Judge Collings Talks At Rotary Club Luncheon

Close harmony with your fellow man can go a long way toward achieving a successful life.

Having a little association with your fellow man is important in building up a firm character and understanding among people of your community.

The guest speaker, introduced by College Dean R. F. Webb after an informal luncheon said that is a wonderful opportunity for a man to acquire a likeable personality.

In another phase of his talk, he paid tribute to the work of thousands of Rotary Clubs in the international organization today.

Civic organizations, such as the Rotary Club, are a wonderful thing in helping mankind to broaden and develop fully.

Judge Collings, formerly of Big Spring and now a resident of Eastland, closed his talk in an appeal for closer cooperation between neighbors, cities and nations.

Prior to the main address, it was announced by President J. E. Proctor of the coming election of club officers and nominations for the same would be held next Thursday.

William H. McAnnally, Bell Telephone manager, and Frank Walton, local businessman, were welcomed as members of the club.

Methodists Will Have Special Service Sunday

As a part of the Methodist church program for this period, more than 40,000 preaching places and 24,000 ministers will devote Sunday as a day of dedication to help members to measure world needs and to deepen their own devotional life.

The slogan for the period is: "Advance for Christ and His Church," and the ministers, in their sermons everywhere, will stress the world conditions as they are and develop the "Communism vs. Christianity" theme.

Dr. Jones will use the topic, "Secret of Living," for the morning services, and "Portraits of Jesus" at the evening hour.

Night Sergeant Of City Police Force Leads A Busy And Interesting Life

To illustrate his point, weathers recalled numerous incidents where the fire trucks sped in the wrong direction after receiving an erroneous address.

Minutes later, an ambulance and a squad car were racing to the scene of a shooting, a rare happening in a town whose population barely reaches the 8,000 mark.

Back at the desk, Sgt. Weathers answered other calls requiring police attention — anything from a barking pooch to a downtown care squabble.

Weathers, who is a nine year veteran with the police force, is in complete charge of the receiving desk from the 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. detail; acts in the capacity of captain and during "quiet" hours operates a small one way radio for out of town dispatches.

"Many times the person calling police doesn't know the address," Weathers went on to say. "Others who call jumble the address that might be any number of places. This may cause the squad car to go to the wrong place, which could be costly by the resulting delay."

When violators, and there are many, are taken into custody, it is Weathers' job to write and file the charge then place the prisoner in the city jail until a hearing before the Chief of Police the next day.

Weathers is not a believer in strong arm tactics, but he can get rough with those who get out of hand, if necessary.

At noon students from foreign countries, who attend TSCW will be hostesses at a luncheon for the high school students and their teachers.

CHS Girls' Volleyball Team Plays Albany

In their first time under fire, the Cisco High School girls' volleyball team will seek to carry the Black and Gold to a victory over an invading Albany contingent in a doubleheaded affair tonight at the city gymnasium.

A preliminary B-match will set the ball bouncing at 7:00 to be followed by the varsity sextets and a boys' battle against the Cisco Jaycees.

With a month's preparation now in back of them, the Cisco Queens' encounter with Albany will be the first of a series of volleyball matches between the neighboring schools.

Miss Lela Latch, coach, has been impressed with the turnout for girls' volleyball this year and is hoping tonight's initial game for the Queens will turn into dividends for the week-in and week-out drills.

Albany comes to Cisco with a slight edge over the Queens and fast ball passing on the part of both sides has been promised local fans.

Following the Albany visit, the Lobo Queens will travel to Breckenridge April 1 to enter that city's invitational volleyball tournament.

Line-ups for the varsity sextet include Dorothy Harlow, Mary Elizabeth Brown, Montie Lisenbee, Tony Parr, Nolph-et Sheehan, Jessie Warren and Pansy Pippen.

The line-ups for the Cisco B-squad includes Lometa Akers, Billy Green, Betty Hughes, Ruby Hill, Anna Ruth McCrary, Pat Borst and Mary Dell Stinson.

4-H Club Awards Stress Farm Woodlot Management

Farm young people everywhere are taking increased interest in forest management. These two youths are receiving a lesson in the use of the increment bore, an instrument used to determine growth rate of trees. Professional forester, right, instructs.

For the second straight year local farm boys and girls have a chance to compete for state and national awards in a 4-H club forestry project. Three hundred dollar college scholarships plus all-expense paid trips to the 1949 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will go to four national winners in the forestry contest.

Four-H Club members interested in forestry are eligible to compete. In addition to the four top awards, to be distributed on a regional basis, each of the state winners will receive a gold medal.

The 4-H forestry project emphasizes youth's stake in the woodlands of this state. Farmer owned woodlands today constitute a major portion of the Nation's commercial forest area. They represent also a steady source of wealth to their owners that in many cases is virtually untapped.

American Forest Products Industries, a national, non-profit association of wood-dependent industries, is sponsor of the 4-H forestry awards. Last year 18 states participated in the national forestry competition. College scholarships went to club members representing Idaho, Georgia, New York and Wisconsin.

"Opportunities for farmers, who manage their woodlands for continuing forest crops, are greater today than ever before," Charles A. Gillett, managing director of American Forest Products Industries, declared in announcing his organization's sponsorship of the 1949 award. "The importance of good forest management practices on the Nation's farms cannot be over emphasized."

Detailed information about the 4-H forestry project may be obtained from the county extension agent. Mrs. Fred Grist, Mrs. Ina Pyle Martin, Mrs. O. J. Russell, Mrs. F. D. Wright, Mrs. G. M. Boone, Mrs. O. G. Lawson, Mrs. Ada Wheeler and Mrs. W. J. Parsons.

Mrs. Bob Ellison, hostess to group. Mrs. Bob Ellison was hostess and Mrs. Charlotte Overall presided at the meeting of Group Four Wednesday afternoon which met in the Ellison home on west sixteenth street. Mrs. Overall, Group Leader, called the meeting to order with prayer by Mrs. Don LaCasse after which Mrs. Blake Stephens brought the afternoon devotion. The group leader next conducted the "business" session where business was transacted. Mrs. Edward Lee, guest speaker, was presented in a splendid summary of Miss

Three CHAINS

CHAINS! CHAINS! CHAINS! Great chains which draw the heavy loads of commerce! Middle-sized chains which we carry for pulling an automobile from the mud! Tiny chains which hold a cross, a precious gem, or a lovely cameo, suspended about my lady's neck! Of them all the old adage remains true, "No chain is stronger than its weakest link." For one weak link the great load of logs breaks adrift; for one weak link my car remains by the roadside; for one weak link something precious is lost, perhaps never to be recovered. Chains of character and of fellowship, habits meant to keep us fit for the day's tasks, influence on young life near and dear to us, religious and morals that will make us strong and dependable in difficult hours of living; these also depend on every link in the chain. Life is of a piece; every day is part of the week; every week fits into the month and the year; every year counts toward the everlasting.

Put the picture of the chains in the gallery of your daily meditation; stamp it indelibly upon the minds of children and youth. Shall habits we form from day to day hold us firmly in constructive toil, or in a community where we count so much? Can family and friends and neighbors depend on us when some difficult emergency appears? Do they know that we will be strong when the going is hard? Have we put goodness and integrity and genuineness and friendliness and goodwill and truthfulness into a chain of personal character that will not break when others are calling for our help? Am I the one person in a community chain which will stand strain and stress and trial? Or will women and men fear to trust me when they must have trustworthy persons at some great task? Will the chain of the years be strong, forged by faithful living? Good chains, strong chains, useful chains, dependable chains; how priceless they are! The Church will help you mold chains of character that will stand the test.

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are making religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the church and the church in you — form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER."

High Blood Pressure

HARDENING OF ARTERIES,

AND SIDE—

Elmer G. Johnson, President of Harlingen State Bank, Harlingen, Texas, writes on Feb. 20, 1946:

"Please send another bottle of Liquid Garlic, also send a bottle to my sister-in-law, Mrs. Hulda C. Dutton, 45 Atwater Terrace, Springfield, Mass.

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson of San Benito, who was in bad shape, is also very much better and her blood pressure down considerably. This Garlic works, and you are doing a fine job of producing it for the benefit of those suffering from high blood pressure."

Back in the Early 20's —

... we started out abstracting Eastland County land titles. Then as now, the abstract was a necessary part of every real estate or leasehold transaction. We learned early that an abstract was more than a bundle of pages with numbers on them. The lawyers knew, too, so did their clients. And we have built our business on the theory that if an abstract furnished complete, accurate and reliable information at reasonable cost, it met every requirement. In a nutshell, that's it!
