Berlin and Lake Success.

Can the United Nations offer any solution to the impasse resulting from the blockade of the western-occupied zones of Berlin? While appealing this dispute of the Security Council might seem futile because of their privilege of veto, yet possibilities are offered in the the General Assembly where there is no veto and all member states are represented.

Article 14 of the United Nations Charter says: "Subject to the provisions of Article 12 (priority of the Security Council in matters of its agenda) the General Assembly may recommend measures for the peaceful adjustment of any situation, regardless of its origin, which it deems likely to impair the general welfare or friendly relations among nations, including situations resulting from a violation of the provisions of the present Charter setting forth the Purposes and Principles of the United Nations."

There are those who hold that the plight of 2,400,000 Berliners dependent for food and fuel on the huge though precarious "air-lik" by the western nations would come under the scope of this article. A recommendation voted by a two-thirds majority of the 58 nations that will meet in Paris next month would surely carry great weight and have the overwhelming support of world opinion.

However, action might be stymied by Article 107 which exempts the United Nations from interference with any action in relation to an enemy state of the Second World War, and Secretary General Trygve Lie is already on record with the opinion that "The United Nations was not designed to perform the functions of a peace conference."

Article 14 or Article 107 — whichever rules, the fate of Berlin and the ability of the United Nations to maintain peace, depend alike on the willingness of the great powers to honor the pledges they assumed under the United Nations Charter.

A Polio Serum?

A serum, made from the blood of a person who has recovered from polio, may be an effective means for treating the dread disease. Doctors are now experimenting with the serum which is injected into the spinal column of the polio victim.

Dr. Paul R. Cannon, pathologist, University of Chicago, reports that the value of the serum treatment is yet to be established, and must be considered experimental. Cannon admits that the actual cause of the spread of polio is uncertain, but advises certain precautions to prevent the occurrence of the disease.

According to Cannon, children should be kept scrupulously clean, and their diets should be watched carefully. Raw fruits and vegetables, which are overripe or unripe, or which have been exposed to flies or dirt, must not be eaten. Youngsters should not be given too much candy, ice cream, soda water, or ice water. Food should not be brought from merchants who do not keep their stores and markets in sanitary conditions. Flies, garbage, and sick animals should never be tolerated in the home, and it is also wise to keep children out of crowded places.

Wings Over Cisco

By PAT FEE

A slightly more expensive, but otherwise entirely satisfactory substitute for the air conditioner has been invented, or perhaps it would be more appropriate to say discovered. This new method, which may be a real threat to cooler companies, consist of flying ten thousand feet where it is frequently as cool as 54 degrees, or a few hours, just to keep from having a sunstroke. All credit should be given to the inventor, L. Ponsler, or co-inventor, Dr. L. Graham.

Frank Coats was out Sunday for little high flying.

Speaking of inventions, the strangest looking aircraft ever on the field was a J3 Cub, converted into a cotton duster. It was flown here last week by W. J. Worsham of Worsham Field, Tait, Texas.

Francis Urban, (Frosty) to his friends, who works for Lone Star, says that he is going to be transferred to some other part of the state. Sure will miss him around the airport.

"Convenience" must be the motto of R. D. McDaniel, who is drilling a well at Silver Valley. He flies down to the location in his Taylorcraft, lands right on the location, and then taxied up to the drilling rig.

Lee Williams of North Concho Airfield, San Angelo, was in for a short visit. Glad to have him drop in.

B. H. Gray flew to East Texas in his Stinson.

Mr. Fryer of Standard Fryer Drilling Co., was a visitor for a short while on Friday. Hank Schneider, his pilot, just recently married, was anxious to get back to Dallas and his bride.

B. F. (Toots) Thomas went on his dual cross-country flight. He plans to go on his solo cross-country Sunday. Good luck, Toots.

Lee Jennings will soon receive his private license. The students are working the instructors overtime these days.

Jimmie Hogan, working for Fish Engineering Co., was in for a short visit and refueling last week.

Mr. Lewis of Arlington, flying a Stearman, stopped in for a while to let his passenger put his feet on the ground the other day.

Johnston Testers, flying a Gull winged Stinson, brought supplies in from Houston, last week.

O. R. Lamson flew in to Fort Worth Friday in B. H. Gray's Stinson to bring Mrs. Chas. Kleiner to Cisco where she was called because of the death of her mother. Mrs. J. B. Elder.

Big Motor Plant To Be Sold by WAA

The former Continental Motors plant at Garland to be sold at auction August 20 is the same distance from Dallas and similar in construction to the one Chance Vought Aircraft has chosen in its move from the east.

That is what Joseph P. Day Co., New York City auctioneering firm which will conduct the public sale for the War Assets Administration next Friday, is telling industrialists by means of a sales brochure being distributed through the east. Both the North American plant, new Chance Vought site, and the Garland factory were built according to government specifications beginning in 1942, using the same permanent type insulation, roofing and siding. Frequent inquiries concerning the auction indicate that a number of Texas as well as outstate firms will be represented in the bidding for the plant, according to WAA's regional office at Grand Prairie. Following the recent sale of the Todd-Houston Shipyard facilities in Houston, the Garland installation is the choicest government owned industrial property available for "complete package" disposal in the five state southwest region, said Col. Karl E. Wallace,

When he isn't playing the part of Red Ryder's pal on the screen, Little Beaver is a boy named Bobby Blake. He has been in the movies a good many years, and has been a star for the past three years.

With Little Beaver, the Palace will offer one of his latest pictures, "Phantom of the Plains." Wild Bill Elliott and Little Beaver are the stars.

WAA regional director. Sale of the 107-acre plant will not be subject to a national security clause under which the government could recapture the property. Bidding will be by oral auction, with the high bidder getting title to the plant subject to WAA approval within five days following the sale. Simplified sale terms specify that a minimum of 20 per cent of the purchase offer be paid in cash.

*You are asking the oil industry for more oil
than ever before...*

Mr. and Mrs. Average American and family are using twice as much oil this year as they used in 1934. This increased need for oil has not caused the pinch in the oil country that it has up North, for we are close to the source of supply—of natural gas for heating our homes and gasoline for our cars. But in the North and East, the increased demand caused some homes to be chilly last winter, and sometimes a service station had to send a customer to another station in the next block.

But the fact is, the oil industry is delivering more oil than ever before in history. And every person in the industry—from the scientist who leads the search for oil to the tank-wagon driver who delivers finished products—is doing his part in this efficient effort to supply you.

That's why so much oil is now available. And the oil industry is exerting itself to the utmost to make more oil available to you. You can help this effort by making your personal demands for petroleum products reasonable, by cooperating with programs designed to conserve oil products for the uses to which they are best adapted, by the exercise of patience as the oil industry acts to meet the need.

Makers and Marketers of

THE INDUSTRY IS EXPANDING ITS REFINING CAPACITY to meet your demand for finished petroleum products, and to increase the output of existing facilities. In 1947, Humble refineries increased their output by 12%. This picture shows the control panel at one of Baytown refinery's two catalytic cracking units; these units enable the refinery to get more finished products from each barrel of crude oil.

TYPICAL OF THE MORE EFFICIENT METHODS by which the oil industry is distributing products to you are the products pipe lines which have been recently completed or are now under construction. Products from the pipe lines are distributed by large transport trucks. This transport truck has delivered Esso Extra gasoline in Houston from the Humble Company's products pipe line terminal on U. S. Highway 75 north of the city.

THE MAN WHO PAYS

The man who pays thinks in advance. He never flashes a roll; he does not drive a car and carry a load of debts at the same time; he does not hold up the grocer or butcher for food he cannot afford to eat; he never lights the fire without knowing the gas man has been paid. He never throws the bull, nor pitches the bluff, nor writes checks dated tomorrow, but when the bill comes in he is there with the coin of the realm. God Bless Him!

The man who pays is the bulwark of society. He is the balance wheel of civilization. He is the main-spring of commerce. Business blesses him, and he has honor among men for all time.

Promotion Policy Is Announced for Reserve Officers

Colonel Oscar B. Abbott, senior instructor of the Organized Reserve Corps in Texas, today announced a new long-range promotion plan for officers in the Organized Reserve Corps.

Assignment of Reserve officers to these three groups is based upon the individual's professional, physical and other qualifications.

The Department of the Army pointed out that beginning January 1, 1948, a Reserve officer must obtain in each calendar year thirty hours of credit in order to remain in the Active Reserve.

tion position and credits toward retirement

In December, 1947, the procedure whereby a Reserve officer may accrue credit hours was outlined in considerable detail by the Department of the Army.

Officer promotions in the Active Reserve will be made to fill available positions within grade authorizations established by the Army to meet procurement objectives for any possible mobilization.

Selective procedures for promotion will be followed in order to secure the best qualified officers reasonably available to fill these position vacancies.

Reserve Selection Boards will be appointed by area commanders. Reserve officers will be represented on the Selection Boards.

In addition to physical qualifications, an officer must fulfill the requirements provided by minimum and maximum age-in-grade limitations, minimum time-in-grade, and specific minimum training standards established for the various promotion grades.

Successful completion of a regular service school course, or the appropriate Army Extension course or actual performance of duties of the next higher grade, or the acquisition of professional knowledge or experience appropriate to the next higher grade are training requirements, any or all of which may be incident to the qualification of an active officer for promotion.

Reserve officers serving on extended active duty with the Army are also eligible for reserve corps promotion under this plan.

JUDGE CECIL COLLINGS Candidate for the Office Associate Justice of The Court of Civil Appeals At EASTLAND

Judge Collings was born in Erath County, and after finishing his education began the practice of law, during which time he made many close friends. He is capable, honest and diligent. He is young enough, age 48, to do the hard work of this position. He is old enough to be mature and sound in his judgment.

He is now a highly successful District Judge, now serving his 3rd term. If elected, he will make a highly satisfactory Appellate Judge. He is a Christian gentleman with a keen sense of justice asking for promotion. He lead the field in the first primary, carried his home town 11 to 1. We urge all of you to vote for Judge Collings in the second primary, Aug. 28. Be sure to vote.

Retail Merchants Association

L. SELF, Sect'y.

A statement no merchant has heard:
While applications for affiliation with RCB of Texas by the two local Credit Bureaus were pending some merchant having started a movement for another bureau here, a prominent attorney of Austin, called on Mr. Chas. Lux, Executive Sect'y, and Mr. Horace Barnhart, member of the Board of Directors, also local Sect'y of the Austin bureau, in behalf of L. Self's investment in the original Credit Bureau of Cisco.

The outcome was that the affiliation would be withheld from our competitors over a period of time until the attorney could contact the proponents here, and suggest the purchase of the files and office of L. Self.
The plan was to have L. Self choose five secretaries over the State, out of which the above two men would choose three to appraise her files and office, then the attorney would make the suggestion of a purchase to the new set-up.
Being unable to arrive at a definite fee for the work that might be involved and being in doubt as to a satisfactory appraisal, L. Self chose to rely on the integrity of the Cisco merchants, and the Laws of our Nation.
