

FREE MASS CHEST X-RAY IN BROWNFIELD JULY 24-28

Did you know that tuberculosis is preventable? Curable? Not inherited? Tuberculosis is contracted from another active case. It is a "catching disease." It is caused by a germ which usually attacks the lungs, but may attack other parts of the body.

Tuberculosis is spread from an infected person to others in several ways, some of which are: Through nose and throat discharges, by coughing and spitting; through using dishes, linens and other articles soiled by an infected person. Tuberculosis infection usually is the result of continued close contact with an active case; therefore, it is a "family disease."

How do we know who has tuberculosis? Early TB is without symptoms. It is no respecter of persons. It occurs in all walks of life, and at any age, but is least likely to be present in serious form between the ages of 4 and 14 years. If coughing and loss of weight are present, the disease is well advanced, and a person has lost his best chance for complete recovery.

How can we best protect our families? Have a chest X-ray every year! You can have a free chest X-ray on July 24, 25, 27 or 28 at the Tudor Sales Company, 622 West Main, any time between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. You do not have to undress for this X-ray and it takes only a few minutes of your time.

TERRY FARM BUREAU HAS DIRECTORS MEET

Terry County Farm Bureau directors' monthly meeting was held July 14, at the bureau office, at 8 p. m., to discuss current activities of the organization. Among things discussed was the farm bureau queen contest, the recent discussion in Washington concerning cotton classing of the Lubbock office, and the drought aid program.

TATUM CHILD WITH SCALP WOUND IS TREATED HERE

Rickey Perry of Tatum, N. M., was brought to the local hospital for treatment last Thursday. Rickie, a six-year-old lad, fell off a bed on a gas jet that protruded from the wall.

A gash was cut on the back of his head. The place was treated, and the wound closed with stitches.

Miller Discusses Drouth At Council

The Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, agriculture workers' council, held its monthly meeting at Nick's Cafe, Tuesday, July 14, and Loe Miller, Production Marketing Administration manager of Terry county, started the meeting with a discussion of the drought relief, concerning farmers and ranchers in Terry county. According to Miller, a drought relief committee has been set up, with R. B. Jones, chairman, Bob Land, Jim Foy, R. N. McClain and C. A. Winn as committeemen. The committee was set up to pass on the eligibility of farmers and ranchers, and to approve a 30-day supply.

The rules set up by the committee are that, any farmer or rancher is eligible for the relief to feed cattle, sheep, and goats. The program was set up by the federal government, does not make allowance for feeding hogs and chickens. It was originally estimated by Miller and the committee that one pound of feed per head of cattle would be adequate and, as a result, three cars of cake, two cars of meal, one car of corn, and one car of oats were ordered, but this is now considered as an underestimate, and a request for more feed is being made. Application has been made by 185 farmers and ranchers for the relief, and it is estimated that it will take two or three pounds of feed per day for the more than 8,000 head of cattle in Terry county. Next council meeting will be held July 23.

Rep. Gillham, Area Businessmen Confer With Congressmen

By J. O. GILLHAM

A group of west Texas businessmen went to Washington last week to interview department of agriculture officials and members of congress, relative to the serious drought situation prevalent in more than two-thirds of the state of Texas at this time. The group was composed of Rep. J. O. Gillham of Brownfield, who is also president of the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company; Charles C. Thompson, president of the City National Bank, Colorado City, Texas; Cliff Wimberly, rancher from Vega; W. O. Fortenberry, Lubbock county farmer; Retha Martin, Lubbock merchant; John McKnight, San Angelo rancher; C. E. Wardlaw, Del Rio rancher, and W. K. Crawley, Lamesa banker.

The delegation had a meeting last Thursday morning with a group of Texas congressmen, headed by former speaker of the house, Sam Rayburn, and George Mahon, 19th district congressman. The congressional delegation was very sympathetic toward our needs at this time, and promised to do everything possible to bring about effective and quick relief. Congressman Mahon was especially active in our behalf, and did everything possible to put the delegation in contact with the proper people at the department of agriculture.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson was also very active in behalf of the drought stricken farmers and ranchers, and did everything possible for us during our stay in Washington. Upon invitation of the president, he accompanied the president to Amarillo for the drought conference with various state governors last week. We feel that most of our officials and most of the members of congress are cognizant of the very serious drought situation existing at this time in Texas, and other southwestern states.

Our only fear is that they may not recognize the magnitude of the task before all of us, and may not appropriate sufficient funds to meet the problem in a bold and effective way. Also, the danger that various red tape may hamper the proper and efficient administration of the aid program.

Mr. Gillham stated: "We feel that our visit to Washington was helpful, and that we were successful in getting over to our con-

BANKS OF BROWNFIELD HAVE GOOD STATEMENTS

We were glad to present the full text of the statements of both banks to you last week, the First National and the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company. We believe that you, like many of the rest of us, are proud of the record our two fine banks are making in the community, and that you, like ourselves, want them to know we admire their success and progress.

Before we present figures, we want to explain a bit about the appearance of the loan section. Quite a bit of this loan business is FHA and other government insured loans, and not a little of them are installment loans they are handling for local dealers in the sale of many household articles, utilities, cars and such. This may tend to give you the big idea that the loans are too much for the resources. On the other hand, a big percentage of it is government guaranteed, or the papers of local dealers held for collection from customers of the dealers.

To say the least, the banks are in fine shape for the time of year, and, we believe, compare favorably with last year and the year before at the close of the first half of the year. Below we give a combination of the loans, cash and deposits of the two banks:

Loans	$10,525,761.22
Resources	13,361,568.43
Cash and due	3,648,275.54
Deposits	12,264,773.18

Each of the heat winners received a trophy signifying his victory. These trophies, and the prizes for the winners were awarded at 8 p. m., Wednesday, when the swimming pool in MacKenzie the youngsters gathered east of State Park at Lubbock.

Other Brownfield boys entered in the derby, and their sponsors, were Bobbie Darnell, Piggly Wiggly; Charles Gowan, West Texas Gas Company; Jack Griggs, Brownfield Ice Company; Bobby Rosson, Terry County Lumber Company; and Troy Willis, Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company.

Rep. Gillham Named On State Education Commission

Rep. J. O. Gillham, president of the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company, has been named one of the five state representatives to the 31-member Texas commission on higher education, charged with making a study of state-supported colleges and universities, by House Speaker Reuben E. Senterfitt.

Other representatives appointed were H. A. Hull, Fort Worth; F. S. Seeligson, San Antonio; Reagan Huffman, Marshall; and Ben Glusing, Kingsville.

Rep. Gillham returned Monday from a trip to Washington, where he and a number of representatives from the drought areas met with congressional delegates of Texas. Full coverage of the trip is printed elsewhere in this issue.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICER HERE ON JULY 22

Have you ever taken a look at your social security card? No? Well, take a good look now. Notice that it has a number as well as your name. There's a good reason for that number.

The Social Security Administration keeps records for over 100 million American workers. Payment to you after you retire, and to your survivors if you should die, will be based on your record of covered earnings. The number on your card helps the Social Security Administration make sure that your record does not get confused with the record of someone else, who may have the same name as yours.

Take care of your social security card. Use it, don't lose it! If you should lose it, get a duplicate at the nearest office of the Social Security Administration.

To assist in all matters pertaining to social security, a representative of the Lubbock social security office will be in Brownfield at the post office on July 22 at 1 p. m.

GERON AND MARTIN ATTEND CHICAGO MEET

Jake Geron, Brownfield Lions Club member, and F. N. Martin and wife recently returned from the Lions International convention, held in Chicago. Approximately 300,000 Lions and their wives attended the four-day convention, with headquarters at Palmer House.

Mr. Geron stated that two of the most interesting speakers that he heard were Miss Helen Keller, noted blind and deaf teacher, who spoke in connection with projects that the Lions Clubs have carried out for the blind; and the secretary of the United States Navy, S. A. Dodge of Detroit, Mich., was elected president of Lions International for the coming year at the convention, succeeding Ed Elbert of Illinois.

Representatives of the club attended the convention from all 48 states and 40 foreign countries.

Mr. Geron recently assumed his duties as president of the local Lions Club, at a business luncheon held at Nick's Cafe. Thirty-four Lions and guests attended the meeting.

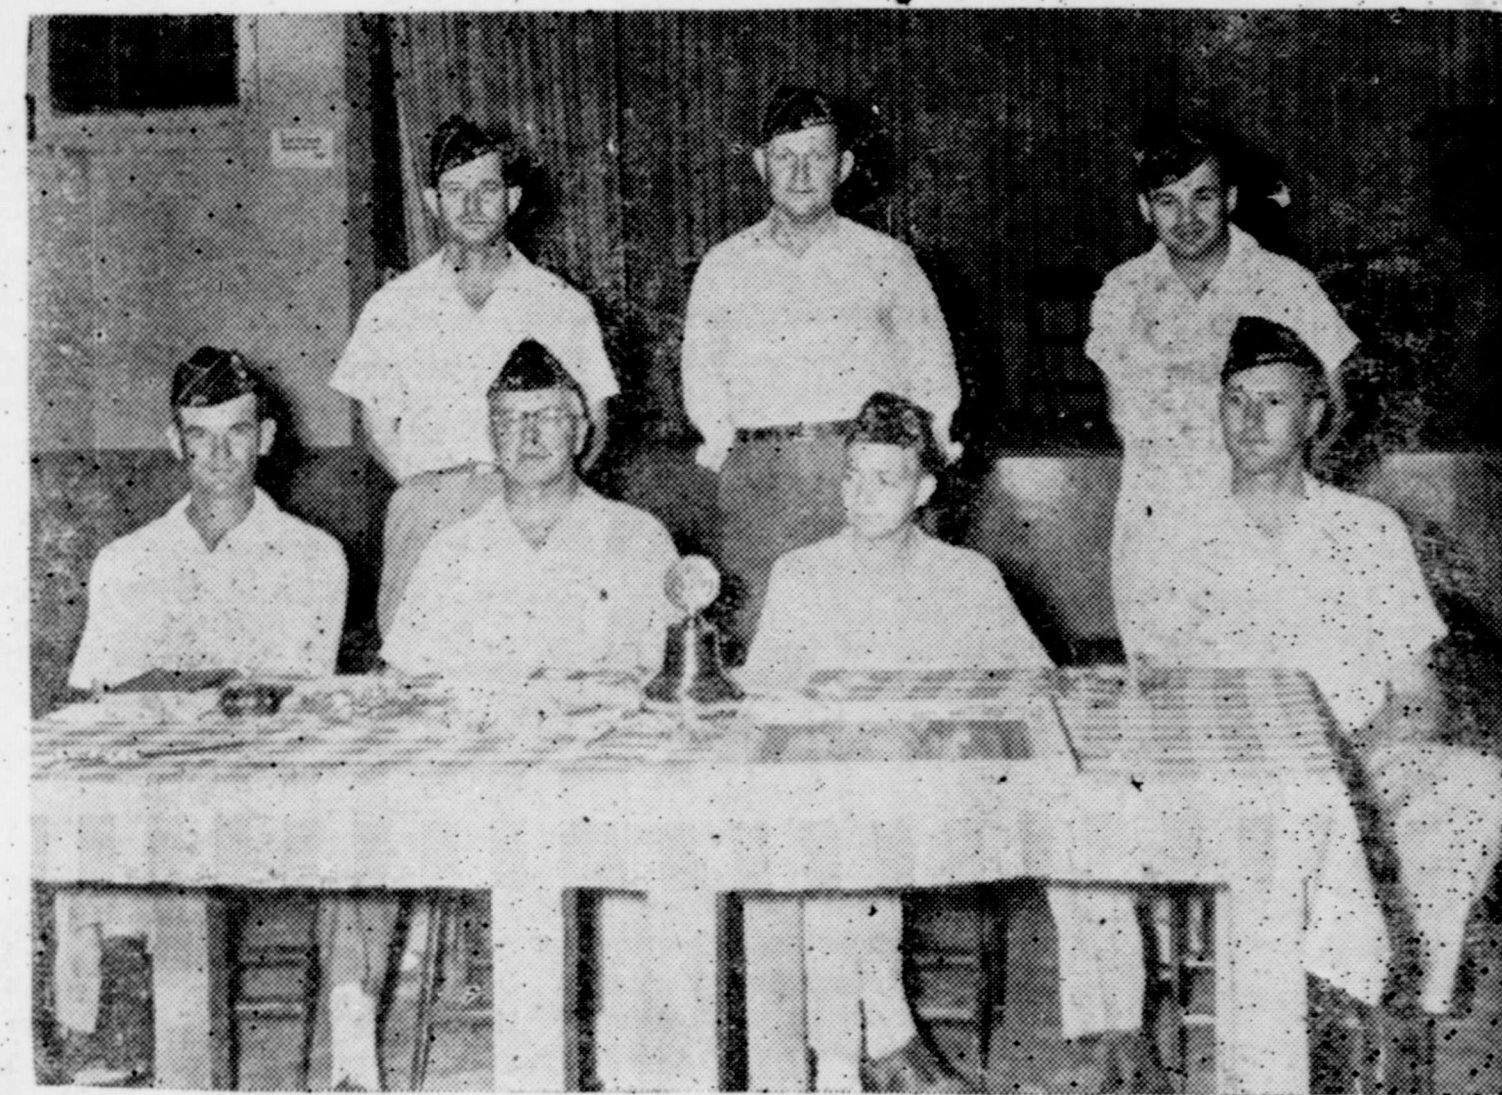

Lt. Governor Speaks To Kiwanis Today

Lt. Gov. J. P. White, of the local division of Kiwanis Clubs, will be principal speaker at the Kiwanis meeting today at noon at Nick's Cafe. He will report on the international convention, which he attended in June, in New York City.

During the past three weeks, the local club has met twice in Coleman Park, and once in Nick's Cafe, due to the closing of the Esquire. At their meeting in the park, members and their wives enjoyed and cooked a steak dinner and had a weiner roast in the evening.

One of the Kiwanis projects this year has recently been accomplished. Last Friday, the sixth barbecue pit was finished, with approximately eight or ten members doing most of the work, Bill Cope, president, announced.

Terry County Sheriff's Posse attended the Santa Fe Round-up, last week, and Mrs. Crate Snider of Ropesville led the local posse as queen. Eleven Terry county posse members rode in the Thursday afternoon parade, and the riding groups from Vernon and Fort Worth tied for first place winner.

Terry County Farm Bureau releases the following telegraphic message sent the bureau concerning another message sent to the Texas Farm Bureau office at Waco:

"President J. Walter Hammond wired these bureau recommendations to President Eisenhower June 18, and to Congressman Bob Poage of house agricultural committee, June 24. Quote: 'Texas is subject to droughts. The livestock producers and the credit agencies of this state prepare for ordinary droughts, but this unprecedented drought has not only depleted the ranges of forage, but has depleted the sources of credit. The situation is so drastic that it has caused a near panic in the movement of livestock to market.'

"The panicky situation in the drought stricken areas, along with the decline in the market, has reached into other areas, and stimulated the movement of cattle to market, which in turn, results in lower market prices, and impairs the value of the collateral securing loans. All of which pyramids livestock sales. We feel that this situation is temporary, and if not halted immediately, will result in the forced sale of breeding herds, herds which will eventually be reflected in higher prices to the consumers, and, in addition, to that wreck the economy in a vast livestock area.

"To relieve this drastic situation, we feel that emergency measures will be required. Therefore, the board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation urgently requests that the agriculture committee of the house give serious consideration to the following proposals:

- "1. That the drought stricken area of this state be declared a disaster area.
- "2. Provide, through existing channels or otherwise, a system of credit to enable livestock producers to maintain possession of foundation herds.
- "3. Provide necessary long-term credit for essential feed.
- "4. Make available surplus CCC feedstuffs at prices at least at the same level as those offered to foreign countries.
- "5. That the United States department of agriculture initiate a beef purchase and promotion program that will restore confidence, strengthen the market, and tide the industry over this emergency.

LOCAL FFA MEMBERS TO ATTEND STATE CONFAB

Approximately 175 south Plains Future Farmers of America and their advisers are expected to attend the Silver Jubilee state convention, July 22 through 24, at Fort Worth. Highlight of the assembly will be the announcement of state winners, and the top award, Star Lone Star Farmer of Texas.

An outstanding feature of this year's convention will be a massive downtown parade on the opening day. It will feature FFA members in all types of conveyances and a moving display of all kinds of farm equipment. Several bands will add to the color and festivities, marking the arrival in Fort Worth of the Future Farmers.

The Fort Worth Farm and Ranch Club, which is serving as official sponsor, is making arrangements for the convention. The announcement of the Star Lone Star Farmer will be made at a banquet in the exhibit building at Will Rogers Memorial Center on the second day.

Seventy-four Lone Star Farmers have been designated from the south Plains-Panhandle chapters included in the vocational agriculture area 1, which is headquartered in Plainview.

Planning to attend from Terry county are Earl Brown, Jr., John Burnett, Joe Foshee, Dickie Green, Corkey Lasiter, Van Perry, and Tommy Winn, all of Brownfield; Lewis Allen Jones, David L. Lile and David Neal Todd, Loop; Jim Castleberry, Billy Reese and W. D. Warren, Meadow; Roger Bryant, John Hawkins, Ernest Lewis and Booth Slaughter, Wellman.

LET'S NOT FORGET THE BOND ELECTION, SATURDAY, JULY 25th

The great day of decision will be here come Saturday week. Of course, we mean by that the time will be at hand, when we must decide whether Terry is to continue to make her strides as one of the up-and-coming counties of this section, or will it take its place as one of the has-beens? The decision will rest squarely on the shoulders of every property taxpaying citizen in Terry county, Saturday, July 25th.

Yes, we know it is hot and dry. We know that the outlook for a crop, as this is written, is slim; that is, for anything like an average crop. There will be some fair, some good, irrigated farms, and if we have rains in the not-too-distant future, we'll have some fairly good cotton and feed crops on dry land. And, if it rains this fall, a chance for some good winter pasture, and perhaps a wheat crop next spring.

But, right now, we have the proposition to prepare a State Highway right-of-way from two miles south of town to the Hockley county line northeast, on the Lubbock highway, for a four-lane road. You know how badly it is needed, if you have traveled this two-lane highway recently, with the huge traffic it carries. It is becoming positively dangerous. Most of this bond issue will be used in procuring additional right-of-way, and all will have to come on the east side, as the Santa Fe tracks are on the other side, and this expense will be partially moving farm houses back from the highway further.

Some of this money will be used also on the highway from here to Tokio for room to expand. Remember how those oil fields of northeast Yoakum and northwest Terry are growing? And those in the know say they'll keep expanding and growing, and we must be able to care for the heavy traffic west of the city, caused from oil development in these fields. Brownfield is their closest major town, and will get the benefits.

But all taxpayers will get the benefits from every new oil well brought in, anywhere in the county. And each and everyone of these wells will pay a huge portion of the tax needed to retire the road bonds.

Will have more to say about this next week.

ABSENTEE VOTING ON BONDS ENDS JULY 22

Absentee voting on the current special highway bond election ends July 22, 1953. Those persons desiring to vote because of absence from county or illness on July 25, do so in the county clerk's office before the 22nd.

Next term of District Court, with Judge Louis B. Reed presiding, will be held Aug. 24.

FARM BUREAU QUEENS' CONTEST, Terry county, for the purpose of giving recognition to the farm and ranch girls of Texas, has been entered by girls pictured above. The state-wide, non-commercial contest will be judged on grace, poise, charm, vivaciousness, etc., of entrants. Among awards, include county awards: $30, first place; $15, second place; in gift certificates. District winners, wrist watch, and all-expense paid trip of winner and attendant to state convention. The State Farm Bureau queen and matron escort will be allowed $500 expenses to American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Chicago, Ill., in December. Sitting, left to right, front row, are Lee Nell Walker, Betty Jo Cornett, Willadene George, Doris Jean Massengill; second row, Janie Dickson, Jeanette Faulkenberry, Kathryn Flowers, Buddie Louallen; third row, Anne Gibson Jean Sargent; and back row, Janie Brown. Other entries, whose pictures will appear next week, are Veda Beth Durham, Betty Cabiness, and Beth Golden. (Staff Photo)

The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon these principles of freedom—equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

—Terry County Herald

We have read a lot of criticism of Ezra F. Benson, agricultural secretary, of late. Some of it appears in the "readers' columns" of the dailies, while a lot of it comes from the partisan politician, some of them as high up as the U.S. Senate, and especially from Mrs. Kerr, the Oklahoma socialist. But we have seen little criticism of the Ag. Secretary from the farmers themselves, or their organizations. Most of the severe critics maintain that Benson has no farm plan, which, in a way, may be true, of this old timer, who in safety well acquainted with farming as it is practiced in the White section of the USA, but is not a boy when other sections are under consideration. For instance, what he doesn't know about citrus in Florida, north Texas and California, won't hurt anyone. Or, his ignorance of the cattle business in Texas, the sugar cane business in Louisiana, or the culture in the Mississippi delta, is like a blank book to Benson, as well as a lot of other things, this writer included.

And we find that many of the same agricultural writers are in the same boat. If they are, however, what a lot of the largest farm organizations would like to see is a man who knows it all. In fact, we have had some 20 long years of experience with a bunch of "consultants" up at Washington, who never plowed a furrow in their lives, who figured it all out on paper, and told the old farmer and the scrawny old cattleman, just what was good for them, with no ifs, ands and buts. As stated above, the big farm organizations, as well as many of the individual farmers, have about reached the limit that it is not the smart PhD or other alphabetical boys we need in Washington, but rather some one with a hunk of good old common sense. Such an organization, to mention one, is the Farm Bureau Federation. Instead of telling all farmers and ranchmen just what to do, Benson has asked these organizations to assemble their best brains, and work out a program which would be good for them, well as the best of the country. In fact, we have a copy of just such a letter before us from Mr. Benson to Allan B. Kline, of the AFM, in which he asked their co-operation in working out a good farm program. In turn, there was a nice letter from Mr. Kline to Benson, thanking him for the suggestion, and offering co-operation to the best of his ability.

Well, here we go again with these pink bollworm fellows. When we are not having trouble with the pinkies, there is a matter we have to thresh out on occasion with the water engineer hereabouts. Of course, we are no bug experts, but when a young fellow we would sometimes get more interested in a tumblebug than hoeing a row of cotton or corn, or cutting the weeds in the bean patch. By just watching a couple of the bugs, we soon learned how they got a hunk of horse manure into a round ball, and would reverse their procedure, and roll the ball along, pushing it with their hindlegs. But it was not right off the reel that we learned why they, when they found a spot of ground that suited them, began to dig a hole and buried the ball. But, one day by accident, we chopped a little too hard in a soft spot in good mother earth, and out rolled a tumblebug ball, rather dry, but intact. On further examination, we found that the interior of the ball was alive with tiny young offsprings of the tumbler. And all at once, it dawned on us that in that ball of horse manure, the mama tumbler, laid their eggs, and let them hustle for themselves. The thoughts of the matter, admittedly, are not too pleasant to contemplate or think on, but it was one way that nature takes its course, and Dame Nature is no fool. But back to the pink bollworm. The propagators of these worms, will search with eyebrow pinchers and magnifying glasses in all the gin gins every season in his area, trying to find a pink bollworm—dead or alive. The last song they are singing is that the pinkies lived through the winter as far north as Vernon and Lubbock. Oh, yeah, when did we have a winter, the past few years? Anyway, the bugologists may have made the poor little worm a cosy bed of lint, stashed it away in the cellar, so that the temperature would not get below 50 all the year. But, if we could recall the good old winters of the past when it snowed, sleeted, rained and froze, we doubt very much a pinkie would survive through the winter—outdoors. Anyway, there would not be enough of them that any farmer would report seeing them. As to the engineers and water, we have seen graves and cellars dug here of wet years, and that old caliche down 3 to 6 feet underground would be as dry as the bleaching bones on Sahara desert. To our notion, the water we have down 100 feet under the ground is melted snow from the Rockies, that comes down in streams in spring, sinks into sand, and appears under our ground.

What in Sam Hill ahs got into those Arkansawyers? Evidently the idea that Congress had a right to give back to the several states which have tideland, that had belonged to them all along, even after the Truman gang expropriated them, and said they were held in trust for all the states. All this jumping the claim of Texas, Louisiana and California, came after oil was discovered under these tidelands. And old Arkansaw is afraid it will not get its share of the riches of this stolen property. This after, the US Congress and Senate had passed the quit-claim bill, returning these lands to the several states, and President Eisenhower was honest enough to sign the bill so returning these lands to their rightful owners, Texas, and so far as we know, other tidelands states, don't crave anything that belongs to Arkansaw. They can keep all their pine and sweetgum trees, and even chew their own sweetgum wax to their heart's content. And, so far as this writer is concerned, Arkansaw can keep all their razorback hogs we see along the highways. Oh, they might make good hound dog food, but as they have most of the hound dogs, they, the Arkansawyers, are welcome to all the razorbacks, to use as they see fit. In fact, they haven't got a thing that Texans would take away from them. True, they have many natural resources, and they have good scenic beauties that Texans admire, and are willing to pay to see. But Texans don't crave them enough to wish to take them or share in any income they may produce. The Arkansawyers are plumb welcome to the Arkansaw, the White, St. Francis and other fishable streams. The fine rice and cotton lands, and of late years, soybean lands in the delta, belong to Arkansaw. It is their property, and we'd be among the first of any citizen of Texas, if our attorney general filed suit to give them to other states, as well as Arkansaw, to condemn such proceedings. The property mentioned belongs to them, not Texas. And Texans have no craving for the big coal mines of Pennsylvania and Kentucky, or any other state. But Texas does want its own property, and will fight to keep it. For over 100 years, ownership of the tidelands areas of Texas and Louisiana was never questioned. But, when the queer dealers at Washington, and in some of the states, found that these tidelands might be rich in oil, the big grab started. To heck with their attorney general. The tidelands belong to our school children.

Not only has the dry weather of late made many of us feel hot and bothered, but in many instances distressing conditions, with no grass and high feed to buy. But the dry weather has produced many arguments pro and con for the efficacy of prayer for rain. We have followed out many of these in the daily paper "readers' columns," and they show what divergent views people may have on a common occurrence, such as rain. That is, rain used to be a common occurrence. Saw one that believed mankind was presuming some on the wisdom of God in calling His attention to His failure to produce moisture at a stated time. Some believe that you may pray for anything you need, just so you do it in faith. We have had cited to us the fact that God did send rain, yea, 40 days and nights of it, on the antediluvians. Too much water, if you ask us, and we venture there were many objections. But the deluge was for a purpose, the destruction of the wicked. Then we have the case of the long and scorching drought in Israel, way back in the days of Elijah, when there were a lot of wicked kings, when the prophet told the people there would not be a drop of rain or dew in three years, and Elijah was fed by ravens. A lot of other wicked people starved. Even the old king sent his general out to meet the prophet of God and tried a little bluffing. But Elijah laid down the law as he had received it. Finally, sacrifices were made, the people repented, the false prophet Baal was slain. Then a little cloud, no larger than a man's hand, arose out of the sea; soon the heavens were black and a great rain fell. But, says another, that was in the days of miracles. Then we have the example of the prayer of Solomon, before he was to take over the kingdom of Israel. It is remembered that Solomon did not ask for riches, honor and glory, but for wisdom to rightfully rule his people. But, because he did not ask for riches and honor, they were added by Jehovah, as well as being the wisest man to that time or since. Then there are some who express themselves, who say that there would be no use having a drought in the first place, if they could be removed by prayer. Also, that God in His wisdom created the heavens and the earth to suit Him. That He made the Mississippi delta with some 60 inches of rainfall annually, while He gave us a semi-arid section, with some 18 inches average annual rainfall. Much less the past three years. And the rainfall of some of the Arizona-California desert areas is much less. We noted the other night that the rainfall in Nevada averaged only a bit over seven inches annually. So, the anti-prayer people say, if those who believe so much in prayer in faith, could get down to business, and give this area an annual rainfall of some 60 inches. Then when we have what they call a dry year back in the east, with around 40 inches of rain, we would still be sitting jake. The writer remembers an old lady in whom we had much faith, told us of an incident of a prayer for rain when she was a small child. The incident either took place in South Carolina or Williamson county, Texas, we have forgotten which. But she was playing around among the huge old oaks near the meeting house, and all at once, rain began to pour almost from a clear sky, and she had to hustle in out of the deluge. Above we have tried to give you the pro and con of such arguments. It is for you to decide whether or not God ever intended that men and women of the present time pray for rain, which in a way, is asking for financial help. Or whether or not the Chris-

Harris County Leads With 71 Polio Cases—Precautions Urged

Eighty-one new cases of polio were counted in Texas for the week ending July 3—the highest state health department said the upsurge—18 more cases than it had counted the previous week—was not entirely unexpected.

State health officer, Dr. George W. Cox, stated, "a seasonal rise was just about due," and he said he hoped the jump would impress on people "the constant need for strict summer sanitation."

The new cases brought the state toll so far this year to 592, still far below the count for the same period last year.

Thirty-three counties reported cases in the week, Dallas leading the state with nine cases, and ten counties reported their first cases of the season.

Counties reporting cases were: Harris, 8; Jefferson and Tarrant, 6 each; Bexar, 5; Galveston, 4; Cameron, Hutchinson, Nueces, Orange, Potter, and Wichita, 3 each; Denton, Fayette, Harrison, and Lubbock, 2 each; Brazoria, Collingsworth, Fannin, Fisher, Floyd, Grayson, Hidalgo, Johnson, Karnes, Kennedy, Madina, Reagan, Red River, San Antonio, Taylor, Titus, and Upshur, 1 each.

Thus far this year, Harris county has reported 71 cases; Cameron, 57; Dallas, 43; Nueces, 44; Jefferson, 29; Tarrant and Bexar, 20 each.

With polio on the loose, it might be well to mention a few of the dos and don'ts concerning polio prevention, with special reference to children. A very informative article appeared in the July, 1953, issue of Southern Farm and Home, stating:

Don't plan any throat or mouth operation for your children, while polio is around.

Don't subject young children to unnecessary and lengthy travel.

Don't allow your children to become fatigued or chilled; these conditions lower resistance to the polio virus.

Do treat any common illness, such as a cold, with more rest and greater care than ordinarily.

Do consult your doctor if these symptoms appear: Headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, stiff neck or back.

Do turn to your local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for advice and financial assistance where needed, if polio strikes.

Do let your children continue to play with their usual companions, but see that they avoid new groups and crowds.

Do keep clean; make sure you scrub their hands before eating; avoid use of other people's soiled towels, dishes, and tableware.

The article also explained that gamma globulin, a protein substance taken from the blood, is the greatest stride forward in the battle for the control of polio, but inoculation with gamma globulin offers only temporary protection against polio. It is not a vaccine, so it is still not possible to give permanent protection to the whole population.

"And there is not enough of the gamma globulin to go around. A man is to pray for spiritual blessings, and give thanks for all the many blessings, spiritual and material, that a kind Father bestows upon His people. As this is written Friday before the day of prayer for rain next Lord's day, we have no criticism to offer, and we hope the efforts of the good people may give all the good results anticipated. To say the least, the people who meet for prayer are in dead earnest about the matter, and all hope that there will be results. The writer admits that there are a lot of people much smarter than we, who believe in prayer for rain, or any other physical or spiritual need, among them being our Governor. So, we are not going to be a cynical critic about anyone's faith, whether they believe rain may be obtained by prayer, or whether they believe that it is a sin to ask God to change nature's laws to fit the need of the people. We know this much: Some mighty good people, in whom we have utmost faith, will be at the place appointed Sunday to ask God to send rains, and if rains have already fallen before that time, to thank Him for the blessings of the showers. It is our opinion if you can't go along in faith, don't hinder in any way those who believe prayer for rain will help.

Sweets For The Family Table

College Station—One shelf in the family pantry doesn't seem to change much with the trend in present day methods of preserving foods. The array of jellies, jams, preserves and other sweets for the family table is still bright with colored fruits in various size and shape containers.

According to the foods and nutrition specialist for the Texas agricultural extension service, the Texas food standard includes some sweets every day. And, they agree, they are best taken along with the meal.

To help farm and ranch families with providing these sweets for their family meals, the specialists have compiled a new publication, giving detailed directions for many favorites. The table of contents says there is information about jelly, jelly recipes, problems in jelly making; preserves, preserve recipes, marmalades, jams, conserves and fruit butters.

If you have lost your touch at making good jelly, you'll be interested in the directions for extracting the juice and testing for pectin. The specialists say, "Home methods have not been developed for determining with accuracy how much pectin there is in fruit juice." They suggest the epsom salts or the alcohol test as an approximate guide to the amount of pectin present in the fruit juice, which determines its ability to jelly. If there is not sufficient pectin, the specialists advise, "You may use the juice for punch, or combine with homemade pectin and make into jelly."

For best results, work with two to four cups of juice at a time, when making jelly. Measure the sugar, the bulletin states, and the juice accurately. Use ¾ to one cup of sugar to each cup of juice, according to the pectin test. Use a good grade of granulated white sugar. Prepare the jelly glasses by washing, and placing on a rack in a pan, cover with cold water and boil 12 to 15 minutes.

Cook the jelly by heating the fruit juice and sugar quickly to boiling, using a large flat bottom pan that permits rapid evaporation. Stir only until the sugar is dissolved, and then boil rapidly until the jelly stage is reached. You can test for the jelly stage by the sheeting or temperature test. Allow the hot syrup to stand a few seconds, quickly remove any scum from the hot syrup, and pour jelly into hot, dry glasses, to within a fourth inch of the top. Pour melted paraffin onto the top of each glass to cover the jelly, when cool, add more hot paraffin, and rotate glass, so that it will run up the rim and form a good seal. Cover and label, store in a clean, cool, dark, dry place in your pantry.

National Farm Safety Week Declared

College Station—During the ten years that National Farm Safety Week has been observed, farm accidents have been reduced 20 percent. This reduction is a real achievement, says the Texas farm and ranch safety committee, but add that farming remains a hazardous occupation. Some 15,000 farm people will lose their lives as a result of accidents during 1953, unless they practice safety in their daily living.

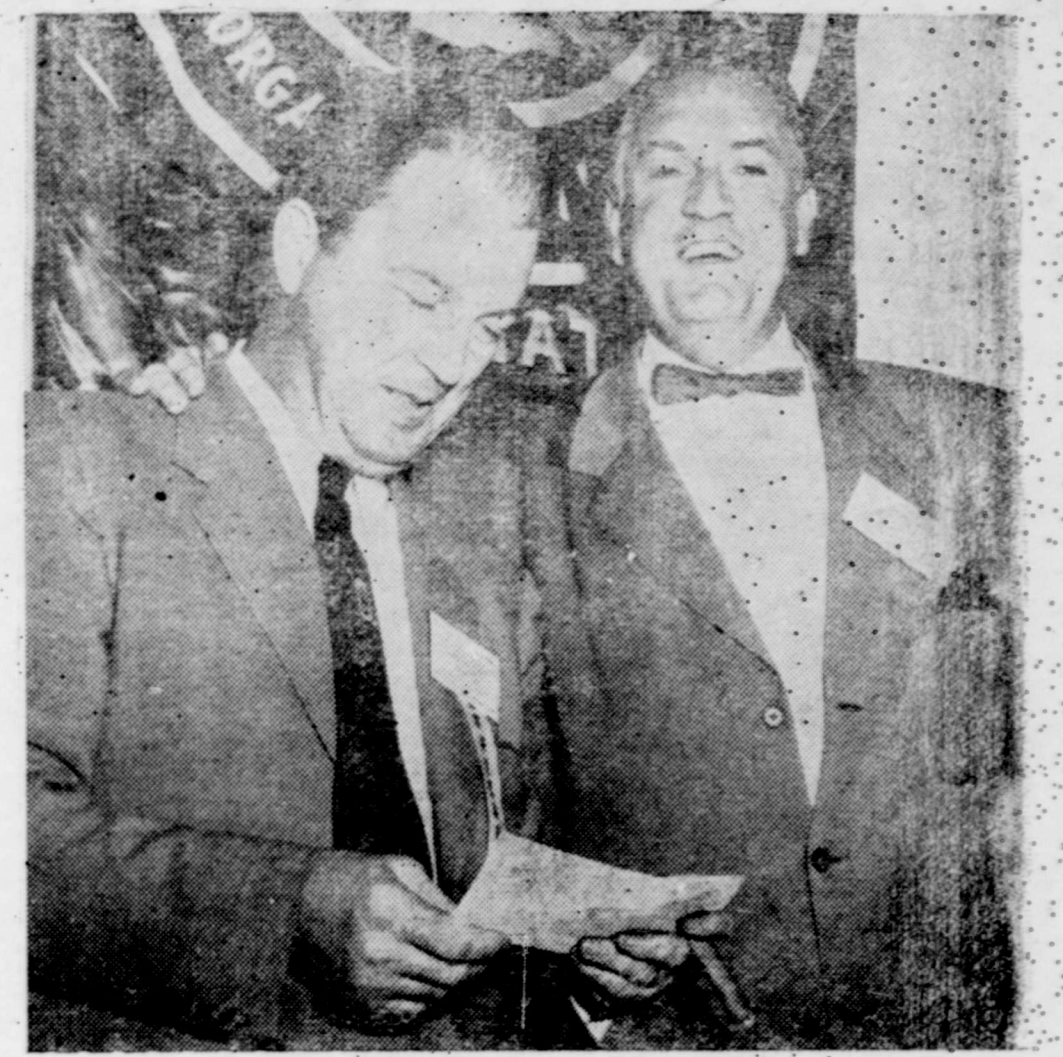

President Eisenhower, in the safety week proclamation, July 19-25, points out that, last year, more than 1 1/4 million farm residents, co-operated in an all-out effort to make 1953 an accident-free as possible. "Farm to live and live to farm" is the way he puts it.

According to the state committee, the immediate objective of the week is to arouse interest and increase participation in the community approach to the problem of safe living. The longtime objective is to make rural residents so conscious of accidents and their causes, that, through their own efforts, the agricultural industry can be made as safe as other industries of the nation.

History proves, explains the state chairman, that much good is derived from the observance of safety week, but, after the concerted effort begins to lose steam, the accident rate begins to climb. The committee hopes that community organizations will keep up the steam, and even increase the pressure, during every week in the year. They feel that, when farmers, ranchers and their families, working individually and collectively, set their minds to solving the accident problems, that further reductions can be made, and, eventually, farm accidents can be made as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth."

When you move your TV aerial and reception is improved, you think it must be simple—until you try it again.

$10,000 SMILE—Paul Sparks, executive secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor, holds a $10,000 check furnished to the workers' educational fund by Ben Jack Cagle, in behalf of the Insurance Company of the Texas group. Cagle, who heads the ICT group, made the presentation at the TSFL convention in El Paso. With a similar amount presented last year, a total of $20,000 has been supplied the fund by the union member-owned group of insurance and finance companies. The fund is designed to promote better labor-management relations.

WE NEED THE PROFIT MOTIVE

An authority on retailing points out that all sales promotion and merchandising activities have several important functions. One is to attract prospective customers. Another is to sell sufficient merchandise to make it worthwhile. Another is to serve producers—farmers, manufacturers, processors. Still another is to serve the customers well, and thus earn their good will and renewed patronage. And still another is to make a profit.

The left-wingers, of course, always shake their heads in anguish and disgust when the profit motive is mentioned in connection with any business. What they constantly overlook is that the profit motive lies at the root of our living standards. Men did not spend the energy and the time and the money and take the risks that finally resulted in our splendid system of retailing just for fun. It was done in the hope of making a profit.

Incidentally, that profit is nowhere near as great as you may think. In 1952, the nation's department stores, with a volume of over $1 billion, averaged earnings after taxes of 2.3 percent of their sales, the lowest figure in 25 years, except for 1938. That means only a trifle more than two cents out of each dollar you spend with the owners—all the rest went to buy merchandise, pay wages and taxes, and to meet other necessary expenses.

Williamson county is named for "Three-Legged Willie," who was one of the most colorful characters in colonial Texas. An illness when he was 15 years old left Williamson a cripple for life. His right leg was drawn back at the knee, and he wore a wooden leg from the knee to the ground.

MEETING SUNDAY WAS WELL ATTENDED

Ministerial Alliance sponsored an all-church prayer meeting Sunday, July 12, at the Methodist Church of Brownfield. The meeting was for the sole purpose of praying for rain, and was attended by a good crowd of approximately 100 people.

Local pastors and brethren participated in the service, which was presided over by Rev. Dallas Denison, pastor of the Methodist Church. The service opened with a congregational song, and the first prayer was offered by Rev. Stegall, and a talk was given by Rev. Bill Austin, concerning repenting and preparing one's own heart.

A prayer was offered by Bro. E. L. Cave, and congregational songs were offered throughout the service. Bro. Smith, of the local Nazarene Church, brought thoughts and scripture readings about the Lord giving physical blessings.

A short volunteer prayer session was held by those attending, and Bro. H. L. Tyler read scripture and commented on how persons should live, after receiving physical blessings, and how to serve the Lord after blessings are received.

The service lasted for approximately one hour, and was closed with a prayer offered by A. W. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnett left Wednesday for a two weeks' vacation in Oklahoma City, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Homer Newman, and family.

Gene McBride Wins Local Golf Tourney

Gene McBride, the Wichita Falls drive-in restaurant owner, won his third invitation tournament of the summer at the Brownfield Country Club, taking the first annual Brownfield invitation, 3 and 2, from E. C. Nix, Jr., of Seminole, Sunday afternoon.

The hard-hitting McBride defeated Lubbock's Raymond Marshall, 4 and 3, in a morning semi-final match, before measuring Nix in the finals. Nix had defeated Ray Warden of Brownfield, 3 and 2, to gain the title round.

With most of the money and sentiment on Nix, McBride calmly hurdled No. 1 to take a one-up advantage, and it was No. 15 before Nix won a hole. At that time he was four down.

A ten-foot putt gave McBride the first hole, and a par on No. 3 gave him a two-up advantage. The next seven holes were halved to make it that score at the turn, with McBride shooting one over par, Nix three.

McBride out-drove Nix most of the day, with both getting in their share of rough spots, and he used 28 putts in 16 holes, one-putting four greens, as Nix two-putted all the way.

Brownfield has two winners—Clyde Lewis in the third flight, and J. T. Bowman in the fifth; three runners-up, and three consolation winners, to receive most of the honors.

Most popular victory of the day was the 3-and-2 score, four matches ending that way. Jack Bailey of Brownfield was voted as man-getting-most-out-of-his-entry fee. He played two extra-hole matches Saturday, and then finished by going to the 20th hole before winning in the semi-finals, then losing on the 21st for the championship.

It took Prentice Walker, also of Brownfield, 21 holes to defeat C. D. Koen of Plainview in the first flight consolation bracket.

Trout defeated four Brownfield golfers to win his first flight prize—Harold Crites, Curtis Sterling, J. O. Burnett, the tournament chairman, and Jerry Stoltz.

A total of 89 golfers entered the tournament, including 30 golfers from Brownfield, 17 each from Lubbock and Levelland, Hobbs had five, Tahoka and Wichita Falls four each, Anson and Seminole two each, and Morton, Arlington, W. Va., Plainview, and Dallas, one each.

After entrants played qualifying rounds Friday, a Calcutta dinner and barbecue supper was held to climax the golfing activity, and a jukebox dance to brighten up the evening hours.

Disjuring Your Sleep

At a university in the southwest recently, I addressed the student body and faculty on the subject of our basic American principles, and how they have worked to the advantage of everybody. In the address, I emphasized the general lack of understanding of the infiltration tactics of Communists and their fellow-travelers in all phases of our national life. The reaction of the student body and faculty was exceptionally fine. We had a stimulating question and answer period. An unusually keen awareness of the Communist threat was evidenced.

have listened to people who sought to minimize the importance of Communists and their work in our educational institutions. In fact, some declare there is no real evidence of such infiltration. The present investigations by the internal security committees of congress are, they contend, wholly unnecessary. This is because not enough people are reading the reports of the senate internal security subcommittee, investigating "subversive influence in the educational processes." They are available to any citizen.

School Head Testifies

Here are some excerpts of testimony given under oath:
 Sen. (James O.) Eastland: What is your judgment about the number of Communist teachers in the city schools in New York?
 William Jansen (superintendent of the New York city schools): We fired 73 (after investigations were made) and have eight under suspension. We have 180 more

UNITES FOR MRS. CLOUD HELD IN NEW DEAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Razzie Lee Cloud, 48, of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Threet and sister of Mrs. H. S. Neugent, all of Brownfield, were held at 4 p. m., Wednesday, July 8, in the New Deal Baptist Church.

The Rev. Gaylor Bartlett, pastor of the 25th Street Baptist Church, Lubbock, and the Rev. Bill Mark, pastor of the New Deal church, officiated. Burial was in the Abernathy Cemetery, under the direction of Sanders Funeral Home, Lubbock.

that we have under investigation (in elementary and high schools) . . . a few can exert an influence far beyond their numbers.

Senator Eastland: Doctor, does the Communist carry out his activities solely in the classroom?
 Dr. Jansen: The Communist teacher can continually find things wrong with the United States, and never find anything wrong with the Communist countries. Things of that kind can go on, and, unless you are present, you can't detect it. . . . They extend their activities far beyond the classroom.

Fired Seven Reds

Sen. (William E.) Jenner: (Do) the schools and colleges of the United States play a vital part in the worldwide struggle against communism and totalitarianism?

Dr. H. D. Gideonse (president, Brooklyn College): (After testifying he had fired seven professors who had refused to tell the senate subcommittee whether they were Communists) I think the role of the schools and colleges is probably more important even in this cold war state on the verge of a hot war, than the armed forces themselves. The colleges, concerned as they are with the top-drawer talent for the country—2,500,000 in college right now—are obviously either consciously or unconsciously a very important part in clarifying national will and purpose. If this is a struggle, in the end, about ideas, then clarifying national ideas of self and what our purpose is, is vital. Then the Communists are right in making so much of trying to confuse the clarity of national thinking by their infiltration (into the schools and colleges).

A National Service

Sen. (Willis) Smith: Doctor, is it your feeling that the work of this committee has been worthwhile?

Dr. Gideonse: Your committee has been . . . very helpful to us at Brooklyn College, because you have helped us to remove some (Communist professors) whom we couldn't do anything about under the law. Now you have supplied the evidence that made it possible to do it. I think one of the reasons why there is such a flurry in some circles about the operation of this committee, is that there is so little understanding of the nature of the job done. (End of judiciary subcommittee excerpts.)

The fellow-travelers, who never join the Party, but eagerly carry on its work, are ten times more numerous than actual card-carrying Reds, according to J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director. The congressional records show that approximately 3,000 professors from 600 colleges have been affiliated more than 26,000 times with Communist fronts.

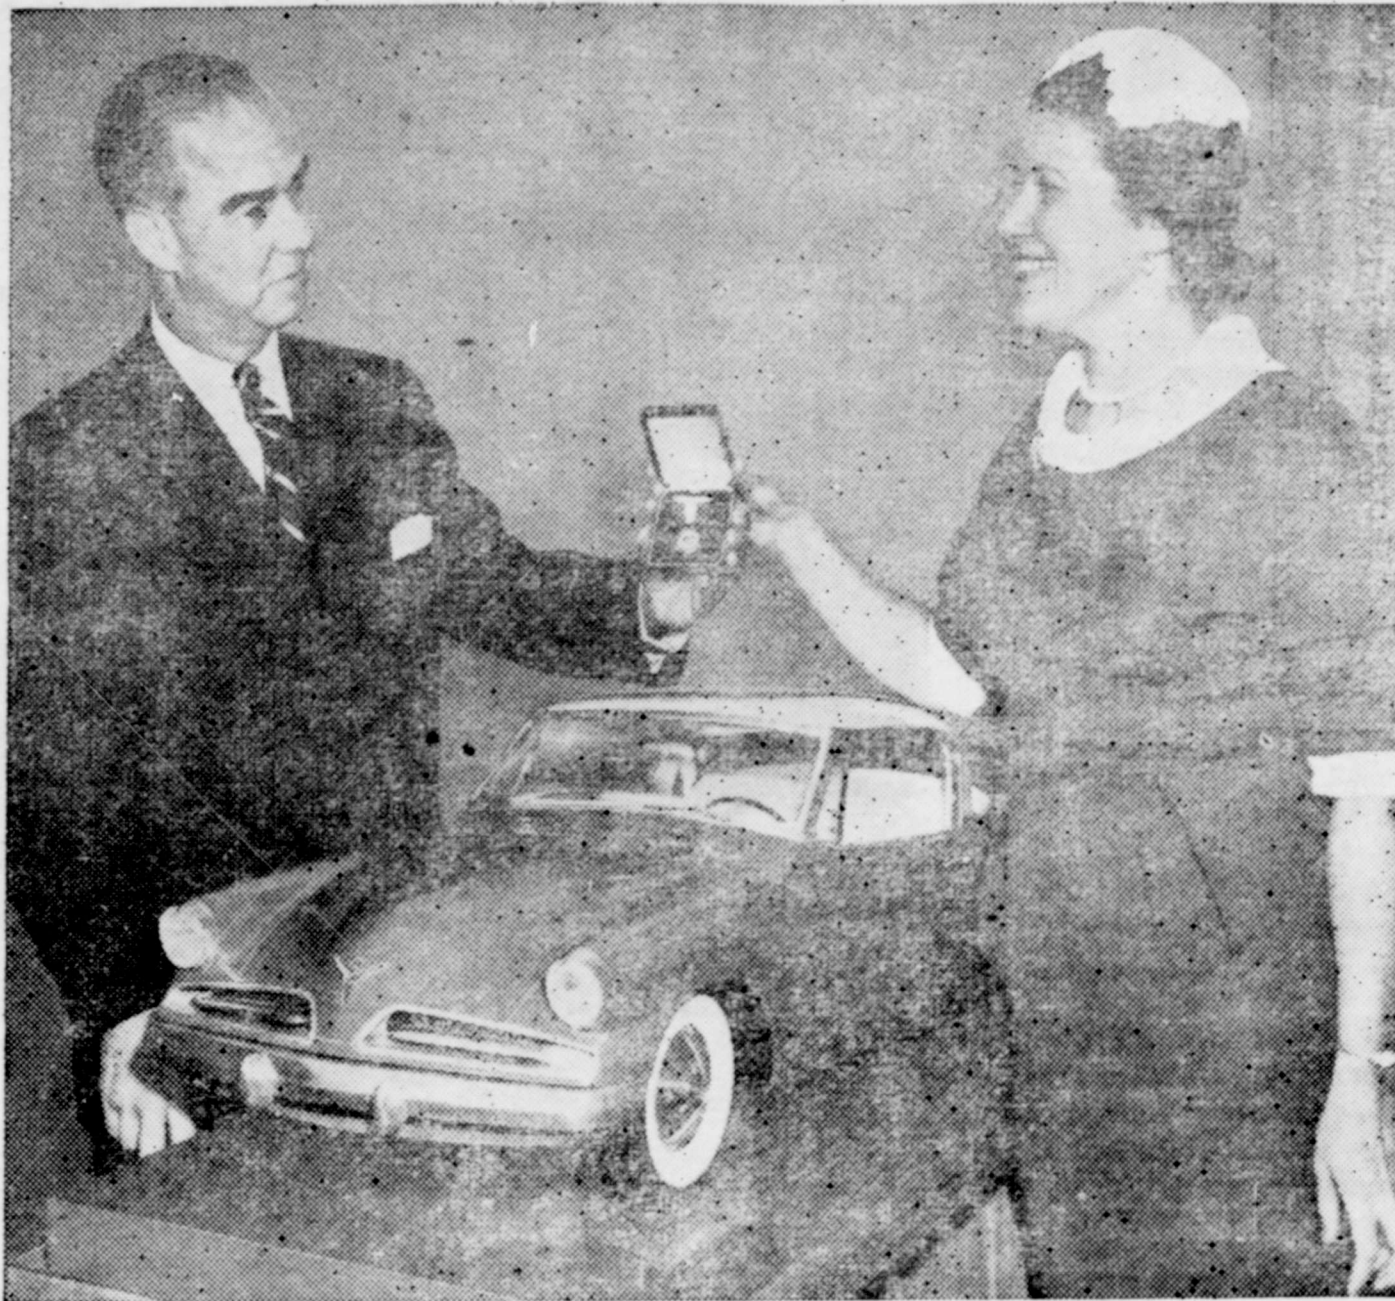

Not all these professors are fellow-travelers nor is the great body of American education contaminated with communism. However, a reading of the first seven transcripts of the judiciary subcommittee testimony will disturb the sleep of almost any American citizen. The committee is rendering a national service.

Ten Articles Given On Selective Service

On a local draft board is placed the responsibility, under applicable laws and regulations, of deciding which men should be deferred because of the civilian activities.

The three categories of men considered are: (1) farmers or farm workers, (2) college or university students, and (3) men in industrial and all other civilian activity.

In the case of students, deferment until end of the school year is ordered by law, if the student is mailed an order to report for induction while he is in school, satisfactorily taking a full-time course of instruction, provided he has never received such a statutory deferment before.

If the student has previously received such a deferment, then further deferment is up to the local board. The board can consider information outside the scholastic as well as scholastic information. The widely-publicized draft test for college students can be ignored by local boards, under draft regulations, if the board so desires. Score on the draft test and class standing of the student are provided as information for the board.

Here are three things the board considers when it is looking at a case of possible deferment for farming or other civilian activity: (1) Is the man engaged, except for a seasonal or temporary interruption, in the activity? (2) Can he be replaced by persons with his qualifications or skills? (3) Would his removal cause a material loss of effectiveness in the activity?

In the case of farmers or farm workers, the chief question asked is: Is he employed in the production for market of a substantial quantity of agricultural commodities necessary to maintenance of national health, safety or interest?
 All such deferments are for limited periods.

HIRAM PARKS AWARDS 2,000 SCHOLARSHIP

The $2,000 Hiram Parks scholarship at Texas Tech for 1953-54 was awarded recently to a 20-year-old Shallowater girl, the oldest child in a family of 16. She is Miss Maria Ramos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emigdo Ramos, Route 1, Shallowater.

The scholarship fund was set up in 1945 by Mr. and Mrs. Parks, former residents of Brownfield, and operators of a theatre chain, to encourage young people of Latin-American descent to continue their education through college. The award originally was for $350 a year, but was raised to $500 in 1951, because Parks felt the earlier figure was inadequate to assist the student.

The Shallowater High School graduate will receive $500 a year during her four years at Texas Tech, as the winner of the eighth annual scholarship, and she plans to study pre-medicine in preparation for a career as a medical technician.

Miss Ramos attended Lockhart High School for two years prior to moving, with her parents, to the Shallowater area, where they now operate a farm. A dozen applicants from the Panhandle and south Plains area competed for the scholarship this year. A. B. Strehli, associate professor of foreign languages at Tech, and chairman of the selection committee, announced recently.

Three other Hiram Parks students, in addition to Miss Ramos, will be studying at Tech in the fall. They are Peter Aboytes, Amarillo; Baudelio Escobar, Benjamin; and Miss Josephine Garcia, Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Parke are now living at 2826 22nd Street, Lubbock.

Keep The Working Hens On The Job

College Station — Poultrymen who are in the egg producing business can keep profits up by following a rigid culling program through the summer months. W. J. Moore, poultry husbandman for the Texas agricultural extension service, says cull the non-layers, keep egg production up, and get the advantage of the favorable ratio between the price of eggs and feed.

Hens that go out of production now, he adds, will probably remain out until late fall or early winter, and feeding them is a dead loss.

Remove the hens that show a shrunken, dried-up comb, yellow beak, new feathers, yellow shanks and vent. Also hens that lack vigor and spend their time loafing should be given a one-way trip to town. A good egg producer must eat plenty of feed and drink lots of water, and she can't do this by loafing. Of course, says Moore, the poultryman must do his part by supplying the essentials needed by the hen.

Producers are reminded that hens, like humans, don't care to spend a lot of time in the hot sunshine hunting for feed and water. When they cut down on consumption, a drop in egg production is sure to follow.

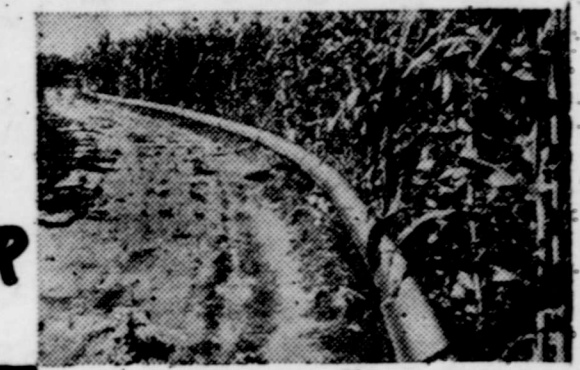

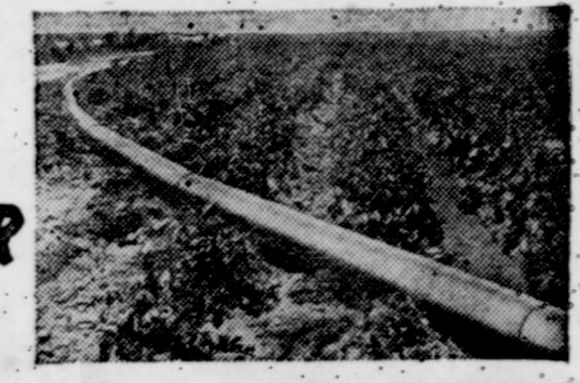

And, finally, says Moore, the poultryman who does a good job of culling, will be paid well for his trouble, and, at the same time, will be following one of the important practices of efficient poultry farm management.

The poultryman who does a good job of culling the laying flock during the summer will be well paid for his trouble, and, at the same time, he will be following one of the important practices of efficient management.

THE VOICE OF FREEDOM

WHEN the Declaration of Independence was signed by representatives of the 13 colonies in 1776 . . . the news was months in reaching the farthest outposts of freedom in the new world.

Today, telephone service spans our nation and the entire globe, bringing the cities and towns of the 48 states within seconds of each other. And today, there are more telephones per person in America than in any other nation in the world.

This communication . . . the free interchange of ideas, thoughts and opinions . . . is at the basis of a free nation. It is the heart of America's freedom of speech. It is the motivating power behind America's system of free enterprise that has helped America grow from these fledgling 13 Colonies in 1776 to the greatest and most powerful nation in the world.

When you pick up your phone to speak to someone across the street . . . or across the nation . . . remember, freedom is speaking, too!

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

New York—Cross-currents in industrial and commodity prices, concealed from the casual eye by over-all stability in the wholesale price aggregate, provide the newest of many postwar puzzles for business observers. Once the items in this list could be depended upon to move in fairly uniform fashion.

From the end of March to mid-June, the wholesale price index of the bureau of labor statistics stood still. But, in that period, farm prices moved steadily downward, as did those of many processed foods. Textiles gained a little, leather substantially. Machinery, metals and chemicals rose almost on the same day, wheat futures made three-year lows, while crude oil was marked up for the first time since 1947.

While most commodities going into the cost-of-living index declined at wholesale, the index itself refused to budge. Economists fear commodity-cost reductions are increasingly being swallowed up by increases in labor costs. Relatively few of us share in the publicized gains of the large nationwide unions, so this process cannot go on indefinitely.

TRIGGER HAPPY MEN KILL THE ANTELOPES

Austin—Thriving antelope herds up in the Texas Panhandle are causing itchy trigger fingers, with resultant penalties, according to the director of law enforcement for the game and fish commission.

He had particular reference to disclosure that two antelope, shot on the Matador ranch in Motley county, brought a $422 fine and costs against a Dickens county cotton gin operator.

Warden W. V. Riddle of Lubbock, who, with Warden Cecil Fox of Spur, handled the case, said others apparently were implicated, but that the suspect said he wanted "to take the blame."

The gin manager was arrested after the wardens, armed with a search warrant, found two antelope heads and hides and four feet in the incinerator.

Riddle said the man was "pretty unhappy because of the heavy fine and because, after all, the meat hadn't been any good, and had been fed to his dogs."

Local Girl Is Home From Polio Center

Mary Sue Travis, first polio patient received this year at the West Texas Polio Center at the Plainview Hospital and Clinic Foundation, was dismissed several days ago, after about two weeks' treatment.

Two other patients have been admitted to the center. James Milton Cross, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Cross of Borger, was the second patient admitted during the 1953 season. His condition is not serious.

Mary Lee Weeks, 15, colored, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks of Route 2, Lockney, was the third patient admitted. Her condition was serious upon admittance, but was much improved this week. Both patients were admitted last Thursday.

At this time last year, 16 new patients had been admitted to the center.

Sixty-three cases of polio were reported in Texas last week, boosting the year's total to 510, the state health department announced.

The 63 cases for the week ending June 27, were two under the number reported during the previous week, the largest weekly total thus far this year.

Harris county paced the state last week with 11 cases.

Other counties reporting the disease were Jefferson, five; Cameron, Duval, Galveston, Gregg, and McLennan, three each; Fayette, Howard, Lavaca, Midland, Nolan, Nueces, Potter, San Patricio, Taylor and Wood, two each; and Atascosa, Bexar, Bowie, Callahan, Dallas, Grayson, Hidalgo, Kerr, Orange, Stephens, Tom Greene, and Tyler, one each.

TU and SS departments of the First Baptist Church enjoyed the basketball and volleyball outing held recently, at Coleman Park. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The longtime objective of National Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, is to make rural residents so conscious of accidents and their causes, that, through their own efforts, the agricultural industry can be made as safe as other industries of the nation. "Farm to live and live to farm."

WHEN IT USED TO RAIN! We won't guarantee that the above picture will be too good, as it was "blown up" from a small camera snapshot. But it will give you an idea how Brownfield looked in May, 1941, when some 14 inches of rain fell in May that year. The area is bounded on the east by North Second Street, and on the west by North Fifth. While this daytime scene shows only two boats, some 18 motor and row boats were counted on the lake one night. That year Brownfield and Terry county received some 43 inches of rain, as much as we get in four years these days.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I'm taking flight training under the Korean GI bill. Because of bad weather, I wasn't able to take any training at all last month. Will I receive my GI allowance check all the same?

A—No. Allowances may not be paid to flight trainees for any month during which no instruction was received.

Q—As the widow of a World War II veteran, I am eligible for a VA pension. I find I also am eligible for compensation from the Bureau of Employees' Compensation, because of my husband's death. Could I draw both payments at the same time?

A—No. You must elect which benefit you want to receive. You can't get both at the same time, when both are based on the same death.

Q—I have a permanent National Service Life Insurance policy, and I want to borrow money on it. How much will I be able to get?

A—If your permanent policy has been in force under premium-paying conditions for at least a year, you have the right to borrow an amount not exceeding 94 percent of the reserve of the policy.

Q—I am on active duty, and my National Service Life Insurance is under waiver while I'm in uniform. Even though I'm not paying premiums on the policy, will I collect dividends from VA?

A—No. NSLI policies under such waiver do not participate in dividends.

CRITICAL FIRE DANGER IS INCREASING DAILY

The Texas farm and ranch safety committee urges every citizen to be careful with fire. Pastures, ranges and woodlands are in critical danger, and, as never before, every pound of forage is needed by livestock. The continued hot, dry weather is increasing the fire hazard, and the committee recommends that communities organize for fighting grass and woods fires.

Texas pastures and ranges on June 1 were estimated at 75 percent of normal. This is the lowest reported condition on this date since 1925.

PLANS ANNOUNCED TO AID DROUGHT STRICKEN FARMERS-RANCHMEN

By LOOE MILLER
County Office Manager

Drouth Emergency Feed Program

In order that all the Terry county farmers and ranchers may be informed with reference to the drouth emergency aid under Public Law No. 875, we quote in part a telegram received from the secretary of agriculture: "The state USDA drouth committee, working through the county USDA drouth committee, shall determine whether there is need for emergency grain or cottonseed meal or pellets, and, if so, the location of distribution centers in the designated disaster counties, and the amount and kind of feed required at each center."

Mr. Riley D. Jones, chairman of the Terry county PMA committee, received a telegram advising him that he had been appointed chairman of the Terry county USDA drouth committee. It further advised that the county agent, Mr. Jim Foy, and Mr. Robert Land, farmers' home administrator, were appointed to serve on the committee. Then these three men were requested to select a banker and a farmer or rancher to work with them. The banker selected was Mr. R. N. McClain, vice-president of the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company, and Mr. C. A. Winn, Johnson community farmer, was selected as the farmer.

The agricultural mobilization committee was requested by the state mobilization chairman to make estimates of the amount of feed needed to supply Terry county for 30 days. These were made and submitted at once, and the first car of emergency feed was ordered.

There is no intention to provide feed to those who have feed, for whom farming or ranching is only a sideline, or for commercial feeders other than for short periods which may be necessary for marketing cattle now in feed lots. The emergency feed program is designed to maintain foundation herds, and farmers and ranchers should be encouraged to cull overage and less-desirable cattle from herds. In no case, should approval cover feed requirements for periods of more than 30 days, and may be limited to a shorter period for the initial distribution; to provide equitable allotments of available feed.

We interpret the above to mean that all Terry county farmers and ranchers who had livestock when this program was announced, to be eligible to participate. Applications are to be placed with the Terry county PMA committee, at the PMA office in the basement of the United States Postoffice Building.

Emergency feed will be available to farmers and ranchers requiring it, at $1 per bushel for corn, $1.10 per bushel for wheat, 50 cents per bushel for oats, and $35 per ton for cottonseed meal or pellets, delivered in the county. Payments of these amounts must be made to the county PMA committee before delivery of the feed.

Most Accidents Can Be Prevented

College Station—No one ever goes for a swim or participates in water sports with the idea in mind of becoming an accident victim. Water sports can provide relief from the heat, and pleasure to the participants, if the rules of water are observed. Ignoring these rules, on the other hand, can result in crippling injuries or death, says E. C. Martin, agricultural leader for the Texas agricultural extension service, and secretary of the Texas farm and ranch safety committee.

Martin says the number of drownings is in proportion to the care that is exercised by those who participate in water sports. He points out that, if the seven cardinal water safety rules are followed closely, water accidents can be greatly reduced.

Here are the safety rules: Never swim alone, or in unfamiliar water; don't try to swim long distances, especially in cold water, unless followed by at least two people in a boat; never dive into water until you are sure that no under-water obstructions are present; don't go into the water for at least one hour after eating, and don't stay in water after you become tired.

Martin adds that the careful water sportsman never takes a chance with a small boat in rough water. Last, but not least in importance, the safety leader cautions against moving around or "cutting up" when out in a small boat. Entire groups, he says, have drowned as the result of a careless act on the part of just one member of a boating party.

"Don't ruin your picnic, summer camp or vacation, warns Martin, by forgetting, even for a moment, that water sports can be dangerous."

When Men Are Free

Progress and a better life result when men are free to use new ideas and developments—and are free to learn all that they can about them.

That, in essence, is the theme of a recent Wall Street Journal editorial dealing with the efforts of socialistically-inclined groups and scientists to defeat the proposal to boost some of the restrictions which now make atomic energy a government monopoly.

In the paper's words, "Their reasoning is pretty clear. If atomic energy can be continued as a federal monopoly, and if future developments make atomic energy a feasible and cheaper fuel for generation of power, the federal government then would have effective control of the whole power industry."

"And with control of power, the government would be in a position to control all industry and business."

"It would be within the power of the federal government to say what wheel would turn and what light should burn."

The Journal then used as a parallel the internal combustion engine—an instrument which has transformed the world as we know it, and which is still in the process of development and improvement.

It pointed out that many men and many minds were free to experiment with possible uses for the engine—and used that freedom, with results that have enormously benefitted everyone. Then it said, "It will be just so with atomic energy. If men are encouraged to know about it and to work with it, if the maximum of mental resources are brought to bear on the development will follow."

"The knowledge of atomic energy will be confined to a few people. It will remain a kind of horrible museum piece."

"Shall totalitarian thinking—which is what socialism is—deprive us of the enormous potential benefits of the peaceful application of atomic energy?"

Shall totalitarian thinking—

TALENT COVENANT SURVEY

Sunday, July 19, is the day that the nominating committee of the First Baptist Church will conduct a church workers' talent covenant survey. Rev. Jones W. Weathers will preach on the consecration of the talents to God. The local church is hoping that this will be one of the greatest spiritual services that it has ever witnessed, and, through continued testimony, most people will walk down the aisles, confessing Christ as Savior.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Dunn, city, and Jimmie Duke of Lubbock, are vacationing at Ruidoso.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Today I come to the aid of 96 senators and 400 or 500 congressmen. My word, says Henry, since when did congress do something that it deserves a pat on the back. Look it, bub, I says, quit chattering—when a congressman needs help he needs help. Here he is down there—everybody needling him to stop the Govt. in its head-long spending, the cause of the big national headache on March 15th—and what does the mayor and the courthouse and 40 or 45 governors do. What, says Henry, I'll tell you, I says.

Every town, village, and county has an airport or water works it wants completed and with "gift" money—Govt' money. A delegation hops the rattler and heads for Old Spandville to get its share of the loot while there is still loot left. You even go down to the depot, to see 'em off.

And now you, you yourself, you know it is not in the cards—you know "free" money from the Govt' is a phoney. Your own 16 year-old high senior knows it, too—but you, you still go down to the depot to cheer. And your senator and your congressman with an ear tuned to "where are the votes," reckons he is a dead humber if he don't favor your project. He shivers in his boots like the Silver City piano player doing his best—but not too sure somebody won't start shootin'.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Gamma Globulin Is Credited With Curing Polio In Alabama

Weary doctors and worried parents uncrossed their fingers and rejoiced recently over an official announcement that gamma globulin has cured the polio outbreak in Montgomery, Ala.

State health officer, D. G. Gill, and the Montgomery county health officer, Dr. A. H. Graham, returned their verdict a week after more than 31,000 children were inoculated with the polio-fighting serum.

It was the first time gamma globulin has been used anywhere on a wholesale basis to combat a near-epidemic of polio. The health officers waited a week before voicing their conclusion, because it takes that long for the treatment to take effect.

"The mass immunization program of children nine years old and under . . . has proven to be effective in reducing the number and severity of polio cases," the health authorities said in a joint statement.

"We believe that, in line with the results of experiments in Houston, Texas, Sioux City, Iowa, and Provo, Utah, the next four weeks in Montgomery will show fewer cases, by possibly 80 percent."

And those that do show probably will be lighter than they would have been without the arresting benefits of gamma globulin, the doctors predicted.

Only six polio cases have been reported in the county since the mass vaccination project started on June 30, and all of them have been light. In the ten days before the whole inoculation began, three of the victims had gamma globulin shots; the other three were over the age limit.

Remember the mass chest X-ray, July 24, 25, 27, and 28, at the Tudor Sales Company, 622 West Main Street, Brownfield, between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m.

Polio Funds In Texas Running Low

San Antonio—The cost of polio is going up in Texas, with 31 local county chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis having run out of March of Dimes funds. This has resulted in sending for more than $150,000 into the state by the emergency aid fund of foundation headquarters to meet outstanding treatment bills during the first half of 1953.

At the same time, the 1953 incidence of polio is running less than half the 1952 figure, with 487 cases having been reported, against the 1952 half year total of 1,096. According to a report of the U. S. Public Health Service, compiled nationally by the polio foundation, there are but ten states in the country showing less polio in 1953 than in 1952. For the most part, with the exception of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, these are states which have had extremely low incidence in the past. California again leads the country in the total number of cases to date, with 877, compared to the 1952 half year total of 544.

NOW! Ford Master-Guide the last word in Power Steering!

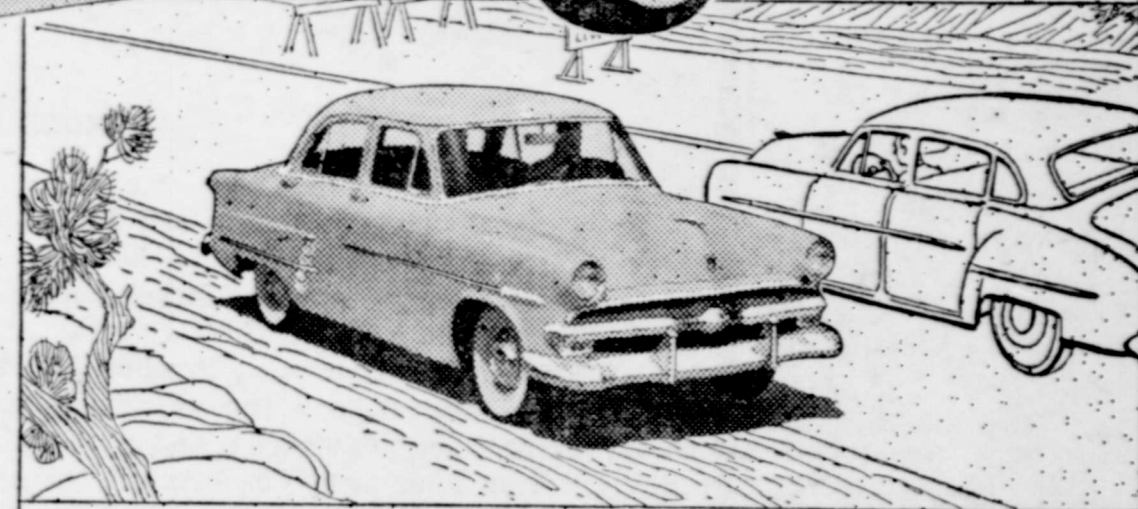

Master-Guide applies hydraulic steering power automatically . . . and in varying degrees as required . . . right at the steering linkage, close to the wheels. At the same time the system serves as a hydraulic shock absorber to keep road jars and jolts from your hands. As a result all you do is . . . guide the car . . . Master-Guide supplies the muscles.

It's the newest in a long list of Ford advancements that make this Ford the outstanding car for '53!

No other car near Ford's price has ever offered you so much!
Ford was the first in its field to bring you V-8 power. Today, Ford alone of all the low-priced cars offers you the smooth, unsurpassed performance of a V-8 engine. And Ford's Six—the most modern in the industry—with Overdrive, won the Grand Sweepstakes in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.
Ford first brought to the low-price field a completely automatic transmission that combines the smoothness of a torque converter and the gas-saving "go" of automatic gears. Fordomatic remains the most versatile automatic you can buy.
Ford's new "ride" brings you road-lugging and bump-leveling qualities never before known in low-priced cars. Front end road shock alone has been reduced up to 80%.
Easier-acting suspended pedals. Center-Fill Fueling and Full-Circle Visibility are just a few of the many important advancements first introduced by Ford.
And now Ford brings you the newest and finest in power steering . . . Master-Guide, a system exclusive in Ford's field! It's no wonder, then, that Ford is the "Worth More" car . . . worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it.

HELPS YOU OUT OF "TIGHT SPOTS!" The tougher the going the more Master-Guide works for you. For example, if you go off the pavement onto a soft shoulder or a rough, rutted road, Master-Guide provides the muscles to keep you on a steady course. At the same time, Master-Guide absorbs the shock that might otherwise be transmitted to the steering wheel. You'll find all handling is easier with Master-Guide and that parking requires only one-fourth the normal effort. Should Master-Guide ever lose its power, the standard steering mechanism will operate just as usual. Thus, Master-Guide provides new ease and stability, with a natural feel and full security, wherever you may drive.
Optional on all V-8 models of extra cost.

Terry Had Another Pretty Good Oil Week

While not in keeping with week before last in the way of oil, Terry didn't do so bad, after all. There were two completions, in different sections of the county, as well as three new locations. And, as long as we can get one to five new wells a week, we'll be settin' Jake, brother. The three new locations were all in the Prentice field in northwest Terry. But first the new wells:

There was the Al M. Muldrow, semi-wildcat, an extension of the Prentice field, being drilled by Placid Oil Company, in section 20, block D-14. At a total depth of 5,969, the well flowed 266.75 barrels of oil daily, of 29.6 gravity oil.

Then down in the Stax-Cisco field six miles south of town, the Fulerton Company brought in the L. A. A. Sawyer, at a total depth of 10,061 feet. The finished well flowed 393.97 barrels of high grade, 43.2 gravity oil daily. Congratulations, Arthur and Al.

The new locations were the 8-B, F. M. Elhinton, Honolulu Oil Corporation, located on section 19, block K, Prentice; Rotary rig to 6,100 feet. Also the Honolulu 6-B, Alexander, section 17, block K, Rotary, to 6,100 feet.

Another Honolulu—Josh at the Honolulu-7-B, Alexander, section 18, block K, Rotary rig to 6,100 at once.

Down in southeast Terry, in the one well area of the east portion of the Corrigan pool, where every well is yet considered a wildcat, the driller boys are taking their good, easy time. In fact, they are as careful of every move as a woman is trying to get an old hen to sit on duck eggs.

But we look for some new oil wells in that particular section of old Terry before long.

Yoakum county got four new locations; all in the Prentice area of the northeast part of that county, with a new well, a summer on section 13, block D, producing 133.3 barrels of 27 gravity oil daily.

Weekend visitors at Colorado City Lake, were Dr. and Mrs. T. H. McIlroy, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. McIlroy, Mr. and Mrs. Red Newton, Miss Gloria Manger, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Andrews, daughter, Tommy, son, son, Donald Wayne, Sandin Cartwright, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Davis, Lanny Webb and Bobby Green.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Helm, 513 East Main, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Johnson of Challis Community Saturday afternoon and evening for dinner and looking at television.

Bobby Horner, of Seagraves, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hamm, volunteered in the air force, and left Monday morning for San Antonio, where he will be stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chisholm's daughter, Mrs. Charlie Skupin, and children, of Rosebud, Texas, were recent visitors in Brownfield.

Farm Bureau—

"Also, we urge a thorough investigation be made of producer and consumer prices.

"We also urge that the committee give consideration to the farmers of the drouth stricken area, who face a similar situation to that of the livestock producers. Farmers have, for three or four years, conducted expensive operations, in an effort to produce crops that did not materialize, which has resulted in the depletion of finances and sources of credit."

Miller Discusses—

will sell for $35 per ton, wheat for $1.10 per bushel, oats 50 cents per bushel, and corn $1 per bushel.

Miller said he had received an order for the purchase of meal and cake, but that it was not available locally. L. H. McIlroy, county agent of Seminole, spoke at the meeting on conditions in Gaines county. McIlroy said that received ten carloads of feed and an order of ten more had been made. McIlroy, who is charter president of the workers' council, said that farmers and ranchers in Gaines county seemed to be well pleased with the drouth program, and with the amount of feed that was being received.

M. W. Luna, widely known Yoakum county rancher, attended the meeting, and said he was creep feeding his cattle, and getting them ready for market. Luna stated that Yoakum county farmers and ranchers had requested ten carloads and 14 carloads had been ordered, and, like Terry county, no feed had been shipped, as of Tuesday morning, July 14.

The speakers on the program explained to the group that there would be variation in the amount of feed received, who are eligible under the drouth relief program, because the federal government has not set rules as to who is eligible for the aid, or how much feed should be allowed per head of cattle. Terry county tentatively set up three pounds per head of beef cattle, and five pounds per head of dairy cattle.

Although, as explained by Miller, there will be variations in these amounts, depending upon the need. Miller stated that the 185 applicants for the relief had made a request for 74 tons of cake, 75 tons of meal, 35 tons of corn, and 27 tons of oats, and he hoped to receive his shipments by Tuesday.

Leo L. White, county agent of Yoakum county, presided at the meeting, and Dennis Q. Lilly of the First National Bank was in charge of the program. There were approximately 25 agriculture workers who attended the meeting to discuss the drouth relief.

Don Andress has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Andress, between semesters at Texas Tech. He returned to Lubbock, today.
