Lane-Wells Buys Tract On Highway 80 Near Cisco

Announcement was made today of the purchase of a building site by an oil well servicing company and with the announcement came the bright hopes of adding to the ever expanding industrial picture for Cisco. The industrial committee of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, in making the report, said that the new industry was just one of many that were contemplating making Cisco their permanent home.

The tract of land, located one half mile west of the City limits and measuring 600 feet along the new U. S. Highway 80 and extending 300 feet back was purchased by the Lane-Wells Company for the purpose of erecting two buildings at a cost of some $12,000, to house their warehouse, offices and equipment. The company is engaged in oil field servicing and plans to make Cisco its headquarters for this area.

One building measuring 40 x 70 feet will house the shop and the offices while the other which will measure 30 x 30 feet will serve as a magazine or warehouse. They will house two perforating machines and a logging unit along with cars and trucks used in the operations. Company officials hope to have the buildings ready for use within 90 days.

When the buildings are complete the company plans to employ at least 10 men, it was reported. C. T. Ritchy has been placed in charge of the operations as local manager. Working with him now are four men, Fred Plumlee, Raymond Stone, J. F. Hibbard and Hilbert King. The first three are married and their families are living in Cisco. The real estate transactions were handled by Surles Realty Co. Surviving operations were in progress and actual construction will begin as soon as the titles have been cleared.

The company has been operating out of Cisco for several months and are now located in the Carroll building on Ave. D.

Other oilfield service companies serving the area out of Cisco are Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. managed by Jeff Gregory, Johnston Oil Field Service Co., managed by L. O. Welch and McCulloch Tool Co., managed by R. R. Smith. McCulloch plans to expand their service soon. The Bethlehem Supply Co., has added to the growth of Cisco by opening a supply store in Cisco to serve the area. Charlie Pigg is in charge of the store here.

Outdoor Seed-box Is Good to Start Most Flowers

Making Drills for Sowing Seeds.

Always Firm Soil Over Seed.

Sowing Seeds in Outdoor Box.

Starting flower seeds in a seed-box, or special seed-bed, has many advantages, even after spring has arrived, and it is safe to sow outdoors.

Except for those that will not stand transplanting—which are few—it enables you to use all the plants that grow, placing each in exactly the spot you want it in the garden. During the period of infancy, when the seedling plants need watching, a box may be placed in sun or shade, where frequent inspection is conveniently made.

The plants will usually be free from disease, and have abundant light; so that growth will be faster and the plants more vigorous than indoors. An outdoor box started four weeks later than one indoors, will often have plants ready to move to the garden only two weeks after the indoor plants.

The same methods of preparing a porous soil, sowing the seed, and watering, apply to both outdoor and indoor seed boxes, except that the only kind of automatic watering suitable for outdoors is wick watering; and the outdoor box must always be well drained. Evaporation will usually be faster, and more water will be needed. An outdoor box filled with porous soil which lets excess water pass through freely can hardly be overwatered, and should be inspected daily.

If seeds are sown thinly, so that the plants can grow to garden size before being transplanted, time will be gained, since they will grow faster if not subjected twice to the shock of being moved. When the little plants are two or three inches high, carry the box directly to the place where they are to be set out. This will enable you to lift and set them in the garden soil with the least possible disturbance of their roots.

26 Years of Continuous Service —

... is a long-time record for any business or profession to achieve. Some do it, but many others do not. Common with the experiences of our contemporaries we have witnessed good years mingled with the bad. Some booms and more busts. And always the inevitable failures and consolidations. But we are still here with a fully equipped abstract plant of state-wide reputation, a force of trained employees, and a long record of successful operation in this county.

They said,

"Rich man's toy!"

THAT'S what "wise guys" of the 1880's called the newfangled electric service. And that's all it might be today... IF ...

IF people hadn't risked their savings to start electric companies such as yours, and to keep them growing.

IF others, often against expert advice, hadn't poured out their energy and time—to extend the wires farther and farther, make the service better and better, bring rates lower and lower.

They took the risks—they developed the skills—and everybody benefits. That's the way the American business system works. Rich man's toy? Today, electric service is every man's good right arm!

THOMAS A. EDISON, father of the Electric Age, was born February 11, 1847, and died October 18, 1931.

There is no monument above his grave. It is unmarked to this day. Somehow that seems quite fitting—because, after all, the real monuments to Edison's greatness are found all around us.

We at the West Texas Utilities Company pay special tribute to his memory, for Edison founded the first business-managed electric service company 67 years ago.
