $25.

Ince Triples

Murrell got the one run in the fifth last Thursday night when Earl Ince tripled and came home on Whizzer White's single. White then went to second on a passed ball, but was thrown out trying to steal third. Reese singled, stole second and got caught in rundown going to third on a fielder's choice.

That tied the game up, 1-1, after Primm scored in the third when Bill Peary got on with a walk, advanced on a fielder's choice and came home on an error.

The druggist went ahead in the seventh. Fred Owens doubled, went to third on a strikeout and came home on a wild pitch.

In the eighth, L. G. Wilson walked and came around on two errors. Score by innings:

Less Than 3rd Annual Rainfall to Date

As this is writtend Monday, Terry county has received less than one third of the annual average rainfall of some 18½ inches. Luckily more than half of this fell during the months of April and May, so farmers could plant. The June precipitation was rather low, only 82/100.

By month this fall has been as follows, with but a tenth of an inch so far in July to add:

January	76
February	31
March	02
April	134
May	241
June	82

The varied jobs held by Hutson gives him a wide knowledge of both the outside and the office operations of the gas industry.

Hutson will make his home in Brownfield as soon as arrangements are completed for his transfer.

He is a member of the Lions club.

Senate Candidate Here Tuesday

State Senator Kilmer B. Corbin, of Lubbock, a candidate for reelection, was a visitor in our city Tuesday afternoon. He had addressed the Lions Club at Denver City, at noon that day. We might state here that the Senator feels sure of his renomination and election.

But, he had the usual plaint heard from all local and district candidates. "All the people are talking about is who is going to be the nominee for president?"

We feel sure however, that in the next two weeks, when the national conventions are over, that interest will boil down to nearer home candidates.

W. F. Christy, also of Irving, is here visiting his sister, Mrs. J. K. Shepherd, and other relatives.

Shivers First Gov. To Visit Brownfield

The first governor to favor Brownfield with a visit, was Allan Shivers, who spoke here Wednesday at noon. The occasion was a joint luncheon of the civic clubs, Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and Jaycees, at the Legion hall. Barbecued chicken was prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Privity, and was pronounced delicious, by the diners.

Gov. Shivers was met earlier in the day at the Lubbock airport by Burton G. Hackney, County Democratic Chairman, and J. O. Gillham, local banker. Gillham introduced the governor, stating "that while still a young man he had gone a long way in Texas politics." He also pointed out that Gov. Shivers was now chairman of the National Governors' Conference.

The governor in his 30-minute address, praised the REA, and said he was pushing for more rural telephone service. He was also proud of the 7000 miles of Farm-to-Market roads, and hoped by 1955 to have in reach of every farm and ranch in the state such roads, and especially school bus routes. He also favored more aid to state hospitals, public schools and colleges. He did not touch on national politics. He returned to Lubbock, where he was to make an address at night.

Over 200 people attended the luncheon and heard the governor, including quite a number of out-of-town people. Among a large delegation from Tahoka, was Atty. Tom Garrard, Rolin McCord, former district attorney, Calloway Huffacker and Editor Frank P. Hill, of the News. Among those from Lubbock, were C. W. Ratcliff, Avalanche-Journal Preston Smith and Senator Kilmer Corbin. From Plains, was Paul New, County Attorney, Stuffy Moorhead of Denver City and Elmer Kyle and Mr. Wellington of Seminole.

Good Rains Fall Over Trade Area

"Well, the glorious rains have arrived, and by hokey had you noted that the temperature is way down and you feel like maybe you'll live, after all? But there was some misery as well as good preceding the rains Monday night. High winds played heck with young feed crops in many areas of the county. Heard of one farmer that lost 200 acres.

The rainfall during the night here in town was 64/100, and that was about the low point we heard. Paul Gracey of the Union section said he got 65/100, just in time, but some crops were ruined by wind in his area. Horace Fox, out about 12 miles a bit southwest, stated he received one inch and that was about the amount the Wellman area and on into town. Maurice Thompson who farms near the line of Terry and Yoakum, stated he got 1.50 inch. We understand that most of the north and east part of the county got good rains. Still looks favorable, and if we get more before press time will add to this article.

A mass meeting was held Wednesday afternoon at the district court room when the proposition was discussed that certain unempt stores be and remain closed on Sundays. Several talks were made, most of those present seemingly being in favor of closing on Sundays.

Later at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Board, the board voted unanimously the following recommendation: "That the businesses affected by State Law Penal No. 286 and 287 be complied with."

Businesses that are exempt from this law are, drug stores and pharmacies, filling stations, cafes, ice houses, hotels and picture shows.

All directors of the WTCC have been invited to this meeting and other WTCC leaders expected are Homer D. Grant, Lubbock, district vice-president; W. O. Fortenberry, New Deal, director-at-large, and Loyal H. Fire Department Makes Three Runs

The Brownfield Fire Department was called out about six o'clock Monday morning to the building at 109 South Eighth, occupied by C. C. West second-hand store in front and the J. O. Young laundry, in the rear.

Mr. West can probably salvage some of his stock, but the only thing that can be used left in the laundry is the boiler. The laundry was insured for $1,900, and building for $500. We understand Mr. West had no insurance. The fire started in the rear of the building and its origin is unknown.

About 1 a. m. Sunday morning, fire destroyed the "Uncle Tom" Cargill fire stand just across the railroad on west Main. This building was unoccupied.

Monday afternoon, at the height of the sand storm, the fire department made a false alarm call on the Tahoka highway. No fire was found at this residence and it was thought that the roofing compound was melting, due to the intense heat, and gave off an odor of burning pine.

Pfc. Billy B. Murphy Injured in Korea

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Murphy, 302 West Powell, was notified Thursday that their son, Pfc. Billy Bailey Murphy of the U. S. Marine Corps, was injured in action in Korea on June 27. The telegram came from Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., USMC Commandant of the Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

The parents received a letter from their son, dated June 26, stating that he was leading a patrol on the front lines in Korea. He has been overseas since last November, and it was only a year ago Saturday, July 5th, that he joined the Marines. He is 20 years old.

Another son, James, is in the Navy and is en route to Alaska, and Mr. and Mrs. Murphy have five daughters, two of whom are employed in Tahoka. The family moved here last March from Tahoka.

Special Interests Are Family and Texas

"My only special interests are my family and Texas. First, Last and Always," was the assertion here of Senator Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock, who is running for re-election to a second term as State Senator.

Corbin points to his voting record during his first term as Senator from this district to prove that his claims are verified by the legislative measures he has sponsored or supported.

Always a champion of the farmer, Corbin has worked tirelessly to retain ownership and control of underground water resources for the farmer. He has vigorously opposed any form of state control or regulation of this important natural resource.

He has never faltered in his support of the farm-to-market road program, soil conservation, rural telephones or a continuation of the farmers gasoline tax refund.

As an alumnus of Texas Tech he saw a $4,500,000.00 building program completed during his first term, and works to see that the college has sufficient operating funds. These approximate $2,000,000 annually. But his interests are not confined to his alma mater. He also supports every measure that, in his opinion, will prove beneficial to the entire public school system.

Corbin supported the veterans' land program and all other veterans' legislation.

He opposes a state sales tax or a state income tax, but he has worked for increased old age assistance, improvement of state hospitals and redistricting.

Corbin was reared on a Dawson County farm, educated in its schools, and after attending the University of Texas School of Law, returned to be a school principal.

Later, at the age of 23, he became the youngest county judge in the state, a post to which he was re-elected twice before his successful race for the State Senate.

Corbin's service has proved that he is competent, and that his past experience and record qualify him to serve his district better during a second term.

Tennesseans Visit Terry Relatives

M/Sgt. Paul Luttrell and wife, of Roswell, were over for the holidays, having come in last Thursday. Paul is pay clerk at the Roswell US airbase, and his wife works as operator for the telephone company. Paul enlisted in the air corps for six years and has four more to go. Both are natives of Middleton, Tenn. he being a first cousin of Phillip Rogers, of the Harmony community, whom they visited.

They have been located at Roswell the past two years, but reason they have never been in Brownfield, is that when they visit in Tennessee, they go via Amarillo and Oklahoma. Paul is a second cousin of Senior Stricklin, and they and the Rogers' all were together for the noon repast at the Stricklin home, Sunday noon.

Robert Goolsby New Sanitary Engineer; Walter Breedlove Now With Lubbock Unit

Robert L. Goolsby of Lamesa will replace Walter Breedlove as sanitarian for the South Plains Health Unit, which comprises five counties. Breedlove last week reported for duties in his new position as senior sanitary engineer of Lubbock City-County Health Unit.

A new sanitarian will be named for Dawson county. Goolsby has been with the South Plains Health Unit the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove and daughter, Jane, 15, and Dean, 13, plan to move to Lubbock in the near future. He was with the five-county unit with headquarters in Brownfield the past 13 years, and has been in public health work at Sweetwater, Corpus Christi and Austin, before coming here. A graduate of Clemson college, he did graduate public health study at Vanderbilt University.

A "letter of appreciation" was written last week by James L. Bearden, Levelland sanitarian, in regard to Mr. Breedlove's work with the South Plains Health Unit. A part of this letter is as follows: "Mr. Breedlove came to work in this area over a decade ago when the words "Sanitarian" and "Public Health" were dictionary words to the people of the five counties in which he served. Through his use of sound public health knowledge and a vision of a cleaner and healthier area, these dictionary words became a reality before the eyes of the people.

"Much of the credit for our good milk supplies, good restaurant programs, and effective environmental sanitation programs goes to him. He saw the need for quality milk in this area and laid groundwork for sound milk ordinances which are the basis for any workable milk program. Likewise, restaurant ordinances were passed and last year's excellent eating establishment ratings were proof of his vision was becoming a reality. Mr. Breedlove also saw the need for qualified sanitation personnel in each county, and this has become a reality as well as many other phases of sanitation work that have become routine in your counties."

Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove and children are members of the First Christian Church and he is a member of the Lions club.

Governors Agree On Driver Training

With the political wars raging, it would be a miracle indeed if the governors of the various states were to agree on anything except mother love and the American Flag. However, the miracle has happened. All 48 state governors have expressed their agreement on the effectiveness of driver training in combating traffic accidents.

In a booklet, "Your Governor Endorses," published by the AAA Safety Department, the state chief executives state their unqualified support for driver training. To quote just one of them, Gov. Allan Shivers, of Texas, said: "I believe that the education of automobile drivers in a highly significant part of the public high schools' responsibility for preparing young citizens to live efficiently, safely, and with enjoyment."

However, public support must be had, before driver training can make the headway needed in this era of growing traffic fatalities. In the campaign to bring all the schools into the driver training fold, AAA clubs and interested civic clubs should be able to make excellent use of governor's support.

As an alumnus of Texas Tech he saw a $4,500,000.00 building program completed during his first term, and works to see that the college has sufficient operating funds. These approximate $2,000,000 annually. But his interests are not confined to his alma mater. Cheapest Feeds Are Home Grown

COLLEGE STATION. — Home grown feeds, especially pastures and other forages, are the cheapest and best feeds for dairy cattle. Such feeds, says R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, can provide the essential nutrients needed by dairy cows to produce liberal amounts of milk.

The specialist urges dairymen to plan for ample acreages of long season grazing crops, abundant supplies of high quality forage and enough grain to supplement the roughages and balance the dairy ration.

Here are some suggestions from Burleson that should help dairymen reach the objective of growing at home the forages and grains needed to take care of the dairy herd. He says determine the capabilities of the land on the farm and a soil analysis will help do this. Then follow good land-use practices and grow crops that are suited to the soil and climatic conditions prevailing in the area.

Following a suitable crop rotation plan will provide the pastures, forage crops for harvesting and the grain needed for the herd, says Burleson. At the same time, the fertility and physical condition of the soil will be improved and this in turn will mean higher yields. All planting seed should be of the best adapted varieties for the area.

A good forage program must provide for plenty of hay and sil-

Farm Tractor Can Be A Killer

COLLEGE STATION. — More than a quarter million tractors furnish the power for producing the major portion of the agricultural wealth of Texas. These machines, when properly handled and operated, are safe but when carelessness comes into the picture, they can become killers. Fatal accidents caused by farm tractors, points out E. C. Martin, state agricultural leader for the Texas Extension Service, usually result from some chance taken by the operator.

High on the list of tractor accident causes are failure of the operator to follow his operating manual when attaching equipment; operating the power take-off with shield removed; filling the fuel tank with the motor running; making adjustments on the tractor or equipment without shutting-off the motor and operating the tractor on a highway after dark without proper front and rear lights.

Many accidents result from over-turmed tractors. Martin says extreme care should be exercised when tractors are operated on hilly or rough land and in fields where there are ditches or creeks. Making hitches above the draw bar may cause the tractor to rear up and turn over backwards, explains Martin.

Never operate the power take-off unless it is covered with the shield which came with the tractor, warns Martin. It was provided for the safety of the operator.

The shortage of farm labor can be partially overcome by preventing every type of farm accident and Martin adds it's the business of every farm family to see that some member isn't taken from the job by an accident.

LIVABLE AND LOVABLE

HOUSE PLAN No. 46

In Farm and Ranch House Plan No. 5246 we have an attractive combination of old and new—the comfort and convenience of a modern home and the long, low horizontal lines found in the old ranch-style homes.

The kitchen-workroom area is so arranged that it has adequate space for comfortably and conveniently serving the meals and preparing and storing food for the family food supply. There is a large pantry and additional space for twelve to fifteen cubic feet of food freezer. There are fourteen lineal feet of drainboard space plus two and a half feet of counter space on either side of the range. Also, there is a storage closet for brooms and mops in the kitchen.

The work area leading to the back door can be close off easily by two sliding doors. It gives space for laundry equipment, a closet, and a shower and lavatory.

Each bedroom has six or more lineal feet of closet space and plenty of light and ventilation. The living-dining room combination can be used as two separate rooms or as one large unit. The modern folding door, which comes in pleasing colors, can be used as a separation when you prefer to entertain smaller groups.

This house will be as attractive with or without the attached double garage. We suggest that the exterior finish be of painted vertical boards and strips except for two small areas which may of masonry to give a variety of texture.

For those who use solid fuels and central heating, the work area can be rearranged so as to give a place for entrance to the basement and space for a chimney.

The narrow protected area along the front provides excellent protection from the sun and rain and serves to break the monotony of a straight wall.

You can obtain blueprints for this TERRY COUNTY HERALD Farm and Ranch House Plan No. 5246 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. age as well as pasture. High quality legumes or grass-legume mixtures grown on the farm will meet these requirements, says Burleson, but he suggests growing corn or sorghum for silage.

If the pastures are not producing satisfactorily, he suggests renovating and re-seeding permanent pastures to increase yields. The liberal use of fertilizers, and where feasible, irrigation are also aids to stepping up the production of pastures.

Burleson says it may not be possible to get such a program underway in one year but that all dairymen should remember the conditions created by last year's drought and resolve never to let them happen again. Having plenty of silage and hay on hand, at all times, is mighty good insurance against the occurrence of such conditions.

Foods Spoil Much Quicker in Summer

AUSTIN.—Bacteria grow more readily in warm weather and this increases the danger of food poisoning, warns Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Since modern refrigeration public health has improved. However, cases of food poisoning do occur, in spite of the more healthful measures of storing food.

Sickness from food poisoning usually strikes quickly and explosively, and those who do not eat the infected food escape. Usually in one to four hours after eating contaminated food, victims feel ill. If it is a mild case of poisoning, recovery usually begins in eight to 12 hours, but victims may feel the ill effects for several days.

Another safeguard to prevent food contamination is that the

Bulletin On New Pastures Released

COLLEGE STATION. — Every acre of cultivated land in Texas ought to be in grasses and legumes three to five of each ten to twenty years; to hold the soil, to keep active organic matter available to produce profitable crops or otherwise to make it pay. That is a thought for the future and is only one of the many listed in a new bulletin just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service—B-197, Building Pastures.

The author, A. W. Crain, formerly associate pasture specialist for the Extension Service, outlines the steps that should be followed in building pastures. Principles discussed in the bulletin apply to the building job on old cultivated land which is now in broomsedge, needle grass or other low quality forage; former low-producing bermuda, carpet or other pasture grassland that is presently infested with needlegass or broomsedge; timberland or woodland pasture cleared of timber by machinery or poorly drained, brush or "rangeland"—land referred to in this category is "native" land in the Gulf Coast Prairie area.

Copies of the bulletin are available at county Extension offices and county agents. Just ask for the new bulletin on building pastures. At the same time why not start making plans for improving the pastures you already have on the farm. Your county agent can furnish valuable information that can make your job easier for chances are good he can show you demonstrations where the building job is now well underway.

hands of the person who prepares food be scrupulously clean, and free from cuts and sores of any kind.

Usual symptoms of food poisoning are diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and weakness. Whenever you feel these symptoms, be sure to call your physician. Do not wait, hoping it will wear off; sometimes food poisoning is fatal!

The staphylococcus organism grows best in foods which are slightly fatty, such as fat meats, salads with rich dressings, cream pies, cream puffs, or any food with custard fillings. So if anyone in your family takes his lunch to work during the coming hot months, be careful of the foods you put in the lunch, and don't include any of these foods.

U.N. Spurs Drive Against Desert Locust

Since Biblical times, the farmers of the Middle East have considered the desert locust a sort of "Public Enemy No. 1." This situation has not changed much, but now, for the first time in history a number of nations are joining forces with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), to combat the plague. Above, entomologists of the USA and Pakistan examine dead locusts on a desert of Pakistan. Through its expanded program of technical assistance FAO is offering material aid in combating the plague.

This, That And the Other Considerations

(Just Random Thoughts)

Since the kidnapping back in May of little Johnny Wade from his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Wade out at Astex, N. M., and his recent recovery up at Levelland, there has been considerable discussion in the press and elsewhere. Most of us get riled beyond measure when a child is stolen for ransom, and injured or killed if payment is not forthcoming.

But it seems to put an easier pressure on our passion when a child is taken, as was his case, because a woman for reason of misapplied nature is incapable of bearing her own children, and craves one of her own that meets her ideal. This seems to have been the case of Mrs. Erlod, the abductress in the case of Johnny, who was going to give the boy a fine home.

Perhaps there will be some mitigating procedure of law in this case. But to forget and forgive may be the idea of the parents who have their treasure home again, the law must take its course. If it did not, there would be others perhaps that would go and do likewise.

The death of Editor and Publisher Gene Howe, of Amarillo, apparently by his own hands, was a shock to the many who have enjoyed the association with "Old Tack" as he called himself at press conventions and otherwise. He was a man of few words orally, rather expressing most of his ideas in print.

But, most of us cannot but wonder if Gene was not a bit off, when he took his own life on a lonely farm road. It was not lack of funds to consult specialists if his health was poor. He was at least able to drive his own car about the area.

On the same page of the dailies that announced his death, we noted another case of a very poor person down near Austin, in Lee county, who was drawn badly with arthritis. He not only was on a small pension himself, but was being looked after by other kin, almost as poor as himself.

Finally his circumstances leaked out, and people with influence and funds came to his rescue, and he was carried to a good hospital to get the latest and best scientific treatment for that disease.

So, this is why we must wonder if Gene was not more mentally ill than physically sick—at that time?

Mr. and Mrs. Orb Stice and daughters, Misses Barbara and Patsy Stice, have returned from a month's vacation spent in Canada, the Dakotas, Vancouver, Victoria, Oregon and Washington and California. They were joined in Columbia, Mo., by Miss Barbara Ann, who was attending Stephens college.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Fellow citizens, nice people, I come to you now with the platform I would choose, if I was to shy my sombrero into the ring. It would have just one plank—if would say, "George Washington's and Franklin's and Jefferson's ideas on Govt. are right up my alley, so I go along with them"—end of plank. I would not need pussfoot, carry water on 2 shoulers, deny I was a this or a that or used to be—I would stand there on my one plank. I would not need do a double-shuffle from plank to plank—get a foot caught in a crack maybe, and look ridiculous.

For the record, my "one plank" endorses to the hilt, horse sense, honesty and original Americanism. It is not cluttered with amateur do-goodism, or camouflaged socialism or worldweism. The Govt. would have plenty to do with just the Army and the Navy and the Marines and the Courts. Anything else is fuddles and not good for this grand land.

Any candidate, right now, if he chooses, he can throw his old platform on the scrap heap and climb onto my "one-plank" and take off. I will not be usin' same this season, and not being jealous of the idea, he is welcome—if he is a square shooter and on the up-and-up.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Warning About A New Insecticide

A new insecticide applicator is now making its appearance within our area. This applicator works on the principle of a vaporizer. The chemical used in this applicator is in concentrated form and is known as Lindane.

A word of caution should be given in the use of this insecticide in the concentrated form. If the vapor from one of these lamps is allowed to drift over open food for a relatively short period, it may cause a toxic condition if that food is eaten; consequently, don't place these vaporizers where they are directly over a stove or table where food is prepared nor should they be placed over uncovered cooking utensils.

Another warning is given in filling the applicator, be careful not to spill the concentrated Lindane on your person, as it will burn the skin.

In installing the insect lamp, take advantage of drafts and air currents passing through the building in order for the vapor to cover more area.—South Plains Health News.

So far as we are concerned, the weather is just too hot to get all stirred up over the nominees of any of the conventions. We believe the idea that some have of opening up with the fireworks, to "fit, bleed and die" for the great cause, is inclined to run up the blood pressure, unnecessarily. Although they are said to have the temperance of the auditorium where both the Republicans and Democrats will hold national conventions in old Shecogov were down about 65, a lot of fireworks could easily raise the temperature. If we were one of the delegates, we believe we would, if up there, prefer a shady spot along the banks of Lake Michigan. But somebody, it seems have to go through with the heat and hades in order to nominate Muff or Puff. Somebody has to be nominated every four years in order to save the country. Frankly speaking, however, we believe that every state in the union should pass preferential presidential primaries before another four years roll around. To our notion, this is the only way to stop the party bosses, who control by either a majority or minority, either making little difference with the party bosses. And these preferential primary laws should have some long, sharp teeth in them. We note that in some of the states at least, those who are elected as delegates, are either pledged if they like it, or they may disregard the results of the primary. We believe that if we are going to have such primaries, abide by their results. Otherwise, why have them? Why go to the expense and the trouble to have them? As we see the matter, this is the only way on earth to eliminate a bad condition, wherein the political bosses of the precincts, the counties and the states, are dictators. Their word and their action is the law. In the case of the Republican precinct and county conventions here in Texas, the will of the majority was nullified, and the command of a few dictators became the law. What encouragement is this for the younger generation to attend such conventions? Is this the idea we have in keeping men over in Korea to be shot? This is something to put in your pipe, and smoke, folks.

With this day of cheap but rather plentiful money, not a few working people find they have a few dollars above necessary expenses and high taxes. Feeling perhaps that there will come a day when the dollar will be worth 100 cents again, they are putting a lot of this surplus money into life insurance. Other than being a good investment, perhaps, it means protection in the case of death or disaster. Also, many people have found that they can borrow some money on a policy that is paid up or has run several years, when it is hard to get cash from another source. The amount of life insurance of one nature or another, has made rapid progress in the past ten years. In fact, the most rapid growth on record. Life Insurance News, in its latest estimate, state that insurance owned by American families, has reached the astounding figure of $265 billion dollars. This is some 12 billion more than at the beginning of this year, and 113 billion more than was owned at the end of World War II. From these figures, it appears that people are buying a lot more insurance from private companies, than they are investing in government bonds, some of which are tax free. But the money people are investing in insurance, is furnishing a lot of cash the government is presently using for defense measures, as the government is borrowing heavily from such money sources as the insurance companies. Aside from a good investment, life insurance, when the time of trial and tribulations come, is a source from which the family can depend for help without the bitter embarrassment of having to accept public charity. Many manufacturing plants depend on insurance money also, for the expansion or the building of new plants. We have never seen any figures on the matter, but we feel almost sure that the American people carry more life insurance than all the rest of the world combined, and that, folks, is saying something.

Well, the little political paper, the State Observer down Austin way, is still having more trouble than a tub of monkeys. It just seems like the world won't wag to suit the Observer. First and foremost, it seems that the paper's greatest tribulation is that the Texas Regulars and Dixierats have teamed up to control the Democratic party in Texas, and the Observer is afraid that the "loyal to Truman" Yarborough for Governor of Texas and Beckworth for the US Senate are not going over so hot in Texas. And reading between the lines, it would seem that the millions of Texas Regulars, Dixierats and Eisenhower Republicans that had joined the forces for Shivers and Daniels, had been augmented by hosts of others, perhaps from south of the border and elsewhere. And the editor of Observer predicts that Yarborough will "perhaps" carry every precinct in Travis county. Well, most of us would not be surprised at that either, as Austin, like Washington, has for the past many years been a hotbed of radicalism. Some people even say that the U of T has many more leftists in the faculty as well as the student body than middle of the road people, as are most Texans. And then, the Observer brings out of the political closet the fact that Judge Yarborough has a War II record. And while the Observer was in the skeleton closet, it might have found that a lot of other people have either War I, II or Korean records. But that fact does not necessarily qualify them for a position of governor or US Senate. The Herald believes the majority of the people of Texas are right, generally speaking, and we are willing to abide by the decision they make on the 26th day of July. And we don't believe for a moment, as the Observer continually hints, that either Gov. Shivers or Price Daniel are run by the "special interests" or the "oil gang." In fact, both of them have been pretty busy trying to make the oil and pipeline boys pay on Texas' natural resources that they are piping out to other states, almost tax free. If either Yarborough or Beckworth have been doing much about this matter, we have not heard of it.

at your place feel at home and welcome. It pays you, it pays your community and your state in the long run.

There always has been enough commies and radicals in the east and near east to make a big noise about imperialism, especially if American or British, or even French were concerned in helping one of those poor nations financially, develop their natural resources, and increase their living conditions. But there is good and bad imperialism, just as there is good and bad people. All the good part came to light recently in Saudi Arabia, by the Saudi Arabian Oil Co., when a bunch of Lebanese newspaper men visited these highly proficient oil fields. Let it be stated here and now that the American oil companies do not in the least try to interfere with the government or local customs. They run the oil fields, and let the natives run the government to suit themselves. But these near east newspapermen found that the American oil companies were doing something in the past few years that had raised the standard of living of these people more than for the past several thousand years. Huge sums of private capital from the USA has been poured into that little nation, and all profits are divided equally between the companies and the nation. The living and working conditions of the people have been immeasurably improved, as well as the education of the people. Modern farming methods and machinery have been introduced, and several blades of grass as well as crops grow where one grew before with their stick plows, usually pulled or pushed by the family. The same thing was happening in Iran, where the British were developing the oil fields and refineries. But the Iranians permitted a bunch of commies to come in and the British were run out. Yes, they were going to develop their own fields, and get all the profits. What happened? The Iranians had no oil experts, and their $50,000,000 monthly profit from the British has ceased, and they are worse than broke, and no one willing to go in with such conditions to help them. Perhaps the people of Saudi Arabia will be able to contrast the conditions in Iran brought about by the poor puke imitators of the Kremlin, and remain a good prosperous nation with a higher civilization.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. I am a World War I veteran drawing Civil Service retirement pay. Must I include this money in figuring out whether my total yearly income is below the ceiling for getting a pension for a total non-service-connected disability?

A. Civil Service retirement payments count as income only until you have received the full amount you have contributed under the program. After that, the retirement payments are not considered in computing income for pension purposes.

Q. Are there any cases in which a GI loan guarantee can be restored to a veteran's credit?

A. Yes, under the following conditions: If the property is destroyed by fire or other natural hazard; if it has been taken over for public use by the Federal or local government; or if it must be disposed of because of other compelling reasons such as change of employment or illness, not the fault of the veteran. VA, however, must be free from liability on the original loan.

Q. I've been training under the GI Bill, and I had to interrupt my training to enter a hospital. I expect to be hospitalized for a long time. Is there any limit on the length of such an interruption, which is beyond my control, under VA's post-cut-off-date regulations?

A. No. There is no limit on the length of an interruption beyond your control. You will be permitted to resume training within a reasonable time after you leave the hospital.

Q. I am on active duty, and I am covered by a $10,000 indemnity. May I name anyone as my beneficiary?

A. No. Under the law, you may name only those persons within the following categories: spouse, child or children, parent of parents or brothers or sisters, on any combination of these.

Q. I have a permanent GI insurance policy which lapsed and which VA has been continuing in force as "extended term insurance." Is there any way I can reinstate my permanent policy? If so, is there any time limit?

A. Your permanent insurance may be reinstated at any time upon application. You will be required to pay all back premiums with interest. If you apply within five years from the time your extended insurance would expire, you won't need either a comparative health statement or a medical examination.

Q. I soon expect to finish high school under the GI Bill, and I have some entitlement left. Could I go to college even though the July, 1951, cut-off date has passed?

A. Yes. VA considers that moving from high school to college is a "normal progression," and is allowed under its post-cut-off-date regulations.

Q. I applied at a lending institution for a GI home loan, and was turned down. What should I do?

A. See another lender. The fact that one lender is not interested in making the particular type of loan that you want does not preclude the possibility that another may be.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Stinnett and daughters moved last week to Amarillo where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Forgy of Texarkana, Ark., spent Monday night here with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Forgy on their return from a vacation spent in Southern Texas and Mexico.

YOU'LL discover a lot that you like in this neat, fleet and nimble traveler the first mile you drive it.

Such things as cushions broad and deep—six-passenger room unsurpassed by any car in America—fabrics rich, soft, harmonious.

As you take it through traffic—breast a hill or two—try it out on back roads—you'll find that you handle Dynaflow Drive* as if you had always used it—your ride is serenely level—and a great tide of power comes surging up as you need it.

This, you will say, is very Super indeed.

But no one-time sample can tell you the deep-down enduring thrill that is yours when you own this great middle series Buick.

How easy it is to park in round-town driving, especially if you have Power Steering.†

How relaxed you and the family will feel at the end of a long day's vacation jaunt—with Dynaflow Drive to let you drive at ease on the open road, without the tenseness of clutch-pushing in traffic—plus a Million Dollar Ride to protect the comfort of the family.

That ride is something to talk about. More than a dozen selected engineering features control roll and wander on curves—snub dip and sway before they get past the frame—carry you over all kinds of roads with lullaby smoothness.

And that Fireball 8 Engine—man, what a docile thunderbolt you'll find it to be! Here's a high-compression valve-in-head that really wrings miles from a gallon of gas.
