The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

IF YOU THINK you can raise tomatoes, we suggest you drop by Mr. Connie Davis' house and look over his products.

AND THE PEACHES are ripe out at Mr. J. E. Spencer's place. He's placing them on sale tomorrow.

SOME OF YOU gardeners ought to give Mr. Austin Flint some advice. He's farming a plot some 200 feet square and he's on the fence as to whether or not he should plant some dry weather beans for fall consumption.

ONE OF THE most interesting things you can watch are the humming birds that visit the flower gardens hereabouts.

IT'S JUST ABOUT watermelon season hereabouts. Melons have been on sale for some time, but they weren't grown locally.

AND ANOTHER MAN we knew turned his farm into a cantaloupe seed factory. He planted 50 acres of cantaloupes and harvested the seed.

WE ONCE KNEW an editor who conducted a contest in the fall to see who had grown the biggest sweet potato.

WONDER IF THAT sort of thing would work in our new show window?

First 100 Rejects Are the Hardest

AUSTIN, Texas, June 29.—The first 100 rejection slips are the hardest!

That's the advice to young writers offered by a University of Texas graduate student who wrote his Master's thesis in Journalism on "A Survey of the Free Lance Market."

Delbert McGuire, who is now doing journalistic work in Fort Worth, contacted 102 editors with a questionnaire about the amount and type of free-lance material used, and concluded: The small amount of material used places with each other for space in the nation's leading magazines.

Despite that competition and the number of rejection slips the new writer may receive, he shouldn't be discouraged. The writer has to serve an apprenticeship in the same manner as a beginner in any other profession, McGuire says.

Street Markers Are Being Put Up By City Workers

Mayor Edward Lee announced today that city employees were erecting the new street markers which are to be placed at intersections within the city.

The first marker is being placed on the Luguna Hotel corner at Avenue D and Fourth St. Workmen plan to erect the markers on Avenue D first and then work the residential section.

The marking of the streets was made possible by the cooperation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and city officials. The Jaycees and senior group raised the funds necessary for the purchase of the markers and the city agreed to furnish the labor and materials needed to erect the signs.

The markers have been here for several weeks but erection was delayed because of a shortage of the steel for the posts.

A house numbering campaign is to be launched so that citizens of the city can realize the maximum benefit from the markers. Each house should be properly numbered, with the number in a prominent place. This will enable strangers to locate the house they are seeking, and will speed up all types of delivery service.

Athlete's Foot Affects Half Of Adults In Nation

AUSTIN, June 27. — "Few, if any, people have escaped the inconvenience and the annoyance of athlete's foot. It is said to be the third most common skin disease of the summer, and, contrary to popular opinion, the fifth most prevalent disorder in the winter."

So says Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, in a recent press release. Dr. Cox explains that athlete's foot is due to a small, mold-like growth or fungus which thrives on moist, warm parts of the body such as the feet.

"The infection of athlete's foot is usually gotten directly or indirectly from someone else," Dr. Cox says, cautioning that the most likely places to contract the infection are around bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where people go barefoot.

"It is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

In suggesting some effective measures to be taken to prevent initial cases and avoid recurrent attacks of the disease, Dr. Cox emphasized drying carefully between the toes; use of a mild alcoholic solution on these areas after drying; liberal applications of talcum powder in the socks and the shoes; and wearing socks that are absorbent but not coarse.

"Ill fitting shoes are often the source of athlete's foot," Dr. Cox warns. "Shoes that rub and chafe should be corrected or discarded."

Ship Scuttling Revives Memory

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Scuttling of the battleship Pennsylvania in the post-war cleanup brought back a fond memory for Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, former diplomat and secretary of war.

Hurley said he was piped aboard the battleship early in 1919 on an "important mission." It was to ask Adm. Henry B. Wilson, then commander of the Atlantic fleet, for his daughter's hand in marriage.

The answer was "yes" and today the admiral's daughter is Mrs. Hurley.

Judge Patterson Withdraws From District Contest

B. W. Patterson of Eastland has announced his withdrawal as a candidate for Judge of the 91st District Court. He had previously announced for the office subject to action of the July 24 primary election.

In connection with his withdrawal from the race, Judge Patterson issued the following statement:

"Having announced my withdrawal from the race for district judge, I feel an explanation for my doing so is due the people of this county.

"Before becoming a candidate for this office I had a thorough check-up by a Ft. Worth Clinic to ascertain if my age and physical condition was such that I could make this race without jeopardizing my health. The report from this Clinic to my local physician recites, among other findings, '... Physical examination reveals a well developed, well nourished, exceptionally well preserved man of stated age in no acute distress. ... I endorse the judge continuing in active practice and entering the race for judgeship if there is no active campaign involved. ...'

"Anticipating that the campaign would not be a strenuous one, I announced my candidacy. An unusually diligent campaign for this office has since developed and it is now apparent that the chances of my being nominated will depend largely upon my engaging in an active and persistent campaign for the next 30 or 60 days. To do this, according to the advice of my physicians, my present good health would be jeopardized and it might be seriously and permanently impaired. I regard the hazard to my health too great for me to follow through on these conditions; hence my withdrawal.

"The voluntary and gracious manifestations of their loyalty to me and their support of my candidacy for this office by so many of my friends will ever be among the most pleasant memories of my life. For this, as well as for the several political honors accorded me by the people of Eastland County in the past, I am indeed grateful."

LITTER WORTH MONEY.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Kandy Leah, a great dane, set a record when her first litter was born by Caesarian section. The litter, believed to be the third largest ever to be registered with the American Kennel Club, was 16 puppies and is valued at $2,400, or $150 a puppy.

MISSISSIPPI LIME DISCOVERY START ACTIVE PROGRAM

Completion of the Lone Star Production Company's No. 1 C. J. Kleiner a mile northeast of Cisco has resulted in plans for the drilling of over a dozen Mississippi wells in that sector, The Daily Press learned today.

Permits have been granted for the drilling of at least five wells in the immediate vicinity of the Kleiner producer. Lone Star has made location for two-wells on their adjoining Kincaid lease, just south of the Kleiner land. W. G. Skelley was reported to be moving in to drill on the Thomas lease, just northwest of the Kleiner, and Hickok Oil Co. is drilling an offset to the west.

Mississippi Lime Discovery Start Active Program

Completion of the Lone Star Production Company's No. 1 C. J. Kleiner a mile northeast of Cisco has resulted in plans for the drilling of over a dozen Mississippi wells in that sector, The Daily Press learned today.

Permits have been granted for the drilling of at least five wells in the immediate vicinity of the Kleiner producer. Lone Star has made location for two-wells on their adjoining Kincaid lease, just south of the Kleiner land. W. G. Skelley was reported to be moving in to drill on the Thomas lease, just northwest of the Kleiner, and Hickok Oil Co. is drilling an offset to the west.

The Kleiner well's importance was reflected in the report that 340 feet of Mississippi lime was cored. It was perforated at 4,000-4,014 feet with 84 holes and flowed under 860 pounds of pressure with no water.

The fact that the pay horizon is 340 feet thick has led to the prediction that the Kleiner well will flow for many years. Perforations were at the bottom of the sand. It was learned unofficially that, in addition to the five locations that have been staked, applications have been made for probably ten others.

New VA Program Aids Ill Vets

The Veterans Administration has inaugurated a comprehensive follow-up program designed to enhance and prolong the effects of hospital treatment among the thousands of veterans suffering from tuberculosis.

More than 13,000 veterans suffering from tuberculosis now are under the care of VA. A total of 80,763 veterans are receiving compensation or pensions for tuberculosis.

Cooperating in the program are all of VA's 126 hospitals and 70 regional offices. VA's follow-up program is designed to discover relapses among tuberculosis sufferers early so that further treatment may be instituted promptly.

It further is designed to help prevent advanced disease and thus contribute toward the safeguarding of others through the control of communicable tuberculosis.

Children Learn Health From White Rats

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Children in the third grade of an Ithaca elementary school are learning they have something in common with white rats. The right food every day makes them all plump, pleasant and healthy.

The children are discovering through observation the effects of proper food on the rats, says Fern Jacobs, their teacher.

"Right now, the white rats are the best teachers the children have. I doubt if they ever forget what those rats have taught them about the value of drinking milk and eating a well-rounded diet," she said.

Meeting Our Needs.

The Brookings Institution recently issued an exhaustive and objective survey, in which it piled up an imposing mass of evidence in opposition to compulsory government health insurance. That occasioned an editorial in the Christian Science Monitor, which said that this extension of power of government "would tend to freeze policies and retard medical progress. Politics probably could not be eliminated from medical service. Its equality would be impaired. Its cost would increase . . . The American system contains no fundamental defects. Its deficiencies can be met by better methods than governmental compulsion."

That is a swift summing up of a few of the main points against government insurance and socialized medicine. And all of the points can be easily substantiated by the experience of other countries. The doctor who gets along best in a politically-run medical system is the doctor who follows a cautious routine and shows a minimum of initiative. All doctors are beleaguered by people who come to them whether they need care or not, on the grounds that they might as well get what they've paid for, and as a result many who are really sick receive inadequate attention. And the cost to the taxpayers always becomes fantastic—a development which is causing a storm in New Zealand now.

The medical system in this country is not perfect. But its achievements in lengthening the span of life and raising the health level of the people have proven the importance of keeping politics out of plans evolved to broaden the responsibility for medical care.

Not So Simple

The Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress has prepared a report on some of the economic factors involved in minimum wage legislation. The report is of special interest at this time, as measures for increasing the minimum wage will be considered by Congress in the relatively near future.

The study opposes the use of data such as the Bureau of Labor Statistics' City Worker's Family Budget as an argument for higher minimums. Under the BLS budget, if a worker were supporting a family of four in one of the largest cities his minimum wage would be impossible of realization.

An increase in the minimum wage, the report continues, often institutes an upward adjustment of wages in general, sometimes throughout the entire wage structure of an industry. It thus contributes to higher prices and more inflation. Finally, the report says, "A statutory minimum wage cannot solve the problem of inadequate income for workers in the lowest-wage categories and for those among the unskilled who have large families to support."

The issue, therefore, is nowhere near as simple as it may appear on first glance. An unreasonably high minimum wage would unquestionably be a powerful spur to inflation. The only solution to the problem of the low-paid worker is for him to acquire the skills and to accept the responsibilities that will justify a better-paid job. The best-meant social legislation cannot change the fact that, in the long run, ability and productivity are the measure of anyone's earning power.

When Is a Ship a Boat? Great Lakes Men Unsure

CLEVELAND (AP) — A boat is a small water craft that can be hoisted aboard a ship, according to definition long accepted by seafaring men.

However, many sailors on the Great Lakes prefer to call their vessel a boat, and in so doing incur the wrath of those who still "go down to the sea in ships."

Captains of lakes vessels were mailed post-card questionnaires and of the 203 replies received 189 favored "ship," 11 said "boat" and three replied "steamer."

Although many skippers picked "ships" on the questionnaire, they refer to their vessels as boats. It would seem to boil down that it's

"ship" when you are formal, but on the lakes more often than not it's "boat" when informal.

STRANGER IN TOWN.

AUSTIN Tex. (AP) — When a tramp asked an Austin housewife for a glass of water, she handed him one out of the tap. Apparently it was the first time he had tasted chlorinated water. He denounced the housewife, even accusing her of putting something in the glass. She called police and the tramp went to jail.

Bowling Alley Closes For Work

White's Bowling Lanes will be closed until Friday, July 2, since several days are required to complete the sanding and re-surfacing of the alleys. According to Mr. White, this procedure is necessary each year if the alleys are eligible to be sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress. This sanction is necessary to make Cisco bowlers eligible to participate in all city, state, and national tournaments where previously they would have been banned.

Speaking of Oil Booms—

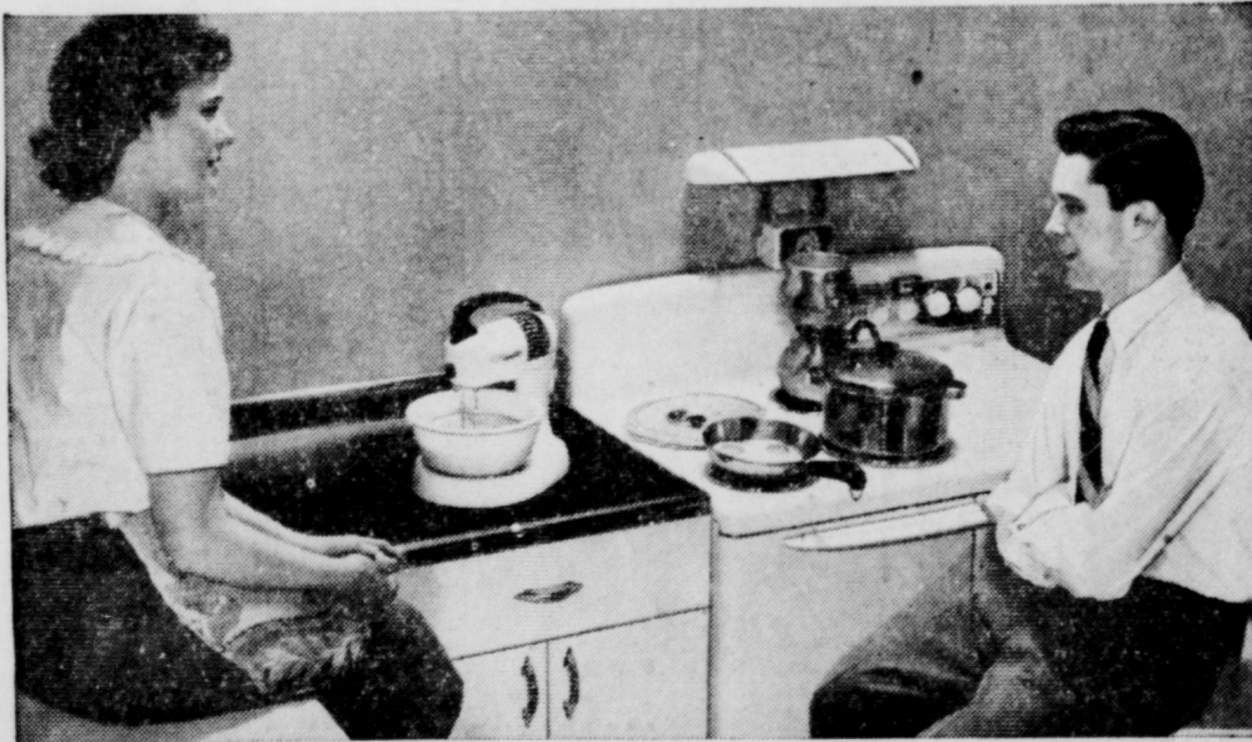

... the increased lease activity in Eastland County has been a real break for several types of business. Abstracters as a general rule struggle along for years on bare existence with heavy overhead expense until something on the present order comes along, if it does, then everybody else is busy, too, sufficient help is not available and every one's reputation for prompt service. So for the time being please file your orders a little ahead of anticipated needs.

Plant Gladiolus Bulbs Late for Fall Flowers

Gladiolus bulbs for late flowers can be planted up to July 1, since they flower in 80 days or less; some bulbs should always be planted late to provide flowers in the early autumn, when the best quality is produced.

There is no better flower to plant in the Freedom garden, or as a border to it. They grow straight as an arrow, having no leaves that droop over between the rows and interfere with cultivation. They will thrive in any soil that produces good vegetables.

When planting them in rows, place them six inches apart, three to five inches deep. Deep planting makes it less likely that staking will be necessary. Plant food is best applied in bands on either side of the row, as in the case of vegetables.

Because of danger from the gladiolus thrips it is necessary to dust or spray the plants weekly with DDT from the time they are six inches tall.

Late plantings should usually be made of large bulbs which give flowers soonest. Smaller bulbs of planting size produce normal flowers but take longer to do it. Except for the weekly spraying gladioli require no attention except that given vegetable crops. They should be watered the same way, by soaking the soil deeply when it becomes too dry.

The variety of colors among the gladioli is equalled by few flowers. The pink flowers are favorites, but in recent years white and yellow varieties have shown the greatest improvement, and have taken many prizes at gladiolus shows. The largest varieties produce spikes 70 inches tall, with florets 8 inches across, when grown in fertile soil and regularly watered.
