Value Of Highway 80 To Local Business Is Shown At Meeting Held Here Recently

CREDIT OBLIGATIONS ARE EXPLAINED BY SECRETARY

Little Orphan Annie made a profound statement a few years ago, in one of her un-childlike philosophizings. "Banks," she said bitterly after trying to borrow a million dollars, "only lend money to people who have money!"

Mrs. Huffmyer said. "Many look out of work or with incomes drastically reduced proved that their word was 'as good as gold.' Truly, credit is a person's most valuable asset."

Wounded Man's Condition Is Reported As Fair

Condition of F. N. Hassen, Jr., 25 who suffered a gunshot wound in his right shoulder here Tuesday night was "fair" at Graham Hospital Thursday morning, attendants said.

A recent survey by Professors Henry C. Langer, Jr., and Roland L. Warren of Alfred University (Alfred, New York) shows what popular delusions exist regarding the use of credit. Professors Langer and Warren are engaged in an area survey around Hornell, New York. They have studied local unemployment and the mental attitudes of the unemployed. Figures given to the Associated Credit Bureaus of America—the trade association to which Merchants Credit Association belongs—show the unemployed now to be 3.2 percent of the total population.

In a city the size of Cisco, big figure would mean that 400 could be out of work. While this is not dangerous under present conditions, a consistent increase in unemployed folks—which means unpaid bills—would affect business and in fact, everyone else!

Mrs. Huffmyer says the Alfred Survey shows that unemployment's repercussions are felt in the social, economic, and even religious life of a community. If workers are unable to maintain the same scale of living, they can't meet current living expenses either, certainly not doctor, hospital bills and, even church obligations.

The attitude Professors Langer and Warren found among the unemployed shows a definite need for consumer education. Of those interviewed, 76 per cent (Continued on page two)

A. and M. College Gets Dairy Grant

COLLEGE STATION, June 16. A renewed grant of $3,000 to the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station, Texas A. and M. College, has been made by the American Dairy Association.

The project for which the money is to be used is "The Metabolism and Deposition of Polysaturated Fatty Acids from Animal and Plant Sources." The project was initiated a year ago under the direction of Dr. Ralph T. Horwan of the Department of Biochemistry and Nutrition.

Dr. and Mrs. Jones came to Cisco to assume pastorate of the First Methodist Church in June of 1948. Since then, he has taken an active part in civic, school and social affairs of the city. He is a member of the Cisco Rotary Club. He was transferred here from Ranger, replacing the Rev. Allen A. Peacock, now of Fort Worth.

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Warden came to Cisco in June, 1944 to assume pastorate of the Wesley Methodist Church. Rev. and Mrs. Warden have helped in building of the church during the five year period. He has been active in social and civic work in the city. Rev. Warden is a member of the Cisco Lions Club.

According to information here no installation services have been planned by either of the two Methodist Churches. At the morning services of the First Methodist, Dr. Jones will devote his talk to Father's Day. The initial meeting of the First Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian union services will be held Sunday at 8 u. m. on the First Presbyterian Church lawn, with Dr. Jones in charge.

COTTON BOLL WORMS WORKING ON EASTLAND COUNTY ORCHARDS

The cotton boll worm is now working on peaches in Eastland County orchards. J. M. Cooper, Eastland County farm agent, says that this is the first time in his experience that the worm has infested peaches.

When reports started coming in from orchard growers, Cooper took some of the worms out of the peaches and sent them to Prof. H. G. Johnston of the entomology department of Texas A&M College.

They were identified by Johnston as the cotton boll worm, which is the same as the corn ear worm.

Fruit growers in Eastland County say this year is their first trouble with these worms. Cooper says that "nature is out of balance this year," and thought it was caused by the excessive amount of moisture that fell during the spring.

The worms seem to get into the peaches from vetch planted as a cover crop underneath the trees.

PARKING METERS DISCUSSED PRO AND CON BY CITIZENS

BY JIM EWELL, JR. Should Cisco, population 9,000, install parking meters, or devise a systematic parking law that would cure the current congested traffic problem? That's the question Mr. and Mrs. Average Cisco are asking themselves these days.

Today, the parking meters' question is bringing about considerable comment, both pro and con, of course. The subject, Would It Be Wise To Install Parking Meters in Cisco? is being discussed in Women's Club circles, in the barber shops, and on the street corners. And then, a goodly number of the town folks are still clinging to the "wait and see" attitude.

In a recent survey made by the Daily Press, the results show Ciscoans favoring the proposal in the majority. Their contention, the Press learned, is based principally on increased revenue for the city. While, on the other hand, the negative forces uphold the contention that parking meters would tend to scare away rural and out-of-town trade.

Below is but a few of many comments the Press received during its survey: "It's the best thing that could happen to Cisco," said Bill Kendall, maintenance man, "the meters will strengthen the city's revenue."

Ed Hassen, dry goods merchant, "I can't see that it would make much difference. I can take them or leave them."

Truman Evans, linotyper, had this to say: "First, Cisco is too small to support parking meters. Second, it'll turn farmers away, and, third, the people should have the right to vote whether or not meters should be installed."

"It's a two sided question with me," said A. F. Ashenbush, oil company employee. "The revenue from the parking meters will aid the city. Because of that I'm for them. But still, let's not make Cisco any bigger than it really is."

"I believe parking meters would help consumers," says Royce Boyd of the Royce Boyd Co. "By that I mean, more parking places at the right spots would be available."

"Parking meters will be a big nuisance," chimed Shy Osborn, photographer. "Let's bring business to Cisco and not scare it away. And I might add, that I believe the citizens are entitled to a say so."

Archie, shoe shine parlor attendant: "With business hanging in the balance like it is these days, I would think the city would be trying to encourage more trade. There's always plenty of parking space at this end of town."

Mrs. Joseph Grattis, housewife, "parking meters would be a solution of shoppers' troubles. Why, on Saturday, you are forced to walk five blocks to the nearest grocery store. They'll cut out a lot of this idle parking."

"Parking meters will be the best thing Cisco has done in some time," smiled L. D. Wyatt, plumber. "They haven't failed in other cities and they won't here."

"They'll scare away rural trade, but help parking conditions in Cisco," believes Mrs. Jesse Reynolds, Jr., housewife. "I guess you might say I'm for them and then again I'm not."

"Parking conditions are the way we make them," believes Hazel Norris, secretary. "There should be a better solution to heavy traffic problems."

"The meters will be a great advantage to the merchants," contends H. O. Doss, druggist. "I know personally they're working in other towns as small as Cisco."

"Personally, parking meters will be another step towards the making of a city from a town," opines Ed Townsend, mechanic. "This I do know, they'll help the merchants."

Mrs. Anton White, shopper: "Parking meters are O. K. If Cisco gets them, I believe they'll help both the merchants and the buyers."

Membership Drive To Get Underway Wednesday

"Unless the people along U. S. Highway 80 'snap out of it' and start advertising and working, other and competing routes—such as U. S. 66, U. S. 90 and U. S. 180—are going to take most of the tourist business away from them," declared A. R. Westfall, chairman of the U. S. Highway 80 membership committee in Cisco. The annual campaign for memberships will begin next Wednesday when teams of workers will visit Cisco businesses eligible to join the association.

Every tourist who travels "80" means ten dollars or more in revenue per day and that money gets around, said Mr. Westfall. "We have a lot more competition for this business than we think. U. S. 66 and U. S. 180 both have strong associations and they are active in getting the business. They are taking a lot that we should have. Unless we get busy and start looking after our own interests they are going to get more. It's time we woke up."

The committee which will direct the campaign in Cisco is composed of Westfall, W. P. Bodine, Gene Forbes, W. R. Huestis, Roy Huffmyer and J. T. Richardson. They have planned the campaign for local memberships to be held next Wednesday with a goal of 75 members in Cisco. The funds will be used for national advertising and in various ways to promote motor business and better conditions along 80 through a national association and a group of local associations affiliated with the national association.

"We can't do this job alone," said Mr. Westfall. "We've got to work together. The annual meeting of the U. S. 80 association will be held at Ruston, La., July 9 and 10, when officers will be elected and the first year's promotional program will be snapped out. We want to be ready and have our representative on hand at this meeting. The minimum annual membership fee is $10.00. Membership cards and window seals will be given to new members. There is no limit on the number of memberships a business or individual may take, it was explained.

Church Of Christ Bible School To End With Program

The annual Vacation Bible School of the Church of Christ will close with a program in the church auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock. The students of the school, under the direction of the teachers, will sing the songs they have learned and display the work they have done.

The attendance has been good during the two weeks of the school, according to Brooks Terry, minister, who has directed the work. The daily average through Thursday classes, was 77 and the enrolment reached the 110 mark.

Parents of the students and all Ciscoans were invited to attend the closing program.

CENTRAL ARIZONA PROJECT

The proposed Central Arizona Project would cost at least 600 million dollars more than has been appropriated for projects in all the 17 reclamation States in the past 11 years.

A recent tabulation, prepared by the Library of Congress, shows that $993,307,017 has been appropriated for projects in the 17 western reclamation States in the years 1939 to 1949.

Arizona is now seeking authorization for the Central Arizona Project (H. R. 934) in Congress.

The Bureau of Reclamation report on this project states that its minimum cost would be $738,408,000. BUT this amount does NOT include additional appropriations of approximately 800 million dollars for tunnels, canals, a great dam at Glen Canyon, and other works which, it is admitted, are absolutely necessary to protect and complete the Central Arizona Project.

Therefore, a minimum of $4,500,000,000 would be required for this single project in Arizona. That is 600 million dollars more than Congress has given the 17 reclamation States in the last 11 years.

Should this vast amount of money be handed to Arizona for single project, what chance have other reclamation States to get money vital to their own progress and development?

The Central Arizona Project would empty the reclamation money barrel for years to come.

Here is another fact to consider:

History shows that the actual cost of reclamation projects exceeds original estimates by two or three times. Good examples of this are the Colorado-Big Thompson and the Central Valley Projects.

There is no reason to believe the Central Arizona Project would not cost at least twice as much as the present estimates. Thus, if the Central Arizona Project were authorized, reclamation funds which might have gone to other States would be denied them for at least a generation.

In addition to the prohibitive cost of the Central Arizona Project:

- 1 - There is no assured water supply for it.
2 - Those who would benefit from the Central Project do not plan to repay one cent of its cost. The U. S. Treasurer - taxpayers from all States - would have to pay the cost.
3 - The Central Arizona Project is so infeasible that it could not pay even the cost of its operation and maintenance.

thought they could use credit "to weather the financial storm of unemployment."

Mrs. Huffmeyer pointed out that customers should not feel it is wise to obtain credit without a reasonable idea of when they can pay. Local merchants and others who extend credit must not go too far in permitting customers too much latitude beyond agreed-upon terms.

"Let's go back to Little Orphan Annie's statement," said Mrs. Huffmeyer. "Banks, merchants and other credit granters are prepared to serve you in emergencies, but it is best for you to discuss the matter frankly with your banker, grocer, gas company, department store - and, of course, your doctor, dentist, or hospital if you have unexpected illness."

Usually any type of credit grantor will make special arrangements for people who are unemployed or in some temporary type of financial embarrassment. But too liberal a credit policy, Mrs. Huffmeyer emphasized, sometimes causes merchants to go broke.

Substantial credit losses and business failures add on to the cost of the good things available on credit. Intelligent credit granting, however, has so far kept these losses at an infinitesimal low of one-tenth to one-third of one per cent.

Considering these points, then Mrs. Huffmeyer says Alfred University's Survey indicates that every adult should find out about credit privileges and their accompanying obligations. "It is terribly important," she added, "that the use of credit and the necessity for maintaining a good credit record be explained in every family. The young folks of today build the homes of tomorrow."

Accident Rate Is Lowered When Ailments Of The Feet Are Cured

Since World War II employ- ers with health programs have been giving more and more at- tention to foot troubles among their employees.

As a result, hundreds of thou- sands of employees in factories, department stores and utilities can now receive free check-ups from company chiropodists.

A survey revealed that 70 per cent of all workers have "aching feet." One in ten re- ported trouble so serious that it caused absence from work from two to seven days a month.

Some of the ailments are oc- cupational. Workers who must walk a great deal on hard pave- ment or floors may develop po- licemen's heel. "Chauffeur's foot" is caused by a callus which grows on the foot used to press the accelerator. "Waiters' feet" come from kicking open the door between kitchens and dining rooms. Tight shoes are a pro- lific cause of foot aches, espe- cially among women.

The cost of sore feet in ac- cidents, absenteeism, and slow- down, due to fatigue, is estimat- ed by chiropodists at $600,000, 000 per year. It has been found that workers with sore feet are more apt to fall at a crucial moment. Dozens of employees have decided that foot clinics will be good business if they prevent such mishaps and pre- vent employees getting the "footache grouches."

being offered during the sum- mer at H-SU. The courses in- clude those in art and penman- ship, Bible, biology, business ad- ministration, chemistry, educa- tion and psychology, English, French, government, history, journalism, mathematics, physics, physical education, radio, Span- ish, speech, and music. Special workshops are being conducted in art, reading, curriculum, mu- sic education and child study.

Two special summer schools, for band and vocal students, are being sponsored by the Univers- ity's School of Music. The tenth annual school for band di- rectors and band members will be held August 15 to 27. The John Finley Westminster Choir college will be held from July 6 to 16.

Commencement exercises for graduates will be held Friday, August 19.

Billy Mac Jobe Buys Grocery

Representative Billy Mac Jobe

of the 17th district, composed of Callahan and Eastland Counties, has purchased the Altom White Grocery from Mr. White, who purchased the business from W. A. Everett several years ago, and has been operating the busi- ness since. Mr. White has en- joyed a good business and will retire with many friends made while in business.

Mr. White has not announced any plans for the future so far as the News has been informed. He probably will rest awhile before entering any other line of business.

Open Weather Is Needed By Farms Over Texas

Open weather was urgently needed in the Low Rolling Plains where harvest of small grains was brought to a stand- still and in the High Plains where maturity of wheat was further delayed by another week of rainy weather. Damage from lodging has not been excessive but further delay in the devel- opment and harvesting could result in serious losses. Harvest operations in the Low Rolling Plains are past the peak and the wheat in the South Plains is ready for full scale operations as soon as the weather clears.

Flooding rains have washed out considerable acreage of cot- ton in the High Plains and Low Rolling Plains, and wet fields were causing serious delay in re-seeding operations. Unless soils dry within a few days, much of this flooded acreage may be diverted to sorghums. In most other areas, cotton made good growth and fields were well cultivated. Early crops were blooming in central counties and were forming squares as far north as Dallas. Widespread but moderate infestations of in- sects were reported.

The corn crop continued to make good growth with rainfall during the week relieving dry conditions in many eastern, southcentral and southern coun- ties. Considerable acreage of sorghums remains to be planted in northwest areas, especially since some intended acreage of cotton may be diverted to sorghums. Planting progress was slow during the week. The growing crop in other areas was responding favorably to good moisture conditions. Spotted rains helped the crop in the Coastal end and southern coun- ties. Some very good yields of hay were being realized in all areas to more than offset some losses from frequent rains in the northwest. The rice crop is in good condition. Peanut planting continued in northern areas and growth was good in all areas.

Range and pasture grass con- tinued to make excellent devel- opment in most northern and all northwestern counties as rain continued. Scattered showers in ties and heavy rains in the eastern and Trans-Pecos coun- ties and southern counties were beneficial in checking de- terioration in those areas which were getting dry. Cattle and sheep continued to make fair to good gains. Heavy marketing of spring lambs and yearling lambs continued, although the volume was substantially below a year ago.

Gas Has Got It!

Only one half-pound of inexpensive meat serves four people and makes American Chop-Suey. Melt 1 Tbsp fat in large skillet or Dutch oven. Add 1 medium chopped onion. Fry until onion is yellow. Cube 1/2 lb lean fresh pork shoulder and brown. Add 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 diced green pepper, 1/4 lb mushrooms (optional), 1/2 cup uncooked rice, 1 tsp salt. Dissolve 2 bouillon cubes in 2 1/2 cups boiling water and pour over mixture. Cover closely and bring to a boil. As soon as steam escapes from cover, turn flame down to simmer point and cook 35 to 40 mins.

Try flavoring salad dressing for fruit salad with peanut butter. Blend 1/2 cup peanut butter with 1/2 cup dressing.

One of the causes of coarse cake texture is baking in too slow an oven. The thermostat of your gas oven can be set to the exact degree of heat needed to overcome this baking problem.

Youngsters won't object to castor oil when it is stored in your gas refrigerator in a wide-mouthed jar until it's gummy to make it tasteless. Then just add to ice cold orange juice.

Research by the gas industry reveals that women can save much cleaning effort by using hotter water. It's easy to govern exact temperatures by turning up the thermostat on your automatic gas water heater to 150° F., for example, for mopping dirty floors.

For the Men Who Succeed

and for those who will some day succeed them, our suggestion is that they invest part of their earnings in real estate. Wise investments in real properties have yielded fortunes to many people. Those who do not in this venture never gamble on the title. They buy only quality abstracts made by those who have themselves invested wisely — in their plant — in their personnel — and in their responsibility to the public.
