NEW LONE STAR WELL SEEN AS ANOTHER 'BIG PRODUCER'

Lutheran Youths From Wide Area Attending Camp

About 70 Lutheran young people who belong to the Walther League, a national Lutheran youth organization, have registered for the third annual West Texas Walther League camp at the local Presbyterian encampment. Leaguers from all over Texas are present and are full of praise of the scenery and fine camp equipment.

He called attention to the fact expressed by the proverb "The apple does not fall far from the tree," that is, that the children are usually what the parents are.

He urged the young people to make up their mind now to be good examples to their future children. He furthermore stated that women are on the same level with men, and that the fathers have equal responsibility with the mothers to bring up their children in the nature and admonition of the Lord.

Friday and Saturday's program will be similar to Thursday's with a special stunt exhibition for Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Sunday's program will include a joint service at the camp chapel with Rev. A. F. Jesse as speaker.

On Sunday afternoon the West Texas Walther League Zone will have its rally and talent quest at the camp. The public was invited to attend all these meetings.

The Gay Philosopher

AN OLD SAYING is that an editor worth his salt finds something in the news columns every day which arouses his indignation. And were just about to become indignant over all the fuss about the political war front and the plans of the northerners to reorganize the South.

There will be no services Sunday at either of the Lutheran churches of Cisco, it was announced Friday. Both the Sunday school and the church services will be held at the Presbyterian encampment. The Sunday school, which includes Bible classes for the older groups, will begin at 10 and the church service at 11. Rev. A. F. Jesse of Austin will be the speaker.

Rig Moving in to Drill on Daniels Land in New Pool

Lone Star Producing Company's No. A-2 C. J. Kleiner was expected to be completed as a "big well" and turned into the tanks this afternoon, highlighting the day's activities in the new Cisco oil field.

The well was acidized with 2,000 gallons through perforations from 3,927 to 3,869 feet late Thursday. When it was opened, gas appeared immediately, followed shortly by oil in substantial quantity with heavy pressure.

The rig was being moved today to the firm's new location on the Daniels lease, an eastern outpost. The new Kleiner well was being hooked into a storage tank battery. It was expected to be turned into the tanks this afternoon for an official test.

According to reports, the H. W. Skelly No. 1 Thomas was expected to be completed soon "as a good well." Following acid treatment, some 2,000 feet of oil was recovered in the pipe. Part of a swabbing line was reported to have been lost in the hole, necessitating a fishing job.

Second Polio Case Reported, Now In Fort Worth Center

Cisco's second polio victim, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Coats who reside northwest of town, is reported to be resting well in the Tarrant County Polio Center today.

The boy was taken to the center in Fort Worth after his illness was diagnosed as polio by Dr. E. E. Addy. Dr. Addy's diagnosis was confirmed by Dr. Weir of the Tarrant County center.

The case is light and not expected to cause complications, it was reported. There is no evidence of muscular paralysis, but the muscles fail to function as they should.

The child has been under observation by the local physician since Saturday.

Cisco's first victim of the dread disease is responding to treatment in the Fort Worth Hospital, it was reported.

THE GENUINE ARTICLE This is not a fishing story. It's a story about a man who used Daily Press Want-ads. He needed a motor for his boat so he could tell his own fishing story. He ordered the ad for two days (cost: 75c) and cancelled after one day. The ad brought a dozen calls from people who wanted to sell motors.

Maybe you have something to sell. Maybe you want to buy something. The odds are pretty good that a Daily Press Want-ad would be a good investment.

Dangerous and Useless.

A return to price control and rationing of food would be both dangerous and useless, in the opinion of C. C. Precure, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers. "Reimposition of these controls," he went on, "would cause the worst gigantic black market of history to come into existence thus preventing orderly operation of our economy and removing supplies from the legitimate channels through which they should flow."

The public, which will ultimately decide the price control issue, need not take anyone's word for this. There can be no price control without wage control, and who wants that? All we have to do is to look back a short time to when the postwar version of OPA was in operation. The black market was one of the most flourishing — and most profitable — enterprises in the country. It catered to the relative few who could buy what they wanted with small regard for price. And the vast masses of people went without or took substitutes.

Even if it were possible to prevent the black market — something that even the police states of Europe have been unable to do — price control would defeat its own purpose. No one can raise food or manufacture goods if the law forces him to sell at a loss. No retail store can provide you with goods for less than they cost. Price control, consequently, is the surest known way to create scarcities.

Under free enterprise, we have intense competition. We have the finest production machine in the world. We have a system of retail distribution, made up of chains and independents, which is unequalled anywhere else. And we get our goods at the lowest price consistent with the cost of doing business today.

Too Much Demand.

The Christian Science Monitor recently ran an editorial on the oil problem, in which it said, "What is wrong certainly is not that oil output is lagging. The immediate problem is that demand is climbing faster than supply. For instance, oil space heaters in use have more than doubled since 1941. There are almost half again as many oil burners, more than half again as many tractors, and over four times the number of Diesel locomotives. Obviously, demand must be checked until supply can get well ahead again."

The Monitor then cited a spokesman for the oil industry who believes that coal and natural gas must take up any further increase in the heating load.

What this all amounts to is that oil can't be expected to heat the entire country. The industry hasn't left a stone unturned in its efforts to spur production. It has managed to bring output to a level well beyond what was generally believed to be possible. It has done a fine job in allocating the supply of oil between the different centers of demand. Yet, in spite of all this, our insatiable appetite for oil, plus increasing military demands, has made a continued "tight" situation unavoidable.

Great hopes are held out for development of offshore oil resources — but here the international scene poses special difficulties. The only intelligent course is for the nation to use other forms of fuel, which are abundant and efficient, at least until oil production can achieve a safe margin above demand.

Mechanical Cotton Harvest Machinery Shown in Lubbock

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—The oil industry will remain free from government domination and the strangling hands of bureaucratic planners only so long as the American people remain convinced that the present system of competitive enterprise serves them better than government regulations, control or outright government ownership, R. H. Cooley, president of The Atlantic Refining Co., declared here today.

Speaking before the National Oil Jobbers' Council, Mr. Cooley, who is chairman of the Oil Industry Information Committee's Finance Committee, stressed the importance of the oil industry's working as a harmonious group to present to the public the true picture and character of the industry, thereby gaining its confidence and favor.

"The over-all objective of oil's public relations effort is to preserve our industry as a competitive enterprise," he said. It is a program designed to benefit every segment of the industry, and the entire industry from the largest companies to the smallest jobbers should participate, he continued.

Referring to "remarks heard from time to time from Washington" to the effect that middlemen serve no useful purpose and should be eliminated, Mr. Cooley said these remarks came from men of little vision who "showed no knowledge of how the oil industry functions to serve the American people. They do not know the very important part jobbers play in our distribution system, and how competition among independent dealers has resulted in higher standards of service, quality products and reasonable prices."

Jobbers, because of their close contacts with the public, typify the oil industry to most consumers, Mr. Cooley told the conference, adding that the friendships they make not only help "to block the tricks of advocates of socialism and communism, but also pay off in better sales and better business."

"By doing our utmost to win public understanding and acceptance for our industry, we shall not only be assuring brighter futures for ourselves and our children —

Oil Industry is Ready to Fight

LUBBOCK, Texas, Aug. 13.—(Special) — Latest developments in mechanical cotton harvesting for all sections of the Cotton Belt will be revealed here October 15 during the Baltwide cotton mechanization conference sponsored by the National Cotton Council at the Lubbock Agricultural Experiment Substation.

Council officials today announced that Leonard Neighbors, chief engineer of the John Deere Spreader Works at Moline, Illinois, will describe progress in mechanical stripping of cotton, while R. C. Archer, vice-president of International Harvester Company, Chicago, will detail improvements and progress in mechanical cotton picking.

The two farm equipment industry authorities will report on their findings to top representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Cotton Belt land grant colleges, the cotton industry, and farm equipment manufacturers participating in the three-day meeting.

High Plains cotton farmers already have found that two-row mechanical strippers are capable of gathering a bale of cotton in little more than an hour. In other sections of the Southwest and the rain belt generally, the one-row mechanical picker has harvested a bale in about two hours. Both harvesters are capable of performing the tasks of forty to fifty human pickers.

The two speakers on cotton harvesting are expected to tell what is being done to improve the grade of mechanically gathered cotton. Loss of grade has been one of the farm's principal objections to mechanically harvested cotton.

Cooperating in sponsorship of the mechanized conference are the Lux, Executive Secretary and Mr. Horace Barnhart, member of the Board of Directors also local Sect'y of the Austin bureau, in behalf of L. Self's investment in the original Credit Bureau of Cisco.

The outcome was that the affiliation would be withheld from our competitors over a period of time until the attorney could contact the proponents here, suggest the purchase of the office and office of L. Self.

The plan was to have L. Self choose five secretaries over the State, out of which the above two men would choose three to appraise her files and offer then the attorney would make the suggestion of a purchase of the new set-up.

Being unable to arrive at definite fee for the work that might be involved and being in doubt as to a satisfactory appraisal, L. Self chose to rely on the integrity of the Cisco merchants, and the Laws of the Nation.

MEETING OF LUTHERAN YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY.

The young people of Grace Lutheran church met for their regular business meeting last Friday night. The meeting was opened with the singing of Beautiful Savior after which the group read Psalm 1 in unison.

The meeting was called to order by Miss Virginia Weiser and members responded to the roll call by the recitation of a Scripture passage. Minutes were read by Miss Elaine Ziehr, in the absence of Miss Millie Mae Newman, secretary. The treasurer's report was made by Miss Ann Zander. The Christian Growth Chairman, Elaine Ziehr, reported on a talent quest review which had been planned to prepare the leaguers for the talent program which will be held at the camp this Sunday. It was decided that the leaguers make a Sunday school and a Vacation Bible school canvass Sunday afternoon. After a lengthy discussion the society decided to adopt the proportionate way of contributing, that is, rather than paying a set fee each month. The members will give according as the Lord has prospered them.

Norma Prange had a report from the league's proxy delegate to the international Walther League convention at Portland, Oregon, Esther Prange of Van Nuys, California. Ruth Lanham, Dorothy Wooten and Kenneth Witt are on the entertainment committee for the month of August. Miss Virginia Weiser made a report about her stay at the Texas District Walther League camp at La Grange. The meeting was closed with the recitation of the 23rd psalm. Others present at the meeting besides those mentioned above were Ella Huber, Alfred Lenz and Rev. G. T. Naumann.

COUNCIL GROUP ONE WITH MRS. KIMMELL.

Group One of Women's Council of First Christian church met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Sam Kimmell for regular meeting. Mrs. W. R. Huestis presided and opened the meeting with prayer by Mrs. W. R. Winston.

Mrs. James Latimer brought an interesting devotion from the seventh chapter of the Book of Matthew discussing parts of Jesus' Sermon on the Mount. Mrs. W. J. Armstrong gave the missionary lesson and told of the mission work in Hawaii. Mrs. W. R. Winston brought an article from "Family Life" and closed by presenting Bill Overall who sang "Jesus Loves Me." Mrs. Huestis conducted the business session which followed and minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Sam Kimmell. Routine business was transacted after which the meeting was closed by the missionary benediction.
