The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

COMES A NOTE: Dear GP: Heartfelt that the Republicans are having their annual convention in Philadelphia, Pa. This, of course, won't mean much to Democratic Texas, but don't you think our state ought to have a two-party system?

WHILE WE REALIZE that Mr. HTR is just trying to get us involved in an argument, we do not hesitate to say that we believe our state would probably do well with a two-party system. In fact, a lot of people will agree that politics would be bigger and better if we had just about as many Republicans in Texas as we have Democrats. Not quite as many, but just about as many.

AND WHILE THESE people are agreeing with you that we ought to have more Republicans, they don't want to be Republicans themselves. And very few people in Texas are interested in changing over. So it appears that Texas will never have very many Republicans on account of nobody in Texas wants to be one.

WE HAD SOME fun once by taking a picture of the county Republican chairman over in an East Texas county and sending it in to the papers as a "group picture of the county Republican convention." You have probably gathered, Mr. HTR, that we're a voting member of the Democratic Party.

ACCORDING TO one of our scouts, the boys out in the new Oakhurst Addition are pretty proud of the way things are moving along. This particular scout tells us that Mr. Cy Waters, one of the contractors, stopped a fellow who was driving through and suggested that he had ought to take off his hat when he drives past Oakhurst.

TO QUIT KIDDING, the boys have every right to be proud. It seems like a new house is finished every time we go passed. We were roaming around out there the other day after the day's work was done and Mr. Warren Waters was checking up on things. And he indicated that the corporation is thinking of having an open house to let people see inside the pretty houses. Good idea.

WE SUGGESTED the other day that our new show window is going to be available to display Cisco products. BACK IN THE SADDLE Magazine, which has just issued the July number, is the first applicant. So we're going to turn it over to them.

READING THE magazine, which is printed by The Daily Press, we note that they're having a circulation contest. And the first prize is a Palomino saddle horse. If somebody in these parts wants to win a saddle horse all they gotta do is get busy and sell the most subscriptions. And it shouldn't be too difficult to sell the magazines here, on account of we all ought to be proud to have a national magazine edited, printed and mailed from Cisco.

City Council Discusses Plans For Leasing Building Sites Along North Shore of Lake; Dump Truck Bought

The need for privately owned cottages along the north shore of Lake Cisco and plans whereby they may be erected was discussed by city officials at the regular City Council meeting Tuesday night.

The plans were given tentative approval and placed in the hands of the City Attorney for study. The plans call for the leasing of building sites along the north shore to prospective builders for a long period of time with an option to extend the lease for a longer period.

When the land needed for the completion of the lake was obtained, the city acquired a 100 foot strip completely around the lake — above the high water level. In addition, a 60 foot strip was acquired for the purpose of building a road around the shore line. There is a possibility that the road bed can be reduced to 30 feet and the building sites will extend to a depth of 130 feet.

The State Health Department was contacted and strict sanitation requirements will be enforced.

The commission approved the purchase of a dump truck for the street department and delivery will be made soon. Plans were made for an extensive street graveling project which will get under way as soon as the truck is delivered.

150 Attend Cisco Church Meeting Monday Night

The Methodist Youth Fellowship held their monthly district conference at the Cisco Wesley Methodist Church Monday night with more than 150 members and teachers from Eastland, Brown, Callahan, Stephens, Comanche and Shackelford counties in attendance.

President Kenneth Boatman of Cisco called the meeting to order, with Rev. John Ticknor of Burkett giving the blessings. In the business part of the program, Rev. C. D. Wooten, Rev. Chief Warden and Rev. Cecil Ellis made announcements concerning those who are to attend the church's summer camp at Glen Rose this summer.

Wesley Methodist Church won the district MYF banner for the third time since its inaugural last year. The First Methodist group of Cisco followed closely behind the banner contenders.

Rev. Warden announced that Kenneth Boatman will assume the duties as minister of the Methodist churches in Eolian and Gunsight. It will be his first year in the ministry.

Rev. Oran Stephens, superintendent of the Cisco District, introduced the new pastors recently transferred to this district by the Methodist Conference held recently. They are as follows: Rev. Cecil Ellis to Ranger from Olney; Rev. Claude Jones to Cisco from Ranger; Rev. J. M. Bond to Eastland from Riverside Methodist church, Ft. Worth, and Rev. A. W. Franklin to Dublin from Cleburne.

Rev. Warden introduced the guest speaker, Miss Chin Hi Lee of Changju, Korea, who is now attending Harris Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth, taking a pre-nursing course. Under the standards of the Japanese Medical Society, she is a graduate nurse.

Miss Lee said that Korea has much for which to thank the United States, since the American churches have contributed much to the average Korean's environment and society standings. Korea has much the same kind of vegetables and fruits as the United States has. She says this attributed to American missionaries bringing the seeds and plants to Korea from America.

She is eager to return to her native land, although she must remain in the U. S. for some time to finish her pre-nursing course. In the length of time the American and British missionaries have been in Korea, most of the Korean population has been converted into Christianity, she stated. Her father is a teacher in the American school at Changju. She likes the American people and says it is because of their friendly and sincere attitudes towards her and her country. At the end of her interesting as well as informative talk, she sang two Korean love songs in her native tongue.

Dublin will be the next meeting site of the youth conference, it was decided. President Kenneth Boatman adjourned the meeting until July.

Tapping Texas Gas For Another Purpose.

For some time it has been reported that a portion of the gas now being piped from Texas to the North and East is being used to repressure depleted fields in the Appalachian area. Now there are plans for going into this project on a grand scale.

Commenting on a proposed new high pressure line from Texas to New York, which is to be built at a cost of $140,000,000 and a heavy draft on the nation's scant steel supply, the New York Times says:

The Appalachian and Midcontinent fields must be integrated for economic and military reasons. . . . This means that the depleted areas of the Appalachian field must become storage reservoirs for gas piped from the Midcontinent field. The Federal Power commission is clearly right in insisting on the provision of storage at a time when national security is uppermost in the country's mind.

What a grindstone turner for everybody's argument is poor old "national security!" In this instance the New York Times is positive that "national security" will be served by wasting some of our precious national gas supply in the process of long-distance, high-pressure transportation and repressuring in the ground, and by burning the remainder of it as rapidly as possible. In other words, national security will be served by exhausting our natural gas supply in, let's say fifteen years instead of thirty.

The Times reassures the coal miners and coal mine owners who have protested against the building of the big pipelines to the East. The gas supply will be so limited in comparison with the total demand that there will be great continued coal consumption, the Times argues. It is dead right here, at least. Since the nation's gas supply is equivalent to only about one half of one per cent of its coal supply, the coal industry need not worry greatly. In fact, it might be figured that the Times is dead right all the way through its argument—strictly from the New York viewpoint.—Dallas News.

Pestered Cow Operates Her Own Fly Swatter

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—Albert C. Blevins, gentleman farmer, got out his adding machine, figured out how much it costs for Mabel, his cow, to switch the flies off her back and then invented himself an invention. As a result, Mabel practically is free from flies. She operates a mechanized cow swatter.

Blevins' invention consists of a pad, saturated with an insecticide, which he glues on each flank of the cow. As she switches her tail, it lands on the pad, picking up the insecticide. The next round of the tail puts the pest into a nose dive.

Many Plants Need Help To Keep Them Upright

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

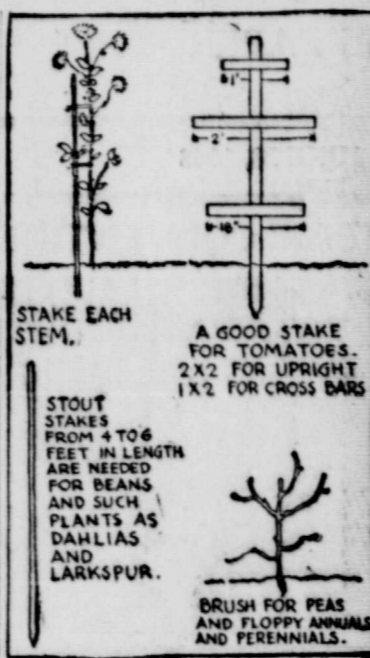

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open.

Cladiolus with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and iris of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted or in natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable.

Heavy wire stakes are least obtrusive of all especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and held upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until just at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and be of untidy habit, twiggy branches carefully applied make the best supports. The tall snapdragons need staking. It pinched back and tied the tall types throw out branches and become pyramids of bloom. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained.

FRANCE THIES RITES HELD MONDAY EVENING. Miss Verna Prange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Prange, became the bride of Mr. Fred Thies, son of Rev. and Mrs. S. Thies of Newkirk, Oklahoma in a double ring ceremony held Monday evening at Grace Lutheran church of Cisco. Mr. Fred Baumgardner played the prelude, "Oh, Bless the House" after which Miss Lorna Steyer of Dallas, cousin of the bride, sang "Oh, Perfect Love," as a prayer to the Triune God, asking His blessing upon the couple. The organist then played "The Lord Is My Shepard" and "Largo," while the bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. Danelda Wende, niece of the bride, stowed rose petals in the bride's path. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Norma Prange. The bride-groom's attendant was his brother, Zeke Thies. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Thies father of the groom as the couple stood before the altar decorated with white shasta daisies, gladioluses, lilies and fern. The text chosen by the couple was "For this God is our God forever and ever; He will be our guide, even unto death" - Psalm 48:14, upon which the pastor based his message. The bride wore a beautiful dress of silk-satin designed with fitted bodice, yoke of marquisette and long pointed sleeves; her jewelry was a strand of genuine pearls. She wore a finger tip veil and carried a bouquet of white gladioli and babies' breath on a white Bible. Out-of-town guests were: Rev. and Mrs. S. Thies and sons, Zeke and Walter of Newkirk, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thies and children, Bobby, Diana and Nancy of Mercedes, Tex.; Miss Lorna Steyer of Dallas; Miss Esther Prange of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Spurling of Japan. When the bridal couple left on their wedding trip the bride was wearing a dress of navy crepe with white accessories and a white gladioli corsage. They will make their home in Corpus Christi.

A "PEACE PLATE" FOR TODAY

Save Wheat! Save Meat! Save the Peace!

Chipped beef is so flavorsome that just a bit of it makes a whole casserole savory.

And there you have economy. We'll cut costs with just an eighth of a pound of chipped beef in a creamy casserole dish that's already hearty with cheese and potatoes.

And so—even if chipped beef does cost more a pound than porterhouse steak—we have a dish for the family with a limited budget.

CHIPPED BEEF CASSEROLE

1/2 lb. dried beef
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups flour
2 cups milk
1 cup sharp cheese (1/2 lb.)
2 1/2 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon salt

Brown the shredded beef lightly in 2 tablespoons melted fat. Blend in the flour and add the milk gradually, stir constantly until the mixture thickens. Add the cheese, cut in small pieces, and stir until it melts.

Arrange the potatoes and sauce in layers in a greased casserole. Toss the bread crumbs in 1 tablespoon fat and sprinkle over top of mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F) for 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Leafy green vegetables and yellow ones—so important for good diets—are represented in our tangy tossed salad and glazed carrots.

FOOD TIPS: There's a great deal you can learn by reading canned fruit labels. For modern labels contain much useful information.

They'll tell you "how much." And that's important. One can of peaches might be 30 cents and another 25, and you ought to know whether the cheaper can has as much in it as the higher priced.

Of course, quality may account for the price difference. Many fruit cans nowadays are indicating the U. S. Grade—A, B, or C—though they don't have to be so labeled.

You can save by buying Grade C peaches instead of Grade A for the peach tarts. Grade C's are not as uniform in size and as free from blemishes—but they're packed with just as much care for sanitation.

Speaking of Oil Booms—

... the increased lease activity in Eastland County has been a real break for several types of business. If it does, then everybody else is busy, too, sufficient help is not available and away goes our reputation for prompt service. So for the time being please file your orders a little ahead of anticipated needs.
