RED POLITBURO HONORS A HERO

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, left, reads the funeral oration for Col. Gen. Andrei Zhdanov, often mentioned as Stalin's successor, at Lenin's Tomb in Moscow's famed Red Square. Next to Molotov is Premier Stalin. At right are members of the Politburo.

Another Mississippi Lime Producer Added to Kleiner Pool in Cisco Area

SPEAKS DESPITE EGGS

With bits of egg clinging to his head, and his shirt stained, Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive Party candidate for President, addressed a crowd in Greensboro, North Carolina. A fruit and egg barrage marked his first appearance in a proposed swing through the southern states. (NEA Telephoto).

Daniels Well Is Completed by Lone Star Producing Co.

Lone Star Producing Company has completed its No. 1 Daniels today as a substantial producer in the Kleiner pool's prolific Mississippi lime. A 24-hour potential test was started at noon to determine the well's allowable.

Bottomed at 4,034 feet on top of the Ellenberger lime, the casing was perforated with 492 shots between 4,034 and 4,922 feet. Oil was logged throughout the Mississippi section. After perforation, the well was treated with 500 gallons of acid and kicked off as swabbing got under way.

Derrick was being moved to the Fort Mitcham No. 1 location eight miles northwest of Cisco today and Lone Star expected to spud in there during the afternoon to drill a semi-wildcat. The Mitcham well, a mile from nearest production, will test the Ellenberger.

Elsewhere in the Kleiner pool, the Aisbrook and Kemp No. 1 L. H. McCrea et al was acidizing and attempting completion in the Mississippi today. It was bottomed at around 4,000 feet. Completion of this well would represent a substantial northern extension to the Kleiner pool, two miles north of Cisco.

Activities in the new field, which now has some nine producers without a misa, are expected to slow down during the next few days, due largely to the scarcity of pipe. Lone Star is expected to move a rig back as soon as the Mitcham location is drilled.

Southwest of town, the Four M Oil company's No. 1 S. H. Hill was reported to have set casing in the Marble afts section and was expected to begin completion work immediately.

Local Woman Talks To Son In Philippines

A long distance telephone call from her army sergeant son, Bill Dobbins, who is stationed with the Army Air Corps as a teletypist in Manila, capitol of the Philippine Islands — approximately 8,245 miles from Cisco — reduced Mrs. I. J. Dobbins to tears Sunday afternoon, after she had heard his faint voice over the lines.

"It just didn't seem true," said Mrs. Dobbins, the morning after the call, "that I was talking to Bill in the Philippine Islands, so far away."

"I just stood there dazed when the long distance operator asked me if I would accept the charges. After I replied, stammering that I would, the next thing that I knew, Bill was talking to me as if he were right here in Cisco." Except for the crackle of transoceanic disturbances over the Pacific, his voice was very clear. Mrs. Dobbins said. "I could hear operators talking all along the route. And it was very exciting to hear foreign translators say in broken accented English 'Manila is calling Cisco.'"

In their brief conversation from one side of the world to the other, Mrs. Dobbins said her son was in very good health, but that the climate in the islands was very hot and humid and always made him wish he was back in Texas, where the temperature was only a 100 degrees in the shade.

He told her, all in one breath as the operator said that his time was up, that in coming hurricanes and volcano eruptions were ripping the islands and were taking a great toll in lives of the naive inhabitants. So far the storms had not reached the vicinity of the island where his company was stationed, he said.

Sergeant Dobbins is a 1946 graduate of Cisco High School and joined Sept. 18, 1947, in the Army Air Corps. He received most of his training at Randolph Field, Texas. In April of the same year, he was ordered to foreign duty in the Pacific theatre.

Mrs. Dobbins stated that young Dobbins was to return to the states sometime next year.

Cisco Schools To Present Football Preview Tonight

Coaches Hansard and Overall of the High school Lobos and coaches Everett and Davis of the Junior college Wranglers will present their teams to the public at a football preview at Chesley Field beginning at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Another of the high lights of the program will be a presentation of the 1948-49 Cisco High School band by director Fred Baumgardner. The band will play several numbers and will go through its marching routines. John James Haynie, past member of the band, who is one of the leading coronetists of the nation will be presented as guest soloist and guest director.

Beginning at 7:30 the high school coaches will be presented and in turn will introduce the Lobos. This will be followed at 8:00 p.m. by the band concert and following the band will be the presentation of the college coaches and Wranglers.

Coaches Hansard and Overall are rapidly getting their boys in shape for the opening game with Cleburne next Friday. They report that the boys are progressing well and will be in their fighting form for every game.

Coaches Everett and Davis are busy working out the best playing combinations from the large number of candidates for practice. They will be in mid-season form when they clash with the Hardin-Simmons Frosh at Chesley Field on September 16.

Father-in-Law Of Cisco Woman Was Buried Monday

Funeral services for G. E. Laws, 72, who died Sunday morning at his residence in Carlton, Texas after a long illness, were held in the First Methodist Church there Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. Burial followed in the Carlton Rosewood cemetery.

G. E. Laws was the father-in-law of Mrs. Grady Laws of Cisco who married the deceased's son, Grady Laws, who preceded him in death a number of years back. The deceased was born in October of 1876 and had lived most of his life in the Carlton community area. It was stated. Prior to his death, Mr. Laws had been a retired farmer.

Survivors of the deceased are his wife, and two grand children, Joey Dean Laws, Ray Neil Walker and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Grady Laws all of Cisco.

TOGETHER AGAIN

Movie hero Robert Mitchum, 31, who Los Angeles police trapped in a marijuana raid, strikes an affectionate pose with his wife, Dorothy, 29, after their reconciliation. They were temporarily separated, but she said she was back to stick by him. "Anybody ought to be able to see that he's a sick man," she commented.

Boy and Girl Cousins Born to Cisco And Haskeil Women on Same Day

The old saying that trouble always comes in pairs was reversed in a Haskeil hospital on Sept. 4. With the announcement of the arrival there of two babies, one born to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilleland of Cisco and the other to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sparks of Haskeil, Mrs. Gilleland and Mrs. Sparks are sisters.

It would be interesting for mathematicians and scientists to combine their talents and figure how often the birth of twin cousins occur.

Carolyn Eylene Gilleland was born at 10:20 p.m. on September 4 and her cousin, Kenneth Irvin Sparks was born a few hours earlier. Carolyn weighed 7 pounds and eight ounces, while Kenneth tipped the scales at six pounds, ten ounces.

Peddling the bicycle around his father's service station on the corner of West 8th street and Ave. D Saturday afternoon, young Tommy, a little excited over learning to ride the two-wheeler, overturned and crashed into a parked pick in front of the Daniels Hotel.

ONE OF THE best things about a vacation is getting home. Trips make you appreciate the comforts of home. From our experience, you can summarize the fishing situation in Colorado as follows: There are no big ones and very few little ones.

WE CAME HOME via the Red River country of New Mexico. It was very beautiful and very full of tourists. Best fishing spot we saw was Eagle Nest Lake at Eagle Nest, New Mexico. The lake is three or four miles long and a mile or so wide and is stocked with trout. You go trolling for them.

COMING HOME a little early, we stopped for a day or so at Lake Texoma, near Sherman. It was the first time we'd seen this huge lake, which is supposed to be the fourth largest man-made lake in the world. It was built by damming up the Red River with the world's largest earthen roll fill dam. The dam is three miles long and cost $45,000,000 to build. It has a 1,250-mile shore line.

LAKE TEXOMA is so big that high winds whip up six and eight foot waves. A holiday week-end will find at least 10,000 persons fishing there. They have boats from small canoes to huge cabin jobs. Recently, an old river steamer was brought in for excursion trips.

AS THE COUNTRY turns more and more to fishing, we're afraid sometimes that there's just not enough fish to accommodate all the customers.

SAW A GOOD cartoon the other day. It pictured a papa fish having a serious talk with junior. "Sonny," he was saying, "one of these days you're going to be too big to throw back."

SEEING HOW will the tourists go over the country on the matter of catching fish makes us wish that something could be done to enlarge Lake Cisco and add to its attractiveness as a vacation and fishing spot.

Prissy Will no Longer Help Carry The Mail; Dies From Gunshot Wound

The United States post office lost one of its most faithful "employees" last week when Prissy, six ear old canine carrier was found dead as the result of a gunshot wound.

Prissy, who was known by almost every man, woman and child in Cisco, belonged to Francis Ruth Halstead. She was given to Francis by her grand father when she was just a pup. For the past three years she was a familiar sight on the streets of Cisco. Most any where you looked you would see Prissy following W. L. (Whitie) Moore, one of Uncle Sam's postman.

She knew every mail route in Cisco and could follow them blindfolded. She knew every stop on Main street and all business men knew and loved "Prissy." There will be something missing from now on. One business man said "It doesn't seem right to see Whitie without "Prissy" following at his heels."

Last Saturday she followed Whitie while he was working at a surveying job just south of the city limits. When it came time for Whitie to leave for home, she was not around and he was forced to leave without her. He went back later looking for her and still she failed to respond to his call.

The following day he continued to search for her and found her several hundred yards from where he was working. She died as a result of carelessness on the part of some hunter or from a deliberate shot from some heartless individual—how ever she died she will be missed by all who knew her.

R. L. Clinton To Teach Piano And Voice at College

Announcement was made today that R. L. Clinton had been added to the teaching staff of the music department at Cisco Junior College. He will teach piano and voice and for a while will be at the college on Tuesday of each week.

Mr. Clinton lives in Eastland where he is minister of music and director of young people's work of the First Methodist Church. He also has a music and voice studio there.

He is the son of Robert L. Clinton, prominent Callahan County rancher, and a native of Putnam. After finishing high school he entered Hardin-Simmons University and later attended John Tarleton Agricultural College.

He served in World War II as a pilot in the AAF and after leaving the service he entered North Texas State Teachers College where he majored in music. While there he studied under Dr. Silvio Scintini, well known music instructor.

College officials stated that the addition of the new instructor was in line with the policy of the school of giving students a well rounded course of study.

John B. Sheppard Most Outstanding Young Texan

John Ben Sheppard, East Texas attorney and past president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce has been voted "Most outstanding Young Texan" by the Young Democratic Clubs of Texas, it was announced here today.

Sheppard will be presented an appropriate scroll in recognition of his selection at a dinner to be given in Fort Worth September 13, preceding the State Democratic Convention, by Texas Young Democrats.

A special committee composed of Will Bond, Hillsboro merchant, Chairman; Lewis Dickson, Houston attorney and Pete Rodes,

JOHN BEN SHEPPARD

Emory banker, made the selection.

In selecting Sheppard the committee cited among his many accomplishments his outstanding administration as national Jaycee president, his tour of every state and 27 foreign countries and his inspirational leadership of the nation's largest young men's organization.

The committee took special note of Sheppard's "Fifth Freedom Flight" during which he spoke several times daily on the "freedom of opportunity of enterprise."

The dinner honoring Sheppard state officials and party officers, is expected to attract several hundred party leaders who will be in Fort Worth for the state convention.

Jimmie Brinkley, Young Democrats' state president said the selection may become an annual affair to encourage the development of young leadership. "It is most fitting that the first selection should be John Ben Sheppard. No American has done more to awaken and inspire the people of America to take a more active part in the affairs of our government," Brinkley said.

Planning Commissions

The subject of planning the development of the smaller community has been given an important place on the program of the Businessmen's Conference on Urban Problems, which will be held in Detroit, Sept. 13-14, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Within the past few years the idea of exercising organized foresight, guidance, and control over the growth and development of our cities and towns has received wide acceptance. It is recognized that many of today's municipal headaches have their roots in the unplanned, haphazard way in which some communities have "just grown up."

But while the idea of planning is readily grasped, detailed methods of making this planning effective are still being perfected. That is particularly true in the smaller community. The metropolis has vast resources; it can set up and maintain a planning commission staffed by trained experts with less strain upon its annual budget than would be involved in the full-time employment of a single planner by the small town.

Nevertheless, a surprising amount of planning is being done in the smaller population centers. As an illustration, the League of Wisconsin Municipalities recently published a list of 81 cities and 45 villages in that state known to have planning commissions. Tennessee is another state that has been very active along this line. And all over the country, other examples could be cited.

Underlining the importance of planning for the smaller community is the increasing tendency of American industry to decentralize its production facilities. A recent study by the National Industrial Conference Board reveals that of all manufacturing plants established during the period 1940-1947, only one-third were located in cities of 100,000 population and over, and almost one-third were placed in towns of 10,000 or less. A number of industrial corporations accept decentralization as a considered policy.

A community plan should be rigid enough to resist thoughtless or selfish variations, yet flexible enough to adjust itself to new and unforeseen developments. It should have a detached viewpoint free from the detail of administrative duties, yet should maintain close liaison with the operating departments of the local government. Proper attention to public relations is a very important function of a planning commission, so that the general public will not only be familiar with the plan, but will feel that it has taken part in its development.

Commission members should be a cross-section of the community, with emphasis on leadership and vision. Making the community a better place in which to live. The job of planning cannot be done once and for all, but must be a continuing process.

Gorman Oil News

A. W. Gegg and Kirk No. 1 House is drilling at 3269. There is no particular show in this well as yet. This well is on the Keith tract east of the Smith wells near Victor.

A. B. Edwards No. 1 W. H. Anderson is flowing. This well is making good show of oil and has pressure enough to flow itself. They were in the process of making tests Friday and no figures are available.

Nathan, McCutcheon and C. P. Porter with Broyles and Manuel Drilling Co. in charge of drilling operations, are rigging up on their Brown lease and are setting surface pipe. This is northwest of Okra.

Sadler et al No. 1 Kinney expect to spud in by September 13. J. W. Sorrels of Abilene with his son, Dan Sorrels and Mr. Brent Thralls of Eastland were in the Gorman hotel lobby seeing about their location on the No. 1 J. E. Hodge, just southwest of Dueter. This location is the northern half of Section 11 H&TC survey, Comanche County.

Star Oil Co. No. 1 Buck Anderson acidized Wednesday using 5000 gallons acid. The response was weak, even though they felt that they had something really worthwhile so they re-acidized using another 5000 gallons, and this time the results were really gratifying. There is a 450 lbs. pressure on the tubing indicating that there will be sufficient pressure to bring the oil to the surface without the aid of a pump, and the oil is flowing all around. No figures are available as yet but it will be as good as the J. C. Cook (since it was reworked) which it offsets on the West. This test was at the 2672 foot depth. They had definitely drilled into the Marble Falls but there is still some discussion whether this is set in the Marble Falls or in the lower part of the Caddo formation.

J. Maurice Scott No. 1 B. F. Porter set protective string at 2183. There is really a good showing here, but we understand that they intend drilling on into the Marble Falls before actually running a test.

Hynesby-Owens Drilling Co. No. 1 Lindley set pipe and are WOC.

Roy Parker No. 1 has set surface pipe and is rigging up on his No. 1 Daniels.

J. W. Balfwin No. 2 J. A. Watson is drilling at 1707. Coast Oil No. 1 Richardson has set pipe and is WOC. Commercial Production No. 2 J. A. Hurst are setting pipe at 2802 feet, another high well for this area.

Chem. Council Authorizes Study Of Farm Products

Special studies of five farm crops which are becoming increasingly used for industrial raw materials have been authorized by the National Farm Chemurgic Council for presentation at its 1949 national conference to be held March 30 through April, in Memphis, Tenn.

The special reports will be made on cotton, peanuts, soybeans, sweet potatoes, and trees. Possibilities for new crop uses such as okra seed and castor beans for oils, and ramie for textile fibers and cattle feed, as well as advanced in sugar cane utilization, tung oil production, and other agro-industrial topics will also be featured on the conference program.

Members of the National Cotton Council of America and representatives of several other farm associations will be special guests at the meeting.

Announcing the arrangements for the conference, Wheeler McMillen, president of the council and farm magazine editor, said the decision to meet in Memphis was made "because of the tremendous chemurgic progress achieved in southern states in recent years."

McMillen referred to such chemurgic examples as the use of cellulose from cotton and wood for the manufacture of textile fibers, cottonseed hulls for plastics, cottonseed and soybean oils for paint, resin from tree stumps for plastics, and the prospective use of peanut protein for other fibers.

"Chemurgic utilization of farm crops is on the increase in all of the agricultural areas of the nation, but nowhere are the strides more rapid than in the South," McMillen said.

Such progress in the South is a matter of high significance throughout the nation," he added. "The genius of scientific research does not halt at any state boundary lines, nor does the exchange of products. Prosperity achieved in any one section contributes to prosperity for the nation as a whole.

"Manufacturing industry today is spending millions of dollars for the purchase of farm residues which once were worthless, and other millions or materials which without such markets would make for troublesome surpluses. In many such ways chemurgy today is helping to improve the standard of living of the American people."

The conference at Memphis will be the 14th annual meeting of the council. Its executive and research offices are located in New York City. Nation-wide membership in the council includes several thousand leaders in agriculture, science, and industry.

Mechanization To Be Discussed At Cotton Conference

What mechanization has meant in development of America agriculture will be discussed by R. E. Short, Brinkley, Ark., vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation to delegates attending the second annual Belt-wide Cotton Mechanization Conference at Lubbock, October 14.

The National Cotton Council, sponsor of the mechanization meeting, said that the Farm Bureau official would bring one of the key addresses of the conference to more than 500 representatives of agriculture, industry, and government attending the 18-state meeting.

A well-known cotton and rice producer, Mr. Short is president of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation as well as vice-president of the National organization. He has long advocated the adoption of less costly and more efficient methods of producing cotton and related crops in the South and Southwest.

Council representatives said today that advance reservations indicate a capacity attendance at the Lubbock meeting. Full delegations are expected from major farm equipment houses, the Department of Agriculture, the Cotton Belt land grant colleges, and the cotton industry.

The conference will develop the general theme of the challenges involved in cotton production mechanization. It will deal with economic, social, and research aspects of the problem which directly affects the 13,500,000 members of the cotton industry.

Cooperating with the Council in staging the conference are the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas Statewide Committee for Cotton, and the Plains Ginners Association.

TRAGEDY AND DISASTER strike often, on the daytime radio serial. It's easy to see why. The radio audience won't maintain interest in the day-to-day affairs of people. So the radio serial compresses the emergencies of life into fifteen-minute episodes. These emergencies don't occur as rapidly in your life. But they do occur. They've happened in the past, and you can expect them in the future. Luckily, there's a way to meet emergencies when they come. There's a way to soften the blows of Bad Luck, and Accident, and Loss. It's by investment—regular investment—in United States Savings Bonds.

All you have to do is sign your name—and you start accumulating a reserve fund to protect your future. You can sign your name to either of two fine plans offered by Uncle Sam: (1) The Payroll Savings Plan at your firm. (2) Or, if not on a payroll, the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank. Bonds pay back four dollars for every three, and in just ten years. When you "tune in" then, you'll find security—for yourself, for your family.

In the case of property, such as air fields, which have been conveyed by WAA to cities, counties or other owners under the provisions of Public Law 289, it will be necessary for the present owner to receive concurrence of the Civil Aeronautics Administration before the release can be obtained so as not to interrupt operation of the airport, it was explained.

By this method major portions of the Childress Army Air Field, recently transferred to the City of Childress already have been approved for grain storage leasing. Several other cities, Myers said, have expressed a willingness to provide airport buildings not now in use.

The regional WAA office is cooperating with Congressman Mahon head of a congressional committee seeking solution to the storage crisis, and with the agricultural extension service in allocating pace for harvested and anticipated heavy small grain crops. Reports received this week from a grain belt area which includes Oklahoma and New Mexico as well as Texas indicate widely varying needs among counties of the area. Some counties, in the heart of the harvest area, report no immediate shortage of storage space while others, even where crops like wheat and sorghum have suffered badly from drought, report unprecedented storage problem.

Retail Merchants Association

Merchants paying dues to any Credit Bureau, control the bureau; however, to own a Credit Bureau, the merchant would have to own the file which would enable them to elect a new secretary at the end of one or two year periods.

When the files of a Credit Bureau are individually owned, as we understand they are in two instances in Cisco, a secretary cannot be changed other than by buying them out or pushing them thru the window. Under such existing laws, it merely becomes a matter of inflating one individual bank account, and deflating the other.

In having a Board of Directors, there is nothing to disexcept something relative to money matters, and in solving membership, it narrows down to the above statement.

A secretary has to spend money on their files when they have one or ten members - it is expensive to open an office, and it takes not only money, but loyalty, and cooperation on your part.

We appreciate our members and we are here to serve you. Call us often.

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES CO.

Bring on the MATERIAL We're ready for it!

"Bring on the material, we're ready for it," says Reddy Kilowatt and his fellow workers. "We are pushing the work on our Company's $18,000,000 construction program to supply more and better electric service to more and more West Texas homes, farms, and industries."

Yes, Reddy, thanks to the West Texas Utilities Company's policy of anticipating future needs, most of the material you need to keep the construction program rolling is on hand or scheduled for delivery as needed. In fact, much of the material to be used in this construction program was ordered nearly two years ago. However, due to the continuing critical shortages of heavy electrical equipment and wire, deliveries are just now being made on materials ordered as early as September, 1946.

Eighteen million dollars! Each of those dollars, Reddy, is a vote of confidence in the growth and development of West Texas.
