

Senior Career Counseling Is Planned For Friday At BHS For Area Students

Representatives from over 40 businesses and professions will speak to seniors from Brownfield, Ropesville, Meadow, Plainview, Seagraves and Union, in an all-day Career Day program, to be staged Friday at Brownfield High School, and personnel from 14 colleges and two trade schools will be on hand to give detailed information concerning advanced training in various fields.

This is a part of the guidance program being offered by Brownfield Public Schools as a service to students and to persons of the community, according to Alton Amburn, guidance director. This is the first time the project has been conducted locally, and school officials are well pleased with the response and cooperation of business and college personnel.

The list of businesses and professions was compiled on the basis of a student survey. Opening at 11 a. m., the program will get underway with an hour's talk to senior boys by Mrs. Bill Glick, clerk of the local draft board, and Bill Glick, National Guard representative. At the same time, a program on homemaking as a career will be presented for senior girls.

From 12:45 until 3:45 p. m., local business and professional personnel will discuss various occupations. Thirty minute session will be offered on the following topics:

Room 201: automobile agency, department store, drug store, auto parts store, newspaper, and bank.

Room 203: wholesale house, lawyer, grocery store, variety store, furniture and appliances, and utilities.

Room 204: lumber yard, cafe, Retail Merchants Association, insurance company, floral business, and radio business.

Room 205: cotton gin manager, geologist, civil engineering, geophysical engineering, county demographical agency, and aeronautical engineering.

Room 206: fashion designer, home economics, druggist, doctor, nurse, and medical technician.

Room 210: dentist, secretary, stenographer, filing clerk, Baptist religious work, and Methodist religious work.

Room 207: Presbyterian religious work, Church of Christ religious work, vocational agriculture (two lectures), accounting and laundry service.

Room 103, six sessions, directed by a U. S. employment officer.

Beginning at 3:45 p. m., and continuing until 4:15 o'clock, a special program will be offered for persons interested in making music their career. Persons who had already accepted an invitation to speak in the guidance program early this week were: Edgar Self, department store; C. C. Primm, drug store; Curtis Sterling, newspaper; Bart Lewis, banker; Murphy May, wholesale house; Barton Hackney, lawyer; C. G. Griffith, variety store; J. Weatherby, geophysical engineer; Mrs. Lewis Simmonds, nurse; Dr. W. A. Roberson, dentist; Bill Austin, Baptist religious work; and Dallas D. Denison, Methodist religious work. A number of other persons had been contacted by the chamber of commerce, but definite acceptance had not been received from them.

The afternoon program is for senior students only, and other students in Brownfield schools will continue with regular classes. However, for the evening session of career counseling, all interested students and adults may participate in the program.

The evening session will begin

Rig Accident Fatal To Odessa Man Here

E. E. (Birt) Camp, Sr., 58, Odessa resident and an employee of Brown Tool Company, was killed instantly about 10:30 p. m. Sunday when struck by a pipe nipple which fell from the top of an oil rig, located about six miles north of Tokio.

He had come from Odessa that day and was putting the pipe in place to cement it. Camp, who was standing on the floor of the derrick when the accident occurred, suffered a fractured skull when the pipe nipple struck him.

The rig is the property of Great Western Drilling Company. Camp was examined by a physician, but an inquest was not held.

The body was taken to Odessa by Brownfield Funeral Home for funeral services and burial. Camp was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of Odessa Shrine Club and of El Maida Temple of El Paso.

Among his survivors are his wife and two children.

Oil News In Terry Not Very Heavy

So far as we could learn last week, Terry county brought in only one new well, and there was one new location. Both were in the Glorieta field in NW Terry and NE Yoakum. The newcomer was an average or better producer for that field.

Not too much play in Yoakum and Gaines of late, either. Seems to be centered in Andrews county lately, but like everywhere else, some of them are producers, some dry.

Maybe a bit better news next week—we hope.

Six Teams Entered In Softball Tourney

Six teams are entered in the Brownfield Invitational Softball Tournament which opened Tuesday night at the Lions Club Ball Park.

Participating in tourney play will be Frank Daniel, National Guard and Primm Drug teams from Brownfield, Avalanche-Journal of Lubbock, Murrel Carpet Company of Lubbock and Murrel Furniture Company of Plainview.

Herbert Chesshir and Clyde Bond have been in charge of signing up entering teams and will release details on pairings for next week's paper.

FFA Winnings At Tech Judging Contest

The dairy products team composed of Ray Latham (Ray Latham high of entire contest), Richard Ridgway, and Glen Reid won the contest this past Saturday with points to spare. The high three teams in the contest were Brownfield, Hedley, and Littlefield. Brownfield placed first in milk judging, followed by Canyon, and Odessa. They also placed first in the cream judging, followed by Littlefield and Hedley. There were 21 teams entered in the contest.

The dairy cattle judging team consisting of Van Perry, Earl Brown, and John Burnett placed second out of 99 teams. Shamrock won top honors, followed by Brownfield and Odessa. The team won first in the Area II contest.

The meat judging team composed of Alton Massengill, Gene Hickson, and L. G. Willis won second in the entire contest and first in the Area II contest. The three high teams of the 27 entered were Wilson, Brownfield, and Lamesa. Alton Massengill was the high point scorer of the entire contest.

The poultry team composed of Phil Addison, Danny Andrews, and Larry Fulford placed first in the area and sixth in the entire contest. There were 46 teams entered in this division. Danny Andrews was the fourth high point boy of 138 boys entered.

The above four teams will enter state competition this Saturday at A&M College. They will leave Thursday at noon and judge meats, poultry, dairy cattle and dairy products in Ft. Worth Friday morning, and go on to A&M College that afternoon.

ALDERMEN SWORN IN AT COUNCIL MEETING

Councilman-elect Herman Chesshir, Virgil Travis and Sam Murphy were sworn in at a regular meeting of the city council Thursday at 8 p. m. in the city hall. Routine business matters were discussed.

Other aldermen present were V. L. Patterson and Henry Chisholm. Also present at the meeting were Mayor Homer Nelson, Jake Geron, city secretary; E. D. Jones, city manager; and City Attorneys Joe and Bill McGowan.

M. L. Hopson, 80, Dies At Home Here

M. L. Hopson, 523 South Second, died at the age of 80 in his home Friday, and final rites for the retired farmer were held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the First Nazarene Church. Rev. John R. Ferguson officiated for the funeral services and burial was in Brownfield Cemetery under the direction of Brownfield Funeral Home.

Survivors include four sons, O. T. Hopson of Portland, Ore.; M. E. (Buck) Hopson of Brownfield; R. W. Hopson, Modesto, Calif.; and Donnell Hopson of Minneapolis, Minn.

Brownfield PO Shows 50 Percent Gain

Austin—March postal receipts in 116 Texas cities were 13 percent higher than February and 12 percent higher than March, 1952, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Cuero receipts, up 74 percent, showed the greatest February-to-March increase, followed by Sweetwater (53 percent) and Killen (45 percent). Giddings registered the greatest decrease, 33 percent. Lockhart was next, down 16 percent.

Best March-to-March improvements were Brownfield and Grand Prairie, both up 50 percent. Granbury receipts were up more than 30 percent. Killen receipts dropped the most, 57 percent.

Get Some Lumber At Your Own Price

Had a talk with Mr. L. L. White, manager of the Farmers Co-Op. Society No. 1, to figure out just what they are selling in the ads now running in the Herald. But we finally got Mr. White on the phone.

They have sold the gin machinery in the older gin north side of Main street, which will be moved by the buyer to another site. This building, along with others, such as storage, seed houses, etc., as well as scrap lumber, are to be sold.

But this could be used mighty well in the construction of out-houses around the farm, or even for cotton chopping and picker help in summer and fall. If interested, contact Mr. White, manager.

GETS EAGLE AWARD—Don O'Neal, 13, above, received his Eagle award in a special ceremony Sunday in Lubbock. Son of Mr. and Mrs. George O'Neal, Don is an Ordeal member of the Order of the Arrow. He will get his Brotherhood award, second degree, on May 9, and plans to attend the National Jamboree this summer. Don is active in school sports a youth worker in the First Presbyterian Church, and a golfer.

Alvin Davis Named General Chairman For Jaycee Rodeo

Committee chairmen for the Jaycee Rodeo, to be staged here June 11, 12 and 13, have been appointed by Morgan Copeland, Jr., president of the sponsoring organization. Alvin Davis is serving as general rodeo chairman, and the rodeo will be put on by Tommy Steiner.

Committee heads are: J. C. Powell and Jeff Fairley, concessions; Sid Lowrey and Mack Ross, programs; M. J. Craig and Curtis Sterling, box seats; Sterling, publicity; Earl T. Jones, tickets; Sid Lowrey, advertising; Carl Elliott and Bobby Jones, beard growing contest.

A grand prize will be awarded for the best beard grown the three weeks preceding the rodeo.

Agriculture Group Will Meet Friday

Agriculture Development Association, which was organized the latter part of March, will meet Friday at 8:30 p. m., in the district courtroom of the courthouse to discuss problems common to area farmers.

Purpose of the association is to help farmers help themselves by helping each other. The group will discuss cotton acreage allotments for the coming year, castor beans and any other topics brought up, according to County Agent Jim Foy.

R. J. Purcell is chairman of the association, and Bill Carter is vice-chairman. Other officers are Otis Farmer, secretary, and Kelton Miller, assistant secretary.

A similar meeting is to be held in Abilene May 4 and 5, and several local persons interested in agriculture will attend there to compare their farming problems with local ones.

from the members of the fund.

No one will be paid out of the united fund, but the committee will be responsible for allocating the funds to the respective organizations. A united fund will not be a solution to all the problems, and a merchant will not be able to give only one contribution annually, because there are small fund raising campaigns, local organizations who solicit funds, who will still be asking for money.

The united fund drive will not be a cure all, but it will combine several major fund drives into one.

This proposition will be put to the businessmen and the chamber of commerce will act according to your reaction.

The congress must meet annually on Jan. 3 unless it has by law appointed a different day.

Lt. Baggett's Funeral To Be Here Monday

Lt. Jimmie C. Baggett was born April 11, 1923, at Olustee, Okla., died Friday morning, April 24, 1953, by accidental drowning while making an effort to ford a small stream at Camp Hood. Headwaters caught their stalled automobile and, while making an effort to escape, and after reaching the river bank, he slipped back into the water and was unable to reach the shore due to swift waters.

Mr. Baggett lived in Oklahoma until September, 1941, when he moved to Meadow, Texas. In 1942, he moved to Brownfield, and on Aug. 25 of that year married Miss Tess Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Jones of this city.

Jimmie enlisted in the armed forces of his country in February, 1943, and performed in the European theatre during World War II. He was released in November, 1945, but he enlisted again in September, 1950, and served 17 months in Korea, returning to the states in July, 1952. He was a first lieutenant. During the time he was not in the active forces of the United States Army, he was a member of the American Legion. Lieutenant Baggett was stationed at Camp Hood, Texas, at the time of his death.

He is survived by: His wife, Tess, and two children, a boy and a girl, Sharron Gayle (9 years) and Allan Dewain (5 years); his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Baggett of 606 E. Lons, this city; one brother, Eldon Baggett, city; two sisters, Ouita Ben Bateman, Bakersfield, Calif., and Wilma Nation, recently of Brownfield, but now of Andrews, Texas; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Gregory of Meadow and his grandfather, Mr. J. N. Baggett of Abilene, Texas. There are three aunts and three uncles who are also left to mourn his passing.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, at 2:30. Brother T. J. Finley officiated, assisted by Ernest West of Southside Church of Christ. Brownfield Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Interment was in Terry County Memorial Cemetery.

Billy Jenkins Dies In Explosion Of Butane Trucks Near Tahoka April 26

Billy Jenkins, about 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Jenkins of Brownfield, was one of two men killed when two butane gas transporters collided west of Tahoka early Sunday. The second death victim was Cecil Collier, 28, who died in the Tahoka Hospital about 5 a. m., after relating the story of the explosion.

Jenkins' body was taken from the wreckage four hours after the collision, when fire fighters were finally able to extricate his remains from the mangled wreckage. Late Sunday afternoon, fire still smoldered in the torn and molten metal which remained after a series of three explosions and a fire which could be seen 40 miles away.

As he lay dying in the hospital Collier said, "We were driving east, and I turned south a little too fast. I put on the brakes and I felt the other truck hit me. It just seemed like a little tap. The next thing I knew there were flames all around."

The collision occurred at 12:15 a. m., and the first explosion followed a few minutes later. The trucks were owned by Keystone-Fleming Transport, Inc., of Lubbock, and, according to a company official, each vehicle carried 5,000 gallons of fuel in separate tanks holding 2,500 gallons each. One tank carried butane and the other propane gas.

Jenkins had been employed by the company about six weeks.

The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republican form; a sovereign nation of many states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom—equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

—Terry County Herald

Well, we are getting another grand lesson from the Commies in the exchange of the sick and wounded. And we are finding out, and fast, that if many of the captured were not wounded then they were. They were not only punched with bayonets, if weak and lagard in what some have described as "the death march," but some were clubbed with rifle butts, or pushed over cliffs. This is no more than we have suspected all the time, as we have long since sized up the kind of animals we have been fighting. It is no wonder that our young men, in many instances, would rather die than to be captured by the heathen Chinese and Bolsheviks. Anyone who has read beyond the third reader, knows that the Russians are a cruel, heartless race, and that they are mean to their own people, and if they happen to disagree with the ones in control, it is just too bad—for them. The small tribes in Siberia is nothing new. This cruel race has used slave labor to sentence political prisoners as long as we know history. As for the heathen Chinese, they, too, are the same as that nation that has existed, so far as we know, longer than written history. That ungodly nation has, as long as civilization has known back in the distant past, had too many people for the land and business to support, and the heathen race was just about the easiest thing to get rid of, who were taking food, raiment and shelter from others. So, the death of another human, whether natural, suicide, or mob rule, was the easiest way for that nation to rid itself of undesirables or unwanted. Oh, yes, we are quite aware that the Christian nations have had missionaries over there for a long time, and we are also aware that some of these missionaries (?) have been everything except what they are supposed to be. Some of them have taken the opportunity in this land of ignorance to line their own pockets, and have become quite wealthy and influential before the Reds took over, at least. And, if they happened to change themselves to the Red idea, they are still going good. But we are also truly glad that our faithful G.I.s, who have borne the brunt of the mistakes of our government and others, have acquitted themselves admirably, and, contrary to the expectations of the Reds, have taken the infiltration of their propaganda in stride, and are still true, loyal Americans. They may have appeared to take the "doctrine," or slept through the lectures, but few have been changed.

Evidently a lot of people are surprised, and not a few seemed to be disappointed, when controls were lifted, and nothing unusual happened. To be very, perfectly frank, controls are nothing more than artificial at best, and those who think they cut any ice have not taken the trouble to think about the matter. Up until about a year ago, food, clothing and just about everything a family uses, kept going up and up, despite controls. Why? The old rule of supply and demand was at work, and S&D have never paid any mind to artificial stuff put out by mere human beings. This was also true of meat in the raw, sheep, beef and pork. But finally the top of the spiral was reached, and then the decline started, and there has been one since. Finally the finished products followed meat in the raw state. This also included cotton, when it was seen there would be a big carryover, and wool to some extent, despite an unprecedented drought where most of the wool comes from. Finally cotton and woolen clothing began the descent, along with the raw product. The same thing applied to rent controls, where they were ever instituted. We have it on good authority that, with high federal, state and other taxes, landlords actually lost money. They did not get enough money in rents to keep their property in good repair, and, as a consequence, much of it was badly rundown. In some areas, the landlords actually closed their property rather than rent it, as they were losing money in the deal, and no income to make repairs. To say the least, controls, at best, should be used only so long as emergencies exist, then lifted. But controls give some people some mighty good desk jobs, and they are averse to giving up these jobs. But controls are no Ally Oops, with a heavy club to swing. They are nothing of the sort, and they have been removed because they were unworkable. What the American people have learned in the past few years, is that free competition is the one and only means of controlling price spirals. Since controls have been removed, several of the big automobile manufacturers have lowered the prices on cars, the first downward trend in cars in years. Big volume production, with plenty raw material and few strikes has made this possible. The less the law interferes with commodities and prices the better off we are. Even now there are some lobbyists at Austin, working night and day to try to get a so-called "fair trades act" through.

Much has been said in the press of late about the investigation of school faculties and ministers about their connection with subvertives. And some writers have got all up in the air when the preachers were mentioned. This old country weekly, however, is of the opinion, that a few preachers can belong to or sympathize with the Commies just as well as Pat the hod carrier. And, as far as we are concerned, we are going to find out how the preacher in our congregation stands on matters, if we pay him our red penny weekly. In other words, ministers are just human, after all. Most of them may be a bit more moral than the average run of the mine, but they are just mother's sons, the same as you and me. They have their faults the same as the rest of the human race, but generally guard more carefully outbreaks of temper or passion. But they have no right to feed the flock on foreignisms any more than any of the rest of us. And this goes for school faculties. We believe firmly that a teacher who refuses to take the oath of allegiance, is as guilty as if he said "yes," to the question. He is a commie or sympathizer by evasion, and he should be made to come clean with an answer, yes or no. And as for that matter, the trustees of our schools should have the spotlight turned on them, and they should come clean on how they stand. And our trustees should see that no teacher is employed who will not take the oath, and a searching quest should be made of all the textbooks, as well as those used by the library, and when one of them is found authored by a Commie or sympathizer, it should be marked in bold letters on the title page, or sent to the waste basket. Another thing, for some time a new law has been talked by the legislature against those who are Reds or Pinks. And we should have an idea that the law should offer them their choice of the penitentiary, or banishment behind the iron curtain. A law like this might make a lot of simlineheads think twice before joining a foreign organization pledged to destroy our free country, and make slaves of all of us. We imagine a few years over behind the curtain, where they have to buy what they were told to buy, at the store they were ordered to patronize, would suffice. It is said that a lot of the stores in east Germany has more large pictures eulogizes old Stalin, than food and clothing. If our small time commies were sent over there for awhile, they might change their tunes.

Those Senators who want to steal the tidelands from Texas and other states, such as Fullbright of Arkansas, Sparkman of Alabama, as well as a few from the north, are using some curious arguments, if you ask us. Most of them are supposed to be Democrats of the offbrand variety, and the bunch are now filibustering on the bill to return the tidelands to the states. And some of them are the very guys that hollered loudest a year or two ago, when Southerners were said to be filibustering against the FEPC legislation, notably the Senators from Illinois and Wisconsin. But when it is pointed out to them, that if the Federal government could take tidelands from states that had owned them peacefully for more than 100 years, they could also take the lakeshore from those states, or even Mobile and its bay. In fact, the government could step up to Birmingham, take over its huge coal and steel business, just the same as it could take over the 10 1/2 miles of tidelands of the gulf shore of Texas. Another of their nutty arguments for the steal is just as silly. That, because the States won't give up to have its property stolen, it is holding up oil development, as major companies, or independents for that matter, wish to spend a lot of money in search of oil or gas under these waters. Further, that the majors had rather the federals have charge of the matter. That is stretching the truth, to say the least. The big oil companies, as well as everyone else that ever had anything to do with the red tape of the federal government, know how slowly they move, and it might be years before they ever know where they are, or whether or not they get what they are after. It is much easier to do business with state governments and these oil companies know it better than anyone. For years they have been drilling here in west Texas on University or other State lands, and so far as we know there has never been a squabble about the matter. So, these theft promoters are off their nuts, and telling the truth or listening to the truth, is far from their ideals, if they have any ideals. We are glad, however, that Senator Price Daniel of Texas, and Senator Holland of Florida, are giving the theft promoters more than they are asked for. These senators have not only shown the tidelands steal advocates, that it is a steal, but that they are liars as well, about many points in history.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Bar Gives Tips For Witnesses

Serving as a witness in court is one of the most important civic duties a citizen may be called upon to perform. When contacted with a request to testify, every person should try to comply, if for no other reason than that the fate of a case of his own may some day hinge on the willingness of another to come forward and tell what he knows. Lawyers know that a witness does not always have a happy time. It may not always be convenient to leave his job or home to spend a day in court. But some day the shoe may be on the other foot. People who refuse to volunteer as witnesses for others are, in the last analysis, injuring themselves. It is not always easy to be an able and truthful witness. Your answers may be objected to at every turn by an opposing counsel—and properly so. There will be many questions that may confuse an unthinking witness. The law's insistence on compliance with the rules of evidence is necessary but often confusing to the uninitiated. A properly prepared witness is better able to meet the impact of cross-examination. That is why trial lawyers carefully instruct each witness on proper courtroom procedure. Here are eight golden rules to follow if you are ever summoned to court. They may make the difference between success or failure on the witness stand. 1. Never argue with the opposing counsel, or flare up in anger. You are helpless the moment you lose your self-control. 2. Talk slowly on the witness stand—regardless of your natural rate of speaking. A slow spoken, deliberate witness, who will not be stampeded or diverted into side paths, is disconcerting to a rapid-fire cross-examiner. 3. Take pains to listen attentively to each question. Never guess at the meaning of a question. Don't be ashamed to state frankly, "I don't know." 4. Don't be long-winded. Give no more information than is asked. Brief, to-the-point answers bring their own rewards. 5. Stick to the facts. You're on safe ground so long as you tell only what you saw—not what you think happened or what you heard someone say took place. 6. Never hesitate to admit frankly that you don't remember certain physical facts such as measurements, distances or colors. 7. Never, never memorize a story. First it will sound too pat; second, the moment a slight dent is made, the whole structure collapses. 8. Don't be forced into a "yes" or "no" answer. If you can't honestly answer a question yes or no, say so and ask that it be reworded. No court system can work without witnesses. Persons who object to testifying in court when they possess valuable evidence are simply weakening a system of justice designed to protect them as individual citizens. (This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

The past week, renewals to the Herald have been coming in pretty nicely. The following are on our honor roll, plus a few more mentioned elsewhere in this paper: W. A. Tittle, K. D. Snedeker, W. T. Littlefield, J. B. Burke, R. L. Harriss (Uncle John Santa Fe's boss), H. M. Neeley, city and routes. Hugh Snodgrass, 2 years, Tokio; Mrs. K. W. Howell, Plainview; S. J. Dixon, Hot Springs, N. M., by his son-in-law, Red Tudor; George

Cleveland, Plains, 2 years. Despite a bad time of year, we have been adding a few new readers along, among the most recent being Mrs. Barton Evans, city; F. A. Echols, city; Central Power & Light Co., Corpus Christi. The Don Carters, who lived here until recently, have moved to Pasadena, Texas, and want their

Mumford Graham Is A Boy Going Places

In another portion of this paper is a picture and a bit of descriptive matter about Mumford Graham, furnished the Herald by the Glendale (Ariz.) News. Mumford was born in Brownfield in October, 1926, we believe, but moved to Arizona with his mother when quite young.

They lived with his grandparents until a few years ago, when his mother married again, and he has made his home with his mother and stepfather since. Let us state right here that this is not the first time Mumford has had state recognition in his studies and work, particularly art and music. We believe that he is headed places in the future.

His father, Sawyer Graham, a cashier of the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co., is a resident of Brownfield, and Mumford usually spends his summer vacations here with his father.

Anyway, the Herald is wishing all kinds of success to this fine up and coming lad.

P. S. By the way, we designated Mumford as right in the picture. He is on the extreme left. A girls is at the extreme right.

THEY HAD GOOD MEETING AT O'DONNELL

There was just one baptism at the O'Donnell meeting, Ernest West, of the Southside Church of Christ, stated this week. But what was lacking in additions was made up in revival of church interest and attendance.

He said that the leaders over there stated they had the best attendance on record, not only at day and night services, but in Bible school as well, during the meeting.

Many Air Force Officers Are Wanted

Robins AFB, Ga.—Nearly 7,000 air reserve officer volunteers are wanted by the air force to fill vacancies before June 30, 14th Air Force disclosed today.

This is an increase of 2,300 over 14th Air Force's announcement last October when openings for 4,700 air reserve officers were announced. Specific needs now are for 3,701 pilots, 768 observers, and 2,500 non-rated officers.

Greatest need for non-rated officers is in the following skills: intelligence, photography and cartography, weather, communications, and electronics, law, maintenance and engineering, comptroller, security, investigation and law enforcement, research and development, supply, transportation, personnel, administrative services, aircraft controller, armament, education and training, and installations engineer.

Two thousand reserve officer applications for active duty are now being processed. Nearly all of these officers may expect to be ordered to air force active service before June 30.

Fourteenth Air Force said age limits for pilots are as follows: first lieutenants must not have reached their 33rd birthday on date of application for active duty; captains and field grade officers may not be over 36 years of age

Ford Motor Company Celebrating 50 Years

A story of a great industry and its future—an industry which directly or indirectly provides Americans with one out of every seven jobs in the country—has been told in words and pictures in a new book, "Ford at Fifty."

The book is being published April 20 by Simon and Schuster as part of Ford Motor Company's 50th anniversary observance. It is a portrait of the automobile industry, the people who make it work, and its effect on America, told in terms of one company in the industry.

Featured also is a case history of the automobile's effect on the growth, development and living habits of an American community.

A foreword by Henry Ford II dedicates the book as "a tribute to America."

"The growth and achievements of Ford Motor Company have been made possible by the kind of America in which we live," Mr. Ford's introductory note states.

"While this is a portrait of an American industrial enterprise taken in its 50th year, it is also a book at America and people at work."

Preparation of the 108-page book began in January, 1952.

"We decided to concentrate on the present and produce a story of a great company which is full of energy and enterprise," said J. R. Davis, Ford vice-president and anniversary committee chairman.

The Ford anniversary story was produced editorially by Picture Press, Inc., of New York City. The staff was headed by Joseph J. Thornthike, Jr., former managing editor of Life Magazine, and the text was written by Joe McCarthy, managing editor of Yank, the army weekly during World War II, and now a writer for leading magazines including Life and the Saturday Evening Post.

Wonders Of Nature Seen At UT Show

Austin—Visitors to the University of Texas Exposition and Power Show May 7-9 may see some "wonders of nature" never witnessed down on the farm.

A crystalline tree will grow rapidly in a "chemical forest," steel ball will float in "cream," water will flow uphill and be twisted into beautiful patterns, and rocks will glow in brilliant hues when exposed to "black light" at the power show, scheduled 5-11 p. m. Friday, May 8.

Engineering, natural science, architecture and ROTC units will present more than 100 entertaining and educational exhibits in the show, a feature of the university's annual open house, welcoming high school students here for the university Interscholastic

Start Early To Swat The Flies

Austin—Early spring is the best time for a community to start a fly control program, declared Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. That is before the fly population has a chance to multiply. It is estimated that one pair of flies, under favorable conditions, could have countless ancestors before winter.

Every time you kill a fly early in the season, and destroy breeding places, you stop whole colonies of flies before they can start. The most effective way of preventing swarms of flies is to destroy or make inaccessible to flies the organic material which attracts flies by their odors, and which are essential to them as food and breeding places.

Individual householders should make it their responsibility to clean up their own back yards. Garbage cans should have a tight fitting lid and they should be leak-proof. Inadequate facilities for storage of garbage and refuse usually result in widespread fly breeding. Uncovered or partially covered garbage containers produce odors that attract a large number of flies. Good window screens will do a lot to keep flies out of buildings, thereby protecting food from contamination by fly-borne disease organisms.

There is no substitute for good sanitation in fly control. Every spot in town must be cleaned of garbage and trash. If a few dirty places are left, swarms of flies will breed. A neglected stable on the edge of town will furnish a plague of flies for the entire neighborhood. After garbage and trash have been removed, insecticides will help to reduce the fly population in local spots. It is a temporary protection, however, and should be regarded only as a supplemental or emergency means of control. Insecticide spraying will be effective only if sanitary conditions are maintained throughout the summer.

Sidelights From Washington

By GEORGE MAHON

At this writing the decision has not been made as to whether there will be a price support program

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Burleson visited her aunt, Mrs. May, in Abilene last weekend.

Dock Bobb had his mother and sister of Post, Tex., visiting with morning.

on cottonseed this year. The question has been in the debate stage in the Department of Agriculture for weeks. I have been urging that the price of cottonseed be supported. Under the law, a support program is permissible but not mandatory. A 90 percent of party support program has already been announced for soybeans, a competitive product.

Under the circumstances, I feel that a support program for cottonseed should be announced, and I think the chances are now fairly good that such a program will be provided. All cotton farmers have a direct interest in the matter. I agree that many complications are involved. A large cotton crop is anticipated and the government already has on hand 437,500 tons of cottonseed oil.

The Senate has not yet taken action on the bill, which would continue in operation beyond 1953 the law which provides for the importation of agricultural labor. On April 15, by a vote of 259 to 87, the House voted to continue the measure in its present form for three additional years. The law should be amended, but the member of the house committee on agriculture who sponsored the legislation were afraid to seek a change, fearing that such action might result in defeat of both the amendments and the resolution to continue the program. In a speech in the House, I pointed out that the present program was lopsided in favor of Mexico, and called for a more satisfactory administration of the law.

Some time ago, I joined with members of the farm bureau and cotton producers, generally, in urging the establishment of an additional cotton classing office in West Texas. Department of Agriculture officials have now turned down the proposal. On Monday of this week, I appeared before the house subcommittee on agricultural appropriations in an effort to promote the West Texas application. Present prospects, unfortunately, are not good.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby has become the first Texan in President Eisenhower's cabinet. I joined with others in creating the new position which she now occupies. I think she is a very capable person. I first became acquainted with her during World War II when she was head of the WACS. At that time, she frequently appeared as a witness before congressional committees. Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson is from Texas, but he is not a member of the cabinet. The cabinet position is occupied by the secretary of defense, and not by the secretaries of the army, navy and air force.

In western Australia an attempt is being made to develop hog-raising on a large scale.

Mumford, who is also talented musically, plays first trombone in the Glendale High School Band, and has had private lessons from some of the best teachers in Phoenix. Besides receiving outstanding recognition in school activities, the young man has been winner in a number of state musical meets. Compliments Glendale (Ariz.) News.

State Accepts Five National 4-H Awards

4-H Club members in this state will be eligible to participate in five 1953 national awards programs offering medals of honor, all-expense trips to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress next November, and $300 college scholarships, the state club office has announced.

The programs and donors are: Farm and Home Electric, Westinghouse Educational Foundation; Field Crops, International Harvester; Girls' Record, Montgomery Ward; Poultry, Dearborn Motors, and Tractor Maintenance, Stanolind Oil and Gas Co.

With steadily increasing participation in these programs during the last five years, it is estimated that, in 1953, 100,000 members will enroll in Farm and Home Electric, 328,000 in Field Crops, 1 million in Girls' Record, 220,000 in Poultry, and 68,000 in Tractor Maintenance.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

New York—The price of steel is going up. Ben Fairless, chairman of U. S. Steel Corp., told a group of steel distributors in Miami that the industry had been starved for ten years that its high tonnage and total profits had the fact that its earnings margin was being steadily narrowed.

E. T. Weir, chairman of National Steel Corp., told a Pittsburgh press conference that higher prices were essential to provide maintenance.

All five programs are conducted under the direction of the Co- that, in 1953, 100,000 members will enroll in Farm and Home Electric, 328,000 in Field Crops, 1 million in Girls' Record, 220,000 in Poultry, and 68,000 in Tractor Maintenance.

What Do You Think When Asked To Give To Cancer Fund?

The Terry County Cancer Fund Drive has begun.

What is your reaction when you are asked to contribute your dollar?

Do you say: "Another appeal on top of all the endless appeals of this past year!"

Or do you think of someone who you know who is living today because of the advances in surgery, in research, in medicine, made possible by the dollar someone has given to this great cause? Or do you recall the seven danger signals the American Cancer Society has been urging you to memorize and realize that this knowledge may be responsible for saving your life or someone dear to you?

Remember the American Cancer Society is the only volunteer health agency devoted to all phases of cancer—education, service, and research. It is supported wholly by voluntary contributions and is still the most mysterious of human diseases, in spite of the recent, encouraging progress in the treatment of cancer. The fight is still far from won.

Think of the part you can play in the fight!

Don't let others fight alone! GIVE US YOUR NAME AND YOUR DOLLAR.

The cancer film, "Man Alive," was issued to Terry county for one week, April 12 through 18, when it was shown to 206 persons by civic organizations.

an earnings base for much-needed further investment and replacement of facilities.

Here's the situation: It is true that the increased costs of making steel in recent years have been passed along and added to the price. In fact, the whole structure has almost tripled. The whole structure, that is, except the earnings margin, which has remained the same number of dollars. But, of course, no one is keeping even with the game if he's earning only a dollar today for the same work he did to earn a dollar a decade ago. Dollars ain't what they used to be.

Kermit To Entertain Area Volunteer Firemen

Kermit—The Kermit Volunteer Fire Department personnel has announced its program of entertainment for May 9, when the local department is host for the annual all-day meeting of the Petroleum Basin Firemen's Association.

Firefighters from more than 200 West Texas cities will be in attendance for the meeting, which is to be held both at the fire station and Community Center.

The session will start at 9 a. m. when a business meeting is called. There will be contests in the afternoon with an evening dance winding up the big event.

Included in this year's afternoon competition will be power races and two-man hose races. Prizes will be awarded to firemen who demonstrate the greatest speed and efficiency in setting up their equipment.

Wives and friends of the firemen also have been invited with the evening dance provided especially for the women guests. A barbeque in the afternoon will be part of the entertainment.

Home Demonstration Week May 3-9

College Station—More than 40,000 women will be hostess in Texas during National Home Demonstration Week, which will be celebrated May 3-9.

According to Bonnie Cox, state home demonstration leader, this week is annually set aside for club members to join with neighbors and friends in paying tribute to their efforts by making today's home build "better than yesterday's world." This is the theme of the week for the 3,000,000 members of clubs in the 48 states, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska. Texas club members are planning their observance around the theme, "Home, the cornerstone of freedom."

Miss Cox says each member will be host to a woman who is just a member of an organized home demonstration club. Clubs will give recognition to members who have been in the work since the beginning in the county, and the councils will honor members who have achieved the status of "result demonstrator" in some phase of family and home improvement.

Other county observances will be special radio and television programs, tours, exhibits, newspaper and magazine features, and meetings.

Started by the National Home Demonstration Council, this is the eighth annual observance. Jennie Williams, of Wyoming, president, says, "Some communities are aware of the workings of home demonstration clubs, others not at all. Perhaps members can spend a little more time this spring, to make 1953 the year when several million more Americans find out what extension, through its program for women, is doing for America."

Home demonstration work starts with the home, but world affairs have a definite bearing these days on better living for rural families.

Through the Texas Home Demonstration Association, members in 3,000 clubs are sharing in the building of extension programs in Bolivia by contributing money for its support.

Mrs. B. M. Harris, Hale County, is president of the association, which is holding annual spring meetings in each of 12 districts at present. The state convention will be held in Galveston, Sept. 4, Oct. 1 and 2.

African Lessons Are Concluded By Methodist Women

Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Monday at 3 p. m. in Fellowship Hall of the church for the last in a series of studies on Africa, conducted by Mrs. G. S. Webber.

At an executive committee meeting held preceding the general session, Mrs. Nathan Chesshir resigned as secretary of supplies, and Mrs. D. S. Sampson was elected.

The WSCS voted to serve lunch for the district society meeting here May 8, at a cost of 75 cents per person.

Mrs. Vernon Henderson led an opening prayer for the general meeting, and a letter was read from Bishop C. Martin. Treasurer's report of $110.22 was made by Mrs. Glen Harris.

During the program, led by Mrs. Webber, Mrs. Dallas D. Denison and Mrs. Henderson have the last chapters of the book, "Africa On Sefaria." As a result of the special African study, the group voted to send $10 to Girls' Hostel in Liberia.

Mrs. Webber brought a devotional, using the Scripture Acts 1:8, and gave a reading, "I Hope Someone Prays for Me." "Take Time To Be Holy" was sung by the group, and Mrs. Jess Smith closed the meeting with prayer.

Attending were Mesdames Smith, R. J. Purcell, Jim Griffith, W. B. Downing, G. N. Brown, Henderson, O. A. Lemley, Sampson, B. J. Hill, D. V. Gilley, Mitchell, Flache, Joe Johnson, Hubert Lewis, Glen Harris, Ernest F. Latham, Webber, Denison and Miss Maude Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gave visited her mother, Mrs. S. J. Billings and other relatives in Sudan Sunday.

The department of foreign affairs was created by act of congress, July 27, 1789. The name was changed to department of state, Sept. 15, 1789.

Preston Smith With State Affairs Committee

Preston Smith of Lubbock, who served six years prior to 1950 as a business-man member of the Texas House of Representatives, has accepted appointment as vice chairman of the state affairs committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Pat Bullock of Colorado City, chairman of the committee, has announced.

As a legislator, Smith sponsored laws to enable counties to vote bonds for hospital construction. He was co-author of the rural telephone law, and of the constitutional amendment adopted by the voters that brought about legislative re-districting. He also was co-author of the Briscoe farm-to-market road program during the 51st session.

He authored a bill passed by

MAIDS AND MATRONS CALLING FOR DONORS

As their part in the bloodbank program, members of the Maids and Matrons Study Club have volunteered to call every person in the local telephone directory, reminding them of the blood donor house to require state board and other agencies created to spend state revenue to hold open meetings and notify the press in writing before holding a meeting. He also helped sponsor a bill requiring a loyalty oath of students and faculty of state institutions of higher learning.

Smith retired from the house to run for lieutenant governor in 1950. He made a record at the poll that set a new high for a resident of the South Plains. In a field of 12, he finished third, lacking 29,000 votes out of a million of entering the run-off primary. He led the entire field in 72 counties and carried every county west of Fort Worth with the exception of four.

The Privetts Had A Good Opening

We have been told that the Sam Privetts, Samuel, Gee Gee and little Sam, had an auspicious, whatever that means, opening of their Radio and TV Center at Lovington, N. M., recently.

Not a few went over from here. If they had just took a page ad in the Herald and let the folks here know they were going to have plenty New Mexico liquid refreshment, they would have had to roped off the place, and let a few hundred in at a time.

WMS DARLENE SEARS CIRCLE HAS MEETING IN LEWIS RESIDENCE

Mrs. Loy Lewis, Route 3, Brownfield, was hostess for a business meeting of the Darlene Sears Circle of the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary Society Monday at 2:30 p. m. in her home.

Mrs. C. N. McIntyre opened the session with prayer and Mrs. H. T. Boyd brought a devotional. Reports from committees were heard.

Attending were Mesdames Cecil George, W. T. Stallings, McIntyre, Wade Pearce, W. O. Cooley, Boyd, Oscar Decker, and Lewis.

Next meeting of the group will be Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the C. N. McIntyre home, when a study will be conducted.

Stork Shower Held For Mrs. E. D. Hill

Mrs. E. D. Hill was honored with a bay shower recently in the Sleta Jane Brownfield clubhouse from 3:30 until 5:30 p. m. Hostesses for the event were Mesdames Lynn Nelson, Hubert Bounds, James Warren and Barton Evans.

A color scheme of yellow and green was carried out. Individual cakes iced in yellow confection and ornamented with miniature green booties were served with lime sherbet punch. Green and yellow mints and napkins were also used.

Centering the lace laid table was a baby doll tree, featuring tiny pink baby dolls tied to branches of greenery with yellow ribbons. The arrangement was set in a base of yellow carnations. Table appointments were in crystal.

On the mantle were a large stork and a bassinet holding an arrangement of yellow roses. Tiny blossoms and greenery were used atop the piano.

Approximately 50 guests were invited to attend. Gifts were displayed by the hostesses.

Miss Joanne Price, Kenneth Grawunder Marry In Recent Double Ring Service

Miss Joanne Price of Brownfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Price of Lovington, N. M., and Kenneth Grawunder, son of Mrs. Hilda Grawunder of Route 1, Brownfield, were married in a double ring service read recently at 10 a. m. in the Lovington Church of Christ. Garnie Adkinson, minister of the church, conducted the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ice blue duchess satin, designed with a portrait neckline outlined in bands of lace dotted with sequins and detailed with seed pearls. The fitted bodice featured long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and extended into a deep point at the center front waistline. The bouffant, ballerina skirt was designed with fullness laid in flat pleats at the waistline. The bridal veil of matching blue silk illusion fell from a satin bandeau, outlined with seed pearls. The bride carried a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Jerrell Price of Brownfield, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her ballerina length frock of pale blue net was fashioned with a sheered bodice and full ballerina length skirt. The strapless gown was complemented by a matching stole, and Mrs. Price carried a nosegay of baby pink carnations tied with matching satin streamers.

LeRoy Grawunder of Shallowater, brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man, and Jerrell M. Price served as usher.

The altar was surrounded by a carpeting of green grass and decorated in a garden theme. Vows were read before a white bridal arch banked with palms and flanked by baskets of white lilies.

"I Love You Truly," "Always" and traditional wedding marches were sung by the Lovington Church of Christ choir.

A reception honoring the couple was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Price of Lovington. Assisting the bride and bridegroom in receiving were their parents.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen Madeira cloth centered by an arrangement of pink and olive blossoms. Mrs. Gay Price presided at the silver service, and Mrs. Money Price served wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests were present from Midland, Brownfield, Shallowater and Lubbock.

After a wedding trip to Cloudcroft, N. M., the couple is at home at Route 1 in Brownfield. For traveling the bride chose a pale green suit with beige accessories and a white orchid corsage.

TED ODOM SPEAKS AT AAUW MEETING

Ted Odom, local attorney, spoke on the "City Charter Form of Government," when members of the Brownfield chapter, American Association of University Women, met at 7:30 p. m. recently in the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Barton Evans was elected as president for the coming year, and new secretary of the group is Mrs. Jack Brown.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Evans will attend the state AAUW meeting in Lubbock Friday, and will represent the Brownfield chapter, which is to be one of the hostess book Hotel.

Attending were 12 members, groups for a coffee in the Lubbock and iced bottle drinks were served.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT CANCER

First—Learn cancer's seven danger signals.

Second—Have periodic check ups. The six point check ups—where cancer usually occurs—would take less than a half hour.

Third—Do not rely on improved methods for the treatment of cancer. Only surgery, x-ray and radium can destroy it.

Union Senior Class Play To Be May 5

The senior class of Union High School will present its annual senior play the night of May 5 in the Union gymnasium starting at 8 p. m. "We're Young Only Once," by James F. Stone, is a family comedy which will appeal to the sense of humor of all.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Tickets are on sale now and can be purchased from any member of the cast or at the door the night of the play.

The members of the cast are Glenn Sargent as Junior, who outdoes all juniors; Ann Dill as Emily Daws, often called "Mom" by her two offsprings; Robert Faught as Russell Daws, Sr., the "Pop" of the play and an insurance salesman; Jerry Garner as Harry Jones, the boy with a natural attraction for trouble; Betty Jo Cornett as Peggy, the sweet, unspoiled, 16-year-old daughter; Jimmy Benton as Sam, the big-mouth type of show-off; Pauleta Gracey as Cissie, a flighty, vacuum-brained, giggling girl who doesn't fit in anywhere; Anne Gibson as Mimi, the girl Junior selected to lavish his affection and wealth on; and Jean Sargent as Delores, who is about 22 years old and has been to Hollywood. Invitation is extended to all to attend.

The Telfords Are Regular Cadabouts

Mon and Kate Telford, a farm (?) couple out a mile southeast of town, called up last week, that they had just got in from a trip to Beaumont, the Texarkana area of east Texas, and some other places. And the Old He believed they were trying to kid him.

They told about gathering some "may-pops" or paw-paws, and making preserves of them. Now what looked a bit rickety to us is that paw-paws do not ripen till summer back where we roosted as a boy and young man.

Anyway, not satisfied with ripping around all over southeast and east Texas, they were taking off the next morning for Fresno, Calif., to visit Mon Jr. and family for three months—if earth quakes didn't strike. But they didn't offer us any may-pop "preserves" or jelly.

BHS BAND, CHORUS PARTICIPATE IN DISTRICT MEETS

Members of the Brownfield High School Band will go to Plainview Saturday to participate in the district band contest. Approximately 90 students will make the trip. The group is under the direction of Fred Smith.

The school's chorus took part in a recent district choral meet at Plainview, where they won first place in their division, according to Harold Mulkey, director of the group.

Mrs. N. L. Mason and Mrs. A. J. Stricklin were visitors.

Barton Evans left Tuesday for Houston, where he is attending a convention of the National Gas Association of America being held throughout this week. He will return home Saturday.

CANCER RESEARCH FINDINGS

In surgery—major operations are now being performed with less risk to cancer patients which is largely because of greater surgical skill.

In chemotherapy—or treatment with chemicals, encouraging progress is being made. Some chemical substances are being used which temporarily inhibit the growth of a few types of cancer in human beings.

In radiology—or x-ray treatment, intensive studies are underway in devices that are not only capable of producing more powerful x-rays, but also offer hope of a more effective use of them.

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

Last week we had something to say about the possibility of "boners" in getting out a newspaper. The only puzzler is, that more, not less mistakes are made in printing. There are thousands of chances to make 'em, either by transposition, or a letter failing to fall out of the linotype magazine, when that letter key is touched.

Two of the most glaring that this paper ever made, was 'way back many years ago. We had something about "lads and lasses," when the "l" in lasses failed to fall. Then there was the one in a Magnolia ad once about the "flying red horse," when the "s" in horse, failed to take a tumble. But below we give you one country editor's idea about the number of errors that can appear. He is more statistically minded than we. In fact, we had rather make the error than try to figure out the chances against it. This article was added to by a two-line postscript by the Crosbyton Review, and you can see for yourself the number of errors that may be in just two lines of type:

"In an ordinary newspaper column there are 10,000 letters, and there are seven possible wrong positions for each letter, making 70,000 chances to make errors and several million chances for transposition. There are 48 columns in this newspaper, so you can readily see the chances for mistakes. Did you know that in the sentence, 'To be or not to be,' by transposition alone, 2,759,022 errors can be made? Now, aren't you sorry you got mad about that little mistake last week?"

Yes, gw muts amidit talit ev smootime maek mitsaks!

Going from this to that, we read with some interest an article in the current issue of Acco Press, an Anderson-Clayton publication, about the pink bollworm. The article, by K. W. Ewing of the USDA, was somewhat of a rehash of all others we have seen for the past 30 years. As some of the old timers will recall, 'way back when we were holding the County Fair under the old tabernacle down where West Texas Motors now stands, some men were on hand with some "dead" pink bollworms they had captured hereabouts, they stated.

Every year or so since then, the subject has been raised, and to hear the USDA men tell it, they will in the next few years—eat the farmers out of house and home. But we have not, in all that time, heard one farmer mention the pinkie. But, when you get them on the subject to thrips, flea hoppers and the old fashioned bollworm, they know exactly what you are talking about.

Mention was made in the article under consideration, that the Lubbock, Vernon and Chickasha, Okla., areas were to be investigated to see if the pink bollworm would survive the winters. Well, what have they been doing the past 30 years? We are satisfied that the pinkie has done great damage in the lower Rio Grande area, where it seldom freezes. The article also admitted that the boll weevil was the main despoiler of southern cotton.

And to take the cotton belt over, we will agree. But, out here on the south plains of Texas, where a third of the Texas cotton crop grows in some 18 counties, it is the thrip, flea hoppers and boll worms, the old yellowish-green kind. So, we are not getting excited about the weevil or the pinkie out here. They have had 30 or more years to cut their didoes, and have not cut any swath.

But if these "scientists" and "doctors" want to help, we still have trouble a plenty, with the thrippers, the flea-hoppers and the nasty old boll worms. Take to it!

Read a little article recently in some house organ concerning New Orleans, and its popular mayor, Mr. Morrison. He was telling why the people of that city used the words, "hurry back," so often, when they waited on a customer. To say the least, it costs nothing to be polite, and ask a local man or tourist to hurry back. Sometimes, it makes them feel like they really want to come back for more.

Then the mayor went on to give the average American traveler a bit of advice. He stated that it was a bit hard sometimes to conform to local custom, especially abroad. But in his travels he had not found it too hard, and it does make the people of the country you are visiting feel better toward you and perhaps your nation.

We have been told that one reason Americans, as a whole, are so thoroughly hated in some foreign countries, was the smart alecky way they act; the big display they make of their money, and their habit of bragging. On the other hand, other travelers tell us how nice and polite the English or the French and other Europeans are to the American, who knows how to be genteel himself.

It is sometimes better to keep silent than to say or do the wrong thing.

Some one advises that you stay at your station and pay taxes. Thousands of workers in the government bureaus are depending on you.

Old Doc Anklam says he knows quite a few people who sow wild oats all the week, and go to church on Sunday to pray for a crop failure.

And speaking of crops, he goes on, the new farm creed seems to be faith, hope and parity.

And you never hear anyone repeat that old one about, "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Nowadays the rockettes, baby sitters to you, get 50c per hour.

And the reason most Americans don't own elephants is that no one has ever offered one for a dollar down and a dollar a week.

Before we close this tirade, if you have some F and G government bonds that mature between May 1 and December 31, you can trade them for the new series of 3 1/2 percent treasury bonds.

But you'll have to hurry. Do it today; too late tomorrow. Your banker will help you make application.

They are sure going to a lot of trouble over there in England to train horses not to be scared and what have you. He's half of blaring bands and cheering American, you know.

Mrs. W. J. Jowers Dies At Hospital After Short Illness

Funeral services for Mrs. W. J. Jowers, 71, were held Tuesday of last week at 2:30 p. m. in the Nazarene Church with Rev. John R. Ferguson officiating. A resident of Brownfield since 1921, Mrs. Jowers lived at 492 North Fifth.

After a short illness, she died in the Teadaway-Daniell Hospital Sunday, April 19. Burial was in Terry County Memorial Cemetery, with Brownfield Funeral Home officiating.

Survivors are her husband, five sons, Calvin of Brownfield; J. J. of Lubbock; John L. of Blackfoot, Idaho; Riley of Greenfork, Ark.; and Woodrow of Santa Fe, N. M.; six daughters, Mrs. Emily McDaniel of Bishop, Calif.; Mrs. May McAnear of Roscoe; Mrs. Mildred Kemp of Fresno, Calif.; Mrs. Carrie Blevens of Hillmar, Calif.; and Mrs. Willie King of Yakima, Wash.

Other survivors include: two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Wells of Conroe; and Mrs. Ethel Wells of Beaumont; a brother, Robert Mancil; 47 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were her grandsons, Dick May, Jessie May, Billie Jowers, Dewey McAnear and Earnest Jowers.

crowds, as the queen rides by for the official coronation.

While on the subject of the queen, we noted that she had old Winston Churchill kneel down 'tother day, and whammed him over the head, or was it his shoulder, and then told him he was "Sir Winston Churchill."

MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN FLASH!

FORD BEATS ALL IN ECONOMY!

Economy Winner 4 Years in a Row!

MILEAGE MAKER "6" WINS SWEEPSTAKES!

Score a blazing victory for Ford's dollar-saving gas economy! Ford's high-compression Mileage Maker "6" with Overdrive beat every car entered in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, regardless of size or weight, to sweep the sweepstakes! Ford's winning average was 56.70 ton-miles per gallon.* And Ford's high-compression 110-h.p. Strato-Star V-8 with Overdrive was right up there in economy, too, with a record of 48.55 ton-miles per gallon!

The winning Ford was a regular production car, just like thousands of other '53 Fords you see on the road today. This 1,206-mile trip from Los Angeles to Sun Valley covered all types of driving conditions. The route threaded through city traffic, where stop-and-go driving tests an engine's fuel economy under the toughest conditions... and out along the highways of four western states.

The Ford Mileage Maker "6" took all this in stride, maintaining a speed above the required 44.25 m.p.h. minimum, to finish 1st in the sweepstakes! What better proof is there that Ford is the thriftiest car of all? What better way to show why Ford is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it!

Your Senator Reports

BY LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Tidelands—Senator Price Daniel did Texas proud when he opened Senate debate on the tidelands bill. His presentation was the best and most effective I have ever heard on this subject. Senators of both parties, including even some who oppose the Texas claim, praised Senator Daniel's grasp of the question.

I hope the Senate will have passed the tidelands legislation by the time you read this. A vote was delayed by what Senator Taft called the "long-winded speeches" of senators opposing the legislation.

Reciprocal Trade — President Eisenhower has asked Congress to renew the reciprocal trade act for one year. This program was originally established under a Democratic administration and has been renewed from time to time. I believe the Democrats in Congress will give almost solid support to the President's proposal for a renewal of the act as it stands.

As an opponent of trade barriers between nations, I favor the principles of the original reciprocal trade act.

German Chancellor—When I attended a White House luncheon for Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, he informed me he has relatives in Texas. I asked if he wished to send a message to them and the many other fine American citizens of German descent living in Texas.

Chancellor Adenauer told me to say the German people are very happy with the relationship between their government and ours. He said the American aid programs have been very helpful to Germany. He declared the friendship between Germans and Americans cannot be destroyed by communist propaganda.

Rural Electrification — Several Texas REA leaders were here for

Mentally Ill Freed Of Chains

Freedom and chains, generally speaking, are incompatible, but chains will become a symbol of freedom from barbarism in the care of the mentally ill through a project undertaken by the National Association for Mental Health.

The association has asked state mental hospitals to contribute chains and handcuffs which formerly were widely used to restrain mental patients. The association plans to melt them down and cast the metal as a bell to call attention to the progress made in the care of mental patients and treatment of mental disorders. Metal restraints no longer are used in the majority of institutions which care for the mentally ill, but the association hopes store-rooms and museums will yield enough metal for the bell.

The bell will be rung at a ceremony in New York May 3 to open Mental Health Week, during which the first nationwide fund-raising drive of the association will be conducted.

Treatment of mental illness is relatively new. For centuries men sometimes killed them. Civilized men locked them away, chained to walls and beds. In many cases, the treatment by civilized men was worse than that of the savages. Even today a number of state legislatures are notoriously reluctant to provide adequate funds for the proper care of the mentally ill.

Overcoming anciently rooted prejudice and arousing interest in the plight of the unfortunate vic-

IT TAKES PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE—Football may be a sport, but there's more work than play involved for the approximately 40 boys working out in spring grid training under the direction of Coach Tedy Greer. Since the coming season's squad will come principally from as yet unseasoned players, the boys have a lot of hours to put in in order to get in shape for the schedule of games set for next fall. Practice begins each weekday afternoon at about 3:15 and continues until 6 o'clock, with Coach Greer and his staff of L. G. Wilton and Farris Newell putting the Cubs through their paces.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—My daughter and I are receiving VA compensation payments because of the death of my husband, a World War I veteran. My daughter is past 18 years of age, but she is attending a school approved by VA. Will the compensation payments go on during her summer vacation? She intends to continue school in the fall.

A—Yes, the payments may continue throughout the summer, so long as your daughter resumes her studies after the vacation period has ended.

Q—My wife and I are both World War II veterans. Is it possible for us to combine our GI loan benefits to buy a house?
A—Yes. However, the total amount that VA will guarantee is 60 percent of the loan. Also, the maximum guaranty may not exceed $15,000—which represents the combined maximum guaranties you and your wife would be entitled to, individually.
Q—I am a paralyzed veteran, eligible for a $10,000 VA grant for the construction of a "wheelchair home." Do I have to buy plans and specifications for the house?
A—No. These may be furnished without cost to veterans eligible for the VA grant, but they must meet the approval of VA.
Q—I am a disabled World War II veteran, training under public law 16. I suffered an injury in training, that has aggravated the disability for which I draw VA compensation. Is it possible to have my compensation rate increased, because of it?
A—Yes, but VA, of course,

Cough Is A Symptom, And Not A Disease

Austin—A cough is just a symptom and not a disease, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. It is an indication that something is wrong in the body's respiratory tract or breathing tube.

When a noxious substance obstructs the respiratory passage, a cough is nature's reflex to remove the obstruction. Such a cough is simple and transient. The same thing happens when the throat or lower passages are irritated during a cold, whooping cough, asthma, smoking, low humidity and dust.

A cough can be produced by more serious conditions such as tuberculosis or cancer. Constant coughing brings on fatigue as a person's rest is affected by the constant hacking.

A prolonged cough might indicate chronic bronchitis, a condition which in most cases is secondary to an infection elsewhere, such as the nose, throat or sinuses. Mucous draining into the throat may cause such irritation that the victim many involuntarily cough repeatedly to bring up the material.

Hoarseness is produced by persistent coughing in some persons. Hoarseness is a symptom of an inflamed larynx. Hoarseness lasting for six weeks or more is a serious symptom suggestive of cancer and must not be disregarded.

No persistent cough should be disregarded. The nature of the infection and its location may be shown by an examination of the material expelled, and a thorough examination by the family physician will determine the cause and give a basis for treatment.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

New York — The consumer is giving the thinkers, strategists and the investors an admirable lesson in self-control in the wake of the Kremlin's peace offensive. He is calmly going about his business, with none of the bewilderment and confusion evident in varying degree in the Pentagon and the stock exchanges.

Sales of durable goods are up more than is customary at this time of year, which almost always shows a noticeable rise. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers are vying for Mr. Consumer's attention with new models, more advertising and some price shading.

Leading the upsurge in civilian output in response to this demand are the auto makers. They're producing at the rate of more than 4 million vehicles in the first half of this year. New-car inventories are small, and used-car stocks not excessive. Detroit executives are cautious about the second half of this year, but steel mills report eager demand for third-quarter shipments, and the auto makers are the steel mills' best customers.

Television set production in February, latest month for which figures are complete, was 730,000, up from 409,000 a year earlier; radio set output was 1,200,000, compared to 75,000 in the like month of 1952.

ELECTRIC CONSUMPTION TAKES A JUMP

Austin—Texas total consumption of electric power during March reached an all-time high for one month, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

The previous record high was recorded last December. March consumption was 2 percent greater than February and 17 percent more than March, 1952.

In Saudi Arabia huge sand-spreaders, used by U. S. railroads to fight snow, have been found useful for plowing away sand in heavy dune areas.

Some six billion checks are printed annually to supply the need for this handy substitute for cash.

What Made You Give Blood?

Capt. Mary M. Younger,

Army Nurse Corps, Asks Four Americans at a Cleveland, Ohio, Blood Center...

"I'm stationed at an Army Hospital—far from any front-line fighting. But here the battle for life still goes on. "Helping these men, watching them, I've come to understand why the need for blood is always urgent. Day after day, I've seen the blood you donate restore health to the shattered, life to the lifeless. "After a while you think—"Who are these people that make this miracle possible? Why do they give blood? I came here to find out... and right away I sensed an easy-going, relaxed warmth about the people. Something about this painless act of giving blood seems to draw people closer together... make them proud and humble at the same time about telling you why they were rolling up their sleeves... and giving blood..."

"It Might Have Been My Kid"

LEO CANAVAN, salesman, told Capt. Younger: "I saw her dash out in front of this car. She was in blue jeans—and with the sun on her hair—she might have been my kid. At the hospital it took 3 pints of blood to save her. I only have to remember the sound of those screaming tires to know why I'm here..."

"Supposing The Planes Are Theirs"

JOHN SHARKEY, Civil Defense worker, spoke up: "I'm watching the skies one night and I hear the jets way off in the distance. Supposing the planes are theirs? Then what? No enemy is going to wait until we have enough blood reserves for the people wounded in that first attack. We've got to be doing it now."

"I Missed The Boston Fire!"

EDWARD GRAY, advertising artist, said: "My wife and I tried to get into the Coconut Grove the night of that terrible fire in 1942. We were turned away. No room. Well—I think now—there's no room, either, for losing American lives needlessly in disasters like that because we don't have enough blood reserves!"

"A Privilege And A Pleasure!"

JOHN LYDEN, business executive, smiled when asked the question. "Haven't got a very exciting reason, like these others. I think a person living in this country has some obligations. Like helping to run his community, if he can. Or, like voting regularly or giving blood. It's a privilege—and a pleasure."

Editor Advises Farmers—Farmer Advises Editor

To the Old He:
We note that one newspaperman has said: "A wink to the wise is sufficient." When GWN and I were doing our courting 'way back in the Ozarks, we found to our sorrow that a wink to the wise sometimes was sufficient. Yep, sufficient to get a parol broken over your head, or your eyes jabbed out with a hat pin. You ain't gettin' us into anything of the sort.

We note the genial editor says it is alright for a newspaperman to give the farmers advice. Then maybe it is alright for a farmer to tell an editor how to edit a paper. So, here goes with our valuable suggestion. Now, if a newspaperman ever had more than one money—which we doubt—then the plural of money should be spelled moneys and not monies.

DISCONCERTING
Foreman: Excuse me, but are you the lady that was singing?
Lady: Yes, I was singing. Why?
Foreman: Well, might I ask you not to hang on to that note so long? The men have knocked off twice already, mistakin' it for the dinner whistle.

European diplomats saw in the communique on the American-British talks in Washington, evidence that London would cooperate more fully on strengthening the Continent's defense and economy. In East Germany, the Russians have delivered 500 tanks in a further speeding of military build-up there.

INEVITABLE RULE
"What did Jack say when you asked him if he could support you in the style to which you were accustomed?"
"He said no, but that I ought to remember that the styles are always changing."

Speaking of politics, we see that Sam Rayburn, in discussing the way Texas went during the last campaign, has said — "never again." Maybe he meant that never again will the party of Jefferson be dominated by Truman and others who seem to be in love with "creeping socialism," and who seems to favor federal, not state control of our state and local issues. No one is qualified to speak for the voters of Texas, but it is our opinion that if Trumanism dominates Democratic councils, conventions and platforms, then Texas is liable to revolt again.

It is doubtful if the voters would support a re-nominated Stevenson in view of his political kinship with Truman in the 1952 campaign. Some of us have not forgotten that even some Democrats said that the late Eugene V. Debbs was a conservative compared with the policies of Truman.
—Jake Sandage, R. S.

Frankly, we are not in the least interested in money, moneys or monies. What we are trying to do is write hot stuff for cold readers. And as for the English, we don't speak any King's English, little American English, and not very perfect Texas English.
And syntax, surtax and hidden-tax don't bother us in the least. Come again, Jacob?—Old He.

THE SALESMAN

Wife—Have you ever seen the man that sold you those Florida lots that were under two feet of water?
Husband (sheepishly)—Yes, I saw him the other day.
Wife (suspiciously)—Well, what happened?
Husband—He sold me a boat.

DAFFY-NITIONS

Public speaking—The art of diluting a two-minute idea with a two-hour vocabulary.
Fortune hunter—The man who seeks a girl for her pa value.
Fishnet—A lot of little holes tied together with string.

ENDURING

Mrs. Shortly was discussing the latest fashions with a caller.
"Did you say your husband was fond of those clinging gowns, Mary?"
"Yes. He likes one to cling to me for about three years."

We Breeze Over To People Want Presidential Preferential Primary

After a pretty good lunch Sunday that was brought in by the neighbors or somebody, and a fairly long nap, the feminine persuasion, consisting of the wife, daughter Sallie Trigg and little daughter Sara Beth, of Snyder, decided on a flying call on the Harvey Breezes at Levelland. The Old He's wife kinder claims a "Tennessee cousin kin" or something to Mrs. Breeze. Mrs. Breeze is a niece or our wife's step mother.
Anyway, in the daughter's Buick, we were there before we hardly knew we were going. The Breezes have recently purchased a new home, and they were busy about the place, especially the yard, getting things ship shape. Mr. Breeze has charge of produce in one of their large chain grocery stores. Also, found Mrs. Breeze's mother was visiting with them, who occasionally joined in the conversation. After quite a bit of tongue exercise, and coffee and cake, we hit the road.

Came back via Sundown, and there is an oil field all the way, 13 miles from Levelland to Sundown, and some three miles this side, but the field goes dry soon after reaching Terry county. Came via the F-M through north Pool community, and hit the highway at Needmore. Home before sunset.
We get a big kick out of a trip, if some one else drives, and just lets us see the scenery. Saw the new hotel at Levelland, but as supper didn't seem to be ready, we came on home.

Then there was that Don C. Carter family that moved off down there close to "heavenly Houston," an "clean forgot to have their Herald transferred to the new address. Well, here she comes, Mrs. Carter, and to save time in the future, you can just spell our name Stricklin, instead of using the "g" on the end, and save time. Says they are missing the news from here.

Had an editor an' an ex-editor with us Monday P. M. There was Col. David Watson, the Old Pirooter, from Denver City, and the Rev. J. W. Hale of Plains, the former Review editor. By the way, 56,071 were sick or hurt on United States ships in 1952.

President Eisenhower has intimated he might intervene in congressional inquiries if, as some witnesses have charged, they were proceeding in an unfair manner.

Watson is now printing the Review, as Red Curry is busy irrigating his farm. Watson now prints two papers besides the Denver City Press.

UNION NEWS

Rehearsals for the senior play began Monday night. The play, "We're Young But Once," a three-act family comedy, will be presented May 5, at 8 p. m. in the Union gym.
The cast includes Betty Jo Cornett, Jimmy Benton, Anne Gibson, Glenn Sargent, Robert Earl Faught, Jerry Garner, Paul-eta Gracey, Ann Dill, and Jean Sargent.
Union juniors are having a sigh of relief after last week's full schedule of presenting their annual three-act play and the junior-senior banquet.
Saturday evening at 7:30 juniors entertained the seniors, the faculty, and guests with a formal Mexican banquet in the party room of the Esquire Restaurant.
Invitations, programs, place cards, nut cups, and decorations, all carried the Mexican theme. The banquet table held a large bouquet of white carnations decorated with colorful Mexican sombreros. Large balloons and a welcome sign completed the Mexican scene.
Mistress of ceremonies for the occasion was Jean Sargent, with Sup't. M. G. Gary as speaker of the evening. Nolan Cornett offered the welcome, with Glenn Sargent giving the response. Toast to the faculty was presented by Jerry Garner, class will by Betty Cornett, toast to school by Jimmy Benton, and class prophecy by Bonnie Horn.
Those attending were Betty Jo Cornett, Paula Gracey, Bonnie Horn, Evelyn Neighbors, Jean Sargent, Joyce Dyer, Anne Gibson, Carol Ann Garner, Ardeth Herring, Yvonne Herring, Bill Benton, Nolan Cornett, Robert Earl Faught, Bobby Hungerford, Lloyd Wilson, Jimmy Benton, Jerry Garner, Glenn Sargent, Louis Loe, Don Ham, Donald Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Herring, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Gary, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Kerr, junior class sponsor.

Acting before approximately 300 people, the largest one crowd to attend a school play at Union, the juniors netted $120 on their production, "Bachelor Buttons," given Tuesday night in the school gym. From all reports, the play was a huge success. Furnishing entertainment between acts were the Curtis brothers from Meadow, Sonny and Pete, singing and playing numerous popular, hill-billy, and religious numbers. Sonny played the fiddle and guitar, accompanied by Pete, who played the guitar.

Plans are now under way for a cast picnic to be held in Lubbock. A first place, third place, and fourth place were won by Union students in the Interscholastic League meet held at Sundown Friday afternoon. Eddie Powell won first in junior boys' declamation; Ann Dill, third place in numbers sense; and Donald Puryear, fourth in numbers sense. At presstime, results from the ready writing contest had not been received.

Due to the resignation of Claud Montgomery as freshman class treasurer, Carol Ann Garner was elected to fill that position for the remainder of the year.

CHALLENGE TO THE INDUSTRY
-the new GMC 400-27 that outpowers and outclasses its field

GMC's new 18,000 GVW hauler not only dwarfs trucks of 16,000 and 17,000 GVW, but overshadows—and under-prices—those rated at 19,000. In fact, the GMC 400-27 is designed to outhaul any truck up to 19,500 GVW. Its new engine of progressive design is stripped of excess weight, yet built stronger to absorb the stress of really high compression. It gives you brisker response, more power and mileage from regular gas. It includes, as standard equipment, many features that are optional at extra cost on other trucks. As a tractor—or as a truck—it can increase your hauling ability, give you impressively better equipment—and save you both purchase and operating money to boot.

130 GROSS HORSEPOWER—on moneysaving single carburetion. Valve-in-head engine, 270 cubic inch displacement, 7.5 to 1 compression ratio.

2-SPEED ELECTRIC SHIFT REAR AXLE—15,000 pounds capacity, is coupled with a 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission, putting 8 forward speeds at the driver's command. (Single-speed axle available at a saving; 5-speed transmission optional at extra cost.)

30,000 GCW—137" or 149" wheelbase in tractors; 161", 179" or 197" wheelbase in trucks (9- and 12-foot platform or stake bodies optional).

ALSO STANDARD EQUIPMENT: 4,500 pound capacity front axle—Hydrovac-actuated brakes—Moraine M-400 main and connecting rod bearings—Tocco-hardened crankshaft.
