

Minimum Of $1.55 Is Set By Calvin As Basic Wage Scale For Braceros

Terry, Lynn and Dawson county farmers were directed to pay a minimum of $1.55 per hundred pounds in the field for pulled cotton to Mexican national workers by Michael J. Galvin, undersecretary of the U. S. Department of Labor, at a hearing which was part of an all-day meeting held in the Ceprock Hotel at Lubbock Tuesday.

After learning that the prevailing wage is between $1.50 and $1.75 per hundred pounds, Galvin changed previous findings of the department which first set the rate at $2 per hundred.

W. G. Boyd of Lamesa, spokesman for the farmers, said this was a much better agreement than farmers had expected, explaining that a sliding wage scale will be from $1.55 to $1.75 per hundred pounds of cotton pulled, depending upon the individual farmer and the prevailing wage in his particular community.

Under the new setup, if a bracero thinks he is underpaid, he can protest to a Mexican consul, and the U. S. and Mexico will jointly investigate the problem to determine whether or not the farm is paying according to the prevailing scale in his individual area.

The first order of the Department of Labor that Mexican labor be paid $2 was changed after two protest meetings by area farmers to $1.75, but was made retroactive to Oct. 13. Had that stood, Mexican national workers would have received about three weeks back pay, usually of 20 cents per hundred. This order was not implemented however, after Cong. George Mahon contacted Galvin and arranged for Tuesday's hearing.

One Majority In Each State Gets Election

We hope our readers will take time out to read, ponder and act on the article below by Dick West, on the editorial staff of the Dallas Morning News. You may ask what can you do? Write your congressman and senator and ask them to support the Gossett-Lodge amendment to the constitution of the USA, or a similar bill. Here 'tis.

"Ed Gossett, now general attorney for Southwestern Bell Telephone in Texas, championed while a Texas congressman the Gossett-Lodge constitutional amendment, which would count electoral votes proportionately to the population. If a candidate gets 52 per cent of a state's total vote, he gets 52 per cent of their electoral votes — not 100 per cent.

"The thing is so ridiculous now that it would be possible for a President to be elected by only forty-eight popular votes out of 65,000,000; if he won by just one vote in each state, he would get all 531 electoral votes. You couldn't call that a landslide.

"The Gossett-Lodge amendment has never been approved by two-thirds of both Houses — necessary for submission to states. Its chances may be better now. The new chairman of the judiciary committee in a Republican-controlled House would be Chauncey Reed of Illinois, long a supporter of this amendment.

"If electoral votes are counted this way, then the South becomes a vital political factor. An opposition party will be a reality, rather than an accident once every generation.

"General Eisenhower's victory doesn't necessarily mean that Republicans are a strong factor in Texas from here on. Mr. Hoover carried Texas, but whoever heard of the Republicans from 1928 until 1952? The Republicans didn't carry Texas Nov. 4. Dissatisfied Democrats did.

"But Republicans will be a factor here — Democrats will be in Maine — if their popular vote is counted electorally. Even if they lose they won't always get a goose egg on the scoreboard."

Studebaker In Centennial Year

If you happen to be passing the Studebaker sales and service on South Fifth, you will note banners out front telling you that the Studebaker Corporation is now celebrating 100 years of producing vehicles. Perhaps a third of that time would cover the period they have been making motor vehicles, but the company was considered an old one when the first motor vehicle was made to run.

We older people can remember back when there was no dadgummed popping gas wagons to scare our teams pretty bad, and Studebaker was even then making a fine buggy that the young swains liked to drive out in to carry his Susan Ann on a joy ride over hill and vale. They too, were considered the choice of the Traveling Man (Drummer) to make his trips to the small towns and stores off the railroad.

Then the Studebaker farm wagon was a general favorite with Pa, to gather his corn in, haul off the cotton or haul up the wood for the winter fires, or stove wood for Ma to cook the meals. The Studebaker Bros. have been building vehicles for the public a long, long time.

Garage Is Raided For Illegal Liquor

Two recent raids on a garage caed near Veteran's Hall resulted in the confiscation of a sizeable amount of beer, liquor and wine by County Officials.

Friday of last week a 1949 Ford pickup in the garage was found to contain 66 cases of beer, 1 full case of whiskey, 24 half pints and 12 pints of whiskey; 40 half pints of gin; 43 half pints of bourbon, an 12 bottles of wine containing four-fifths of a quart each. John Farquhar was taken into custody in connection with the case and later released on bond. Search warrant for the raid was obtained by Cliff Jones, deputy sheriff.

The previous Friday a 1941 Chevrolet touring car parked in the same garage was found to contain 8 half pints of gin, 20 pints of whiskey, 32 half pints of whiskey, 15 pints of bourbon and 8 half pints of bourbon. Pete Harlan was arrested for the illegal possession of liquor for purposes of sale. He was released on bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jones were visiting in Amarillo, Sunday.

JAMES R. DAVIS WRITES EARLY TO OLD SAINT NICK

Young James Riley Davis is putting in an early order to Santa this year, so Saint Nick will be sure to have plenty of time to fill his request.

The young man's letter to the North Pole says:

"Dear Santa,
"I want an electric seven-car train, and with it I want a track, a milk car and platform and a lumber loader."

Don't Fail To See The New '53 De Soto

Today, Thursday, Nov. 13, is going to be the big day of all days this year at the Jay Jones Motor Co., out on Lubbock highway. Mr. Jones will be expecting you to come see the new car, whether or not you are a prospective buyer presently or not. Mr. Jones doesn't want you to take his word, or what we have to say here about the new De Soto. See for yourself.

There will be two cars which you will be particularly interested in, the Fire Dome 8, and the Power Master 6. And the De Soto will offer such refined and new features as full power steering, power brakes, glare resistant glass, electric window lifts, and sweep around rear windows. It's lovelier than ever, says Jay.

TV Definitely In Brownfield

A street telecast in Lubbock tonight at 7:30 will bring television to Brownfield all the South Plains when station KDUB-TV officially goes on the air on Channel 13.

KDUB-TV was given permission by the Federal Communications Commission to go on the air before its construction is completed, and they can begin telecasting with the substandard power for the period from Saturday to April, 27, 1953. The station will be on the air seven days weekly from 5:30 p. m. to midnight.

The station sent out its initial test pattern last week, which was readily picked up by all dealers here and by others who had already purchased and hooked up TV sets. Local dealers are very optimistic and have for your selection a wide variety of makes of sets with as wide a range of prices.

Some dealers already are reporting large sales of sets. Some people who have not decided which particular set to purchase, have installed their towers. No need to go elsewhere to purchase your set, get it from your Brownfield dealer, who will stand behind your purchase and will have experience men to service your set. BUY IT IN BROWNFIELD.

How You Can Help Prevent Car Thefts

The private citizen can help minimize car theft losses by making a personal check of the motor and serial numbers on the car he buys. This is particularly important in the case of the purchase of a used car from other than an established and reputable dealer. The private citizen should also take certain habitual precautions when leaving his car:

1. Lock both ignition and doors. Recheck to be sure.
2. Where possible, avoid parking in unlighted areas or overnight on the street.
3. Do not leave parked for extended periods without a periodic check as to its safety.
4. Do not leave any article of value in a parked car where the article can be seen by passerby.

Toni Luckie To Appear In Concert

MRS. TONI LUCKIE

Toni Luckie of Brownfield, who possesses a rich full soprano voice, will be in the concert sponsored December 9, 1952, which the Cen-Tex Music Club is sponsoring. Mrs. Luckie played the role of Mimi in Puccini's opera, "La Boheme," where she sang for the Lyric Grand Opera Company's New York season.

Her gift of an unusual voice and an interest in classical music won for her a beginning scholarship for the study of voice and opera at the Hartford Conservatory of Music, and she continued her studies there for three additional years. This was followed by several years study in New York with Luigi Dell'Orefice, a voice conductor and coach of the Metropolitan Opera Association. While in Hartford she appeared in leading roles in student productions of "I Pagliacci" and "La Traviata" under the sponsorship of the Opera Club of the Hartford School of Music.

She also has coached with the celebrated voice student, Amy Ellerman of New York. Mrs. Luckie teaches voice in Brownfield, Levelland, and Lamesa and has appeared with the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra and in concerts in Brownfield and Levelland.

DISTRICT 7-AA IS BEING RE-SHUFFLED

There is some talk here and elsewhere that the Interscholastic League has decided to shift Littlefield and Muleshoe from district 7-AA to 2-AA. Newcomers to 7-AA will be, so the story goes, Seminole, Andrews and Kermit, making a five-team district with Levelland and Brownfield, present members.

In the meantime, Littlefield and Muleshoe will be shifted to 2-AA, in the same district with Tullia, Olton and Lockney.

An organizational meeting for District 7-AA has been called for 2:30 p. m., Sunday in Seminole, when schedules will be drawn and election of permanent officers will take place.

Get Info About Overseas Packages

Person or organizations planning to send Christmas gift packages abroad should familiarize themselves with U. S. and foreign regulations in order to avoid delays and possible re-packaging or re-shipment of the parcels. T. U. Purcell, District Manager, Office of International Trade, U. S. Department of Commerce, said today.

Up-to-date information on regulations governing shipments of gift packages from the United States to 64 different foreign countries is contained in a series of Business Information Service circulars available without charge from the Department of Commerce Building, El Paso.

The circulars describe the U. S. export and postal regulations relating to foreign shipments of gift parcels, as well as the treatment of such parcels in each of the foreign countries covered. They list the types of articles which may be shipped, state whether or not they are exempt from foreign duties and taxes, give the maximum sizes and weights of packages and describe markings and addressing requirements which must be met.

Cubs Ready For Wildcats

By Jack Lucas

The Brownfield Cubs, rated second behind Littlefield in District picks, will take on the Wildcats in Cub Stadium Friday night. The Cubs have been playing, eating and sleeping Littlefield for the past two weeks. They know the Wildcats have one of the most dangerous offensive machines on the South Plains, led by all-state nominee, M. C. Northam and another contender, R. L. Rhoten.

The big Wildcat defensive unit is kept intact by Cam Jordan, a tackle who is also another all-state contender. The Cats have one of the biggest backfields in the District. Even though Levelland nearly slipped by the Wildcats, don't let that fool you because the Lobos are one of those off and on clubs and they happened to be on that night.

The Cubs have no serious injuries for the game and all is in top-notch shape. The only casualty is Claude Cypert, tackle, who broke his hand last week, but will be able to see considerable action this week.

The Cubs will be fired to the top this week because of homecoming attractions, mom and dad night, etc. And also remembering what the Cats did to them last year, the Cubs will be carrying the fight all the way. The Cats have an all-senior line-up and the Cubs have two exceptions in Juniors Brown and Thomason.

So far, the Cubs have racked up more points against their opponents than any other team in the District, but the Cubs have yielded less points on defense than any club in the District.

DISTRICT STANDINGS	W	L	Pts.	Op.
Brownfield	1	0	33	6
Littlefield	1	0	28	21
Levelland	1	1	34	35

Don't Forget That J. Deere Harvester

And while you are making the rounds of the new cars these days, don't forget to call at the Johnson Implement Co., and see their latest thing in the way of a cotton harvester. This applies especially to the farmer, and if you are like the writer, nice farm machinery interests you whether you farm or not.

Let us state here that we are not prejudiced toward John Deere implements. There are others, lots of them. But John Deere has never made a disappointing implement. Back some 65 years ago, when the writer was just a small kid, our dad bought the first "turning plow" we ever remember seeing the name of the manufacturer printed thereon. It was a John Deere. The first riding middle-buster planter we ever owned down in Jones county, was a John Deere, purchased in 1907. Both were good, and their stuff still ranks with the top.

Former Faculty Man Returns To Duties After Army Service

Benny Galloway, former teacher in the Brownfield Public School System, has been approved for re-employment after his return from service in the U. S. Army. He was given a leave of absence when he entered the service in December of 1950.

Formerly a resident of Dublin, Texas, Galloway is a graduate of John Tarleton Junior College and Abilene Christian College.

Rev. Vernon Henderson closed the meeting with a prayer. Milton H. Simmons, president of the Alliance, presided for the business session.

Crowning Of Queen Will Be Highlight Of High School Homecoming Events

A colorful and varied program of activities is planned in celebration of Homecoming at Brownfield High School Friday. Highlight of the event will be the crowning of the queen and presentation of her court, and a parade downtown Friday morning will bring the Homecoming spirit to the entire town.

Opening the celebration will be a Thursday night bonfire and pep rally scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock at the 1100 block on East Reppto, which is the site purchased for the new elementary school building. A fire alarm will give the signal for the beginning of the rally.

Friday morning, all Brownfield

High School exes are invited to register at the school and receive name cards.

At 11 a. m., the school queen for 1952 will be crowned in the high school auditorium, and immediately following the coronation ceremony, a downtown parade will be staged by the queen and her court, former high school queens, members of the Cub football squad riding in convertibles, and the Brownfield High School band. A shirt-tail parade of current high school students and exes will complete the procession.

A short pep rally will be staged downtown at the close of the parade, and students will be dismissed for the noon hour there.

Kick-off time for the game between Littlefield and the Brownfield Cubs is set for 8 p. m., but pre-game activities will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The queen will be escorted onto the field, heralded by the band, and introduced by the crowd. She will preside over the Homecoming game along with members of her court.

Since Parents' Day is also being celebrated in connection with Homecoming, parents of football squad members will be seated down front in specially appointed chairs. Football boys will file onto the field through rows of cheering pep squad members and will then pin mum corsages on their mothers and present their fathers with buttonnairs.

The BHS Student Council will present a short welcome to visitors, and a prayer will precede the opening of the game.

"B" team games have been completed. The Junior High squad has a final game scheduled with Levelland.

Benny Galloway, army veteran and former teacher in the Brownfield schools, was approved for re-employment.

Sergeant Range states that the Marine Corps is strictly on a voluntary basis and when a man is inducted into the armed forces he cannot choose and be placed in the Marines.

Anyone interested in finding out more about the Marines can see Sergeant Range any Friday in Brownfield or write him at the Marine Recruiting Sub-Station, Room 200, Post Office Building, Lubbock, Texas.

McAllen Man Wants Game Selector Hound

Well, the old farmers may begin to examine their conines, as of now, to see if they have a mutt that will comply with the requirements of the man down at McAllen, who is this week advertising via our "Want Ad" division. Of course he is qualifying the rabbit hound he wants by conditions, the requirements being that the pup must be able to judge whether or not the hare is poor or fat. The poor ones are to be turned loose for more chaw.

We couldn't tell you if we were to be hung whether or not this man who puts out the cash for ads over the area for trained rabbit hounds was for Adlai or Ike. Or just whom does he aim to jest? Anyway, ain't we having fun?

As some one suggested, if the poor little rabbits are able to interpret what humans are saying about them, we doubt if you can find one in a month with a powerful magnifying glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Teague returned this week from a three weeks vacation in Florida and Havana, Cuba.

We read a very interesting article the past week about the very efficient police department at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. In the first place the Milwaukee police are not controlled by any political party that might be in power. They are on "civil service," just like your postal force at the postoffice. True, they have a police commission, made of the business men of the city. We believe one was a dry goods man, another had a repair shop, still another was a member of one of the professions, etc. And the police recruit has to have a good family background, and a high IQ. His training for the position of policeman is very rigid, and those that show any disposition to be a drag is eliminated before he has gone too far. There are not many equipped with patrol cars, but a huge majority of them are foot patrolmen. It is figured that on the sidewalks instead of out in the traffic, will be in a better position to see more of what is going on over the city. The force has no fear whatever that an incoming hostile city government can have much influence in their removal from the force. If the governor of Wisconsin violates a traffic law, he is expected to come up to the licklog and pay his fine, just the same as the man who keeps your alleys clean. Another great advantage is the education the citizenship has had toward helping the law enforcement department. They know they must have law and order, and when they see something crooked being done, or any suspicious looking characters congregating in any section of the city, the citizen immediately communicates his information to police headquarters, and the place and men are investigated. But unlike many places, the police of Milwaukee do not forget that a person may violate a law innocently. So when they stop a car making too much speed, or other violations, they do not use that old one, "Going to a fire, Bud?" But politely ask if he or she knew they had violated a law. And if there is a domestic brawl in a neighborhood, the police do not barge in and yell "What's going on around here?" It is no wonder that Milwaukee has such an efficient police force that they get a nice writeup in a magazine of national circulation.

As much as people are supposed to read and study these days, it was not thought possible that old chestnut about 60 families owning 90 percent of the wealth of the nation could still be believed by a very large percent of the population. But we are told that a father was greatly astonished lately when his son, a high school pupil, made that remark by asking the question. The reply of the father was, "I think you are getting a lot of misinformation." Down here in the rural districts, perhaps no teacher would teach such rot, but in many instances, in the large cities of our land, many leftist teachers are holding the positions, and what they teach children of the susceptible age, is not known to a lot of parents. For many years now, we have been regaled by exhortation from politicians, labor bosses and left-wingers about the sins of the large corporations and the capitalistic system in general. But you never hear them tell people that there are over 4 million business enterprises in the United States, and that 9/10th of them are classified as small businesses. And that small businesses account for 45 percent of the employment in the USA. When meat packers are mentioned, too many political haranguers leave the impression that there only a very few, and Armour, Swift and Cudahy are usually mentioned among them. Truth: There are over 3,000 meat packers in the USA. To bring the matter nearer home so our rural people may better understand the matter, among the largest enterprises of our nation are our farmers and ranchmen. Their holdings including land, buildings and machinery account for some $55 billion dollars of our wealth. And meat is one of the biggest cash crops of the farmer taking the nation over. These farmers and ranchmen are good business men as a whole, and that is the reason you get plenty wholesome meat when you want it, at a fair price, everything considered. But judging by how the election went, people as a whole are about fed up on the old socialistic propaganda that 60 families control 90 percent of the wealth in the United States.

We note that some of the writers, commentators, etc., are already predicting what will happen in the presidential campaign four years hence. Frankly, we do not believe there are many seers or endowed prophets this day and time, and those who predict what will happen four years hence are just barking up the wrong tree. If someone had told us four years ago, that Gov. Stevenson of Illinois would be the Democratic nominee and Gen. Eisenhower the Republican, we might be in a position to believe that someone now would be able to see four years hence — 1956. However, as there was not a great difference in the men as far as foreign policy is concerned, we must look to the domestic side mostly. There was we believe several reasons for the heavy deflection of the South from the Democratic party this year. The main one is that the South lost everything during Roosevelt's administration when they allowed the two-thirds rule in conventions to be dropped. Secondly, the South is against minority groups, either religious, labor holders, who made these well paying jobs possible, received $57,000,000. That was the very modest returns they received for risking their savings, and enabling the company to make its contribution to the well being of the nation. To make it more understandable, the government, that did not turn a hand toward production, took in more than as much again as the stockholders. The employees took in nine times as much. They alone took in more money than last year, while the suppliers, the government and the stockholders took in less. So, it would be well for all of us to keep that fact in mind the next time we hear a labor leader claim the laboring man is getting the little end of the stick.

Grandpa Dean Passed Away October 10th

Mrs. Sewell Dean was up from Wellman one day last week, and gave us the sad information that her father-in-law, recently passed away, following a stroke, at the home of a daughter, at Lancaster, Texas. J. B. Dean was 83, born in Arkansas, and his wife passed on many years ago, or before he moved to Terry county in 1935.

Many of the people here will remember him at that time, a very active man for his age, and a familiar figure on the streets. He was a member of the Church of Christ, and was always in attendance as long as he was physically able.

Sewell went down before his father died, and Mrs. Dean and daughter, Mrs. J. D. Roberts, Jr., and her husband, and Mrs. H. A. Dean, a daughter-in-law, went from Wellman to attend the funeral.

NOTE: This is one of a series of articles on our State Hospital System, prepared under the supervision of Dr. George W. Jackson, Medical Director of the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, and sponsored by the Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene, University of Texas.

Mary L. was a pretty girl. Her dark hair was always freshly brushed, and there was an excited look that often sparkled in her eyes and made her look like a kid at a pony ride.

Her eyes had that look the day she got the job with the social service department of a Texas State Hospital. She hadn't hoped to find work the week after she graduated from college.

She sat in the kitchen the night before her job started, watching her mother roll pie crusts, tasting the sugared cherries, and talking. "I'm so excited, Mom," she said. "This is just the kind of job I wanted. I like to feel useful and helpful to people."

That's what Mary thought. It took her a month to realize that the feeling of usefulness was soon mixed with a sense of frustration. The social service department numbered eight — eight workers and a director. Nine workers. More than three thousand patients. That meant that 340 patients looked to Mary for help in working out their problems of adjustment in getting furloughed, for help in placement work after discharge.

As Mary recognized how much training was necessary to do her job well, she enrolled in several courses at the University School of Social Work. She soon learned that willingness and desire could not replace professional training. The case load was more than the social workers could handle adequately, but Mary tried—just as all of them did. She made her little office just as pretty as she could; she tried to see patients and relatives; tried to keep her records of contacts with patients, families and communities up to date. The one secretary used all her time writing the required histories and letters.

Mary worked with Herman R., the fellow with baby curls and football shoulders, the man whose liquor bottle had become a crutch. She was delighted the day the doctor permitted Herman to take a job she had found for him, stricken the day they brought him back from the police station too drunk to know her. And Mary blamed herself for Herman's relapse. She had known he would need encouragement on his new job, but she had not had time to keep in touch with him.

Mary wrote careful notes about Willie J., the sixteen-year-old kid whose dark eyes spoke to her of hidden fears and deep, shaking misery. In the interviews with Willie, she could see him looking at her with hope and pleading. She thought of Willie often. He was the boy to whom grown-up terrible delusions had come with the first fuzz of manly beard. When he should have been thinking of footballs and girl friends and square dances, Willie was fighting his phantom miseries behind the walls of nightmare.

Mary's supervisor helped her understand Willie and his problems, and Mary spent a lot of time with him. It was she who wrote to his father when the doctor said Willie was well enough to be furloughed. And it was she who had to face that questioning look, who had to meet those miserable eyes, who had to tell Willie that his father didn't want him to come home and bother the younger kids. She had too many patients to be able to get out in the community and find a family who would take Willie into their home. Finally it was she who wrote in Willie's record, "Patient more disturbed. Privileges removed."

Before long Mary was seeing fewer and fewer patients. Routine jobs, paper work, letters and records ate up her time. She wasn't able to keep complete records, those vital notes so necessary to understanding and aiding patients.

When the director informed them that the social service department would cut their recording to the minimum, the inevitable happened. Working without good records was like trying to fight an opponent in the dark. Recordings were so sketchy that Mary couldn't even review them to help her grow professionally, to help her in helping others.

The social service department is only one bolt in the big engine of the State Hospital System. Doctors need records; so do the research workers. And compiling the information takes man hours.

A hospital cannot plan for the future without comparative records of the past. Doctors cannot know case loads without statistics.

gathering information for weekly statistical reports takes vital time away from patients.

Black words on a piece of paper. Important words. Words that record job placements, discharge number of patients, results of treatments.

IBM machines can speed the work process immeasurably, can free doctors, nurses and social workers for their job with patients.

Knowing all these facts, the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools has planned better record keeping as the first step on the list of 14 improvement points.

A statistical department was set up in August of 1951 and is now compiling case histories on 20,000 patients, gathering material for a comprehensive annual report. That much has been done.

BUT it takes many people to keep records. And people cost money.

The need is great. Ask Mary L. She knows!

Mrs. J. A. Vick of Hot Springs, N. M., spent Wednesday of last week here with her sister, Mrs. Roy Jenkins.

Ruthless Methods Used By Loan Sharks

AUSTIN — Thousands of small borrowers in Texas are paying 140 per cent, 200 per cent, and even 250 per cent to loan sharks but there is yet more to the evil than this, declares Senator George Nokes of Corsicana, chairman of the anti-usury committee of the State Junior Bar Association.

Even worse than the loss of money to the borrower through unconscionable usury is the effect on his health and happiness, the committee has found. A borrower becomes so burdened with the high interest payments, that, in most instances, he gets behind and then he is subjected to harassment which grows more and more severe.

At first, he receives dunning letters which threaten his credit rating. Then he is called over the phone at his place of employment several times a day and at his home so frequently that he may quit answering his phone entirely. Then he will receive special delivery letters and telegrams late at night in order to break into his rest.

SOMETHING STRANGE FELL HERE LAST WEEK

Most of us older ones and all of the young'uns, had a guessing match Monday, and especially Tuesday, on just what that damp stuff was falling from the skies. Finally, a guy from 'way back east said it was rain.

Joking aside, the amount that fell Monday was hardly measurable, but we got 15/100 Tues., the first rain since September. Not a drop in October.

South Plains Pigs Go To Central America

LUBBOCK—Two hundred pigs, bred and raised on West Texas farms, will be loaded aboard a huge transport plane at Lubbock Municipal Airport Nov. 17 and then flown to Central America in the first "Pig Lift" from the South Plains.

Agricultural and civic leaders from 10 South Plains counties are working with representatives of the Texas Interfaith Service Committee and the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) to provide the small farmers of Costa Rica and El Salvador with high grade pigs which will improve the farms of the two Central American nations.

The "Pig Lift" is aimed at bettering the understanding between the farmers of the United States and the two countries to the south. As Martin Strate, representative of one of the Interfaith organizations, said here recently, "The program endeavors to help 'the little guy' in his struggle for a better life. That will do much toward changing his thinking in favor of the Christian and democratic ideas we in the United States have to offer."

The pigs are being gathered from Hale, Floyd, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Cochran, Lamb, Bailey and Lubbock counties and taken to the Texas Tech farm where they will be graded, inspected and inoculated on Nov. 6, 7, and 8. The animals will remain at the farm until time to load the plane Nov. 17.

A special program for the public will be presented at the Lubbock Municipal Airport before the first pigs are loaded into the transport plane. Among the distinguished guests to take part will be representatives of the government of El Salvador.

Each of the pigs to be shipped will weigh between 45 and 60 pounds. Only high grade animals will be sent. A tag bearing the name of the person or organization giving the pig, or the money necessary to purchase the animal, will accompany each pig.

County agents, vocational agriculture teachers, Farm Bureau representatives, civic club members and church leaders in all of the counties have been assisting in the drive to obtain the animals.

J. W. Ball was in one day recently to try to get his paper straightened out as he was getting two Herald's each week. He should have had a three year credit on his old subscription which expires in February, next, instead of starting a new paper.

But J. W. 'frowned' as how he would be glad when another week rolled around, and this political campaign was over. He was really getting fed up on political gab, and we knew just how he felt. Yep, we're also glad it's over. Maybe something else to talk about for awhile.

Harve Harris Called On The Herald

Our old friend, Harve Harris, of Tatum, N. M., called on us one day recently, as Harve would feel real mean if he did not call on us when in Brownfield. He and Mrs. Harris were over to see a sick friend in the hospital here, and incidentally to do a bit of shopping.

Harve stated that he and the Mrs. had just returned from California, where they had a nice visit with his youngest daughter, as well as a fine trip. He gave us a special invitation to visit them any time.

By the way, he stated that they were having some serious wrecks over his way. One caused by someone taking a chance in passing a hay truck, and ran into another car. One dead, and another likely to die.

Miss Doris Mahaffey, Harold Starkey Wed In Double Ring Vows At Norman

Mrs. George A. Smith of Norman, Okla., announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Doris Eileen Mahaffey of Brownfield, to Harold Ray Starkey of Abilene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Starkey of Wheeler. A double ring ceremony was read before a background of pink chrysanthemums at the home of the bride's mother in Norman, Sunday, Nov. 2, at 3:30 p. m., by Rev. E. F. Hallock of Norman.

Given in marriage by her brother, James M. Mahaffey of Texas, the bride wore a light arctic blue wool gabardine suit with a mauve blouse and dark brown accessories. Her hat was trimmed with pearls and rhinestones, and her corsage was of pink roses.

For something old the bride carried her grandmother's lace handkerchief, and something new was a wrist watch, which was the gift of the bridegroom. Her mother's lavalier was something borrowed, and her wedding suit was something blue.

Mrs. Carol Killingsworth of Briscoe attended the bride as matron of honor and wore a dark brown suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums. Carroll Killingsworth served the bridegroom as best man.

A dark red dress was worn by the bride's mother, and the mother of the bridegroom chose a dark green suit. Their corsages were of white carnations.

John Jay Hughes of Abilene provided a musical background for the ceremony with the accordion selections "I Love You Truly," "Because" and traditional wedding marches.

At a reception held following the service, the bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered by an arrangement of pink and white chrysanthemums flanked by pink tapers burning in crystal candelabra. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink and white bells.

Miss Kathleen Mahaffey of Austin, cut the cake, and Mrs. Tom R. Collins of Lubbock, served punch. Presiding at the bride's book was Mrs. Jack Shirley of Lawton, Okla. All three are sisters of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Lake Murray, near Ardmore, Okla., the couple will be at home in Abilene at 281 College Drive.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Wheeler High School and has just returned from France, where he served two years in the U. S. Army. He is employed at Abilene.

A graduate of University High School at Norman, Okla., and the University of Oklahoma, the bride taught homemaking at Wheeler

So, We Have A "Great Grand Baby"

John and Beverly Dunn had something other than Election Day to celebrate down at Abilene, Nov. 4th. On that day, appeared little John Randall Dunn, a 5 pound, 12 1/2 ounce bouncing boy to bless their home. When we were down at Abilene a few weeks ago, we failed to see Beverly or her husband, but learned they were expecting an arrival soon. Had a nice time with Beverly's aunt, Miss Vona Lee Ditto.

Let the reader gets a bit mixed up and thinks we are blood kin, and the new arrival is really our great-grandchild, will say that we used to neighbor a lot with the W. W. Ditto family, when they moved to Brownfield about 1918, after the railroad came, and ran the old Santa Fe hotel that burned to the ground in the 20ties, after the Dittos began to run the Hill hotel.

Irene, the mother of Beverly, was then just a very small girl, and Vona Lee, the other child, a few years older. Irene would then sit in our lap, and we called her our baby. Many years later, Beverly appeared, and she took to our lap, and she was our grand baby in make-believe.

And our affection for each other almost justified the make-believe. So, now comes little John Randall, and naturally the Old He feels that he and the Mrs.

Texan Chosen "Miss Navajo County"

Winning a beauty and talent contest in Winslow, Ariz., and named "Miss Navajo County" in a county contest at Holbrook, Arizona, was a former Brownfield girl, nineteen year old Lavon Killion, daughter of the late Bro. Killion, minister of the local Church of Christ, when it was located on West Main. He passed away in Brownfield in 1945. She has been a resident of Winslow for the past seven months.

Lavon was chosen by judges for beauty, poise, personality and talent. She sang two selections at the contest. Dick Gilbert, Miss Arizona chairman for the state fair commission, told spectators at the judging that Miss Navajo county had an excellent chance to take the Miss Arizona contest at the state fair in November.

The contest winner graduated from high school in Texas and attended Ventura Junior College, where she majored in languages and was given a life membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, junior college scholarship society.

She was also a member of the Spanish and French clubs and was president of the Future Homemakers of America on the Ventura campus. Active in the capella choir and the drama department, she played the lead in "Father of the Bride" and sang the lead in "It's A Date." Her hobbies include dancing, singing and all out-of-door sports.

In Winslow she lives with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lowe at 410 Willmay.

Lavon plans to resume her college career and become a Spanish teacher.

Now For A Fuss With The Tennesseans

This week, our cousin, Phillip Rogers, who farms out in the Harmony community, hand us clipping from the Memphis Commercial Appeal, that was sent us by his sister-in-law, and our niece. It was about an old gentleman down in Mississippi, in the Tupelo section, some 50 miles south of the old home town, Middleton, Tennessee. The man was shown in his cotton patch standing in cotton that would, it stated, make between three and four bales to the acre.

Fine, you say, and it will appear even finer when we tell you that the old gentleman was 81 years old. We didn't have to guess that his field would be termed a cowpen for acreage out here, as trees were shown in the background. But the article stated he had five acres. He buys the finest seed he can hear of, which is a kind of contrast to our childhood days back there, when a cottonseed like the cow, was just a cow or cottonseed. Cows might be brindled, spotted, red, or pided, some were called old Pide or Red. And the only diversion in seed was the "stormproof" variety.

How we remember as a child, and being the youngest, we hated cotton picking like God hates sin. So, the older children would greatly fret us by yelling, "stormproof" to awake us out of bed. How we hated that cotton. But back to the old man down in Miss. We also wondered how much fertilizer he used cost him, and the many days he fought crabgrass and cockleburrs? This all reminded us of an argument we had with Phillip's mother down in Johnson county recently.

She kept poking fun at our little midget sized cotton, and how sorry it looked to her. We admitted that the stuff was way

FOUR LOCAL STUDENTS ATTENDING HS U

ABILENE—Four persons from Brownfield are among the 1450 students enrolled this fall at Hardin-Simmons University. They are Alvin Strickland, Jr., Peggy Nelson, Lorene Springer, and Willa Johnson.

Strickland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Strickland, Sr., is a senior at the university.

Miss Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nelson, is also a senior at the university. She is a member of the Colts Club, Home Economics Club and the Future Teachers of America.

Miss Springer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hargrove, is a junior at the university. Miss Johnson, a sophomore at the university, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Johnson. She is a member of the Dramatic Club and the J. W. A., a missionary organization for Baptist young women.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Truly, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Billings and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jones attended Western Wear Markets in Amarillo Sunday, where they made purchases for Western Boot and Shoe Shop, of which Mr. Truly is owner and Mr. Billings manager.

Below normal. But, says we, we'll bet a ginger cake to a doughnut that Phillip out there in Terry will make more cotton and easier this year than any five of the kin back there — and we named them.

But after telling Phillip the incident, both of us named the catch. He will hire all his gathered. They back there will do their own work. Phillip will make from two to three long, costly trips back there in a year. They don't go any farther than Corinth, Jackson or Memphis, perhaps.

Right here we'd better call a halt, or we'll have to stay at a hotel or the wagonyard next time we go back there.

CRESCENT HILL CHURCH OF CHRIST

T. J. Finley, Evangelist

Last Thursday night, Brother Maurice Hall, who has recently returned to America from Paris, France, gave a report on his work to the Crescent Hill Church. Several visitors were present for this service. Among those visiting were representatives from the Southside church here in Brownfield and the church in Denver City.

Brother and Sister Hall have spent three years in France working among the people of Paris in particular. Those converted by their teaching of the New Testament scriptures include people from several different nations of the world. In Brother Hall's report, he outlined the nature of the work, which included both advantages and disadvantages.

Following his address he showed a short film. The film depicted the "Parable of the Sower," as given by our Lord, and how this was being fulfilled by preaching in France. The film also included pictures of the meeting place and the people who make up the Church of Christ in France. The church here has been helping in the support of this work for the past three years. They rejoice over the good that has been accomplished by the efforts of so few.

The young people had the opportunity of listening to a very interesting discussion by one of the young men last Sunday night. Orville Miller spoke on the subject, "Wherefore come ye out from among them." He spoke of how evil companionships can do interfere with Christ and living. All enjoyed this very much. These young people are planning a party before Christmas and are asking that all bring a toy to be sent to small children. This is an indication of their interest in providing joy and happiness for others. They not only have the knowledge of the Lord's will, but are given opportunities to practice the things they learn.

Says Ike Victory Will Aid Farmers

CHICAGO — Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau, said in Chicago today that the nation's farmers joined in the stamped for Gen. Eisenhower to get a "new look" for America's agriculture.

The leader of the 1,500,000-member farm federation declared: "Gen. Eisenhower's election will give the U. S. farmer a new approach to agricultural problems. There will be a long-range decentralization from Washington. Rigid price controls will be broken down. Farm prices will gravitate towards a supply-demand economy." Kline also revealed that he would meet with Eisenhower soon to discuss an appointment as Secretary of Agriculture, but said he would not accept the cabinet post if it were offered him.

Master Sergeant, W. I. Klutzing is expected to arrive home the 15th, from Japan, where he has been stationed the past year. His wife is the former Peggy Lewis. They have two boys and two girls. Their baby being only one month old when he went in service, he will have the pleasure of getting acquainted with a real personality in his little daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williford have moved to San Angelo.

MEXICAN

Stricklin Speaking

By OLD ME
(Delayed)

Had a letter from Thomas L. Blanton, now of Albany, 'tother week, who was blasting out the administration. If we had printed a tenth of the stuff we received, it would have taken 40 pages every week in October.

But the Herald was glad to hear from Tom Blanton, now 80, who was once our congressman of the old 16th Congressional district, when it took just about all of west Texas to form one district. Tom Blanton, then of Abilene, was no pussyfoot back in those days. You always knew what side of the fence he was on. He never straddled the fence, and some people thought he was just a bit on the radical side. Those were the days when Woodrow Wilson was president. But Thomas L. Blanton was a shrewd man, and time usually proved he was right on most questions.

Right here we'd better apologize for ignoring Mrs. Will (Ellen) Rogers on our trip writeup last week. We left her name out as being among those at our brother, Meeks', home that weekend, but made a notation in the proofs when we read them, but the corrector failed to get it.

But Ellen was there in all her glory. In fact, being from Tennessee, she was about the center of attraction. Besides, we may go back to old Tennessee again some of these days, and if we do, she might ignore us.

Speaking again of hunting down there by the Jr. partner of this firm, who heard no squirrels, saw no squirrels, and shot no squirrels, a Fort Worth nephew had much better luck a few weeks before. He visited the farm and got some eight of the bushy tails along the creek that runs through Meek's place.

While viewing the fine new $50,000 brick and tile improvements across the street at the Cicero Smith Lumber yard the other day, that would do credit to any city, we were reminded of a crack that Cecil Smith, manager of the Higginbotham - Bartlett Lumber Co., another huge lumber company here, made recently.

Cecil happened to be fresh out of some item a customer wanted, and suggested that he might get the item "down at the little lumber yard on the draw," meaning, of course, Cicero Smith yard.

It was one of the main guys over at the Cicero yard that told us about the crack Cecil made. And knowing the long friendship of the two managers, Fred Smith of Cicero Smith, and Cecil Smith of Higginbotham-Bartlett, both men being members of the same church and lodge, we knew there was no possibility of a duel being fought over the matter. But it was funny, anyway.

When one starts up the streets these days, in Brownfield, especially Saturdays, he begins to wonder whether or not he is in Brownfield or Juarez, Mexico. Anyway, while the Nationals, especially, are quite a headache to the old farmer, as he must watch them like a hawk watches a chicken, and keep accurate account of this, that and the other, they are helping to get out the crop.

Right now, farmers are trying to get some adjustments through the red tape at Washington, especially over wages. Presently, if we understand the matter, the National Mexican draws wages right through wet days like Monday and Tuesday.

Just to our lone self, we saw a standoff last weekend between brother Meeks Stricklin, down on the farm, and his son, Alton of Cleburne. Now Alton is a Baylor U. fan, having attended that institution, and there was a tie between Baylor and TCU Saturday.

Meeks is a confirmed TCU fan, he don't know why, perhaps they are the closest Texas Conference team to his radio, as Ft. Worth is a bit closer to his farm than Waco. But we wondered how they got along about the tie.

Down at Snyder last Friday night, instead of letting the Junior Hi students mope around over town and plague the inhabitants with crazy pranks, they held a carnival with concessions of one thing and another at the school building. A card from the kids stated that it was a grand success, as they took in $2100. Gave way a TV set, and an Odessa man got it.

Here in Brownfield, there was nothing particular except regular means of entertainment, but we believe there was a minimum of ghoulish pranks. Those marching in small squads from house to house to collect cake and candy in their rather large bags, were mostly small fry, and they did not bother to soap or lipstick your door if they got a treat.

But once, when the lady of the house was just a bit slow in getting to the door, she heard one youngster say, "bring the lipstick, they ain't going to give us nothing." Maybe something like the Randal school put on earlier would meet the needs of good entertainment, a rather good money take, and less hoodlumism, by moving the affairs up to October 31, instead of earlier.

We become just a bit fearful when law enforcement officials begin having dangerous lawbreakers fire shots into their homes, as in Lubbock this week. The man is not only endangered, but his family likewise. Such lawlessness leads to episodes like that at Alice recently. The wrong man was shot, and not the one intended.

Killings of whatever nature are bad, and if permitted to spread, most of us will take our lives in our hands when we venture out after nightfall. Liquor peddling, as well as all other lawlessness should be cleaned up pronto.

A. B. Davis, manager of the Panhandle South Plains Fair, writes us that the fair had a record breaking attendance of 165,000 people for the six days this year, perhaps the largest of any regional fair in Texas.

He asks us to thank local people for them for the part they took in making this outstanding record. They are also planning a bigger, better fair next year.

New Glamor in the Bath

New color and glamor are added to the bathroom with the "successor to the shower curtain." It's the Cascade bath enclosure of Plexiglas, transparent jewel of the plastics, made by Fiat Metal Manufacturing Company.

In addition to being functional, it never needs laundering or replacing and it's perfectly safe. The panels are available in Petal Pink, Glamor Gold and Crystal Clear to provide the proper complement to any bathroom color scheme.

Installation, comparable to putting up a curtain rod, consists of fixing the polished aluminum top and bottom tracks in position and inserting the sliding Plexiglas panels between. No punching or drilling of the tub rim is required. It really keeps water off the floor because you can't leave it hanging outside the tub. The new bathroom fixture, which may be moved from house to house as easily as a chair or table, is available through local plumber dealers for about $80.00.

Echoes From The Election

By Jacob Sandage
The election has come and gone and the flag of Democracy still proudly waves over the land of the free and the home of the brave.

It is to be hoped that the Pennington man is not only a "lame duck" but is forever and ever a duck in politics.

It should be remembered, that according to press reports a few months ago, that Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau, said that the Ike-victory will aid farmers.

Hail To Those Old 1917-18 War Vets

Year by year, those old 1917-18 War Vets are thinning, but there are a lot of them hereabouts yet.

Some of them were volunteers in the 36 Division, while others were drafted in the 90th, both pretty well made up of Texans.

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE
We note that the Old He's column was left out last week as some of the less worthy stuff.

Elsewhere in this issue, we are reproducing a portion of an article by Dick West, Dallas News editorial staff.

The electoral college is both out dated and outmoded. Few people have ever stopped to reason that if one man, should carry each of the 48 states by just one popular vote in each state, he would get every electoral vote.

We note that a Vernon Judge has selected a couple to adopt the six year old crippled boy, beat to unconsciousness by his mother about two years ago.

Our good friend, D. P. Carter, who was a strong Stevenson man, was in this week with a new ad, and remarked that he believed everyone read our editorials.

Speaking of elections, we could not help notice the hedging way, the halting way H. V. Kaltenborn spoke on election night.

It is the easiest thing in the world to criticize and find fault, especially with someone who may disagree with you.

And back to politics, we note that Andy Gump fainted dead away when he found that his name was not even on the ballot.

We have been hearing Uncle John Santa Fe's diesel engine note for the past few weeks, and noted the change in tone from the old steam variety.

Now let it be said right here that we're not trying to ridicule this new means of motive power or the Santa Fe railroad on our short branch line.

Wellman FHA News

As a windup of the observation of National FHA Week, the Wellman Future Homemakers met for a regular meeting in the home-making lab, November 7.

The theme of the program was based on purpose 1, "To promote the Growing appreciation of the Joys and Satisfaction of Home-making."

In the business meeting that followed, Ronnie Graham was chosen Future Homemaker Sweetheart for 1952-53.

Ronnie is a senior at Wellman high school, and a member of the Wildcat football squad.

Armistice Day in Brownfield was celebrated very quietly. There were something better than one hundred service men and a few wives gathered at the Veterans Hall.

Mr. Nelson stated that everything went off smoothly, not even any fireworks of any kind.
