September 8 Power And Light Revenue Bond Election Of Vital Importance

Eleven facts well worth knowing concerning the $400,000 power and light bond election, which will be held Sept. 8, at the city hall, are:

1. That the total assets of your city-owned power and light plant is $937,235.68.
2. That the cost of said power and light plant has been paid exclusively from the revenue of such power and light plant.
3. That no property tax has been levied in the city of Brownfield for the payment of any bond issue or improvement of said power and light plant, except first bond issue, voted in August, 1922, for $16,000.
4. That all outstanding bond indebtedness for said power and light system are payable out of the revenue of same, and not from the levy of any property tax.
5. That, for the past three years, approximately $60,000.00 per year has been transferred from the power and light plant revenue to Brownfield, for the payment of the general fund of the city of operating expense of said city of Brownfield, and that on account thereof your tax rate is small.
6. That, if the city of Brownfield had not been able to transfer from its power and light fund annually, approximately $60,000.00 for the past three years, your property tax rate would have been approximately twice what it is.
7. That the coming election is for the purpose of purchasing a new engine to generate the electricity necessary for the use of the citizens of the city of Brownfield.
8. That, without such engine, the possibility of being unable to furnish the citizens of the city of Brownfield with sufficient electricity, is doubtful.
9. That the interest and sinking fund necessary to retire the bonds, to be voted on in the coming election, will be paid entirely from the revenues from the said power and light plant.
10. That your present property tax rate cannot be increased on account of the issuance of the bonds called for in the coming election, as the same are to be paid entirely from the revenue of such power and light plant.
11. That you should go to the polls on the date of the election and vote your convictions.

Mention was made also of a give sometime during September, honoring the Brownfield Cubs and their coaches.

Breakfast was served to the following directors: Harry Goble, first vice-president; J. E. Smith, second vice-president; W. N. Lewis, third vice-president; E. V. McBurnett, Jr., secretary; John Hansard, lion tamer; and Tim Faulkenberry, O. B. Lerner, C. W. Denison, Dennis Lilly, and Paul Farrar.

Telfords Hurt In Arizona Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. Mon Telford of Brownfield were badly shaken up in an automobile wreck, Tuesday night, near Holbrook, Ariz. Mr. Telford suffered a broken arm, and Mrs. Telford will stay at the Holbrook Hospital a day or two, until she recovers from shock. Their car was heavily damaged.

Mrs. Telford phoned Al Muldrow late Tuesday night concerning the accident, and he and Leo Holmes left Monday morning for Arizona, where they hope to assist the couple, and see if they can be brought home soon.

The Telfords were en route to Brownfield from Fresno, Calif., where they had been visiting with their son, Mon, Jr., when the accident occurred.

The Looe Millers were expecting a phone call from Mr. Muldrow at press time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meador of Brownfield returned Tuesday from a three months' vacation in Oregon, where they visited with their youngest son, A. G. Pool.

School Activities Column To Start Next Week With Jane

Say, guys and gals, if you like school news—we're going to have it, if you like school gossip—we're going to have it, and if you like school views, we're going to have it.

Starting next week, the Herald will feature a column especially devoted to school news, and written by a very popular young senior girl, Jane Griggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griggs.

The Herald feels that Jane is well qualified as she has taken part in so many school activities for the past three years.

She is secretary to J. B. Curtis, curriculum co-ordinator, and she is on the Cub's Den staff. For the past two years, Jane has been a member of the Spanish Club, played solo French horn in the high school band, attended Texas band school for the past three summers, was band secretary last year, and was on the all-state band for the past two years—need we say more?

Oh, yes, kids, one or two other things—she was chosen outstanding band girl in 1952, and to top all her activities, works at Jones Theatres on weekends and nights.

Besides her school activities and employment, she is Lions Club sweetheart, and plays the piano for them at all social gatherings. Don't ask us how she works all this in.

Remember to watch for the column, starting next week.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Woman's place in the world since civilization began, was to lead in social, moral and religious precepts. But in later days, she has completely abandoned her high calling. Nearly every newspaper and magazine, has for a few dirty dollars, allowed their pages to become crammed with so-called comics, which is a mere caricature of sordid, immoral and criminal conduct of the human race, making the United States the most criminal nation on earth. Never a day without a thousand of all manner of crimes being published to the world. Hence, you ladies had better get back on the job and save us ere we perish.

School days began Monday for 2,018 children in Brownfield. Ninety-three teachers took their posts Monday, 27 of whom were new to Brownfield. However, most of them had previous teaching experience. Two vacancies are still to be filled, a junior high and high school choral director, and a high school counselor.

Enrollment for the schools, Tuesday, stood at 2,018, which was a decrease over the figure at the end of the first week last year, which was 2,097. At the end of school last year, total number of students was 2,079.

The respective schools and their enrollment this year are as follows: High School, 449; Junior High, 510; West Ward, 354; East Ward, 196; Randal School, 447; and Wheatley Colored School, 62.

A general faculty meeting was held Saturday at 3 p. m., in order to introduce faculty members. Welcoming address was made by Supt. O. R. Douglas, and teachers filled out all necessary forms. The group then divided according to schools, and met in separate rooms of the high school, with their principal.

A watermelon feast was given at 4:30 the same afternoon in Coleman Park, honoring the teachers, compliments of Kyle Grocery.

Three Auto Mishaps Occur In Brownfield Over Weekend And Monday Morning

Three automobile accidents occurred during the past week, and the city police department urges all parents and youngsters who can read traffic signs and are able to distinguish between red, yellow, and green, to follow signals and signs more carefully than during the past week, especially at the schools.

The blinking-red stop signals on either side of the old high school does not mean slow—they mean STOP and only STOP, and the speed limit near the school is 15 miles per hour only.

SP COTTON ESTIMATE RAISED, OURS LOWERED

V. O. Jennings of Lubbock has raised his cotton estimate on production of the 21 south Plains counties from 1,200,000 a month ago, to 1,350,000 presently—if everything goes according to Hoyle, with no hail, not too many insects and worms, plus a late freeze or frost. The estimate was raised on the heavy irrigation counties in the north tiers, and lowered in the south.

Hale county was to lead off with 240,000 bales, with Lubbock a close rival with 238,000 bales. Three other counties were estimated to have over 100,000 bales, being Lamb, Hockley and Floyd.

In this area, Lynn and Gaines were to have 21,000 each, while Terry was given 20,000. Dawson and Yoakum estimate was 6,000 each, and Garza 4,000.

Wade Banowsky Heads State Cafeteria Group

We noted a brief announcement in the dailies last week that Wade Banowsky, of Fort Worth, was elected president of Texas School Food Service Association. This is a group of people who have charge of, or run school cafeterias over the state. It seems that many belonged to the national organization, but until recently, there was no state association.

The interesting part to us was that Wade Banowsky was born in Brownfield. His dad, R. H. (Dick) Banowsky and the late Dock Powell ran the old Mercantile, where the Factory Outlet is now located. The original building burned in 1913, and the present building erected on the site. This partnership continued until because of his health, Dock retired in the late 'teens. Wade was born over on 9th St., just about where you go off into the draw.

This home burned about 1916 when they had a gasoline explosion, and so burned the eldest girl, some eight years old, that she died in just a few hours at the new

FAVORABLE FOR RAIN, BUT LITTLE FALLS

With the advent of September, it has been very cloudy and threatening, but the pay off has been small so far. Still looks pretty good as this is written. The last day of August gave us 3/100, the first day of September squeezed out a mere 5/100, and we got 9/100 during Tuesday night.

hospital at Post. Banowsky then built the residence that Mrs. Elsie Treadway now owns and occupies. About 1920, the Banowsky family moved to Wichita Falls, where he was engaged in the oil business, that city having an oil boom at that time. Later the family moved to Abilene in order to give his children a college education. Dick himself, got into the bottling business.

Dick and wife now live in the Riverside section of Fort Worth, the children all being married and scattered. However, one of the younger girls and her husband taught in the public schools here some 15 years ago. Wade was just a small lad when they left here.

Farmer-Businessman Dinner At Plains Slated For Friday

Grady Elder, manager of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, was in Plains Monday, making final arrangements for the farmer-businessman dinner, to be held Sept. 4, at Plains.

Five Plains men have been invited farmers to the dinner, during the week. They are Mr. Overton, PMA manager; Amos Smith, city councilman; Lea White, county agent; Wallace Randolph, agriculture teacher, and Bill Ashenbeck, city secretary.

The Chamber of Commerce will give several door prizes, and a drawing for "gimmicks" will be staged at the affair. This will be the final meeting of the series that has been sponsored by the local C. of C.

The C. of C. directors held a meeting Wednesday night of last week and discussed several timely subjects, namely:

A three-man committee was appointed to nominate three new members for the board. Members Kenneth Partell and Dick Mc-

TERRY COUNTY'S FIRST BALE, LARGEST ON THE SOUTH PLAINS, was produced by Cullen Forbes, pictured at right, who lives six miles northeast of Brownfield. Ginned Saturday morning, Aug. 29, at Travis Gin, the bale weighed 540 pounds. Forbes has 445 acres of cotton under irrigation, and it may average a half bale per acre. This bale is the largest reported ginned on the south Plains this season. Taken from an 80-acre field, it was estimated that about 300 pounds of cotton was left in the field after the 1,900 pounds were taken to produce the bale. The bale was about 70 pounds heavier than the first bale of cotton in Terry county in 1952. The '52 winner was produced by J. A. Benthall, and was bought at 65c a pound. Pictured at left is Virgil Travis, owner of Travis Gin. The auction for this year's first bale will be held Saturday on the courthouse square, with Herb Chesshir, County Judge, as auctioneer, and the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce will present Forbes with a bonus. The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom—freedom of speech, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

Farmers are not the only people who are concerned about soil erosion. Only recently we read an article in West Texas Today, official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, on soil erosion, both by wind and water. And we might add that wind has been the worst offender in this area, this year. Nor is the soil conservation people who are appointed by the government, after spending years in college to get both practical and theoretical knowledge of erosion of the soil, by themselves in trying to find the remedy that is calculated to stop millions of dollars worth of precious top soil from going down the streams to the Gulf, or to be piled, in ugly heaps about the farms. Some of the larger business firms and companies are taking a hand to find the best way to stop any raider of our precious soil from going the way of all flesh, and leave the farmer high and dry on an unproductive farm. When such happens, the farmer has nothing to do other than abandon his run down premises, load on a few household articles on the wagon or truck, and seek fresher and better soil. One of the latest treatises on the subject to come to our desk was from the Texas Electric Service Co., whose lines cover this district, furnishing not only many cities, but hundreds of rural lines that go into homes of the farm and ranch. The TESCO has no remedy or suggestions of their own, but the advice goes to farm owners to consult with their county agents, and soil conservation people. But this electric company has gathered some interesting statistics. For instance, they come up with the information that soil erosion is the No. 1 problem in Texas agriculture. That it causes 94 per cent of damage to crop lands; 93 per cent to grazing lands; 86 per cent to woodlands, and 83 per cent to Texas idle lands. Many scenes of erosion and final abandonment is shown in the folder. But there was an encouraging side, too. Many scenes were shown of how conservation pays off on the farm and ranch, with abundant crops harvested, fat cattle and poultry on every side, and a general prosperity look on every side. Soil is definitely too precious to let it blow away, or float down streams to the sea. It is our inheritance; let us preserve it.

Several years ago, when woman suffrage was first talked, many men were opposed to the ladies voting, as that had been the prerogative of the man side of the house from time immemorial. But those for the suffrage amendment pointed out that the women were not seeking to hold offices, but to do what they could to clean up politics. At that time and since, there have been many entrenched political bosses whose methods fairly stunk across the land. To mention a few, there was the Kelly-Nash, Pendergrast, Curley and Thompson. These were other lesser lights in the politics for gain, have been cleared up, and in some instances the perpetrators have been sent to the pen. There is no organization in the land that works harder to clear up these political cesspools than the League of Women Voters. They really work hard at the job. True, we have a few women office holders, and did even before they could vote. We most always have a few feminine county officials, not to say a few in Congress, and occasionally one in the Senate of the USA. And so far as we can see, they have made fair to average officials. President Truman, as well as the present chief executive, have made a few appointments among the distaff side of the house. Eisenhower has one lady, Mrs. Hobby, in his cabinet, and he appointed one lady as ambassador to Italy. And they tell us that while the lady ambassador to Italy is a Catholic herself, she has done more to make the way of Protestants easier over in Italy than any representative to Rome we have had in many years. She is used to religious freedom in America, and she demands it over there, and gets results. But next fall, there is an amendment coming up to be voted on in Texas, as to whether or not women will serve on juries. Such an amendment submitted heretofore, and voted down, gave the ladies a right to serve, "if they felt like it." But the new amendment carries no ifs. If they belong to certain professions, such as lawyers, doctors, nurses, publishers, etc., they are exempt. But the new amendment carries no such proviso. If called to jury duty, they must serve or have a mighty good excuse. It is related to us that some of the legislators were against the amendment or submission, so they submitted one on the same terms that men serve on juries.

We have been hearing a lot of clatter of late about the price of cattle and hogs for instance, going down, while the price of many things the farmers and cattlemen have to buy is going up. To us, there is no mystery about that. When meat reached a certain point, the poorer as well as some of the middle classes dispensed with meat at most meals, or took cheaper cuts. In the meantime, with cattle and swine up around the moon, everybody and their hound dogs got into the cattle and hog business. And before one thought about the matter much, there were just too doggone many cattle, and almost too many hogs. And the present administration had no more responsibility for cattle and pork slumps than the man in the moon. Fact is, the slump started last summer, even before any of the conventions were held, and not a soul in the USA knew who would be the nominee, or what party would be elected in the fall. The prices have been coming down, not fast, but down, since. It was just another instance where the old law of supply and demand was getting in its work. Surely none of us have forgotten that just a short time ago, there became a surplus of butter, and that the government began to buy that surplus and store it. But even with the millions of pounds bought and stored, the butter people failed to find a market for what was left after the government bought and stored a lot of it. The reason was clear to most people, however. There was quite an edible substitute on the market known as oleomargarine, that a lot of people declared they liked just as well as butter, and they could buy it at almost half the price of butter. The dairy men of such states as Wisconsin, Minnesota, etc., began to sweat just like the beef cattle states are presently. But people just kept on eating margarine instead of butter. Now personally, we like butter best, but many like margarine best, they maintain, and we have no right to say them nay. As a seasoning, housewives, even those who liked butter best as a spread, used margarine for seasoning various things for the dining table, and every pound of margarine substituted for butter made it hard on dairymen. Many quit the butter business in the dairy states as there was a tremendous demand for milk and ice cream and other milk edibles.

The rumor persists that many people who do not need the cheap government feed are obtaining it for profit, and in some instances, they are oil men in some of the big oil field towns like Snyder. This report so persisted in that city, that the Snyder daily paper asked to be allowed to print all the names of those who had obtained this cheap feed, and quantity. Another rumor soon after the feed began to be dispensed, was that big cattlemen down around San Angelo, were buying the feed at around $35 per ton, then bootlegging it out to the less fortunate at around $45 per ton. To say the least, it would be a risky business to transact business like that with government feed that was to be dispensed in a drouth emergency. It would be laying oneself to the risk of pretty severe prosecution if it came to a federal court, and federal courts have a reputation of having no friends nor cronies, when a case is to be decided. So, we have just about decided that like a lot of other rumors, they have no foundations in fact. Perhaps one man would say to another, I believe old so-and-so is buying up that government feed at the cheap rate, and selling it at a big profit. This would be repeated with enlargements. In the meantime, we read and hear of statements coming from big city folks mostly, some of which justify the farmer and stockman, particularly the latter, about his supposed independence, and then taking this FREE feed from the government.

We have been a pretty close reader of the feed dispensation, and in no instance have we read that it was given the farmer and stockmen free. On the other hand, we have understood all along that this feed was surplus feed that the government had bought up in past years, to keep it from depressing the market, and stored at various places, and when the drouth relief resolution by Congress was passed, this feed was shipped to the drouth stricken sections at approximately what it cost the government. The railroad companies also did their share by accepting these shipments at about half the regular rate. We will say this, if it is proven that grafters have had their fingers in the business at a profit, let them be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. If there is nothing to the rumors, the sooner they are shut up, the better.

Regardless of moisture conditions, when planting time for the fall and winter pastures come, do the planting job. Dust in the seed if necessary. For when it does rain, these pastures will be up and growing and use fertilizer in the sections of the state where the practice is profitable.

dawn on many of us old life time Democrats that a league or a union with many nations, many speaking an unknown tongue, and with divergent political and moral outlooks, is a pretty tough job at best. We have found to our sorrow that we are expected to do most of the fighting to defend the United Nations, and what it is supposed to stand for. And we have found that some of the nations, we have helped most, want to do a lot of trading and trafficking with those who are fighting to keep the UN from functioning. This is particularly true of old England. That nation was one time a mighty power in the universe. Her ships went everywhere, and their navy controlled the waves. It had mighty empires scattered all over the universe, and its trade, banking and insurance was the envy of the rest of the world. But with two world wars, bombings and straffings, added to the idea that many of its colonial possessions, became better civilized and literate, want to rule their own waves and do their own trading. In order to hang on to Hong Kong, old England really got its tail in a crack with the Chinese Reds. It was trade or else. And it made but little difference with England that much of the stuff they were passing on to Red China was later used to kill our young men in Korea. It is just the case of a proud old aristocrat hanging on to his ramshackled possessions, and doing his best to appear as important as in the days when he was Colonel So-and-so. But with old England, those days are gone forever, even though they still employ five regiments of soldiers to guard their sovereign.

As our first president, George Washington warned us to keep out of entangling alliances with Europeans, it seems that in the past few years we have gone all out to get ourselves in as many bad scrapes as possible. Of course, many of us remember that we got pretty sore at those "darned old isolationists" back after War I, because they refused to go along with President Woodrow Wilson on the League of Nations. But even if Congress refused to go into such a league, and wrecked it, we have been gradually creeping into such a condition since that time, with a greatly accelerated speed after War II. But it is beginning to

SCS States Vetch Planting Benefits

Supervisors of the Terry County Soil Conservation District announced this week that from now on until October 1 is the ideal time for seeding winter legumes.

Hairy vetch has proved very successful in this area and can be seeded between the rows of cotton or grain sorghum, drilled in a pure stand, or a mixture of small grains and vetch may be planted.

Benefits that can be obtained from planting vetch are: winter cover; improve fertility and soil condition when turned under as a green manure crop ahead of grain sorghum or cotton; seed production as a cash crop; and winter and spring grazing, especially when planted with rye, oats, or barley.

Planting rates are: drilled in pure stand, 20 pounds per acre; with small grains, 12-15 pounds per acre; in rows between cotton or grain sorghum, 12-15 pounds per acre. Planted depth of 1-3 inches.

Planting method: grain drill, inter-row seeder, and broadcast. Vetch seed should be inoculated before planting and best results are obtained from it when super-phosphate fertilizer is worked into the soil before seeding the crop.

Regardless of moisture conditions, when planting time for the fall and winter pastures come, do the planting job. Dust in the seed if necessary. For when it does rain, these pastures will be up and growing and use fertilizer in the sections of the state where the practice is profitable.

The U. S. Public Health Service has started an elaborate survey to determine just how effective the injections were in holding polio in check. Findings will not be available until late this year. The disease year ends about Oct. 1.

The derivative was given limited tests last year during a serious outbreak in Texas. But this summer was the first time it was put into use in mass inoculation experiments.

The Public Health Service still is distributing gamma globulin and said the supply is holding out quite well.

Dr. Kenneth S. Laudauer, assistant medical director of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, said health officers in counties where mass inoculations were given, "reported a dropping off of incidence in the injected group."

Dr. Henry H. Kunn, the foundation's assistant research director,

Among the 180 undergraduates and 152 graduates who were presented degrees at the 27th annual summer commencement of Texas Tech, Aug. 26, were Faris Nowell, Donald Bynum and Scharlyn Danielle, all of Brownfield, and Minnie Elizabeth Patterson of Meadow.

Dr. Floyd Golden, native of Snyder and president of Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, spoke, challenging members of the graduating class to seek opportunity, not security.

For the occasion chairs were set up on the Administration Building green and some 2,200 persons witnessed the conferring of degrees by Dr. E. N. Jones, president of Texas Tech.

The Wright brothers' first plane flight covered about half the distance of the wingspread of a heavy bomber.

GAMMA GLOBULIN NOT TRUE VACCINE, SURVEY SHOWS NO PREVENTION

Gamma globulin apparently has reduced the incidence of paralytic polio in areas where injections were given to children but it no sure preventative for the dread disease, health officers disclosed Monday.

More than 150,000 children were given the injections this summer. Most health officials agreed that the disease rate dropped as a result. But generally they adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

The United Press surveyed 13 counties where the blood derivative was used in mass inoculations, generally on children up to 10 years of age. The survey showed these definite results:

1. Gamma globulin is not a true preventative vaccine. Such a vaccine has yet to be developed.
2. Any immunity that gamma globulin gives does not become effective until seven to ten days after the injections and lasts only two to five weeks.
3. Some children who received the injections subsequently contracted polio. But the use of gamma globulin appeared to lessen the incidence of paralysis.

The U. S. Public Health Service has started an elaborate survey to determine just how effective the injections were in holding polio in check. Findings will not be available until late this year. The disease year ends about Oct. 1.

The derivative was given limited tests last year during a serious outbreak in Texas. But this summer was the first time it was put into use in mass inoculation experiments.

The Public Health Service still is distributing gamma globulin and said the supply is holding out quite well.

Dr. Kenneth S. Laudauer, assistant medical director of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, said health officers in counties where mass inoculations were given, "reported a dropping off of incidence in the injected group."

Dr. Henry H. Kunn, the foundation's assistant research director,

Among the 180 undergraduates and 152 graduates who were presented degrees at the 27th annual summer commencement of Texas Tech, Aug. 26, were Faris Nowell, Donald Bynum and Scharlyn Danielle, all of Brownfield, and Minnie Elizabeth Patterson of Meadow.

Dr. Floyd Golden, native of Snyder and president of Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, spoke, challenging members of the graduating class to seek opportunity, not security.

For the occasion chairs were set up on the Administration Building green and some 2,200 persons witnessed the conferring of degrees by Dr. E. N. Jones, president of Texas Tech.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I used to be a bookkeeper before I entered service. I've just been released, and I want to take a course in bookkeeping under the Korean GI bill, to brush up on the subject. Will I be allowed to do so?

A—No. The law prohibits veterans from studying for objectives for which they already are qualified. And you already are qualified for the objective of bookkeeping, because of your past experience. But you would be permitted to train for an advanced objective you haven't already reached, such as that of accountant.

Q—I had a permanent National Service Life Insurance policy, which I surrendered for cash when I went back on active duty. Now that I've been separated, would it be possible for me to reinstate that same policy as of the original date?

A—Yes. It may be reinstated at the original age and effective date, and without a medical examination, upon payment of the required reserve and the current premium. But you must apply in writing within 120 days after your separation from service.

Q—I'm a disabled World War II veteran, and I've delayed entering training under public law 16 until now. How much training will

The total production is greater; the forage produced is higher in protein and minerals and the grazing season is extended. Local county agents can furnish information on the best combinations for each section of the state.

I be allowed to get?
A—You may train for as long as is necessary to restore your ability to earn a living at the objective you've selected. However, the course you take must be one that can be completed by July 25, 1956, the legal ending date of the public law 16 program.

Q—What papers will I need in order to apply for a certificate of eligibility for a GI home loan? And where do I apply?

A—You'll need your original discharge or separation paper. The place to apply is your nearest VA regional office.

We Take A Spin Off Under The Cap

Since the drouth struck in all its fury, we are not able to make those long jaunts, like back to Tennessee, or even down in old Tarrant and Johnson, but we can slip off for a little spurt among the kin just under the caprock, and expect to get back, thanks to the kind and indulgent oil companies, that risk us with a "courtesy card."

So, we took off Sunday A. M., having in mind one of those glorious old noon dinners with sister Rosetta Roberts and daughter, Nell. The crops are very spotted between here and Coahoma, very good feed to Union, some around Welch and Pumpkin Center, some of the latter irrigated. But from there to Big Spring, it is pitiful. The area from Lamesa to the Knott section, past Ackery, is a very fine farming country, but one as well be on Sahara this year, as far as crops are concerned.

At Coahoma, we found all the kith and kin doing nicely, and after a fine dinner and a nap, we drove out to the Roberts farm north of the little town. They have the best dry land crops we have seen this year in that area. We believe they will make from a fourth to a half bale per acre, and in some instances more, if they keep down the insects from now on. Miss Nell has charge of the show business in the town, and she had to leave at 2 P. M., to open up for the Sunday P. M. run.

So soon after she left, we took off for Snyder via F-M road that connects with the Big Spring-Snyder highway. Found they have pretty good crops from Vincent in northeast Howard, on into Snyder, and the best and greenest grass we have seen this year. Found the Triggs topnotch, but not expecting us. In fact, we didn't know we were going to make trip until Saturday. Had a fine afternoon of palaver, and listening to the small fry grand-children make merry with the swing and other things.

And Herman gave Robert an old army training rifle, about all he could lift, but he thinks more of it than a thousand dollar bill. Herman had to attend a meeting to welcome new teachers, and to sip punch, and delicately manipulate some cookies. The rest of us got ready to go out to the new park for a picnic supper, and left a note for Herman to come out when he returned home, and fed the birds their supper. By the way, he now has some 100 little baby parakeets. He has also added a bunch of finches, and a pair of cock-a-teels, the latter favoring the regulation parrot more than the parakeets.

This new park was donated by a Snyder lady, Mrs. Towle, and is being developed fast. There are 100 acres, following a draw just south of the new high school. It is well lighted with regulation

Germes Spread When School Term Opens

Austin—Communicable diseases common to children reach their low point, as to number of cases, late in the summer. Then, when school opens, and children are closely grouped together in classrooms, germs begin to spread, and the increase runs to thousands of cases of illness, causing much time lost from school, discomfort for the children, and untold hours spent in nursing them back to health, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Some children die, and others suffer permanent damage to their health. The really tragic part of this situation is that it is, in a large measure, preventable. If all parents would change their indifferent, negligent attitude toward diseases such as measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, and chicken-pox, and would co-operate with school and health authorities, these common communicable disease epidemics could be reduced.

Dr. Cox says these are the important ways to protect the health of our school children: Immunize every child against diphtheria and smallpox, have daily inspection of school children, with isolation or separation of the suspected case of disease, sending home any child showing signs of illness, such as paleness, sore throat, skin eruption, fever or any other symptom that apparently needs the attention of a physician; keep children home who show signs of illness. Call the physician and let him interpret the symptoms. Re-admission to school should be based on permission of the family physician or health officer. Inspection should be made at the beginning of school and at mid-year for minor skin infections and head lice, with exclusion of all infected children from school. The development of good personal habits in every child is very essential to the control of all contagious diseases.

For the sake of our children—their physical health and progress street lights, and, although it was Sunday, and lots of people had the same idea of eating out there, we had little difficulty in finding a table. There was also a lot of swings and slides for the small fry, and we had a hard time getting all four of the brats—we had one borrowed from a neighbor—at the table to eat. Rather swing and slide.

We dispensed with our usual cereal for supper, and took a shot at the sandwiches, milk and punch—unspiked. Herman joined in the festivities a bit late, and not too hungry after his round at the school cafeteria. Back home about good dark, and began preparing for the 100-mile trip home. Left there about 8:30, and arrived in the best little city on the Plains at 10:30, and ready for the roost. In fact, the kiddoes were already at the happy hunting ground.

DREAMS OF GOING ABROAD COME TRUE FOR ROY WINGERD FAMILY

By Mrs. Roy Wingerd

The Queen was spending the Easter vacation at Windsor Castle, so we were warned that we would not be allowed inside the state apartments, but must content ourselves with a sight of the family chapel, where the flowers and wreaths for the late Queen Mary's funeral were on display. The aged and beloved old matriarch had been very recently buried at Windsor, and she was genuinely mourned by the entire commonwealth, as the hundreds of wreaths mutely testified.

The English sovereign spends only two weeks in official residence at Windsor Castle, one week at Easter, and one in June when she goes to open the Ascot races; but for the life of me, I can't see why. If I owned a story book castle like Windsor, only thirty miles from London, I think I would slip away every week end, at the least; and take no nonsense from my ministers about whether I could spare the time. For Windsor is a story book castle in the best tradition, a fortress as well as a royal residence, and built by that same conquerer and builder de luxe, William, who constructed the Tower of London. How that man and his Norman henchmen did get around! It has had many additions in the last thousand years, so its architecture is a mixture of Norman, early English, Georgian and Victorian; but the whole is done in ageless grey stone, and it is huge, imposing, indestructible, and oddly enough, quite beautiful. The castle is surrounded by miles of Windsor great park, with its manicured lawns, and lovely old trees, and literally an army of gardeners who seemingly work around the clock to give the park its air of quiet perfection.

Seen from the long walk, Windsor has a fairy tale quality, indeed; incredible, and full of magic.

I will not bore my readers with further tales of the great palaces like Blenheim, where Winston Churchill first saw the light of day, or Warwick castle, where the ill-fated Earls of that name lived and plotted, and died with their boots on, to the last peer.

Nor can I take time or space to tell of the London museum or the Tate galleries which deserve a chapter in their own right, but now our eight day visit in London was drawing to a close. The days had simply flown, but we knew we could give no more time to England, if we were to make our appointed rounds.

On our last day, I went down to Selfridge's, London's biggest department store, and purchased an umbrella. This was the sum total of my shopping, except for a few coronation souvenirs; for the purchase tax in England is so high that it makes the prices almost prohibitive. Foreigners may change their monies into certificates of purchase and thus avoid this tax, but the red tape involved is considerable, and troublesome.

By this time we had learned to clutch our passports to us as our most prized possessions. We were warned never to leave them in our rooms, or off our persons; and of course we had to produce them at a moment's notice; and for any one of a variety of reasons. We were told that Europeans were paying as high as $10,000 for a stolen U. S. passport.

On the morning of the eighth day we said goodbye to young Mr. Scott, our English guide, who had been a sort of walking English history to us during our stay; and, taking our permanent guide in tow, we took the boat train to Dover, and the little Channel steamer that was to carry us to Ostend.

The white cliffs of Dover were much in evidence as we sailed out of the harbor, although far from being as white and shining as I had pictured them in my imagination. Nor were any blue birds in evidence, although Marion and I stood at the steamer rail and sang the little ditty about there being "blue birds over the white cliffs of Dover;" a happening our guide assured us had never been since time began, nor was likely to be until kingdom come. Blue birds, you see, just don't care for England. Probably too cold.

Now, as our steamer sailed farther away from the islands; we began to feel a tinge of sadness that we were seeing our last of England, for years, if not forever. Like the Englishman himself, we had fallen in love with that ancient land which has contributed so much to enrich the human spirit. We could not but think of the immortal words of Shakespeare, who loved it too:

This royal throne of kings—
this scepter'd isle
This earth of majesty, this seat of Mars,
This other Eden, demi-paradise
This fortress, built by nature for herself
Against infection and the hand
of war;
This precious stone set in the silver sea,
Which serves it in the office
of a wall,
Or as a moat defensive to a house,
Against the envy of less happier
lands;
This blessed plot, this earth,
this realm, this England.

INITIAL MEETING OF MAIDS AND MATRONS HELD SEPTEMBER 1

Initial meeting of the new club year of Maids and Matrons Study Club was held Tuesday at 4 p. m. at Seleta Jane Brownfield Clubhouse. The highlight of the afternoon was the president's message, given by Mrs. Frank Wier.

Mrs. Wier stressed that the club should look backward to where the club had been, and to look forward to see where they can go. She said, "On this mid-20th century day, we listen to the call of a new club year. It is not a new call, but rather a call of re-dedication of ourselves to the fundamental American ideals."

Mrs. Wier continued with a discussion of some of the American ideals, such as simple thrift and economy, frugal industry, sacrifice and self denial, and a feeling of being wanted.

She closed saying, "In an effort to be so many places, do so many things the trend of the times is to take the short cut. What has happened to the value of earning an honest reward?"

Reading of the constitution and by-laws was given by Mrs. A. A. Sawyer.

Cookies and orange punch were served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. W. Butler and Mrs. Tom Keenan.

Among officers and members attending were Mesdames W. M. Adams, W. B. Brown, A. W. Butler, Barton Evans, Leo Holmes, Eunice Jones, Tom Keenan, E. F. Latham, O. B. Larner, W. F. McCracken, Looe Miller, E. O. Nelson, Money Price, A. A. Sawyer, Cecil Smith, A. J. Stricklin, M. G. Tarpley, J. M. Teague, F. G. White and Frank Wier.

Old Timers From 'Way Back When' Called At Herald

The madam and the writer were talking 'tother day, and both agreed that we had more calls this year, from people we had not seen in years, than in many, many years. Most of them have to tell us who they are, as they mostly have grown out of our knowledge and belief, especially on the aging side. But, boy, are we glad to see them and converse a bit!

The latest couple to call were Mr. and Mrs. George Snodgrass, who now live some 100 miles from Sacramento, Calif., or about a two-hour drive, as he termed it. For many years, after this family left Terry, they settled down in the Glendale, Ariz., section, where they conducted a dairy. But George got tired of milking several cows, and feeding them, so they sold out for considerable kale, and hustled off to the Golden State.

They bought one apartment house after going to California, and it paid so well they have obtained two more. George stated apartment houses was the easiest money he ever made. Mrs. Snodgrass was a Ware, daughter of the late H. L. Ware and wife, early day Gomez merchant. She has a brother, Ennis, at Seagraves, and George has a brother, Hugh, and family, out in the Tokio area, which they are visiting. George was reared on the old Snodgrass ranch in west Terry.

Call again, good people. A lot of us got a free package of Chesterfield cigarettes this week, along with some statistics showing that cigaret to be the best for the smoker—of course. Several doctors said so. Anyway, thanks.

Visitors in the J. E. Thurman home over the weekend were William Thurman and family of Edmonson, Texas, Mrs. H. N. Clarke, and Mrs. E. W. Maddux of Amarillo, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Maddux are Mrs. Thurman's sisters. Lt. Grady Warren and family were also visitors.

Roscoe Treadaway left Saturday for Booneville, Mo., where he will attend Kemper Military School.

Former Residents' Daughter Marries Texas University Medical Student

The marriage of Miss Cynthia Tankersley and Bob W. Williams was solemnized Friday night in a formal double-ring ceremony, read in the First Presbyterian Church of Lubbock, Texas. The Rev. David Zacharias, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Cye Tankersley, former residents of Brownfield and now of Lubbock, are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Williams of Lubbock.

Gerre Hancock, organist, offered a wedding prelude, and the traditional wedding marches, and accompanied Elton Plowman as he sang.

Wearing an original model gown of white nylon tulle with a full-length satin coat, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The pleated tulle bodice, which was strapless, was embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearls over the bustline. The full shirred skirt of tulle was embroidered with lace applique.

A lace cap held her silk veil of illusion. She carried a half crescent of white chrysanthemums, and green croton foliage.

The bride's cousin, Miss Elizabeth Stitt of Miami, Fla., attended her as maid of honor. Miss Jeanne Mullins, Miss Joyce Booher, and Mrs. Pat Wallace were bridesmaids.

Devon McKinney, cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl.

Harmon Williams served his son as best man. Ushers were Don Tankersley, brother of the bride, Preston Haw and Tony Rodgers.

Winner of the scholarship was determined by pre-entrance examinations, taken by a number of high school graduates, and Jo Ann, a '53 BHS graduate, tied high score with the Tahoka girl.

Jo Ann will start classes Sept. 8 at Tech College, and will live at the nurses' home, on the campus. She has been employed at the Fair Department Store during this summer.

The Terry County Herald

Old Subscriber From California Drops In

Had the pleasure this week of a call from Chester Osgood, of Long Beach, Calif., to chat a few minutes. Mrs. Osgood was along but did not call. Osgood started in as a reader of the Herald way back when? At that time he lived in Illinois and later in Missouri before going to California.

Mr. Osgood is feeling a bit optimistic about oil out his way in southeast Terry. He is within a mile and a half of the east Corrigan field, and there might be plenty oil under his land. His section lays close to the F-M road from Union to the Lynn county line.

Come see us again, Mr. Osgood, and we hope they hit a well on your land that spouts black gold over the top of the derrick.

Mrs. Ame Flache is returning home this week from Indianapolis, Ind., where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Arslie Green.

100 NEW TEXAS LAWS—AUTO TAXES, MEASURES ALTER INSPECTIONS

Texas had more than 100 new laws last week. The people most aware were those being sued by some cities for delinquent auto taxes.

The Legislature put a four year statute of limitations on collections of delinquent personal property taxes, and this was one of the laws which took effect last week—90 days after the session adjourned.

Another new law modifies the 1951 auto inspection statute. It requires annual inspection only on brakes, lighting equipment, horns, rear view mirrors and windshield wipers.

New Inspection Law

Jalopies made before 1935 won't have to be inspected if they aren't used on the highways.

Homer Garrison, Jr., public safety director, said 3,000 stations are ready for the new inspection period which begins Sept. 15.

Other new laws do these things:

- Provide a mandatory three day jail sentence for the first offense of drunk driving, with judges authorized to grant six month probation.
- Create a state turnpike authority, with the Dallas-Fort Worth toll road given first priority for construction.
- To Study Schools
- Create the state commission on higher education to study colleges and universities.
- Exempt radios from liability for carrying political statements the FCC has said can not be banned.
- Add to the causes for which beer retailers' permits may be suspended.
- Give the State Board of Water Engineers more power in water conservation.
- Permit the state to close hunting seasons when fire hazards exist.
- Dope Law Amended
- Tighten and increase the reserve requirements of county mutuals.
- Amend the narcotics act to allow a suspended sentence on first offense only and stiffer penalties for repeaters.
- Set up label requirements for seeds.
- Increase fees for impounding livestock.
- Reduce the minimum age of public school bus drivers from 21 to 17.
- Permit rules to prohibit feeding of raw garbage to hogs.
- Create a commodity distribution division in the Department of Public Welfare to handle surplus foods in school lunch programs.
- Small Claims Court
- Authorize small claims courts, where suits may be brought at minimum expense in cases involv-

HEALTH Q's AND A's

Q. What is orthopedics?
A. It is the medical specialty that has to do with the correction of deformities and with the treatment of the skeleton, is joints, and associated structures such as nerves and muscles.

Q. Why are doctors interested in such matters as posture and foot hygiene, particularly in children?
A. Because good posture habits formed early in life, combined with careful attention to correct types and sizes of children's shoes, will lay the groundwork for greater comfort and efficiency in adult life.

Q. What are the advantages of an operation for repair of the hip-bone with a metal pin in the older patient?
A. When performed by experts, surgery of this kind has resulted in better function, less pain and disability, less time spent in the hospital and bed, and less days lost from work.

Q. What is a prosthesis?
A. It is any device used to replace a part of the human body. A prosthesis may be an artificial limb, eye, or tooth.

Q. Can a prosthesis be used inside the body?
A. Yes, in which case it is called an endoprosthesis. An example is a device shaped something like the upper end of the thigh bone which can be inserted in its place to give motion at the hip. Nylon, metal, and plastic have been used in the manufacture of this hip prosthesis.

amounted to $96,871,000.

The Texas broiler industry has grown by leaps and bounds during the past few years and in 1951 grossed $42,343,000 for the state's producers.

Turkey producers in 1951 had gross sales of $18,124,000. Final figures for 1951 show that eggs represented 61.2 per cent of the total gross poultry income for the state; broilers 27.3 per cent and turkeys 11.5 per cent.

It adds up, says McHaney, to a whopping total of $157,338,000. A sizeable figure for even the state of Texas.

Poultry Industry Gives Big Income

College Station. — Recently released figures reveal the economic importance of the poultry industry to Texas. According to John G. McHaney, assistant economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, it takes a lot of eggs to satisfy Texans' appetite for "hen fruit." In fact, he adds, the supply from Texas sources lacks almost three dozen eggs per capita of meeting the demand.

In 1951, 2,921,000,000 eggs were produced in Texas. The per capita consumption was 397 eggs. Therefore, says McHaney, 259,000,000 eggs had to come from other states to make up the difference. The existing favorable egg-feed price ration, the rapidly increasing population within the state and generally favorable economic conditions over the country as a whole, leads McHaney to believe that egg producers in the state would be justified in further increasing the size of their laying flocks.

Final figures for 1952, he says, show that 21,474,000 hens were on the farms of the state. Figures released on July 1 indicate some reduction in this number while the hen numbers for the nation remained about the same as for a year ago. Gross sales in Texas from eggs in 1951, he says,

Only Thing That Would Make Us Bet

Among the many sins or so-called sins that would have enticed us as a youth, would have been gambling on horse races. Some how or other, we were just not born with too much sporting blood in our veins, and the idea of risking a few hard earned dollars was out. And all the dollars we ever had were hard earned.

But we used to go to the Dallas Fair almost every Sunday early this century, and Sunday then was the main day for the ponies to do their stuff. We found we could pick 'em pretty well, but not enough to risk the small cash outlay we had. Got to talking with a local lady lately, who had been out to Ruidoso. Asked if she was a race fiend. She attended the races some out there, but not too much, she said. Then she related a story about her grandfather.

It seems that in the younger days down in central west Texas, her grand-dad mixed horse racing pretty well with his ranching. In fact, he raised race stock on the ranch. One year he won some $30,000 with his string of ponies. By that time, he had some sons that were about grown, and he decided that he wanted them to be just plain ranchmen, and not race track promoters.

So, he sold all his race stock. So far as is known, he never promoted or gambled on racing after that time.

We Commend The Clergy

In view of the recent furor in Washington over Dr. J. B. Matthews' American Mercury article, "Reds and our churches," reporting that 7,000 Protestant clergymen have been listed on the rolls of Communist fronts, some additional facts should be considered:

1. There are 254,191 Protestant clergymen in the United States. Thus, 7,000 is only 2.8 percent of the total. A similar percentage of the 22,459 Catholic clergymen would be only 628; and of the 2,350 Jewish rabbis, only 65.

2. Much of the Reds' front activity is shrewdly calculated to attract the sympathy of churchmen. They seem to be constantly agitating on behalf of the underdog, the "downtrodden." The "downtrodden" were the special concern of Christ, and, naturally, a great concern of conscientious Christian churchmen.

Fronts Are Deceiving

3. Not many people are well informed on the tactics of the Communist conspirators. Americans have been slow in learning that the respectable-looking front organization is a trap, through which the Reds get money to finance their underground work, foment strife between factions, and recruit converts to the Communist ideology.

When all these facts are considered, I think any fair-minded person would commend the American clergy as a whole for recognizing and remaining immune to the strong but bogus humanitarian appeal of the Communist front apparatuses. And at the same time, it must be admitted that the small percentage that has been lured into front apparatuses, has aided an underground conspiracy that is the sworn mortal enemy of our nation—and the church.

Part of my time throughout the year is spent in the pulpit, in Arkansas and other states. In preaching the Gospel, we preach the brotherhood of man. And we endeavor to live it by supporting good causes that give a helping hand to all those who need it.

Studied Tactics

Years ago, I began to study Communism and its tactics, because it openly declared itself a world-wide atheistic force, challenging God. Karl Marx advocated trickery as a part of aggressive atheism. The Communist front has become the center of the Red trickery in America. The hundreds of organizations which the Reds have created have been a vital part of the apparatus with which they are determined one day to establish Communism as the ruling force here.

The same day Dr. Matthews' resignation from the senate committee was announced, the department of justice designated 62 additional organizations in this country as subversive Communist fronts, working, through trickery, for the Communist cause. This is in addition to the 192 organizations previously cited as subversive. The American citizens who are non-Communists, but who have been listed as members of any of the 254 organizations now officially cited as Red, have, of course, been unwittingly aiding the Communist conspiracy. Some are preachers.

Genuine Red Clergymen

Various sources have, for years, recognized that some preachers were Communists before they became preachers. They became preachers to infiltrate the church and influence large numbers of people in church congregations. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, has confirmed this fact. So has Herbert Philbrick, a loyal, courageous, American citizen who served as an FBI counterspy in the Communist underground in Boston. He said several preachers belonged to his underground Red cell.

"These individuals," he told a congressional committee, "were all Communists prior to their becoming ministers. I actually set in at a cell meeting at the home of (name given) . . . one of the heads of the Communist party . . . and a member of our cell was a young Communist about to be planted in a seminary to study to be a minister and infiltrate into the religious field . . . that was one of (our) main projects."

This unchallenged evidence doesn't detract from the fact that the church is the one great force that ultimately must spell the doom of Communism and that the vast majority of American clergymen are diligently working toward that end.

LET'S ALL GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY Where We Are All One With The Lord

Peace... Good Will...

Everywhere, among good people, there exists a longing to make our world tranquil and prosperous—a desire for man to unite for peace, good will and understanding. For from good will comes forbearance and from understanding, a better way of life. And what better time than now for every man to renew the realization that all our good human relationship—yes, even our business relationships, are based on our faith in God and our fellow man. Only through this faith can we assure the continuance of freedom without fear—tolerance with tyranny—democracy and lasting peace.

Stricklinly Speaking

By OLD HE

Well, they got the Old He's column rather mixed up last week. One of them was written to appear week before last, and should have been marked (delayed) but was run along with that written for last week. Some of the stuff in the delayed part sounded rather ancient. That was the week we had bugs in some of the machinery—remember. Had a short paper that week, and of course our stuff was the most convenient to leave out.

We have been told by some of the foreseeing guys that predict what will happen years ahead, that the people of this old earth, if not blown off by A and H bombs in the meantime, will be getting places so fast that the present mode of travel will look like horse and buggy days to the people of the present. This is to happen about 1975, and if they respect our thoughts and intentions, we get about too fast already, to come home in one piece.

Some of these days we are going to get our quick acting jaw slapped off. Sometimes we kid people too hard, and have never learned the good manners to "smile when we make a wise crack." For instance, last week a guy walked into the office peddling printing office supplies, and announced that his name was "Little." The man not only had a big bulk, but was what the ladies would call "plump." He would believe have tipped the scale at around 300 pounds. Don't think he exactly appreciated our remarks.

Then there was one of our good readers from down Seagraves way in and his name is Helton. Determined to try a wisecrack, whether applicable or not, we stated that it was a good thing they added "ton" after the "Hel." But Helton grinned about the matter. He farms just over in old Yoakum, getting his mail off a Seagraves route.

Lastly, and this one we have been sorry about ever since. Our memory isn't worth one of those old iron pennies now rusty and mildewed. We met a good lady recently and as we separated, we sent word to "old" so-and-so, whom we had forgotten had been dead some three years. She so reminded us. Wouldn't have been so bad if we'd just left off the "old" part. We have just about decided to talk of more pleasant things or keep our big mouth shut from this on, even if they tell us their name is Joe Stalin. Maybe like Jimmie

Hatto's stuff, "we do it every time."

Well, we had a great birthday celebration Sunday. Fully up to par if not a bit past. We got a lot of well wishing cards, all of them pretty from here and yon. Got some from people that we didn't suspect even knew we had a birthday. But we were reminded that we had a crack in these columns about a niece, Mrs. Bill McKinley, sending in one some two weeks early, and then we gave the exact date, August 23. So, that is why some here in town knew the date of our birthday.

But one of the most appreciated cards came from little one year old Jerry Ray Brian out there at Bronco. He was born on our birthday last year at the local hospital, and we sent him a little present. So, Jerry Ray sent us a card this year, which was also on his birthday too. But there is quite some difference in 73 and 1. Congratulations, Jerry Ray!

Anyway, we had a great time. The good lady of the house had found an 18-pound turkey somewhere, at a bargain, and with sundry other things she dug up from here and yon, we had a nailing good feed at the noon meal. Just relatives, the Jr. and family and the Triggs from Snyder. Also the cousins, Phillip and Faybelle Rogers and their brood from out in the Harmony settlement. Our daughter-in-law baked the cake.

But talking about feeding people, Dennis Q. and Mrs. Lilly have let themselves in for a real feed, costly as it is these days. Mrs. L. showed us a map with Brownfield as the focal point for a reunion at their place here in town, "when all roads will lead to Brownfield." Boy, was there a raft of lines running off from Brownfield, mostly west and south-west, with a few going back east for a piece. Couldn't get the good lady to agree that we might be a distant double-half uncle, and get in on the feed.

One writer tells us that he loves to hear rain beating on a window of a friendly room. Down here in this neck of the woods, we like to hear it on the fields, the lawns the orchards, or what have you. We are not particular where we hear it, just so it falls. In fact, rain would not sound bad to South Plains people on an unfriendly room window—just so it rains.

Much has been written and said about "book burning and witch hunting" here of late. This is mostly in connection with McCarthy and other congressional investigations, and these howls to high heaven are generally put out by Reds, Pinks, near Pinks and Fellow Tourists. With the din raised, many people do not really understand the matter, and many perhaps suppose books in all the libraries in the USA are being burned. Nothing is further from the truth. And some such as Adlai Stevenson, who once ran for President, has made use of the expression, without going into details. Good politics, he thinks, maybe.

But the truth of the matter is that all the books burned were those written by Reds and sympathizers, in the libraries of our service men abroad. We have these men over there to guard against the encroachment of Communism, the mess that is giving us trouble all over the world. Why shouldn't we burn them? The writers are the kind of folks that you could not run them into Russia with a red hot iron, yet will dodge behind the Fifth Article of our Constitution, when they are asked about their connection with these subversive organizations. These people would supplant our free nation with the ideals of slavery of the Rusksos.

This year a little lady was born on our birthday at the local hospital. She is Glenda Fay Miller, who was born at 9:47, August 23, and weighed 8 pounds, 1 1/4 ounces. Glenda Fay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Miller, of Plains. Mr. Miller is manager of the Shell Oil Co., plant.

Be seeing you next week, we hope.

Agricultural producers of the state are advised to be on the alert for damaging invasions of their crops and pastures by worms. They are bad in many sections of the state at the present. Fall army worms and cotton bollworms are two of the chief culprits. Cotton leafworms are also spreading.

AMONG TERRY COUNTY'S FINER MODERN HOMES is one owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wheatley, located 14 miles northwest of Brownfield. The Wheatleys have been living in the white brick eight-room, two-bath and basement house for the past five years, and enjoy every comfort and modern convenience of any city home. Their three children, Herman, Jr., age 11, and in the sixth grade at Brownfield, Laurella, age nine, and in the fourth grade, and Eslee Laverne, who is a local telephone secretary for the traffic superintendent, especially enjoy their television set. Mrs. Wheatley is justly proud of her washer and deepfreeze, and Mr. Wheatley is busily preparing ground in front and to the side of their lawn for planting alfalfa, with a mixture of feed, for cows, and looking after their irrigated cotton and other crops. This is no little job. (Staff Photo)

Composted Gin Burrs are Worth Millions to West Texas

60-60-60 per acre
Over 5000 lbs. humus per acre
Long lasting fertilization
Beneficial soil bacteria
Retain 3000 extra gallons of water per acre
Replace minor soil elements
Improve soil texture
Release "locked-up" soil elements
Greatly increase crop yields

All of this for only $15. per acre including the distribution on your land

You could never get a fertilization value like this from the regular kinds of fertilizers. The chemical analysis value alone is worth the total cost. Believe it or not... COMPOSTED GIN WASTE AND BURRS is worth all this, and even more. The values listed above show minimums which are based on laboratory reports, filed tests, and previous results. Why burn such a valuable... and greatly needed... material? Instead of watching the smoke, why not return to the cotton land all that was taken out except for the seed and bloom? It can only be done by utilizing the gin waste and burrs in composted form. CONSULT YOUR GINNER! IF HE IS NOT ALREADY PLANNING TO COMPOST, HAVE HIM CHECK INTO THE SOIL BIOTICS COMPANY PROCESS. COMPLETE LITERATURE AND INFORMATION IS AVAILABLE IN LUBBOCK. See, Write or Call

Parking's a pushover with Ford Power-Steering

It's a brand new Ford "Worth More" feature—costs up to $40 less than any other power steering in its field and it's the newest and finest power steering.

With one finger, while the car is standing still, a woman can turn the steering wheel. No longer will rough road ruts "throw you". Should ever a tire blow out, power steering assistance helps you to keep safe straight-line control. Ford Power Steering does up to 75% of the work; and it has a more natural "feel" than many others. You don't have to change your driving habits radically. The steering gear ratio is the same as without power steering and the hydraulic system gives you just the right assistance when you need it.

No change in driving habits! You could drive off in a Ford with Power Steering with absolutely no radical change in the way you ordinarily drive a car... just a lot less effort!

"Wheel Shock" reduced! With a hydraulic "cushion" between your steering wheel and the front wheels, Ford Power Steering noticeably reduces "wheel shock" on rough roads.

Parking is a pushover with Ford Power Steering. In fact, all driving is a lot easier and so much more relaxing. You can easily turn the wheel with one finger while the car is standing still.

You're safer! Even if a front tire should blow out, Ford Power Steering comes to your assistance... gives you the "muscle" to keep the car under control. That's really extra security!

BROWNFIELD CHARTER WITH CITY ATTORNEY

Completion of the Brownfield City Charter now rests with the City Attorney and his co-workers as the City Charter Commission has finished its work with the exception of a final check after the attorneys have assembled the charter, according to City Secretary Jake Geron.

When the final check is completed, the new charter will be ready for presentation to the voters.

Work and planning on the new charter have been underway for the past several months.

We Make a Raid on The Wheatley Farm

It is great now and then to get out in the rural areas, especially to an irrigated farm and see things growing, yea, some of it already made. The two Stricklin families, joined by the daughter and sister, Mrs. Herman Trigg and little daughter, rolled in on the Herman Wheatley farm, Thursday afternoon late. This farm is about a half mile north of Johnson. There is much that is discouraging between here and there, many farms, particularly in the Gomez-Johnson communities that have not even been planted.

The Wheatley's have a nice brick home on their farm, as well as an above the average rent house nearby.

It was our intention to photograph some of the corn, maize and cotton while out there, but too near night and the sun behind a bank. They have a nice field of corn, but Herman stated that it was nothing like as good as last year, but didn't know why? Could have been the extreme heat this year, and so much dry, hot territory around.

Son Has Some Real Cotton

We did not make a close inspection of the large field belonging to Herman, but did go down in the draw and get a close look-see of what was intended as a five acre contest field, belonging to Herman Jr. The high winds however, only left the youngster about 3 1/2 acres, but we don't believe we have ever seen cotton better fruited.

The lower portions of the plants were heavy with grown bolls, and the upper portions were loaded with fruit from squares to nearly grown bolls. And Herman Jr. has neglected to get his name, has been in the Herman Chesshr contest on cotton for the past several years, and we will say this: The boy that goes ahead of the Wheatley boy this year, will have to get up before day. He goes to school here in Brownfield.

After quite a stay, we finally left with several melons that would weigh in the neighborhood of 60 pounds each, roasting ears galore, and some grapes. They are fresh out of beans presently, but in about one week they will have worlds of speckled-eyed peas.

THE BENSONS UP ON A VISIT IN TERRY

Mr. and Mrs. John Benson of Liberty Hill, down in the cedar breaks section, not far from Burnett, were pleasant callers Saturday. They are here visiting their son, Johnny, and family. Mr. Benson is suffering from low blood pressure, and he feels better in a low altitude. But they are right back down there in the old stomping grounds, and where fishing in Buchanan Lake is fine.

Mr. Benson has lived in Terry twice, farming several years east of town on the Tahoka road. They sojourned in California a few years, and back here, where they built a home in the northeast part of town.

We got a pressing invite down to their present home, to sample the fishing.

Terry Gets Two Wells' Three Locations

Old Terry came in with two brand new oil producers last week, both out in the Prentice section of Terry county. Also, there were three new locations, one in the east Corrigan in southeast Terry, and the other two in the Prentice field in northwest Terry.

The one in the east Corrigan field, Humble Oil Co., No. 1 Sallie Pollard, section 9, block C-39. This well is to be carried to a depth of 11,800 feet with rotary tools.

The Texas Pacific C. and O. Co., N. 2 N. M. Williams, in the Prentice field, 12 miles northwest of Brownfield, section 13, block K. Carried to 7,000 feet with rotary.

K. Kimball No. 3, S. T. Murphy, section 22, block K, to be drilled 7,000 feet with rotary tools. All three wells to start at once.

The two new wells are both in Prentice field, the Honolulu, 8-B, F. M. Ellington, section 19, block K. Total depth, 5,890, finished as a pumper of 211 barrels per day, 29 gravity.

The other was in the same area, the Honolulu, 7-B 'Alexander, section 18, block K. This well pumped 214 barrels daily of 29 gravity oil. Total production depth, 5,915.

Yoakum county got one new well in the Prentice field, and a new location in the same area. Operators are trying to find a deep test in central west Yoakum, but they have had water and other troubles.

TEXAS OCTOBER DRAFT QUOTA IS REVEALED

State selective service headquarters last week announced an October draft quota of 1,208 men—24 fewer than the September call.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, said there will be no regularly scheduled physical examination call in October, because there is an ample supply of examined and acceptable men.

Instructions were received from Washington to induct only men 20 years old or older, where possible, in October. Boards were authorized, however, to fill calls with men under 20, if necessary.

Election Of 1954 PMA County And Community Committeemen Completed

Election of 1954 Production and Marketing Administration county committeemen has been completed. Looe Miller, county office manager, announced Saturday.

The chairman, vice chairman and members of the community committeemen were elected at an election held Aug. 19, Miller said.

The following were elected to serve on PMA community committees in 1954:

Meadow community: Carl Russell, chairman, re-elected; A. L. McCoy, vice-chairman, re-elected; F. H. Sharp, regular member.

Challis community: Jess Smith, chairman, re-elected; Kidon Cornelius, vice-chairman; Bill Marchbanks, regular member, re-elected.

Pleasant Valley: Carl Hogue, chairman, re-elected; Weldon Ridgway, vice-chairman; Nathan Evans, regular member.

Union community: J. C. Johnson, chairman, re-elected; Cletus Floyd, vice-chairman; Raleigh Luker, regular member.

Pool community: L. M. Waters, Jr., chairman, re-elected; J. M. Trussell, vice-chairman, re-elected; Jack Brown, regular member, re-elected.

Wellman community: T. A. Hulse, chairman, re-elected; Tommy Woodard, vice-chairman; Vic Watts, regular member.

Lahey community: J. O. Farrar, chairman; Alfred Tittle, vice-chairman; Alton Loe, regular member.

Tokio community: W. C. Chenault, chairman; O. A. Pippin, vice-chairman, re-elected; J. C. Meeks, regular member.

Johnson community: C. A. Winn, chairman, re-elected; W. D. May, vice-chairman, re-elected; Earl M. Fox, regular member.

Delegates to the county convention met Friday to elect the county committeemen who will play an important part in PMA policies for the coming year.

Delegates are as follows: Homer Barron, Meadow; R. L. Montgomery, Challis; Jess McWherter, Pleasant Valley; C. F. McNeil, Union; Charles Tyler, Pool; J. W. Elmore, Wellman; Carl Cabe, Lahey; and Paul Blackstock, Johnson.

These committeemen took office Tuesday, Miller said.

The responsibilities of the new county and community committeemen will be increased for the coming year. "These officials will have the job of determining farm acreage allotments on any crops placed under allotments for the coming year," Miller explained.

Wheat is one crop which definitely will be under allotments. This was established Aug. 14, at wheat referendums over the entire country by wheat growers. It will be grown on a 90 percent parity basis.

Other jobs of the committeemen will include direction of price support loan programs, purchase agreements and storage facility loans.

ANOTHER AUGUST 23DER HEARD FROM

Believe we mentioned that little Jerry Ray Brian over at Bronco dropped us a birthday greeting card. Master Jerry Ray was born Aug. 23, 1952, at the local hospital.

And we got a thank you announcement from little Miss Glenda Fay Miller over at Plains, born on our birthday this year, in the local hospital. She was thinking us for a little dress, and stated it was fine to have a nice little dress on the day she arrived in this world.

We hope in a few years our "twenty-thirders" can have a sort of get-together.

Vada Beth Durham Local Entry In Farm District Contest

Thirty-four farm beauties will invade Lubbock Thursday to participate in the district farm bureau queen contest, to be held in Hotel Lubbock.

These girls, winners and runners-up of 17 district counties, will put on all their charm and glamour in an effort to win the contest, which will send one of them to the state finals in Mineral Wells, Nov. 9, 10 and 11.

The contest is to be held jointly with the annual district meeting of all farm bureau offices in the area.

Watch, Trip Prizes

The district winner will receive a wrist watch and expenses to the state convention, where she will vie with 12 other district winners for state honors, and an expense-paid trip to the 35th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation in December at Chicago.

The purpose of the contest is to give recognition to the farm and ranch girls of this state, said Jack Keeling, publicity director for the Lubbock Farm Bureau office. It is also to give the rural youth an opportunity to become acquainted with the principles of the farm bureau, he added.

Counties to be represented at the contest are Lubbock, Hockley, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Motley, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Kent, Garza, Terry, Yoakum, and Lynn.

Judges for this contest will be persons who live outside the district, and do not know any of the contestants personally, Keeling said.

Issues To Be Discussed

In connection with the district meeting, several issues will be discussed, Keeling said. Bill Tillson, chairman of the meeting, and state director for the Plains area, will report on the Texas Farm Bureau program, he said. Such other speakers as C. H. DeVaney, vice president of the farm bureau, Marvin Carter, organization director, Leon M. Lane, state field rep-

The law became effective Sept. 1, and was passed during the last session of the legislature.

Mr. Carrell urges all persons who will need employees for Saturdays to call at the office early Friday.

The office is located on the second floor of the court house.

DON NOBLE OF AUSTIN IS VISITING HOME FOLKS

Don Noble was up from Austin the past weekend to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Noble. Don, who is attending the University of Texas, is their youngest son. This summer he has been working with the research department of the U. of T. law library.

Don has worked considerable with the Herald, and we asked if he was intending to make a lawyer. On the other hand, he is looking out for a newspaper when he gets out of college. He got the smell of printer's ink too deep to do something else.

representative, Robert Buchanan, organizational fieldman, and M. C. Jaynes, extension service specialist, will discuss issues of importance to all farm bureau workers, Keeling said.

Amarillo's farm bureau contest will be staged Wednesday, and the contest at Wichita Falls will be held Tuesday. The Big Spring contest will be held Friday in the Settles Hotel. Other district contests over the state will be continued through Sept. 16, Keeling concluded.

Vada Beth Durham, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Durham, who was chosen Terry Farm Bureau queen, recently, will represent this county at the contest.
