CISCO, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, Oct. 6, 1948

NUMBER 235

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

CISCO LIONS HEARD an old friend as their luncheon speaker at noon Wednesday. He was Dr. Robert N. Richardson, president of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene.

BACK IN THE pre-World War I days of 1915, Dr. Richardson was a young teacher in Cisco College. He spent a year here and then joined the faculty at Simmons University, Abilene.

AS TALKING OVER the old days with Mr. Jess Proctor the other afternoon. He was the first when the first gas fire was started under a boiler in Cisco.

ILL BE THE craze of Cisco, says Wally Smith. "What," we asked? The Palace Phone Award, he said.

When your telephone rings, don't say "hello"; say, "Go to the Palace and see..." (what ever is showing).

Three numbers will be selected at random each day and called. If the person answering gives the correct answer, the entire family will receive a pass to that show.

THE BEST DEAL we've run lately in the way of fishing is to take our small son to the house. While we work for he visits with Mrs. E. G. Brown and Mrs. Frank Thornhill and talks them out of all they have.

CU to Honor Cisco Boy Killed World War II

James Monroe Flournoy, Jr., of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Flournoy Sr., of Cisco, who lost his life in World War II, is among former students of Texas A&M University who died in military service in two World Wars who will be honored with a memorial plaque now being planned by the TCU American Legion.

Twenty-six additions, nine by baptism, were made to the East Cisco Baptist Church during the revival meeting that ended with a record crowd last Sunday night.

Mid-West Texas Firemen To Convene Here Thursday

Cisco Fireman to Be Hosts to More Than 300 Visitors

Between 300 and 350 visiting firemen and their wives were expected to be in Cisco Thursday to attend the semi-annual Mid-West Texas Firemen's convention which is scheduled to get under way with the registration at the fire station at 10 a. m.

The fire fighters nod the meeting twice a year for the purpose of learning new methods of fire protection, and to pass ideas on to other units. The organization secures the leading speakers and instructors for the conventions, and the Cisco meeting has been carefully planned in order for those attending to obtain as much information as possible in the short time it is in session.

The boys mix fun with their business and sports contests will be staged between visiting teams. The program will begin with a big parade which starts at 12:30 p. m. The Cisco Lobo Band will lead the parade which will begin at 10th St. and Ave. D, and travel down Avenue D to Third Street, then turn to Ave. E and end at the fire station on 6th St.

The business session will start at the close of the parade and will continue until 3:30 p. m. Ray Judia will give special renditions on the Solovox during the business meeting.

Following the business meeting the various teams will compete in pumper races, water polo, six man hook-up races and mystery races. The competition has always been keen in these sports at other conventions. Wallace Smith, manager of the Palace Theater, invited the visiting ladies to attend the show at the theater in the afternoon while the men are in the meeting.

After the sports events are over the visitors and invited guests will meet at the lake for a barbecue, and the program will end with a dance at the Lake Cisco pavilion. All Cisco business houses and civic organizations will join the local fire department in the program for the day. The Cisco Junior College students and the Wranglers football squad will participate in the parade. The students will be dressed in their western attire in celebration of Wrangler Day. The Lobo Band will give a concert at the fire station after the parade.

Many prominent out-of-town guests are expected. Among the group are: Frank Williams, Austin; Hon. Pat Bullock, Colorado City; D. C. Musick, Abilene; Olin Culbertson, Austin; Garfield Kiel, Seguin; Col. R. H. Brayton, College Station; Adolph Solmky, Seguin; John Dean, Plano; John Ballew, Childress; J. C. Swadley, Grand Prairie; Hugh Nations, Crosbyton; T. E. Lewis, Electrica; A. C. Forgy, Sweetwater; H. V. Crocker, Big Spring; and D. C. Posey, Ballinger.

Exams Planned On State Jobs

The Merit System Council, which serves as a "clearing house" for positions in the State Department of Public Welfare, will hold open competitive examinations on November 13, 1948, for a number of positions now open in that agency, according to Charles S. Gardiner, Director of the Merit System Council.

Positions to be filled by the agency consist of Field Worker, Child Welfare Worker, Senior Child Welfare Supervisor II, Junior Stenographer, and Clerk-Typist. Qualifications for these positions vary from high school graduation to college work and experience requirements.

REVIVAL MEETING ENDS

Twenty-six additions, nine by baptism, were made to the East Cisco Baptist Church during the revival meeting that ended with a record crowd last Sunday night.

DEWEY WELCOMED HOME

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential Candidate, paused to shake hands with well-wishers in the Albany, New York station on his return home. The candidate has just completed a fifteen day, eight-thousand mile transcontinental campaign tour in his special train, "The Dewey Victory Special."

Cisco vs. Ranger in Two Games:

CJC Plays Ranger Junior College; Loboes Tackle Ranger Bulldogs

It will be Cisco vs. Ranger this week-end as both the CJC Wranglers and the CHS Loboes meet teams from Ranger Junior College and Ranger High School.

The Wranglers are slated to tackle the RJC boys at Chesley Field Thursday at 8 p. m., and the Loboes will attempt to muzzie the Bulldogs from Ranger High the following night in Ranger.

Coaches Everett and Davis were none too optimistic today over the chances of winning from the experienced Ranger College team since many of the regular starters are on the sick and injured list.

Doug Garner, who holds down the tailback post, is definitely out for a few more days and will not see action. Gann and Don Johnson will alternate at his position. Fatum is still sidelined due to an injury to his arm, sustained in the Hardin-Simmons game. Bill McGuire may see some action at the fullback position but will yield to Spec Tompkins for the greater part of the activities.

Wayne Hayes, aggressive blocking back, will be on the sidelines during most of the game due to bruised muscles in his back and hip. Flournoy Cleveland will handle the assignments for most of the game. Olin Smith will start at the tackle position usually held down by Melvin Nobles who will not see action due to injuries.

Ranger utilizes a winged T formation, and in two games played this season, has won one and dropped one. They lost to Paris Junior College in the opener, 13-6, and defeated Texas Military College 45-0. They will have the advantage of a week's rest from their last game while the Wranglers will go into the game with only four days respite.

The Loboes will go into the game with the Bulldogs minus the services of George Watts who was injured in the game with Stephenville. Watts will be missed but Coaches Hansard and Overall have been working all week perfecting plays for the other backs. They plan on taking the entire squad on the trip. The game with Ranger will have no effect on the conference standing.

Tickets for the Wrangler game are on sale at all drug stores and the tickets for the Lobo-Bulldog game will be on sale at Dean Drug Co. Friday morning.

Chas. J. Kleiner Presents Books to Cisco High School

Charles J. Kleiner was a guest at the student assembly at the Cisco High School today and presented the student body and the faculty with a 24 volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica. The set was bound in morocco and complete with a large world dictionary, world atlas, 1948 book of the year, and a set of the classic School Superintendent Arlin Bant presented Mr. Kleiner to the assembly, and Mr. Kleiner made the presentation. He made a short talk that was well received by the students.

Charles J. Turner, school principal, received the books in the name of the students and faculty. In his speech he pointed out that the gift of the books was not the first time that Mr. Kleiner's generosity had been shown. He said that a generous donation from Mr. Kleiner had helped make the new gymnasium a reality.

The student body and the faculty gave Mr. Kleiner a rousing cheer and vote of thanks.

It was also announced that Mr. Kleiner would make a similar donation to the Junior High students.

C of C Directors Discuss Civic Matters Tuesday

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce met at noon Tuesday at the College Cafeteria in a semi-monthly business meeting. Routine reports were made and a number of civic matters were discussed.

Norman Huston and Troy Powell were appointed by President W. P. Guinn to serve on a city-wide committee to work on plans for Christmas activities. The board approved a resolution endorsing a plan of the Texas and Pacific Railroad to add two passenger trains to their schedule through Cisco.

A resolution of confidence was adopted and sent to Victor Cornelius of Eastland, who has contracted to buy the Laguna Hotel here.

It was announced that the Eastland County Dairy Association will hold their monthly meeting here in Mid-October. Secretary B. A. Butler was asked to represent the organization at a regional water conference to be held in Breckenridge Friday. Anton White will accompany him.

Lone Star was digging pits on location for their B-1 Kleiner pool a mile north of Cisco, was drilling at 3,166 feet early today and the top of the prolific Mississippi lime was expected to be reached before the week's end.

Nearby, Howell and Hedrick No. 1 Lochridge, being drilled on a lease farmed out to the company, was drilling below 2,700 feet.

GONE TO THE DOGS

Tess, two year old Boxer bulldog belonging to Jim Cummins, Lobo football player, today announced the birth of two sets of quintuplets. Tess, who has a pedigree that reads like the Notre Dame football roster, and the three puppies, also pedigreed, are doing as well as could be expected.

Aspermont Man Eats 24 Eggs Then Goes Home to Complete Breakfast

Should there ever be a title of champion egg eater, Si Gholston, Aspermont service station attendant, would be right in the running.

Si wagered a friend he could eat two dozen fried eggs at one sitting. It was agreed that if Si ate that many eggs the friend would pay the bill; otherwise, Si would have to pay for them.

About 8 o'clock in the morning he walked into a local cafe, and ordered the eggs cooked, six to a plate, with a slice of bread with each order. As the waitress delivered each order to him, she found him waiting for more eggs.

As he finished the fourth plate of eggs, he cleaned out the plate with the remaining piece of bread, swallowed it quickly, wiped his mouth with a napkin, and said, "Well, I had better go home and see if my wife has breakfast ready."

Cisco Lumber Defeats Vogue

In a nip and tuck, ding dong affair, Cisco Lumber & Supply bowlers finally emerged a 3 to 1 point winner over Vogue Cleaners in Monday night's league play. The final outcome was not decided until the last frames of the final on the record sheet.

The Gardenhire Gasoline Crew were hard put every inch of the way to extract an even break 2 to 2 from Roscoe Ponsler's Cisco Gassers. The amount of pins which represented the difference between the two teams was negligible.

The 200 shooters were: H. Langford, 213-241; L. Mc Donald, 226; B. Wren, 215; R. Fonville, 206.

John B. Dunlap, Collector of Internal Revenue, and Ralph T. Fisher, Manager of the Abilene social security office.

Newspaper Week

This is Newspaper Week. The best story we have seen in connection with newspaper activity lately was datelined San Francisco, Friday. It was a story of the belated departure from that city of the Russian consulate personnel.

As the consul general was busy in his big house supervising final packing, 13-year-old Jimmy Allen knocked on the front door. An aide asked him what he wanted.

"I want my money," said Jimmy firmly.

The aide slammed the door in his face, but Jimmy did not leave. He stuck around a while, watching the front door until the consul general, his wife and four associates came out and made for their cars. Jimmy grabbed the Russian by the coat sleeve and said: "I want my money for the newspapers."

The startled consul general finally found his tongue and asked how much.

"One buck, two-bits," said Jimmy Allen, the "little merchant."

The consul general signalled an aide to produce the money, and Jimmy went on his way rounding up other slow-pay customers.

What most people don't understand is that carrier boys are in business for themselves. If they don't collect for the papers they distribute, they're stuck. And some of them must return again and again to subscribers who put them off and put them off, with various excuses. It cuts into their time, and time is money to them. Also it weakens their confidence in grownups.

When it comes right down to it these "little merchants" are the mudsills of the newspaper business. They deliver the product in all sorts of weather, and they are entitled to be treated with the respect due to future business and professional men, which they will some day become.

Many a distinguished American carried a route as a boy, including Supreme Court Justice W. O. Douglas, who even after he became a famous justice used to help his carrier-boy son on the route. Tom Dewey was a carrier boy in his time. It is valuable training, especially in human nature. (Abilene Reporter-News)

Budgets Are Big Problem to Cities

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—Texas cities and Texas housewives have the same worry these days — their budgets!

Bill N. Taylor, veteran of 20 years in Texas city government, told members of University of Texas government Professor Stuart A. MacCorkle's class the financial situation of cities in Texas is getting worse all the time. The former city manager of Longview, Port Arthur and recently Baytown, says the chief executive of most cities doesn't place enough emphasis on the budget as a tool of management, and the lack of uniformity in Texas city budgets makes comparison with other budgets virtually impossible.

As a remedy, he suggested devotion of more time by city officials to the budget, with emphasis on informing the people of its content; and adherence to the Municipal Finance Officer's manual of uniform budgeting and accounting procedure.

For the future, he said he advocated state supervision of city budgeting and accounting systems to achieve uniformity, because without it, "many cities never will improve their budget systems." Taylor predicted city managers of the future would be experts in finance, personnel and public relations.

standing dates, activities and student organizations, is published once a year by the senior class. Mrs. C. E. Whitaker, English and history teacher, is the annual advisor and sponsor.

First "call" for fall!

Don't fiddle around any longer with dirty old summer motor oil. Swing your car into the nearest Conoco station and change to winter-grade Nth Motor Oil. Lighter winter-grade Nth gives you faster starts. Saves you wear on the battery when you step on the starter.

What's more, a change to Conoco Nth Motor Oil gives you the extra protection of OIL-PLATING. For Nth contains a special, added ingredient that actually OIL-PLATES your engine's working parts... fastens an extra film of lubricant to cylinder walls... protects you from "dry" friction starts... from sludge and carbon due to wear. LEDBETTER-CLARK RITES IN FORT WORTH

Miss Ruthie Mae Ledbetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ledbetter, and Kennie Ray Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Clark, all of Fort Worth, were married Friday night in the Trinity Methodist Church. Rev. J. Ed Buttrill officiated in the impressive ring ceremony.

White gladioluses and mums interspersed with palms and white tapers in wedding candelabra, decorated the altar before which the couple stood while marriage vows were exchanged. White flowers and tapers marked the aisles.

Roy Lee Williams Jr., cousin of the bride sang "Always" and Miss Alice Watson sang "At Dawning" accompanied by Mike Johnson, organist.

Miss Lanell Brown was the bride's maid-of-honor and bridesmaids were Miss Roxie Watkins and Miss Annette Ledbetter, a cousin of the bride. Carolyn Ledbetter, also her cousin, and Hubert Ledbetter Jr., the bride's brother, were flower girl and ring bearer. Mr. Clark was his son's best man and groomsmen were Bobby Pharis and Jimmie Turner; Jimmy Horton Mobley and Gene Stum were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown having an off-shoulder cuff, marquisette yoke, fitted bodice and full skirt which swept into a short train. A halo of peartized orange blossoms held in place the veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible on which was placed a bouquet of white gladioluses and stephanotis centered with a gardenia. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls and an heirloom gold bracelet.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents at 2004 Fielder followed the wedding. The house-party included Mmes. Douglas Brock, Robert Lee Phelps and Weldon Flenniken; Misses Mae Jean Hill, Beverly Hull and Barbara Bohannon.

When the couple left for a short trip to West Texas the bride was wearing a brown tweed suit with brown accessories.
