It isn't always important what you make or how many. But how well you make it. Read a story the past week about the city of Jackson, Michigan, that well illustrates this point. Some 30 years ago, or during the teens and early 20ties, this city was the biggest automobile manufacturing city in the USA. Some of the cars that were turned out there at that time, were the Carter, the Jackson, the Briscoe and the Earl. And really, they had some very appropriate slogans. For instance, that of the Jackson was, "no hill too steep, no sand too deep." And the Briscoe was the car "with the million dollar motor." Some thirty years ago another Michigan city decided that automobile manufacturing was destined to go places. So Detroit entered the field, and has held first place by odds for many years. The fact that the above cars, as well as many made elsewhere, are never heard of these days, did not stop the city of Jackson just because car making moved to another place. According to this article in the current issue of the Automobile Facts, of the 16,500 industrial workers now employed in the city of Jackson, 14,000 of them are engaged in making automobile parts. And it is said that more automobile parts are made in this city than any other, just as we usually think of another Michigan city, Grand Rapids, when furniture is mentioned. Some scenes in the city made some 30 years ago, and today, shows a great contrast. A street scene of that time looking down the main stem, showed mostly one, two and three story buildings. The same scene and street today reveals many modern skyscrapers. The first scene showed a few people crossing the street in the middle of the block, also an oncoming street car, several bicycles and one buggy. The other scene was a crowded thoroughfare of moving motor vehicles, as well as those parked. But one of the most interesting scenes, was three men, all wrapped up in overcoats, buttoned to the chin, and in an open car, ready for a trial run to Bangor, Maine. A man standing by the car is handing a document, to the driver. Perhaps he was the mayor of Jackson, sending greetings to the mayor of Bangor. A great event then, but would not be considered anything out of the ordinary today. Perhaps a bunch of school kids might make the same trip today without any todo about the matter.

Just a few years ago, if one had mentioned a local or nearby author of a book, most of us would have doubted what our ears heard. In fact, we have in our own town one man, William C. Brown, over at the postoffice, who is contributing stories of western life rather regularly to one of the Western Magazines. Then there is Mrs. Mahota Winston, local author of "Time Flew By," that has had many favorable criticisms since the book was issued a few months ago. Most people here are well acquainted with this homey story of childhood and girlhood down in central Texas, out near where the old Bosque river flows. Indeed one or two good ladies, and more recently a man who used to live here, but now lives in the Fort Worth section, has asked the writer to do a book on his memoirs. But we find that we are so lazy, even if competent, that we can hardly get the needed material expected of us off our chest, from week to week. We have recently received a pre-publication dated book from the Pageant Press of New York City about another area writer's book. The title is "Lone Star Family," and the author is Mrs. Erma Elder Hallmark of Lubbock. The story concerns a sudden decision of the Hallmark family to move from Amarillo to Lubbock, and grow up with the country. By the way the style of writing of Mrs. Hallmark and Mrs. Winston is somewhat similar. Apparently both ladies were just folks with down to earth rearing and tutelage. And another similarity is that both were reared perhaps within less than 50 miles of each other, Mrs. Winston near Dublin, Erath county, and Mrs. Hallmark at Valley Mills, over in Bosque county. The year of the move was 10 years ago, despite four sick children. And they built way out in southwest Lubbock, where the grass and weeds were then high, and no utilities, not even a telephone. Now, that part of the city is highly developed. The price for the book is $2.00.

When the Master of all architecture made man, we believe that it was His intention that what He put into mankind, would last as long as there was life in his body. But there are many ways we can abuse the God given inheritance, and we must in many cases resort to falsities. One of these is the teeth, and in many cases many of us have had to resort to the makeshifts in early or at least middle age. The last issue of Terry County Health News, gives us many pointers along this line, under the title, "Do You Beat Your Gums?" One of the bad habits mentioned is sometimes done unconsciously—while asleep. Grinding your teeth. We used to hear this was from stomach ailment. This leaflet also advises against biting thread, or even picking your teeth. Some of these habits which are harmful, and mentioned by dentists is, lip-biting, chewing on tooth picks or even match sticks, holding nails or bobby pins with the teeth, biting straws, or the ear loops on your glasses. And they whack down on the cigaret smoker, even though he uses a holder to keep down finger stains. And cracking nuts with the teeth is put forward as more of a showoff than a necessity. And bottle caps were never intended to be removed by the teeth. Many of us have heard the old one, "visit your dentist twice a year," and perhaps many of us have regarded it as just a slick way the dentists have of advertising. But no doubt if we did just that from childhood, many of the troubles and tribulations we have with teeth and gums could be avoided, and perhaps save ourselves some misery. As stated above, perhaps our teeth were made to last a life time; we have two sets of our own, babyhood and later the permanent set. But perhaps we crave something to eat that does not agree with or pertain to making harder teeth and firm gums. At least we have been informed along this line by dentists and physicians. Well, says one, why do the dentists wish to knock themselves out of work by advising people how to care for their teeth and gums? The answer is the very few dentists to our local population have just about all they can do taking care of teeth to see that they do not decay.

We get a kick out of listening to and reading articles by people who write articles for the dailies, anent their many and adverse opinions on rainfall and how to get it. One would gather from such articles that there are still a lot of people who consider natural rainfall a rather mysterious something or other. The same people seemingly forget that the same God that made clouds and rainfall, made the soil we till, but no one ever gets excited when someone uses fertilizer in his soil to boost his yield, or even to irrigate in case of shy rainfall. We seem to forget that a kind Father made the heavens and the earth, and every creeping thing, and then made man to have dominion over all of it. There was just one condition imposed; not to touch the fruit of the Tree of Life. But man did, and lost the paradise. Man was told to go forth, multiply and replenish the earth. Man was given a fairly high degree of intelligence, and has been making rapid progress since, concerning moisture, soil and plant life. He has found that no two plants thrive alike under the same conditions. Man has also discovered that there are certain sections of our own country that has a heavy annual rainfall, and then quite a lot of it a very shy rainfall. Now this writer believes in prayer, but we believe that our prayers should be confined mostly to our spiritual well being, and the bounties that have been supplied. But one would sure have to have a mountain of faith to pray that God make the Sahara desert, or Death Valley have the same amount of annual moisture that the Mississippi valley has. The world just was not built that way. Our soil wears out, and needs to be helped. Many sections have a low annual rainfall, and is often helped by deep breaking, shallow and frequent cultivation, while the man in the swamp land is building levees and quick drainage means. God has never done for man what he can do for himself. An all wise Father knows how trifling man would become if he did nothing but depended on God for everything. Salvation of man was instituted by the Father and Son, but the preaching of Salvation is even left up to mankind. True, a mess is made of preaching now and then. Man has come a long way in the past century, even. We enjoy many things we did not have then, but with it has come many things horrible to contemplate. Just two, the A-Bomb and the H-Bomb, for instance.

Despite what some of our friends seem to think, we do go along with a lot of ideas of Senator Bob Taft. Yet, we cannot help from agreeing with Mr. Republican just a bit on Ike's appointment of Martin P. Durkin as Secretary of Labor. And we agree again with Taft that there is nothing in the records against Durkin except his own record. Perhaps after all, the President-elect is so much bigger than we, that he can overlook the fact that Durkin worked with might and main to defeat Ike, while perhaps many other capable men for the position worked for his election. Union labor in particular took a tremendous shellacking in the last election, and no one understands this better than the labor leaders. If the Democrats had won the national election, and a sympathetic congress with them, the boys believed they were rid of the Taft-Hartley law for good. But after the landslide, even the labor leaders were talking of trying to get the T-H law retained, for fear of something more rigid by the new congress. Then of course the tension was greatly lowered by the unexpected appointment of Durkin. But even Bob Taft says the T-H is not a perfect law, and needs some amendments, and he's working on that task at this time. We don't believe for a moment that Bob Taft hates unions or any other kind of labor. Being a business man he knows we must have working people, and he believes unions of labor are essentially necessary to a better planned labor and better working conditions. And there is not the least doubt that laboring people, union and otherwise in Ohio, believe that Taft is sincere, and have overwhelmingly elected him despite labor leader opposition. Therefore, we believe that Mr. Durkin, as a cabinet member of Eisenhower's management, will go along with the T-H act so long as it is on the books. While advocating the repeal of this act, and in some instances failing to use it against unauthorized strikes, Truman has just this week used the law to stop an outlaw strike that would tie up movement of war material badly needed. In closing, we join Lynn Landrum in his daily Dallas News column, "Thinking Out Loud." Landrum says: "If this column could write a motto for labor, it would be this: 'Servants to everybody, slaves to none.'

UNION NEWS

Coach Kerr's junior high teams entered the Meadow tournament last weekend. Although they were the two smallest teams entered, the boys came home with a first place consolation trophy and the girls, a second place consolation trophy.

The boys lost their first game to the winners of the tourney, Ropes, 40-18, but won their other two games. They stomped the huge Sundown boys, 34-16, but a few hours later were so tired that they barely edged past Wellman, 19-18.

Union girls also dropped their first game to the winners in the girls' division, Ropes, 25-10. Saturday morning they outplayed the Plains team, 24-17. That evening a rough-playing Friendship team defeated the girls, 23-18.

Union high school boys' and girls' teams played Wellman Tuesday night winning the boys' game 53-49 and losing the girls' game 43-13.

In the boys' game Wellman pulled ahead of Union 16 points in the second quarter, but the second half saw a fighting Union five, determined to win, gradually catch up and pass their opponents. High point men for the winners were Glenn Sargent and Jimmy Benton, both with 12 points. Conrad Cabe led the Wellman team with 12 points.

Union high school girls are sporting beautiful new suits this year. They are made of tackle twill, blue, trimmed in white with a white belt trimmed in blue. An English style white capital "U" is on the right side of the blouse which off-sets a white pocket on the left side. The name, "Union," is located on each side of the shorts. New royal blue knee pads complete the uniform. Mr. M. G. Gary is their coach.

Juniors at Union are on a money-making spree again. Their latest venture is selling blue and white emblems with the Wildcat of Union in the center which are perfect for sewing on sweaters, blouses, shirts, and jackets.

Union Home Demonstration club entertained 66 members and guests with a turkey dinner Thursday evening in the school lunchroom. Everyone present brought gifts to exchange when Santa made his appearance. The club presented Mrs. Frank Sargent, outgoing president, a bedspread in appreciation of her hard work for the group during the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Horton, Joe Bert, and Linda attended the wedding of Mrs. Horton's sister, Sue Kennedy, who married Dubbie Bookout Saturday evening in the Plains Methodist church.

Mesdames Bill Barnes, Alice Faight, Violet Ruth Hopper were hostesses at a bridal shower for Mrs. Darl McCullough, formerly Wanda Gruben, yesterday in the home of Mrs. Barnes.

CRESCENT HILL CHURCH OF CHRIST

T. J. Finley, Evangelist

Services of the church were well attended last Sunday. Brother Finley spoke in both services. In the morning he spoke on "Heaven," and in the evening on "Faith."

Monday night, the young people went to the home of Mary Cornelius for a party. Quite a number came and brought gifts. The gifts consisted of toys for tiny-tots. It may seem strange that young men and women should be content with such gifts, but they plan to send them to a children's home - that is, after they get through playing with them.

Some of the servicemen are coming home. A. C. Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Oliver, is to arrive in Brownfield the 14th. Mrs. Iva Jones is also expecting her son, Oscar Leo, to be in before long. We rejoice with them in this good news and hope all who have sons away can soon have them home. Even now, while we report this, there are those that are leaving. If men would only follow the principles of the Prince of Peace, there would be peace on the earth.

Quite a number were in attendance last Sunday afternoon at the Meadow church. The Meadow brethren had a two-fold purpose in mind in inviting their neighboring congregations to come and visit them. First, they wanted to enter into the singing of gospel songs, and second they wanted to show the people of this area their new

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

Well, we note that the old Oklahoma farmer who failed to report his peanut crop to the government has paid off, and the suit has been dropped, apparently. Farmer Turner decided that the government had no right to tell him how much or what he could plant, and what he could do with the stuff he raised.

Fact is, Turner fed the peanuts to his hogs, as no one with a knowledge that the government had a finger in the pie, would buy them. The Republicans around McAlester hired an attorney, and in fact, they settled with the government in the suit.

The whole thing smells to high heaven, if you ask us, and we believe that stuff as telling people what they can or cannot do, if they are bothering no one, will be stopped by Congress, and we believe Ike will OK such a bill. Sounds a lot like the behind the iron curtain countries, to us.

And while on the subject of farmers, we dug this bit of stuff out of one of our exchanges. The subject is cotton:

Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern states to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy. The fiber varies in color and weight, and the man who can guess nearest the length of the fiber is called a cotton man by the public, a robber by the farmer and a poor business man by his banker.

The price of cotton is determined in New York and goes up when you have sold and goes down when you have bought. A buyer working for a group of mills was sent to New York to watch the cotton market, and after a few days' deliberation he wired to this effect: "Some say it will go up and some think it will go down. I do, to. Whatever you do will be wrong — act at once."

Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer and left in the field in the winter.

So we go on from here. Of course there may be many that disagree with us about Commies, but here's our dime's worth: when a man or a woman refuses to tell whether or not they are a Communist, such a proposal to us is prima facie evidence that they are as guilty as Satan. To tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, what we think of Commies in general would be unprintable in this column.

Concerning this brand of very low humanity, we borrow the following paragraph from a recent issue of the Pathfinder: "Well, whichever way you look at it, those Communist delegates are UNmembers, UNkind, UNfriendly, UNgenerous and UNscrupulous." That ought to hold the bolshies.

Changing to a more pleasant subject, don't forget that WTCC District No. 2 meeting at Lubbock, December 16th. Many things for the betterment of Texas in general and West Texas in particular is to come up, such as the objectives of the organization. The meeting starts at 7 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce offices in Lubbock.

Some mail service. A cut of the 1953 Packard automobile, was sent to us under date of Nov. 21, to appear in our issue of Nov. 27th. The cut was air mailed, and it was delivered to our office December 4th. The cut was sent from Sandusky, Ohio, and there was no mistake in the address, or that it was missent somewhere else, was not in evidence.

But here is the rub. We had inquired several times even up to the date the ad was to run, at the postoffice, and the clerk would always take a look, morning, night or noon. So, we have decided that the cut was stopped off and laid up somewhere else than Brownfield.

The only thing we could do was to send an employee to Lubbock for another cut. She got one, but instead of a 125 inch ad, we had to take a 90 inch ad, a difference to us of some $20. Not only that, we had to pay to have a mat made, plus the expense of the trip to Lubbock.

An after thought: No political party can go on and on, taxing, spending and electing forever. Nor can 20 million government em-

The General Election Had Many Surprises

We finally got the returns on all state officers from Wednesday's Dallas News, released by Jack Ross, Secretary of State. There was no vote on the Governor or Lieutenant Governor that is just one of the curious quirks of our state election laws. Votes for these two offices have to be officially counted by the State Legislature, when it meets in January. Just why they count those of Gov. and Lt. Gov. and not all state officers is one for you to puzzle over.

Anyway, most of the officials, with the exception of Ag. Com. John C. White, got a total of around 2,000,000 votes. Take the case of John Ben Shepperd, for Attorney General, for instance. Shepperd got 1,539,741 Democratic votes; 460,285 Republican votes and 681 write-in Independent votes. A total of 2,000,707 votes. White got 1,615,450 Democratic, 481 write in Republican votes, and 28 Independents. Total, 1,615,959. Shepperd got approximately 400,000 more votes than White.

Then there was another quirk that was a bit puzzling. Price Daniel, U. S. Senator-elect, got more Republican votes in Dallas county than Democratic votes. Gillespie county, the German settled county with Fredricksburg the county seat, gave Daniel twice as many Republican as Democratic votes.

Also, the Republican vote in Kendall county was twice that of the Democratic vote. As stated above, White was the low man, as he refused to let his name go on the Republican ballot.

Santa Fe Decides To Use Highways

For several years the Texas & Pacific railroad has been running trucks up and down Highway 80. It seems that rather than stop the local freight train for a small un-load and pickup, they carry everything to the larger towns, say Abilene, Sweetwater, Colorado City and Big Spring. There trucks pick up the stuff intended for say Coahoma and Westbrook, and carry it direct to the stores, and then pick up outgoing shipments to be loaded at the larger places.

Recently the Santa Fe intended to do something on the same order. We had a couple of callers, Marvin B. Marcell of Fort Worth and J. R. Davis of Lubbock, who outlined the plan to be used in pickup and delivery of freight by truck. According to the map which they left at the Herald office, their pickup and delivery will cover near all their lines in Texas at least, including the branch lines. The Clovis branch from Lubbock is not shown.

The name of the subsidiary will be known as the Santa Fe Trail Transportation Co., which they advertise as the "Dependable Freight Service." If you need their service, call your local Santa Fe agent.

employees be bought by the checks they receive. Nor can the labor bosses deliver all the labor votes. Most people are just liberty loving Americans. Also, maybe the block of "undecided" voters just thought it none of the pollsters business how they aimed to vote.

While the experts and scientists are trying to keep the recent tests of the Hydrogen Bomb a deep dark secret, bits of the tests are gradually leaking out. And the disclosures are rather startling, if you ask us.

The bomb is described as small, but writers tell us, and so far have not been contradicted, that the explosion made recently on an island three miles long by a half mile wide in the Pacific Ocean, was completely obliterated. Not a sign of it.

Just think what a large bomb—and the experts say there is no limit as to size — would do to the City of New York? The Bible teaches us that the world will be destroyed by fervent heat — and perhaps man may be the architect of his own destruction.

You do not have to go to Georgia or South Carolina to find the KKK. We have a club right here in Brownfield, but they don't wear bed sheets or blinders. It is the Kolonial Kard Klub.

NAVY "ESCAPE SLIDE"

After a crash landing, Navy litter patients can be slid to safety down a strip of heavy duck canvas. Now carried aboard all VR-3 evacuation aircraft, one end of a 26 x 3 1/2 foot canvas strip is hooked to floor rings near the cargo door. Two or more crewmen hold the other end tautly away from the airplane while other crewmen gently slide the litter patients down from the nine-foot height. (U. S. Navy photo)

Behind The Scenes

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

New York — This is the season for economic soothsaying. The eager businessman can hear several quite-different versions of what will confront him in the next six months. Examples:

Dr. Jules Backman, professor of economics at New York University, forecasts a minor decline in 1953, lasting into 1954, but not enough to worry about unduly; Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of finance at the same university, has predicted high-level business the next six months, with a brief minor setback thereafter.

Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. went to the businessmen themselves for its preview of 1953. Of 1322 executives interviewed, 780 expect sales increases in January, February and March. Fewer than 450 of them, however, looked for higher net profits after taxes. Manufacturers, on the whole, were more optimistic than wholesalers or retailers.

Critic Commends Local Author's Book

As a courtesy to Mrs. Mahota Winston, author of the book, "Time Flew By," we print the following copied from a magazine with world wide circulation. They are the words of P. D. Wilmett, a book critic of no mean ability.

"Here is a novel written by the wife of a former Terry County Judge, the late Homer Winston. Mrs. Winston writes under the pen name of Juanita Whisenant. Here is woven the thread of birth, marriage, romance and death 'as time flew by'. It is interestingly written and captivates the reader as he moves swiftly across the page.

"This is the story of a modern Texas mother as she looks back on her girlhood days, one of three daughters, on the farm in Central Texas prior to World War I. It is to capture and preserve these experiences, or high-on-to-experiences, that the author writes. The author is a mother, and a member of the Church of Christ.

The story opens with the principal character of the story moving along with a sort of inferiority complex as she sleeps between her two sisters. It is the struggle of a young girl as she grows up, learns the truth of the gospel and is baptized into Christ, then meets and falls in love with a young man. As 'time flew by', children were born into this union and these grew to maturity, and the story of the marriage of the eldest daughter is given. The real thrill reaches a climax in the last chapters of the book.

"For a Christmas gift for boys and girls, this is an excellent purchase. It can safely be placed in their hands for profitable reading and for some invaluable lessons. It is rare to find such a volume from the talented pen of such as the author of this book. We commend it for a wider reading public."

Site Selected For New Auditorium-Coliseum

The City of Lubbock's auditorium-coliseum committee Tuesday selected a site on the Texas Tech campus to build a $1,750,000 auditorium-coliseum.

The committee's recommendation must be approved by the Lubbock City Commission, which decides when the three-block, 12,000-seat structure will be constructed. Tech's board of directors offered the city an area west of the Clifford B. and Adrey Jones Stadium on the north side of the campus. The committee is recommending to the City Commission to accept the site.

Lubbock citizens voted seven years ago on a $1,750,000 bond issue for a combination auditorium-coliseum. The proposal dropped shortly after the bonds were voted, and was only recently pushed again.

As visualized by architects, the structures would join each other, adjacent to a proposed new freeway connecting 19th and 4th Streets. They would have a frontage of almost 900 feet — or three blocks. The coliseum would seat about 12,000, person, and the auditorium would accommodate 4,000 or more and be suitable for the highest quality entertainment. Construction on the freeway is expected to start early in 1953.

The coliseum-auditorium would be owned and operated by the city. Tech paying set fees for its use.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe carloadings for week ending November 29, 1952, were 20,953 compared with 27,685 for the same week in 1951. Cars received from connections totaled 12,536 compared with 11,667 for same week in 1951. Total cars moved were 33,489 compared with 39,352 for same week in 1951. Santa Fe handled a total of 38,674 cars in preceding week of this year.

The average annual production of grain sorghums in Texas for the past five years has been about 80 million bushels.

Carload-And-Pen Bulls Feature Of Fort Worth Show

Fort Worth — The carload and pen division of bulls, which has had a spectacular growth since its establishment five seasons ago, is expected to be again one of the outstanding departments of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Jan. 30-Feb. 8.

George R. Shepherd of Fort Worth, superintendent of the division, declares that this city was, for a long time, the unquestioned marketing center for replacement bulls and the carload and pen division has now re-established Fort Worth's position. Over 600 bulls were shown last year and exhibition officials are hopeful the number will be surpassed in the '53 show. Assistant superintendent of the division is Jack Bourland of Fort Worth.

"The small breeders, as well as those with large herds, find the carload and pen division appealing because of the different classes featured," Shepherd said, "and, far the same reason, the small, as well as the large, purchaser finds the division attractive."

Hereford will be shown in carloads, which can be 12 yearling bulls or 15 senior bull calves, and also will be shown in pens of five. Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus will be shown in pens of five and pens of three. Premiums offered total $6,335. The American Hereford Association will provide $1,167.50; The American Shorthorn Breeders Association $1,000 and the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association $1,000, with the Stock Show matching each amount.

LAZINESS

An old New Englander was remarkably well informed, but so very lazy that the new pastor asked him how he had contrived to learn so much.

He replied, "I just heard it—here and there — and I was too lazy to forget it."

Smart, sleek lines accentuated by new jet-tube taillights and a new chrome molding through the center of the rear fender line are featured in the 1953 Ford Customline Fordor sedan. Outstanding mechanical feature is a new "miracle ride" which brings to the high volume field for the first time the smooth riding characteristics of heavier, costlier cars.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Sweet medicine is not always the best medicine for what ails you. Today I will prescribe an un-sweet suggestion — not sweet anyway to the president and secretary and the booster committee of the commercial club. My prescription is to lay-off your plans and efforts to make your town grow, blossom and flourish like the green bay tree via needling Uncle Sambo for dinero. Saying to the folks in your home town, "look-it, folks, see what I got you — free money from the Govt.", is not being too smart. If come local person rises up and says to the club secretary, brother, tell me what is free Govt. money — and don't beat around the bush. And furthermore, this local citizen could state his desire for some free dinero for his ownself, if it was floating around — and thereby ease the pressure on his own exchequer on income tax pay-up day.

It is time the notion faded that there is or ever was such an animal as free Govt. dinero. It don't take any heavy head scratching and pondering to come to such a conclusion. Everybody by now has had time to meet up with the despised income tax gent. The myth of "free Govt. money should now fool no man, woman or child — black, white or bronze. We been walking in the garden of "make believe."

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q — I'm studying in college under the Korean GI Bill, and the goal I put down on my VA application is an AB degree. After I get it, I want to go on for my master's degree. Would that step be considered a change of program, even if my advanced studies are in the same field?

A — Yes. The reason would be that your original GI training goal had been changed.

Q — I am a World War I veteran drawing a VA pension for a non-service-connected disability. I had to sell my house for a price less than I paid for it. Am I supposed to count the proceeds of the sale as income, in figuring out whether I come under the annual income ceiling of $2,700 for a married veteran?
A — No. Since you sold your house at less than your purchase price, no part of the proceeds need be considered as income.

WE HAD SOME OKLA. FRIENDS CALL

Despite that fact that we have had some run-ins with former Okies, about that grand old state, we still have some friends left up there. Among them, two called Monday, H. C. Hicks and his stepson, Dewey Condry, of El Reno. Their wives were with them, but did not call on the Herald.

Mr. Hicks, a long time reader of the Herald, has owned land in Terry since the organization of the county in 1904. This land lays some three miles west of the Mound Lake oil field. And Mr. Hicks confided to us that he would make a mineral lease.

Said he was coming down some summer to spend a few weeks, as he always felt better in this climate.

Last Rites Held For O. C. Wood, 66

O. C. Wood, a retired farmer and a resident of Brownfield since 1928, died in the local hospital Friday at 6:30 a. m. after being a patient there for four weeks.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Brownfield Church of God with Rev. O. Stegall officiating. Brownfield Funeral Home was in charge of interment in the Terry County Memorial Cemetery.

Wood is survived by his wife, three sons, Austin and John of Brownfield and Dale of Laredo; three daughters, Mrs. Lora Thomas of Brownfield, Mrs. Vivian Atkins of Tokio and Mrs. Cloma Polard of Gatesville; four brothers and three sisters.

Andrews County Shows Largest Population Gain

DALLAS — The Census Bureau said Tuesday its count of Texas' 254 counties showed that Andrews was the fastest growing county in the state between 1940 and 1950.

The county with the greatest decline in population was Rains in northeast Texas.

Andrews, population 5,002, and located on the high plains, bordering New Mexico, climbed from a 1940 figure of 1,277 for a 291.7 per cent increase.

Rains county had a population of 7,332 in 1940, but when the census nose counters finished there 10 years later, it was learned that Rains citizenry had dipped to 4,266. This was a 41.8 per cent drop.

POSSIBILITY OF NEW COPPER DEPOSITS

AUSTIN — Unearthed copper and silver deposits may exist in the area of Culberson County in West Texas, a University of Texas geologist reports.

In a Bureau of Economic Geology bulletin, Dr. Peter T. Flawn gives geological details about territory around the Hazel mine, in which large scale operations ceased in 1930.

"The present copper shortage makes it advisable to publish information on the Hazel mine as a separate report to aid further exploration in the area," Dr. Flawn writes.

Between 30 and 40,000 legal deer normally are harvested in Texas yearly. They furnish lots of good meat provided proper attention is given to saving it. This care starts with the kill and is not completed until the meat is used, either fresh or preserved for later use.

Denison Once Had Texas' Tallest Building

Way back in the fall of 1902, when we made that famous, or was it an infamous trip from Texas up through the "Engine" Territory, over which we have had had some controversy of late, we noted an unusually tall building for the size of the town in Denison, when we passed through there. It was all of five stories.

And it was said that when this building was erected back in 1891, citizens of Dallas and Fort Worth would go up to Denison to gawk at the skyscraper. It was a sight to behold. But elsewhere in this paper there is a picture of a Dallas bank building 42 stories high, the makes the Denison building look like a cellar.

Even when we passed through Denison in 1902, Dallas had already erected the Praetorian building that was all of 13 stories, and we believe their largest hotel was eight stories. Anyway, the once famous Denison building is to come down. Dangerous, say the city engineers.

ALL WORKERS NEED A SOCIAL SECURITY NO.

Even Santa Claus needs a social security number! If you are planning on being a professional Santa Claus this year be sure to have your social security card ready to show your employer or you may not get the job.

Employers are realizing more and more the necessity of being certain they have on their records the correct name and account number of each person they employ, and that that information be taken direct from the social security card. Employers are, therefore, refusing to hire people who cannot present a social security card at the time of hiring.

MITCHELL SAYS NO; TEXAS SAYS YES

WASHINGTON — As far as the Democratic National Committee is concerned, Wright Morrow of Houston is no longer a member, Stephen Mitchell, national chairman said today. Morrow, national committeeman from Texas, sent both the national and state committees a letter of resignation. The national committee accepted the letter at the time, Mitchell said.

It was pointed out by Walter Hornaday, Dallas News correspondent, that the state committee did not accept the resignation and that insofar as they are concerned, Morrow continues to be the national committeeman.

Firemen Make Two Runs To Same House

The local fire department was called to the Carl Lewis home, six miles north of town, about 10 a. m., Monday. They put out the fire and told him to watch it as there might be some smoldering fire they did not detect, that might flare up. About noon the same day, they were called back, but the fire had gained such headway that the well house was about all they saved.

Carl's son, Rudolph and family, had been living in the house, but had moved to Lubbock, and Carl was moving in.

Carbon Monoxide Is The Silent Killer

AUSTIN — "You can't see it . . . you can't smell it . . . you can't taste it and yet it can kill you," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, referring to carbon monoxide. A silent enemy, it strikes its victims in closed rooms, garages and cars where wood, coal, gasoline, or natural gas is burning.

Some victims of this silent poisoner never knew their life was in danger. As others died, they may have realized that the killer was at hand, but were helpless to do anything about it. They were so benumbed that they could not get out into the fresh air; the could not walk or even stand up. Those who escape death, once this silent killer permeates a closed room, garage or automobile, are rescued by someone who discovers their plight.

Carbon monoxide is given off when wood, coal, gasoline or natural gas is burning, but not all the gas is burned. Its danger is greatest in cold weather because people tend to close their houses and cars so tight that no fresh air can circulate. When this happens, carbon monoxide accumulates to a dangerous concentration. It kills because it prevents the victim from getting enough oxygen.

To prevent such deaths all stoves should be vented, kept heated rooms ventilated, do not leave gas heaters burning while you and your family are asleep, do not entirely close all the windows in your car and do not run your car in a closed garage.

Whether your stoves, heaters and your car serve you and family usefully, capably and safely, or whether they become agencies of death depend upon how wisely you use them. Remember, ventilate at all times.

Don't Let 'Stewed' Guests Depart In Cars

AUSTIN — Responsibility for avoiding one type of holiday automobile accident is on the shoulders of the host or hostess, according to word received by the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association from Dr. Glen Shepherd, assistant dean of the University of Kansas School of Medicine.

Here's the way Dr. Shepherd reasons:

When you as a host permit a person unfit to drive to walk through your door to his automobile, you are an accessory to manslaughter. It is murder by proxy to let him walk out of the door to his car because you know that there is considerable chance that in his hands his vehicle is a deadly weapon which may cost his life or worse, the lives of innocent and entirely sober persons.

Dr. Shepherd's recommendation is a simple one. Serve the departing guests "one for the road" — a generous helping of coffee. And make it strong, with sugar, the doctor advises. Everyone knows the sobering effects of coffee, says the doctor, but a lesser known fact is that quantities of sugar taken immediately after drinking offsets the effect of the liquor. Strong black coffee with sugar, a natural combination, makes a safer "one for the road" than anything else.

Mesdames Jim Griffith, Coke Toivier, James Warren, D. S. Sampson and J. Fred Bucy.

In connection with the luncheon, a dish towel shower will be held for the church kitchen. Each person attending is to bring a dish towel.

Douglas, Superintendent of Schools, gave the invocation.

Kentuckian New Texas Oil Information Man

DALLAS — G. R. Bryant, a Kentuckian who moved to the southwest two years ago to become chief executive for the Texas Company in this part of the nation, Monday became chairman of the Oil Industry Information Committee.

The Houston oil company vice-president and other oil men from large and small companies in six Gulf-Southwest states took new posts in petroleum's public relations program at a meeting here in the Baker Hotel. It was presided over by R. J. Diwocky, executive vice-president of the Pan-Am Southern Corp., New Orleans, and new OIC chairman for the six-state Gulf-Southwest district including Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, and New Mexico in addition to Texas.

Diwocky said Bryant as Texas OIC chairman would have jurisdiction over 331 community committees grouped in 15 geographic areas. The Texas Company man came up through the refining segment of the oil industry and spent his college days, before and after World War I, at University of Missouri and Colorado School of Mines. He entered Texas Company service in 1937 after having been with an Illinois refinery for 17 years. Bryant, a Paducah, Ky., native, is married and has three children.

ILO Seeks to Better Child Labor Conditions

Until living standards can be improved, millions of Asian children, like the youngster pictured, must work. Meanwhile, the International Labor Organization (ILO), a U.N. specialized agency, seeks to eliminate harmful practices through international action. At present, young people are sometimes sold for their services or given over to contractors on a long-term indenture. Asian countries will soon meet under ILO auspices to discuss measures to abolish such procedures and improve employment conditions for young workers.

Watch For San Jose Scale In Orchard

College Station — This is the time of the year when San Jose Scale does its greatest damage to fruit trees. This small sucking insect does its dirty work on trees when the are already suffering from the effects of dry weather and are thus in a weakened condition.

A standard treatment for San Jose Scale, says B. G. Hancock, assistant horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is a three per cent dormant oil spray. The trees must be completely covered with the spray material if good results are to be obtained.

Trees that are severely infested with the scale now should not be left until winter before treatment is started. Hancock recommends using as a paint one pound of dry lime sulphur in three gallons of water for this before dormancy treatment. The materials may be applied with an old paint brush or broom to the trunk and main scaffold limbs of the tree. Hancock warns the specialist, the scale should be kept off the foliage because severe burning of the leaves may result.

Hancock points out that this treatment will not give complete control of the scale and that the dormant spray should be used this winter. Since most of the fruit trees in many sections of the state are suffering from drought, both commercial growers and home orchardists are cautioned by the specialist to check their trees carefully to determine whether or not San Jose Scale is present.

Some Old Browsing Among The New Cars

That's right, folks. When the new Plymouth came on the market, the weather was too rough for us, and a stinking bad or indifferent cold had us on the leash. So we had to bid our day. And that went for the new Dodge truck and the new Pontiac. But Monday was a real swell day, not like all that unusual weather we had back in October, when there was not a drop of water for a month to a section of land.

So, first and foremost, we went to the Shipley Motor Co., to see the new Dodge truck, and thought they might also have a Plymouth. They had the truck, which is a jim dandy, and looked like the pictures we have been running of the pickup models. Fresh out of Plymouth, but had two of the Dodge cars on the floor. But we'd seen them. Boy, we had rather look at new cars and trucks than a kid likes to look at a toy train just before Santa arrives.

We next went over to the Ross Motor Co. to see the new Pontiac, a car that will attract attention anywhere. And it will honk the prettiest honk you ever heard. While mashing the cushion to see if they would sit pretty, Walter Ford, manager for Mr. Ross, and Dr. E. C. Davis came out of one of the cell blocks. Walter said he'd been trying to borrow some money from Doc.

Didn't appear very funny to Doc, but he began to tell us about getting a letter from one of those old Spanish racketeer agents, you know, the ones who are imprisoned in Spain. And if you help him out of prison, say by spending a few grand, you'll get millions in return. Well, Doc and one of his lawyer pals here answered the letter, but he did not finish that part. Walter didn't get any money either, he said. At Shipley's they told us they thought Craig Motor still had a Plymouth, so we went over there. But the think wouldn't honk. Had to have the ignition on, they told us. Well, now if you ask us, that is a pretty clever stunt. When you leave the kids in the car while you shop, they won't be honking the horn.

The Plymouth is a humdinger low-priced car, if you ask us.

Crude Production Hits All-Time High

TULSA — U. S. Crude oil production climbed to another all-time high the past week the Oil and Gas Journal reported Wednesday.

Daily output averaged 6,683,000 barrels daily, a 9,700-barrel increase over the previous week and set an all-time high for the 10th time in 11 weeks.

Oklahoma production climbed 5,700 barrels daily, largest increase in the nation. Illinois and Wyoming reported respective gains of 4,400 and 3,00 barrels.

Kansas showed a loss of 4,000 barrels, Arkansas 1,200, Colorado 500, Louisiana 750, and New Mexico 100. Texas production was unchanged.

Diarrhea Death Rate High In Texas

GALVESTON — Texas' diarrhea death rate for infants increased from 1941-48, while the national rate decreased, University of Texas Medical Branch researchers report.

In 1941, about 10 percent of the diarrhea deaths in the country occurred among Texas infants, but, in 1948, 25 per cent were Texas children, they add.

Research indicates there is no need for the death rate of Texas infants to be so high, they assert. The scientists cite the need for informational programs in areas where more diarrhea deaths occur.

There are no "wonder drugs" generally satisfactory for treating the disease, they point out, but death can be prevented by emergency treatment if a physician finds out about the disease in time and has proper facilities for treatment. Dr. Arild Hansen of the Medical Branch staff directed the research.

He had been a resident of Grand Falls for the past seven years and was in the automobile business there prior to his illness.

First Subscriber To Herald Called Recently

Ben Hurst, manager of the Cicerero Smith Lumber Co., at Wellington, was among those who called to see the opening of the new and modern plant of that company here. For many years back in the 20ties, Ben was assistant manager of the local Cicerero Smith yard.

But at the time Ben became the first subscriber to the Terry County Voice, he was a gangling cowboy on one the Terry county ranches. Probably many of the new comers do not understand that when this paper was first printed at Gomez, before there was a Brownfield, the name was Terry County Voice, but the name was changed to Terry County Herald, after Brownfield got the county seat, and the paper was moved over here.

Anyway old Ben called on the Herald office, and seemed as glad to see us as if we were a long lost brother. Even had to kiss Texie, and if his Mrs. had been around, we'd have bussed her in revenge. Anyway, since Ben moved up in the Panhandle, we do not get to see that red mug of his as often as of yore.

Methods, Machines And Care Of Them

College Station — Only if your methods keep pace with your machines can you get full value from them. Labor-saving equipment for homemakers may require a change in habits, for old ones may handicap or even harm new equipment.

Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says instruction books supplied with new appliances usually provide the homemaker information on the use, care and repair of the machines.

For example, in using a washer the homemaker can make a poor washing job and strain the machine if she overloads it, uses the wrong detergent or does not measure the detergent. Another example of habits which some homemakers may still have is the use of bleaches regularly even though these are hard on fabrics and unnecessary, if washers are used correctly. Some may even continue to boil clothes to whiten them as grandmother did and thus offset the time and labor-saving advantages of the machine.

One old tradition worth banishing in a new washer comes in to the house is the weekly wash-day. Some authorities think a more efficient way is to spread the washing through the week, doing one load instead of four or five a day. Besides not taxing the hot water supply this method has other advantages. The specialists says many mothers have found that by washing more often, their children need fewer clothes and less frequent washing saves clothing expenses and closet space.

More Hogs Are Needed In Texas

College Station — An economic appraisal of hog production and pork consumption in Texas has just been published by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Authors are John A. Kincannon and John G. McNeely, and the study was published as Bulletin 749.

While Texas does not produce enough animals to fill our need for pork products, yet the state ranks ninth nationally in hog production. Cash income to Texas farmers from sales of hogs amounted to more than 63 million dollars in 1950, the study reports.

Hogs are produced over all of Texas but the greatest concentration was found in the principal grain producing areas. Farm and commercial slaughter of Texas hogs falls short of supplying the needs of the State's growing population. Annually thousands of live hogs and millions of pounds of pork products are shipped into Texas from other states to meet this demand.

Bulletin 749 shows the amounts of imports and the comparative prices paid for hogs in Texas and out-of-state markets. A summary is given on the present situation and possible adjustments in the future are indicated.

A copy of Bulletin 749 may be obtained from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a widow of a World War II veteran. My husband had GI insurance and specified that I was to get monthly payments for the rest of my life. If I die before the full amount of the policy has been paid out, I would like the remaining payments to go to my daughter. How can this be arranged?

A—Even though you are the beneficiary of your husband's policy, you cannot arrange the way the remaining money is to be paid. If there are any remaining payments when you die, they will go to the person your husband named as a contingent beneficiary. If he didn't name one, then the money will go to his estate.

Q—I am a World War I veteran. I heard that at my death the VA will pay my funeral expenses. Is that true?

A—Funeral expenses, up to $150, may be paid by the VA to the person who defrayed the cost, if he files a claim within two years from the date of the funeral. Your discharge from service must have been under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q—At present, I am training viewed my disability rating, and has reduced it to zero percent, which means I will no longer get disability compensation pay. Will I be allowed to continue my Public Law 16 training, despite this fact?

A—Yes. The fact that your disability is no longer compensable does not require the discontinuance of your Public Law 16 training until you have reached your training objective.

Q—I am in training in college under the World War II GI Bill. My entitlement will run out this semester. Is there any way it can be extended so that I can complete the semester?

A—Yes. If your entitlement runs out after the half-way mark of your semester, you will be permitted to complete that semester.

Use Tops For Dairy Herd Replacements

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 1 Herd replacements, next to an adequate pasture and forage program, is the biggest problem faced today by Texas dairymen, says R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Texas dairymen, he says, must get into the calf raising business if they are to successfully compete with milk producers in other sections of the nation. Texas ranks high when total dairy cow population is considered but near the bottom in production per cow. This low average must be raised, says the specialist, through a herd replacement program. Regardless of the feeding and management program used, the breeding must be there, says Burleson, before high production can be obtained.

Little progress can be made unless production records are kept on the herd and then used as the basic for making herd replacements. Here the specialist points out that a strong DHA program can be operated in a county if as many as 20 or 25 dairymen will support it. DHA records, says Burleson, have proved their value many times in breeding programs. The records make it an easy matter for the dairymen to locate his top producing animals and it is from these that replacements should come.

The artificial breeding program is well established in the state and Burleson says the quality of the bulls in these studs is outstanding. These associations offer to all dairymen, and especially the small herd owners, a program that can solve their herd sire problem. But, he adds, whether this type of breeding program is followed or not, the herd sire should be the best that can be bought with the funds available. For it is true, says Burleson, the bull is half of the herd.

Winter Care Of The Dairy Herd

College Station — Dairy cows don't seem to object to cold weather if they are properly fed and well housed. Good housing for the dairy herd can also mean a saving in the feed bill, especially for grain, says R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Elaborate, expensive shelters are not necessary. A shed type building with a good roof and north and west walls is about all that is needed. The cows should be comfortable and protected from cold wind and rain, if milk production is to be kept at a high level. Cows which must use their energy to keep warm for travel through muddy lanes and feedlots will not utilize their feed for producing milk. Low spots in the lots should be filled so that water will drain away from the barn.

Grain will not be saved by cutting down on the cow's ration, says Burleson. She is going to take care of herself first and if her ration is cut, less milk will be produced. Dairy cows should get all of the roughage including hay and silage, they will clean up daily accordance to each cow's daily

Vast Development

Duggan well in the neighborhood of Whiteface, and Hockley had the Slaughter well in the vicinity of what is now Sundown.

It would be a hard matter to tell the reader just what has happened in four or five counties in this area in the past 16 years. The Bennett well, for instance, spread to Denver City section, then a cow ranch, and into Gaines county, forming the Wasson pool, said to be the best and most productive in the USA. There are many wells around and even in Seminole and out into the Cedar Lake areas in east, northeast Gaines.

They have wells over most of the east-northeast part of Yoakum, and some in western and northern part. These wells have brought the taxable valuations of that county up from one or two million dollars to presently around $40,000,000. There are oil wells over most of the south and south-east Cochran county, and their taxable valuations have advanced amazingly. As for Hockley county, the original Slaughter pool, around the present oil field town of Sundown, has spread out with a few wells over in Terry county, several in Cochran, and on north to Levelland. There are also pools in east Hockley, in the Ropes section in southeast part of the county, and Anton to the northeast.

The valuations of Hockley are now some $50 million dollars. In the meantime, here in Terry, we now have a small pool at Mound Lake in northeast Terry, the small but highly productive South Brownfield pool; several rather deep wells in the southeastern part of the county, several in the northwest, where the Gorietta pool of Yoakum comes over in Terry. Last, but not least, the vast two-depth producer pool in the Adair field in Terry. One depth around 5,000 feet has many producers, and then a reef at some 8,000 feet is being developed with better and stronger wells than the shallow pool, with a much higher gravity oil. 40 gravity or better. Then there is the Wellman reef pool with many good wells, and lastly, a new find recently between the south Brownfield and Wellman pool, but too early to predict the extent of this well or perhaps pool.

In the meantime, the taxable valuations of Terry county have grown from about six million dollars to more than $20,000,000. And a big boost in valuations are anticipated the coming year. Oil has meant great expansions in this section, and people are permitted many things in the way of better churches, schools, courthouses, roads, both F-M and highway, as well as housing, not thought of 15 years ago.

Aside from the tax money coming in, hundreds of men and women work in and out of Brownfield, either in the actual drilling operation, or with seismograph crews, seeking the location of more oil. Then there is the production headquarters, where actual drilling pipe and supplies of every nature are kept to be trucked out to where it is needed.

Also there is a lot of office workers. One major company is said to work some 100 people in their district headquarters here, taking the entire second floor of one building, and most of another. Many other office workers for different companies are located here as well as other towns in this area. Yes, oil is a great industry. This all helps our communities, schools churches and other civic enterprises.

Oil is a wonderful thing for all people, no matter whether their state or county produces a gallon or millions of barrels. It keeps the highways up and traffic moving. But it means even more to the counties that have the Liquid Gold.

production for maximum returns. Another little trick that will help hold up milk production is to warm the drinking water in cold weather. Milk is approximately 87 per cent water, and if the water is icy cold, the cows don't drink as much as is needed. A water heater will soon pay for itself, says Burleson, from the increase in milk production.

Bordeaux was one of the great ports of entry and centers of the AEF in World War I.

The lowest spot in the United States is Inyo, Calif. It is 280 feet below sea level.
