Don't Hold Your Breath.

You still hear people talking about buying something or other "when prices go back to normal."

Anyone has a perfect right to defer his purchasing in hope of a price millenium. But, judging by the evidence, he's going to have a long wait indeed

The inflationary pressures are as strong asever. The usual upward in any direction. The cost of the European Aid Program and the wage adjustments are taking place. The national income is still at or near its peak. The government is showing little disposition to economize preparedness program will turn moe dollas loose, and lead to more competition for scarce goods. Nothing, in fact, indicates the probability of important price drops for any kind of commodity in general

The work of retailers, chain and independent, in aggressively fighting inflation, is a measure of the diffculties encountered. Stores have volutarily cut their profit margins, discouraged consumers from buying high priced wares, worked with manufacturs to improve qualities and lower prices, reduced their overhead to the last nickel and so on. This has helped enormously to retard increases - but it hasn't caused a swing back to the 1941 price level. There is a definite point past which retailers or any other group can't go and stay in business They have to make both ends meet like the rest of us.

We all hope for lower prices. But don't hold your breath while

The Low Down From Hickory Grove.

I have just been reading where a little factory-40 employees-in California, has pulled up stakes and headed for Texas. Too much bossism from the Labor Temple, the man said. It is only 40 workers moving out, but the folks there can take heed. The next outfit to move might take 800 people. They have a good man there in sunny Cal., who is doing his level best to change things so that a person is free to work where, at what, and when he chooses - and for how much. They should listen there, more attentive, to this gentleman

We shall not name him but he is fighting for freedom for the masse. and for those who want to work without interference from bosses is industries are looking far a place where there is less labor turmoil and where people who want a job can work on a stable

Great Jersey Bull Is Dead

SANDIA, TEXAS—Leaving some 750 sons and daughters to continue improving the production and type of dairy cattle in America, Masterman Golden Jolly, one of the world's outstanding sires, is dead. Old "Masterman." in service many years at Knolle Jersey Farms, Sandia, Texas—the World's Largest Jersey Herd—was classified as Very Good in type conformation and was rated by the American Jersey Cattle Club as a Silver and Gold Medal Senior Superior Sire because of the outstanding production and type demonstrated by his daughters.

With the prospect of soon being credited with more officially tested daughters than any Jersey bull in history, he now has ninety-three daughters officially tested for production, each having an average lactation record of 8,132 pounds of milk consisting of 5.83 per cent butterfat. When converted to a 305 day twice daily milking mature basis, each daughter produced an average of 474 pounds butterfat lactation. He already holds the record for the greatest number of daughters of one bull to have been officially classified for type by the American Jersey Cattle Club, with a total of 304 classified daughters averaging a score of 84.97 per cent, at the very top of the 'Good Plus' bracket.

Setting a goal towards which America's dairy farmers should nishing music for the concert Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Lawson their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Anderson

Setting a goal towards which America's dairy farmers should strive, "Masterman's" owners have done much in leading the way to an increase in the world's food supply and lowering costs to the consumer, simply through breeding better dairy cattle. "Masterman's" many daughters have produced nearly two and one-half times the average yearly production of all dairy cattle in the U. S.
