PEOPLE THINGS

THE REV. ALLEN A. Peacock postcards family and friends that he is enjoying a very nspirational meeting of the world's Methodist leaders in Boston, Mass. Visiting bishops and pastors filled all the pulpits in the Boston area last Sunday. He xpects to be home this weekend

WE VISITED IN Boston once, but under considerably different business. It was during the war and we were flying for Uncle Sam's Navy. Our plane was endeavoring to take a load of patients to a hospital near New York City. We were to land at Floyd Bennett Field.

BUT THE FOG rolled in and he Navy sent us to Boston, the nearest airport open. We pulled n at 9 p.m. Looking over the weather, we figured that New York would be open by 4 a.m. So we contacted the good Red Cross ladies, and they sent out six women to serve soup to the Jacky Milner patients and comfort them until Paul Mosley.

AS IT HAPPENED the weath er broke, and we got out by midnight. But we'll never quite forget the Red Cross for this and other incidents that occurred while flying patients. .

ONCE IN THE good town of Manila. P. I., we started flying south to Samar, P. I. And a pleasant looking civilian sent word forward that he'd like to visit the pilot's compartment. Sure we said. And he flew co-pilot for an hour. He was a fascinating talker. Landing at Samar, we started out of the transport. A group of attractive Red Cross girls was there to greet him.

"YOU'D THINK a big shot was aboard from the turnout of Red Cross girls," we told him. Then he introduced himself. He was Mr. Basil O'Connor, national president of the American Cross Engineer Day

Fire Engine Owner

NAPA, Cal. (U.R)-David Hotelling, 10, believes he may be the youngest owner in the United States of a genuine fire engine.

He submitted the only bid when the Napa city council offered to sell two pieces of antiquated fire equipment - a 1926 model rescue car and a 1914 pumper. David bid $25 for the resuce car. The council delayed briefly to check legality of the transaction, then awarded him the vehicle. David's father drove the fire truck home for him. Fire Chief Vernon Van Sant added an old fire hat.

David earned the $25 selling Christmas cards and doing odd jobs in the neighborhood. He's too young to drive, but still thinks he got the biggest bargain on earth. He sits in the truck and plays he's a fireman.

HOME NEEDED

TULSA, OKLA. (UP)-A Gold Star mother and her five small hildren will have a home of heir own this summer if an American War Dads campaign succeeds. At present the family is living in a 10 by 10 foot room. Local War Dads hope to collect $1,500 to buy a home for them.

IT'S A GIRL CHICAGO (UP) -Brookfield Zoo officials can name a new bay hippopotamus now and look orward to an extra $1,000 because of it. The animal was born March 25, but its sex wasn't determined until it left the warm water tank this month. It's a girl. Female hippopotami sell for four thousand, zoo keepers said, while males bring three thousand.
