A YOUNG LADY came to se us the other day. She was ic hunting. So we interviewed her that she wasn't really hunting job, but was a college graduate who was writing a thesis on the art of job hunting

SHE THINKS THE first consideration a fellow ought to consider in job hunting is self-con fidence. If, she told us, you haven't confidence in yourself, how can you expect others to have confidence in you.

SEVERAL PRETTY good job had been offered her. She had a elaborate set of notes on fellow she had asked for a One fellow, she told us, wanted to take her to Mexico City to the summer. He had told her sh could look for a job there. L she turned him down.

JUST BEFORE THE war we Commerce. And when it was over, the secretary of the Texas 9 o'clock. Managers Association found out home. So he told every town that needed a C. of C. man. In the be announced later. weeks that followed, we had 1 offers of a job. It was flattering and we almost didn't go into th newspaper business.

THE YOUNG LADY who writing a thesis, we suspect, goes about her job of hunting a job with a little different attitude than she would if she really wanted a job. There's a difference when you have security and chips in your pocket.

THERE'S NOTHING like a few silver dollars jangling in a fellow's pocket to keep morale high

HOW LONG SHOULD A GOOD JUDGE SERVE THE PEOPLE?

On July 24th the voters of Eastlan! County will choose a judge to preside over the 91st District Court for the next four years. Only one issue has been raised by the opponent of Judge George L. Davenport in this con-

It is contended that after 28 years of distinguished service Judge Davenport should retire or seek promotion. In other words the voters are being asked to disqualify merit, to retire a public official solely because he has given 28 years of meritorious service to the district.

 Everyone familiar with the duties of a district judge realizes that experience is important - too important to risk the office to frequent changes. The voters of Texas have made a general practice of keeping able judges in office for as long as they ask.

A notable example of this fact is the record of the beloved Judge Truman H. Conner, now deceased, who served as judge of the 42nd District Court for twelve years and as then elected to the Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals, where he served thirty-four years, making a total service on the two courts of forty-six years. Judge Conner was one of the great jurists of the State. It is reasonable to presume that he did not believe thirty-four years on one bench was too long, but recognized that character and ability, long experience and training were of supreme importance.

THE SAME COST:

· Whether the voters elect a new judge every term or keep the same judge in office, the cost is the same - the same amount of money is paid in salaries and expenses of the court the concern of the voter should be to choose the judge best qualified by experience and knowledge - To get what he pays

• As the judge, so the court. To preside successfully over a trial court demands qualities rarely joined in one person and proved only in experience. It demands knowledge of the law and of human nature. It demands patience wisdom and courage of high degree. Judge Davenport's record, the distinction he has earned, and the respect he has gained for the 91st District Court prove these qualities in him.

• Numerous cases can be cited to illustrate his ability as a judge, some of them tried during times of great public excitement when it took a judge of great composure and fairness to conduct trials to judgments that were sustained upon appeal. INCLDENTALLY, THE JUDGMENTS OF HIS COURT HAVE BEEN SUSTAINED WITH ENVIABLE REGULARITY.

· As trial judge during the oil boom, when court dockets were congested with strange litigation arising out of oil and gas developent, Judge Davenport had an important part in shaping the body of State law affecting mineral rights and development. After the east Texas boom, he was called to try many cases of this nature in courts of that area, because of his knowledge of the subject and his record in deciding correctly so many difficult and original problems in this field of controversy.

AN IMPORTANT POINT NOW

• This is a particular qualification of Judge Davenport that ought to be considered seriously now that Eastland County faces the prospect of another oil boom. These booms are always followed by extensive litigation. It is certainly true that a judge with experience and knowledge in such a field can dispose of these cases more quickly, with less cost and with greater accuracy than can a judge of less experience.

• But, even so, more than efficiency is at stake in the choice of a judge to preside over a District Court — as important as efficiency is. The general character of justice is at stake. The District Court is the court which determines issues of personal and property rights. It is the only court in which the sentence of death can be passed.

· Tomorrow your own interests may be involved in litigation before such tribunal. Do you think that a fair and impartial judge, a judge of proven merit, should be disqualified to rule upon your rights merely because he has had twenty-eight years of experience on the bench?
