The American Creed

We believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon these principles of freedom—equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots have sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

heart of the business and factory district, and took some 114 lives and numerous people were seriously hurt, and many others had to go to hospitals for emergency treatment. Other than the 146 who lost their lives in these tornadoes, 816 more were more or less seriously injured, and the property damage ran over $146,000,000.

Much discussion has been going the rounds of late, some of it of a nature of whose ox is gored, concerning the building and maintaining highways in the State and Nation. For instance, the writers for the railway systems maintain and demand with some vigor that the trucks and truckers pay more toward the vital upkeep of the highway systems. They arrive at this by advice for higher registration fees and income tax.

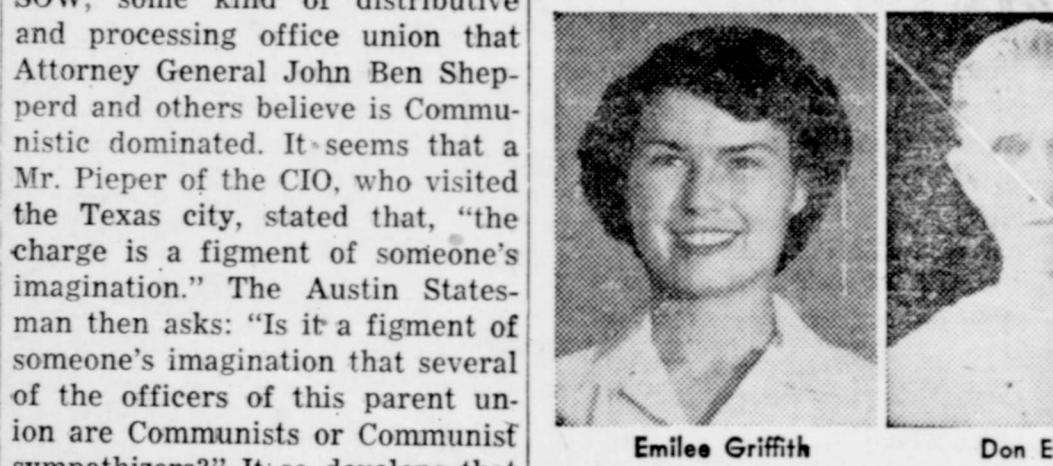

A great effort is being put forth by the State Defense and Disaster Relief Headquarters to make people more disaster wise in the way of cyclones and tornadoes, in the appointment of "spotters" to watch for these damaging and life-taking streaks of nature. According to figures released by this organization, 32 tornadoes touched the ground in Texas in 1953, and nine failed to touch the ground.

There are still trillions of cubic feet of natural gas under the land of the USA, but the way it is being taken out these days, there is no certainty that there will be an abundance of this fuel underground always.

natural gas, but presently plenty of wood and coal for fuel. Speaking of coal, it is said the known reserves of this fuel will, at the present rate of consumption, last for hundreds of years. But people everywhere are finding the convenience as well as the cleanliness of natural gas over other fuels, and even if the price is higher, they are willing to pay it for the new and clean fuel. Another thing too, perhaps, that has changed the minds of many about the kind of fuel they use, is the many and various labor strikes of coal production, and many of these strikes taking place just when there is more demand for fuel, during the dead of winter months.

From the standpoint of most people we have read after, as a whole they believe that at least one of the big unions, the CIO, is getting itself into a pretty tight corner. This in connection with the investigation of a new union down at Port Arthur, known as the DP-SOW, some kind of distributive and processing office union that Attorney General John Ben Sheperd and others believe is Communist dominated.

3 Texas 4-H'ers Win National Honors

THREE TEXAS state winners have been awarded national honors in the Dairy Foods Demonstration, Soil and Water Conservation and Farm and Home Safety programs. Emilee Griffith, 16, of Haskell, a six-year 4-H'er, has been carrying dairy foods projects since she joined the club. This year her demonstration, "One Quart a Day," featured a dairy-rich meal, including cream of tomato soup made with milk and butter, a glass of milk, and an ice cream dessert.

These programs are conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service. Don Elledge, 17, of Mabank, was a national winner in the Soil and Water Conservation program, receiving a $300.00 scholarship from the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. He used 25 acres of poor land to conduct demonstrations in crop and grass culture, which showed the possibilities of such a venture, according to Sam Munn, assistant county agent.

Of much interest to all West Texans is the annual West Texas Industrial Conference coming up this week down at Abilene. Here, lines are built to different sections of the country, where there is no

POOL NEWS

Rev. Vernon Henderson, district superintendent, preached here on Sunday. There were 65 for Sunday School. Everyone stayed for lunch at the Church, and the quarterly conference was held in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnson and children, of the Johnson community spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stokes.

James Fussell, of Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Trussell and Vickie, and Mrs. Sterling, all of Lubbock, spent Sunday in the home of Mrs. and Mrs. J. M. Trussell.

Mrs. Pearl Barkham, of Comanche, Okla., spent the week end with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dunn.

D. O. Joplin and daughter, of Levelland, visited in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Joplin, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dunn are moving to Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Eule Howard and Toby, of Brownfield, spent the week end in the home of his mother, Mrs. Major Howard. They attended church, Sunday.

A pink and blue shower was given in the home of Mrs. W. M. Joplin, Friday, honoring Mrs. LeRoy Barrier.

Your Senator Reports

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON

TWO GROUPS: Agriculture and small business are of vital importance to Texas. Any development which affects them adversely injures our entire State.

In any downward trend of our economy, the first real victims are farmers and small businessmen. That is why we must keep a close watch for economic danger signals.

The present is being called a period of "transition," or "readjustment." In dealing with resulting problems, I want to make sure the transition is not from economic sunshine to economic gloom—that we do not readjust ourselves into a recession.

FARM INCOME: Cash income of Texas farmers was 17 per cent less in the first 11 months of 1953 than in the same period of 1952, reports the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. That was a decline of close to a quarter of a billion dollars.

We had a drought, of course, but falling farm prices were mainly responsible for the drop in income. Overall prices for all farm products went down by 14 per cent during the year.

When farmers receive less total income—and when prices paid for their products keep going down—those are danger signals in any language.

SAFEGUARDS: Fortunately, we have machinery for combatting a recession if the threat of one should become imminent.

Many economic safeguards have been set up by the Government during the last 20 years. We have the know-how—gained from experience—to fight the threat of depressed economic conditions, and to fight successfully. We must

Life Expectancy In Texas Now 69 Years

Austin. — "Texans are living longer than ever before," declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. A baby born in 1937 had a life expectancy of 59 years. This has increased during the past 17 years until now a baby born in Texas today can reasonably expect to live to the age of 69, or very near the Biblical prophecy of three score years and ten.

Many things have contributed to this extension of life, such as early diagnosis, new methods of treatment and medicine, immunization and intensive public health program conducted by the Texas State Department of Health and local health agencies. This program has stressed education and demonstration.

Dr. Cox points out that the greatest strides in disease prevention have come about in diseases of infancy and childhood. Since 1937 infant mortality has been reduced 54 per cent, diarrhea, enteritis and dysentery 68 per cent, whooping cough 88 per cent, diphtheria 92 per cent, and other childhood diseases. During the past 17 years, tuberculosis deaths have dropped 76 per cent, malaria 99, syphilis 74, appendicitis 98, pneumonia 72, and typhoid fever 98 per cent. Smallpox has all but disappeared.

efforts to prevent disease. Those listed above, if not guarded against, again become a definite menace to health. Some diseases have increased, especially among those over forty years of age. Two of these are heart disease and cancer, whose toll continues to mount. More emphasis must be placed upon them as well as the so-called degenerative disease because as our population ages, they are becoming more common.

be ready to use this know-how if the necessity arises. SOCIAL SECURITY: President Eisenhower's Social Security message was sent to Congress just three days before the nineteenth anniversary of the day in 1935 when the idea was first proposed to the lawmakers.

President Roosevelt told Congress in 1935 that the job could not all be done at once, that there would be continuing need for improvements in the program. President Eisenhower said in his message, "The human problems of individual citizens are a proper and important concern of our Government." That is the policy upon which the program has stood from its beginning.

Some 30 million persons were covered when the first Social Security Act was passed. Now 70 million persons are covered. President Eisenhower has proposed a substantial addition to that number.

OPEN-MINDEDNESS: We hear a lot about the wisdom of looking at everything with an open mind. It's a good policy, all right. But we must be careful not to confuse an open mind—with a vacant mind.

LIFE'S MYSTERY

One of the mysteries of life to a school-age youngster will always be why he has to go to bed when he isn't sleepy and get up when he is.

Opportunity is what opens the door for you, but it takes hard work to stay on the inside.

Hardin-Simmons Summer Session

Abilene.—The 1954 summer session at Hardin-Simmons University will be designed especially for teachers, Alton B. Lee, registrar, has announced.

The summer session will be divided into convenient periods, so that the graduate students may attend three weeks, six weeks, nine weeks, or 12 weeks.

Six weeks periods are June 2-July 10; July 13-August 20.

In addition to regular courses, the 1954 session will also feature: annual band school, July 19-31; annual choir school, July 5-9; and a seminar in creative music, June 2nd to 31st.

Workshops will also be held in education (each three weeks); English, June 2-21; Driver education, July 11-22; piano pedagogy, June 22-July 9; string pedagogy, August 2-21.

These are pleasant evenings for the man who bought his wife a TV and his son an electric train.

Tip to motorists: The seconds you save by speeding—may be the first you spend—in eternity.

If all New Year's resolutions were laid end to end they wouldn't reach to the first of February.

A CATTLEMAN'S VIEWPOINT

William G. Davisson, of Ardmore, Okla., is a cattleman. He also is one of Oklahoma's best known lawyers and represents a large association of cattlemen as well as many individual livestock producers. The TULSA WORLD, which has printed a number of his articles on problems confronting livestock producers, notes that "he is highly respected for his judgment in the cattle industry." In a recent article, Judge Davisson pointed out some of the realities associated with high rigid government price supports for farm products.

"Most cattlemen of my acquaintance do not want either subsidies or supports," he said, "and they believe that their misfortunes are largely due to the price supports that already exist under grain, protein feeds and other products that cattle producers must buy. Ordinarily, the chief competition which the packing companies must meet in buying livestock is furnished by the stocker and feeder buyers throughout the country, but chiefly in the grain belt of the nation. The price supports under grain have made it more profitable for these feeders to sell their grain to the government or to other buyers at support prices than to feed it into cattle, and they have largely dropped out of the market and removed the competition which the packer-buyers would otherwise have had."

Millions Lost

"Especially has this been true as to the types of cattle which should have gone back to the country for feeding. Thus, price supports under grain have caused losses of many millions of dollars to the livestock producer not only by forcing him to pay higher prices for his feed, but by destroying the market for his stocker and feeder cattle."

On another aspect of the subsidy idea, Judge Davisson wrote: "Probably the most weighty reason so many producers do not believe in subsidies or price supports is that the courts of the United States have held that what the government supports, it has a right to control, and they regard this whole system of price controls as socialistic and inimical to the best interests of the livestock producers and the country as a whole."

Control Follows

"Whenever producers accept governmental handouts, either in the form of subsidies or price supports, they must be prepared to take governmental regulations and controls along with them. If this were not so—if the government simply guaranteed them a profit on all the livestock they could raise—then half the people of the nation would go into the production of livestock and shortly the taxpayers would be footing a loss which would make the immense potato subsidy loss sink into insignificance."

"Once price supports shall be established, then the only way this loss can be prevented will be through governmental control of production and marketing and when this happens, we will be driving headlong toward national socialism and the destruction of our free enterprise system, and that we are not prepared to accept."

Facts to Remember

"While in my judgment the producers of livestock do not want subsidies and detest controls," Judge Davisson said, "They may be forced to accept both as the alternative to going broke, unless processing, distribution and feed costs are reduced in proportion to the drop in the prices of livestock. If this is done, the consuming public will soon take care of any livestock surplus which may exist, and the law of supply and demand will have a chance to operate, and neither subsidies nor supports will be needed to enable the livestock producer to stay in business."

During the 170 years of our existence as a nation, the economic law of supply and demand, operating in the competitive market, has proved to be the progressive, dynamic force in our unmatched material progress. If we now discard this successful principle, for a government controlled economy, which never has proved successful, we will be turning back the clock to the age of man's enslavement. Every citizen should clearly understand this fact.

FRIENDSHIP BAPTIST CHURCH, at the corner of East Hill and "C" Street, moved to the present location in 1936, after meeting for several years in the Veteran's Hall, and the First Christian Church building, having as its first pastor, Rev. C. J. L. Bolinger, now of Lubbock. The present pastors are, Rev. V. J. Lowrance, of Lubbock, who preaches every third Saturday and Sunday here, and at Sudan and Tahoka during the rest of the month; and Rev. C. A. Seay, of Brownfield, who preaches the first Sunday. Rev. Seay, wife and children, Juanita, Charles, and Lula B., moved here in January, 1950, from Tahoka, having moved there from Delta, Colo., where he pastored for a year. He is presently employed with the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. The family lives at 115 North "A" Street. Deacons at the church are T. W. Bingham and J. D. Parr. Miss Joyce Hobbs, of Ropesville, is clerk, recently replacing Mr. Pharr, who was clerk for past 10 years. (Staff Photo).

It Is So Easy To Write "Thank You!"

If your admonition, "now don't give me anything" was ignored, more than likely you've vowed to send prompt thank-you letters. And if you've been receiving notes of appreciation yourself, you know the pleasure that even a short letter brings with it. It's a pleasure to be remembered and passed on throughout the year—long after exuberant "thank-yous" have been duly said.

More and more these days, personal notes are rivaling the telephone for party invitations and thank-yous. Rightly so—it is much more correct and somehow a personal note carries more sincerity than a hasty phone call. And for as many occasions as a personal note is desirable, there's an appropriate paper for it. This year Eaton papers seem more attractive, more varied than ever before. If letter writing was ever thought of as a "duty chore", that feeling is completely banished by these beautiful papers.

As for the young members of the family—do pick papers designed especially for them. It is such a pleasant way to introduce them to the courtesy of letter writing, and it is so easy to write "thank you!"

Certified Seed Is Cheap Crop Insurance

College Station.—Certified seed may cost slightly more, but the added expense assures purity, higher germination and better yields at harvest. Seed of questionable purity and germination may not be cheap at any price, says L. C. Coffey, extension agronomist.

Coffey points out that seed labeled "certified" is the best seed available of a particular variety. Seed in this category comes from fields that have been inspected during the growing season, properly handled upon harvest, cleaned, tested for purity and germination and properly stored. All this, he adds, is insurance for the farmer.

The blue tags attached to each certified seed sack carry information of interest to the buyer. Issued by the State Department of Agriculture, the blue tags are placed only on seed that have met these high standards.

Farmers should purchase now the seed they will need for planting this year's crops, Coffey advises. Supplies generally are adequate, but last minute shoppers may find local supplies depleted and thus forced to plant whatever seed is available.

Coffey says if planting seed has not been chemically treated for seed-borne and seedling diseases, farmers by doing so will gain additional insurance against poor stands and plant losses during early plant growth. County agricultural agents can supply information on seed treating and can make local variety recommendations.

Building; Equipment Plans Are Readied

College Station.—Building plans for more than 400 farm structures and equipment are listed in the Texas Agricultural Extension Service's 1954 Catalog of Building and Equipment Plans and are available at no cost from county agricultural agents.

Compiled by W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, the catalog describes just about everything you would expect to find on the farm in fact . . . a nine-room home to a community poultry nest or even a crop trap.

The catalog serves as a complete and up-to-date farm building guide, Allen says. County agricultural agents have reference copies of the publication and will be glad to order the plan for your building requirement.

Plans listed are those most in demand, he says; but others for more specific jobs are available. In addition, new plans are constantly being developed.

If the plan for your job is not included, we will try to obtain the desired instruction of information for you, Allen concludes.

HOW "SAFE?"

Announcement is made that Bikini is now "safe" for human life once more. How about the rest of the earth?

BEHIND THE SCENES In American Business

by Reynolds Knight

New York.—One of the most important factors in such an economic readjustment as the one we are experiencing is the change in inventory levels. For the first time in a year inventories, seasonally adjusted, declined last October, and by some $400 million. In November there was another decline of $500 million. Later figures are not available, but the softness of prices in December and January indicate that the decline is not let over.

When business is booming, inventories build up, and some persons are employed in making goods which do not pass immediately to consumers. When business slackens, employment and production fall faster than consumption.

For this reason, a downward inventory curve, several months long, is one of the sometimes painful symptoms that must come and pass before a downturn can reverse itself. The inventory dip we are now in appears to be a fairly steep one. The steeper the descent the sooner the bottom is reached, in most cases. Remember 1920-21?

If this reasoning is sound, we are fast approaching the end of the lull. This year is unlikely to challenge 1953's place as the most prosperous in history for most Americans. But just about the time the walls about how badly things are going are loudest, we shall find ourselves on the upgrade again.

SAN ANGELO MAN FOR GENERAL TELEPHONE

Donald S. Holdridge, of San Angelo, Texas, has been named to the newly-created position of General Attorney for the General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Announcement of the appointment, which is to become effective Feb. 1, 1954, was made today by W. G. Wright, company president.

Holdridge, who has been in general law practice in San Angelo since his release from the Air Corps in 1945, is withdrawing from the firm of Sutton, Holdridge, and Sutton in order to assume his duties with the telephone company.

GULLEDGE INSTALLED CHAIRMAN OF AIME

M. C. Gullidge, a Brownfield engineer for Magnolia Petroleum Co., was installed as chairman of the South Plains section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, at the club's January meeting, held last week, at Lubbock.

J. A. Moore, Continental Oil Co., of Brownfield, was installed second vice chairman.

"Engineer versus Human Beings," a speech emphasizing management, was presented by C. E. Elwell, assistant to president of the Western Co., Midland.

Fifty-three persons attended the meeting. Approximately 15 oilmen from Brownfield attended the meeting.

In the old days if a father found his son on the wrong track, he provided switching facilities.
