Legality of Exemptions Discussed By Texas Tax Research Associate

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. — If you have any buffalo, you don't have to worry about paying a property tax on them.

They are specifically exempt from general property taxation by one of a group of statutes pointed out by University of Texas Research Associate Lynn F. Anderson in the recent Bureau of Municipal Research publication, "The State Property Tax in Texas."

The state constitution grants authority to the legislature to exempt certain classes and types of property from taxation, but legislators have chosen to be more specific in enumerating the exempt property in the statutes. Thus "buffalo and catalo" (hybrid between buffalo and domestic cattle), are included and in addition to the constitutional mandate regarding $250 worth of house hold and kitchen furniture, the statutes mention "one sewing machine."

Enactment of these statutory exemptions has removed the property from the tax rolls, but Anderson says, "It is no so certain that all of these statutory exemptions are constitutional. Legal opinion in some quarters holds that a few of the exemptions, noticeably that applicable to the property of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, are illegal because they do not fall within exemptive power conferred by the constitution on the legislature."

He adds that whether or not this contention is well-founded will depend on subsequent court decisions on the matter. Keeping in mind property that is exempt, the county tax assessor and collector, who is the chief administrative officer involved in the assessment of the state property tax, sets about his task of deciding what taxable property is worth and collecting taxes on it on that basis.

THE BARY ENSEMBLE

Community Concert To be Presented at Eastland Thursday

The Eastland County Community Concert organization will present its first program of the current season tonight when the Bary Ensemble will be presented to members at the Eastland auditorium.

The Bary Ensemble has been acclaimed from coast to coast as one of the musical hits of the current season. It is composed of Gertrude Bary at the piano; Mary Becker, violin; Virginia Peterson, Cello; Phyllis Gugino, clarinet and Helen Bachus, viola.

The program will consist of piano solos by Bary, violin solos by Mary Becker and cello solos by Virginia Peterson. There will also be special trios; piano quartets and unusual arrangements for the entire ensemble.

Anderson points out a strong criticism of assessment is that "intangible personal property, such as stocks, bonds and money, is universally missing from the rolls of assessed values."

He also adds that under the voluntary system of rendition, county assessors frequently accept the owner's value as final and assessed values are thus generally lower than they should be.

Some assessors assess larger and more expensive properties at proportionately lower percentages of full value than cheaper properties, introducing "the element of regressivity which is illegal as well as economically unsound," Anderson says.

"Finally," he continues, "the lack of equalization at the state level has resulted in a hodge-podge of valuation standards with each county virtually setting its own course of action by assessing property at a certain percentage of full value. This causes certain properties to bear a larger share of the state's tax burden than others of identical value."

Assessment administration is not the only area containing ills, Anderson says. The collection process also has defects: a notable degree of delinquency is influenced by a lax policy on the part of the state in enforcing collection statutes, the policy of the legislature to cancel interest and penalty charges at periodic intervals, and the complexity of the law governing enforcement of tardy obligations.

As possible remedies for these defects, Anderson suggests change in the law and legislative policy; "changes in assessment administration and changes in the administration of collection achievement of which in some instances would require amendment.

Rotary Club To Begin Publication Of Bulletin

Members of the Rotary Club voted at their regular weekly luncheon at the college cafeteria Thursday to begin the publication of a weekly bulletin covering interesting topics regarding Rotary and personal items of interest to the entire group.

It was decided to select a journalism student of Cisco Junior College to prepare and edit the publication, and members voted to ask Jim Ewell, Jr. to handle the work for this school term.

An announcement was made that the club would entertain the teachers of the Cisco school system with a banquet. The date of the dinner was set as January 13.

The program for the day was under the direction of Ernest Hinson, who presented Ray Judia in a series of selections on the Solovox. The instrument is an attachment that fits on the piano and has the effect of organ renditions. Mr. Judia explained the Solovox and showed how it could be used to sound as different musical instruments.

Rotarian George I. Lane from Eastland and Rotarian Don Morris of Abilene were visitors at the luncheon. Mrs. Ernest Hinson visited the club and served as pianist.

Lobo "Pups" to Play Breckenridge "B" Team at Chesley Field Tonight

Coach John Hansard announced today that his "B" team would play the Breckenridge "B" team at Chesley Field tonight. Game time has been set at 7:30.

The Junior Lobos lost a game to the team from Breckenridge earlier in the season and will be playing for revenge in tonight's encounter.

Hansard reported that the Stephens County boys were good and had won nine games so far this season and lost none. The team has two backs that most Class A or Class AA teams would like to have as starters. They handle the ball like veterans and run it all over the field.

Lobo coaches plan to use 18 to 20 men in the game in order to build up playing experience for coming years. They have scheduled games to season the players as future Lobos and urged all fans to be at the field at game time tonight. The "Pups" have played five games this season and have a game scheduled for next Tuesday night in Cisco with the Olney High School Class B team. Olney is one of the leading "B" teams of this part of the state.

Sawyer will probably start at the wing position, and Trapp will be at the tailback post. Manning or Farmer will start at full with Melton or Sharp holding down the blocking back assignments.

Evans, one of the best freshmen prospects, will start at center. Coach Hansard was high in his praise for the fighting ability of the fresh-line star. Jackson and Nelms will probably start at guards while Mears and Porter are filling the tackle posts. Tabor and Blair will be at end positions. Leach who usually starts at one of the end positions will not see much action due to an ankle injury.

Hansard said that fans who attend the game would see lots of good football, win or lose.

D. O. Class Elects Staff For School Paper Tuesday

In an election held at Cisco High School Tuesday, the Diversified Occupation Class elected officers for the school paper. Andrew Weatherby, Barton Mashburn, and Johnny Smith were nominated for editor-in-chief. Andrew Weatherby won with a majority vote. Elected to help him was assistant editor Madie Perdue.

Elected to serve with the editor and assistant editor were, sports editor, Barton Mashburn; Gossp editors, Patricia Page, Connie Rae Miller and Frances Leepoles; Joke editors, Rayford Taylor, Wayne Williams and Clarence Weatherby, Artist, Frances Leepoles; News editor, Johnny Smith, Wayne Williams, Joy Beth Jones, Patricia, Wayne Rufe and Mildred Huber.

Mr. Bmt, the teacher of the class, stated that he thought this year the school paper would be the best because the students are responding so willingly.

The Cisco Grammar School Midget Team for 1948

Midgets Give Preview of Things To Come on the Local Gridiron

BY ELSWORTH MAYER

A preview of the 1949, 1950 and 1951 football prospects for Cisco has been given this year by Coach H. R. (Pop) Garrett and his 1948 edition of the Cisco Grammar School Midget gridiron squad.

The team is composed of a group of youngsters who, prior to this season, had little or no experience, yet have come through thus far to win all but one game in five starts.

They surprised everyone, including themselves, in taking their opening game from a heavy DeLeon team by a score of 7-0. Following the game with DeLeon, they have won from Clyde by a score of 14-0; and have won two from Eastland Junior High the first 12-0 and the second 19-6.

The only loss for the season was to a strong Ranger Junior High School team by a score of 12-6. The game could have ended in a tie had it not been for a questionable decision that cost the Midgets the ball on a fumble. They plan a return game with the Ranger team in Ranger next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and will be playing hard to make up for the early season loss.

The backfield is sparked by the brokenfield running of Black and the terrific drives by Cowan. These two boys, along with Jones who can be counted on for good gains and stellar blocking, will be valuable assets to the Lobos when they gain a few pounds and more experience. The blocking and vicious tackles of Gary Walker will also add much to the strength of the Lobo team of the future.

The entire starting line of the Midget team has played well all season and can be counted on to make a name for themselves when they don the Black and Gold. They charge and tackle like veterans and are filled with a love for the game. Their defensive play is the outstanding but their charging and downfield blocking is something to see.

The end play of Brunkenhoefer and Reynolds has been good. Stone and Culpepper are two rough and ready tackles that have played all of the games with few mistakes. Notgrass and Seabourn at guard posts have held down the center of the line against heavier opponents and have paved the way for big gains by plunging backs. Mosely at center is a little boy who plays lots of football. He is fast and accurate on offense and a tower of strength behind the line on defense. He also handles the kicking chores for the team.

In addition to the starting eleven Coach Garrett is training some sixteen additional boys, many of whom are playing their first football this year. These boys will make valuable additions to the Lobo squad when they reach High school. They are Poyner, McCrea, who plays lots of football at blocking back, Callerman, Milton, Gallagher, Bosworth, Marsh, Keller, Waters, Coplin, Thurman, Lanham, Alsop, the two Ingram boys and McMurry.

FOREST FIRES

Ninety-two per cent of forest acreage burned over in Texas during 1947 was without organized fire protection, according to a survey just released by American Forest Products Industries. Two-thirds of Texas' total wooded area under organized fire protection suffered only eight per cent of the state's acreage burn loss for the year.

The report, based on latest U. S. Forest Service statistics for the Nation, shows comparative effectiveness of forest protection in 47 states. Texas reported three and one-quarter million acres burned during the year. Principal causes of forest fires were listed as incendiary and careless smokers, in that order.

Commenting on the state's forest fire record, Chief Forester Charles A. Gillett of the industrial organization called for increased public support for adequate protection against fire.

The Keep America Green program, active in 24 of the major timber producing states, is becoming an ever more potent factor in industries' drive to awaken public interest in forest fire prevention," Gillett declared.

"By pointing out what woods fires mean in terms of wages, raw materials, profits, taxes and recreational facilities, local Keep Green committees are putting an effective pocketbook punch into the forest fire prevention campaign," he continued.

The APPI forest stressed the need for full public support of federal and state fire control agencies. In 1947 forest fires, 90 per cent of them preventable, burned over 23,225,932 acres of wooded land in continental United States, an area larger than Maine and nearly as large as Indiana.

BAILEY EDWARDS RITES HELD NOVEMBER 12

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Elizabeth Bailey of Fort Worth and Robert Jim Edwards of Okmulgee, Okla., Friday evening, November 12, in a twilight ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Bailey at 208 East Twenty-third street, Cisco. The double ring ceremony was performed by Broos Terry, Minister of the local Church of Christ as the couple stood before an altar of greenery, white gladioli and white tapers in wedding candelabra.

Mrs. Ralph Bahler of Oregon, Mo. was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a lemon yellow chiffon dress over satin and carried a colonial bouquet of shasta daisies. Another sister, Miss Kathleen Bailey, lighted the candles. She wore a Royal Blue dress with corsage of white carnations.

Jack Edwards of Gatesville served his brother as best man. The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. Her white brochelet satin wedding gown was fashioned with a deep round illusion yoke, long fitted sleeves, fitted bodice and softly draped skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of Pearlized Orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and gladioli with white satin streamers.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Ralph Bahler of Oregon, Mo., brother-in-law of the bride, who played and sang the traditional wedding music.

Among out-of-town guests present at the wedding and reception following were the bride-groom's parents, Mr. and

J. B. Edwards of Gatesville. The bride is a graduate of Cisco Junior College and of North Texas State College. The bridegroom graduated from Texas A&M College and from the National Training School for Scout Executives at Mendham, N. J.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will make their home at Okmulgee, Okla., where he is Scout Field Executive.
