ANOTHER POLITICAL campaign draws to a close this week. And the worst part of it is that everybody can't win.

CISCO WILL CAST the biggest vote in Eastland county this year, according to the poll tax receipts. The tax collector's office shows that 1,780 persons bought poll taxes in Cisco, 1662 in Eastland, 1323 in Ranger, 557 in Rising Star, 618 in Gorman, 269 in Carbon and several other smaller boxes. The county has a total of 6,999—not counting those who get a free vote and those over the age required to pay poll taxes.

A VISITOR IN Cisco late Tuesday was Mr. Omar Burleson of Anson, congressman from this district. He told us that he's waiting to see if they're going to have a quorum before going to Washington for the special session. He added that he wouldn't miss a vote—would fly up if necessary.

SPEAKING OF flying, two local fellows got home by bus last night after flights. Mr. Roy Davis, the magazine publisher, flew from Fort Worth to Ohio to judge a horse show. And Pat Fee, one of our right hand men here at the Press office, flew up to Tulsa and back to Fort Worth. Fee and Davis came home together on the bus.

BOTH ARE NOW enthusiastic aviation men. We swore Pat in as aviation editor of the Press and starting very soon he'll have a weekly column about the flying business out at the Cisco airport. Another weekly feature due to start any day now will be a column of what's doing at the city lake. Mr. Elsworth Mayer will write same.

HOME AND READY for another year of hard work is Mr. Charlie Graham. He and family came in last night from Eureka Springs, Arkansas, where they enjoyed a vacation. Charlie said he didn't catch any fish, but shot par of a few holes of golf.

SUPT. ARLIN Bint of the schools was by to invite one and all out to the college tonight to what the boys are doing in their work. They're finishing up a unit, and if you're there at 8:30 Mr. Bint will show you around.

21 Training Units Assigned State

AUSTIN, July 21. — The Organized Reserve Corp. of Texas have been allocated 21 training units for immediate activation, Colonel Oscar B. Abbott, Senior Instructor for the Organized Reserves, announced here today.

A training unit is slightly different from the normal reserve units that have already been organized in that it is not scheduled for mobilization. It will however, afford an opportunity for approximately 4,000 reserve officers to be assigned to a unit for training. Prior to this time, these unassigned reserve officers have been temporarily assigned to an officers pool, or the so-called Composite Group. Many of these Composite Groups have organized units within themselves to facilitate training only.

The training units that will be activated in Texas are:

- 1—Armored - Cavalry Regiment Light.
- 1—Rocket Field Artillery Battalion.
- 2—Infantry Rifle Battalions (Separate.)
- 1—Signal Light Construction Battalion.
- 1—Engineer Construction Battalion.
- 6—Training Divisions.
- 2—Logistical Divisions Organic.
- 4—Post, Camps and Stations, Small.
- 3—Induction Stations.

Many of the above training units have already been earmarked for various areas which have formed units within their composite groups. For example, the logistical divisions have been earmarked for the Midland and Dallas Areas.

Colonel Abbott said that, with the allocation of these new training units and the additional allocation of regular reserve units that was announced 10 days ago, no Reserve Officer in Texas that desires some type of training and activity in the Organized Reserves will remain unassigned by next spring.

SLUM CLEARANCE FOUND DECLINING

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Slum clearance in the United States is virtually at a standstill, a planning official reports.

Walter Blucher, director of the American Society of Planning Officials, blamed the shortage of housing.

"Let us not kid ourselves about urban re-development," Blucher said. "We have legislation providing for slum clearance in 24 states but almost nothing has been done." Public housing, financed by cities, states and the federal government, must accompany any re-construction done by private enterprise, Blucher said.

"The hard fact is," Blucher said, "that many of the laws contemplate rebuilding of blighted areas and that there are no housing facilities available for those who will be displaced from the slums and blighted areas."

Construction Work on Community Building Slated to Begin August 1

Construction work on the Cisco Community Center building is slated to get under way on Aug. 1, it was announced today by school officials.

The building acquired by the school board from the War Assets Administration at the Del Rio Army Air Field has been dismantled and more than half the material has been moved to the building site east of the ABC softball field.

The remainder of the material will be delivered to the location in time to begin the construction work.

When the building is completed it will furnish Cisco with a first class gymnasium and auditorium. The building was made possible by the contribution of funds by local citizens and will be used as a community center, enabling Cisco to obtain entertainment that has gone to neighboring towns because of a lack of facilities here.

Officials reported that there are still some pledges that have not been paid but they feel that they will come in before construction begins.

Ranger Motorcade due Friday

The motorcade advertising the third annual Ranger Jaycee's Championship Rodeo will be in Cisco Friday from 8:30 to 8:50 a.m.

Absentee Voting is Over

An estimate of 175 to 200 votes were cast in absentee voting which closed at midnight July 20, according to County Clerk W. V. Love.

HIT AT 90 MILES AN HOUR, TWO IN TRUCK ESCAPE

KANKAKEE, Ill. (U.P.)—Two motorists were riding in a semi-trailer truck which was struck by a streamlined train traveling at 90 miles an hour—and lived to tell about it.

The lucky two, Theodore Martin and 14-year-old Rodney Smith, had started across a railroad crossing near here when they saw the Santa Fe Super Chief bearing down on them. It was too late to back up, too late to get across. The train smashed into the center of the trailer and started dragging the truck down the tracks.

Officials Report Big Increase in Enlistment As Vets Join Reserve

AUSTIN, Texas, July 21 — A recent figure released by the Office of the Senior Instructor for the Organized Reserves in Austin revealed that World War II veterans of Texas, who are exempt from the draft, are joining the Enlisted Reserve Corps in fairly large numbers. The flurry of enlistments appears to be due mostly to the recent passage of legislation which allows the Reservists non-disability retirement at the age of 60.

Enlistments in the Reserves previous to July have been between 25 and 35 per month, while the figures for the first 14 days of July indicate that 74 men enlisted, and of this figure 65 were veterans that are exempt from the draft. The remaining 9 en-

Soil Scientist Going to Japan

COLLEGE STATION, July 21.—Edward H. Templin, soil scientist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been given leave for one year to supervise soil survey field parties from headquarters in Tokyo, Japan.

Templin will be with the Military Geology Section of the U. S. Geological Survey which is in charge of all soil survey phases of the Pacific geology mapping program. The program is being conducted in cooperation with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Early Development Of Property Seen; Hickok Gets Show

Additional oil development for the Cisco area was indicated today with the announcement that the Cisco Independent School District has leased some 96.7 acres just north of the city limits to David B. Trammell and E. J. McCurdy, Jr., of Fort Worth.

Although the lease had no drilling clause, it was announced that the operators expect to develop the property as rapidly as possible and that location of one or more drilling sites will be made in the early future.

The 96.7-acre tract is bounded on the south by the Katy tracks, on the north by the Lake Road, on the west by the College Hill Road and on the east by the Lake Road. It takes in the Cisco Junior College property and public school property between the college and the city limits.

Property of private individuals in the area was not included in the lease, which was assembled by R. A. Bearman and Jim Flournoy of Cisco.

Hickok Tests Well

In the new Kleiner pool just north of town, Hickok Oil Co. was reported to have had a 2,000,000 cubic foot gas show in a drill stem test in the top of the Mississippi lime formation Tuesday afternoon. The hole was 3,950 feet early today and still drilling in the Mississippi. Another drill stem test was scheduled late today in the oil producing section, it was understood.

The Sam Killingsworth No. 1 George P. Fee, eastern outpost location in the Mississippi area, had a good gas show in the Lake formation Tuesday and lost their mud pressure in the porous Marble Falls or Bond section just under the Lake. Drilling will continue to the Mississippi, where oil men believe they will have a good well.

Lone Star Producing Co. expected to complete their No. 4 Kincaid in the Mississippi today. It was cemented and the casing was to be perforated this afternoon. The company expected the Kincaid to be a better well than their nearby Kleiner discovery.

Lone Star was rigging up today to begin drilling, possibly tonight, on their No. A-2 Kleiner, an offset to Hickok's Kleiner 3.

Third Great Transition

The growth of industry in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas, accelerated by World War II, makes use of the area's great agricultural and mineral production in an expansion which has continued since the war's end, according to The INDEX, published by The New York Trust Company.

This is the third great transition which has taken place in the area's colorful history. Largely agricultural and pastoral until around 1900, the region changed substantially with the discovery and development of its oil and other mineral riches. Its natural resources provide a broad foundation for the industrialization which was under way before the outbreak of World War II.

"Manufacturing employment," the study says, "in the four States increased 61.2 per cent between 1939 and 1945, whereas agricultural employment decreased by 10.9 per cent in the same period. Total income payments to individuals in the four States were 140.2 per cent greater in 1945 than in 1939 as compared with a 116.3 per cent gain for the entire United States.

"Construction in the region during 1947 is estimated at more than $600 million as compared with $564 million in 1946 and an annual average of $146 million in the five years 1935-1939.

"Measured by the number of employees, amount of investment and plant equipment, dollar payrolls, volume and value of production, manufacturing industry in Texas increased about twice as much in the three years 1942-1944 as in the century from the founding of the first industry in the State until the outbreak of World War II.

"In 1947, it is reported that 4,300 new corporations were organized in Texas and more than 1,800 new manufacturing plants were built. The total value of manufactured products in the State in 1946 was about $3 billion as compared with $1.5 billion in 1940."

The impetus given to the development of the industrial chemicals industry along the Texas Gulf Coast has continued, and in 1947 the investment in new or expanded facilities for the manufacture of industrial chemicals in this region is estimated at more than a half-billion dollars. More than three-fourths of the Nation's synthetic chemical production facilities are reported to be located in or scheduled for the Gulf area.

Although their industries have expanded tremendously in recent years, the article observes, the four States are still primarily producers of raw materials.

"They contribute," the survey continues, "more than three-fifths of the Nation's oil and natural gas and more than two-fifths of its cotton. The farms of the region produce immense quantities of wheat, corn, rice and other grains, along with citrus fruits, sugar, vegetables, and almost every other crop grown in the United States. Much of the Nation's meat comes from the plains and farms of the region.

"The area leads the Nation in petroleum production and its mineral wealth, wholly apart from oil and natural gas, is enormous. Nearly all the Nation's output of sulphur is produced in Texas and Louisiana.

"All present indications point to a continuance of the demand for the petroleum, cotton and other products which these States produce in such abundance. Industrial development, now being vigorously pursued, will contribute to the stability of the region's economy. Its tremendous resources, availability of power, its climate and other advantages augur well for the area's continued growth."

Stevenson Ready For Primary Vote

Coke Stevenson this week is ending his first primary campaign for the United States Senate on the same note he struck when he announced his candidacy on January 1.

The former Governor said, in announcing, that he would offer no political platform because of his belief that "political promises are not worth much of anything." He has campaigned in a light automobile, which does not even bear so much as a windshield sticker or a placard. He has made no stump speeches.

"I've made a great many talks before organizations which extended me an invitation," Stevenson said. "Besides the people I've adressed at such meetings, I estimate that I have talked personally with 250,000 Texas men and women since I announced for the Senate."

Stevenson has a theory that a candidate for office can learn more by listening to the people than by lecturing them or trying to tell them what they ought to think and do."

His campaign methods apparently have been effective. Three successive state-wide polls of public opinion have shown Stevenson far in the lead in the United States Senate race. He predicts that he will get a majority of the votes on Saturday and that no runoff will be necessary.
