The first was to interest the young boys of the community in model building in their spare time and the second purpose was to permit some of the older "boys" a period of relaxation.

The idea of the club originated with a group of men who were interested in small planes and interested in the youth of the Comunity. They met for several weeks and built and flew their models before the natural curiosity of the younger boys took effect. The artificial breeding program as sponsored by the Eastland County Dairy Association is making progress, A. Z. Myrick, Cisco, President of the organization said recently. Starting the artificial breeding program on February 8 of this year, a total of 286 cows have been bred in this manner up to June 1.

"The butterfat production of the average milk cow in the county will probably run around 125 pounds per year at the present time. We expect to more than double this with the first generation of heifers produced from artificial insemination and in five or six years we expect to have a surplus of high quality dairy heifers to sell to outside buyers," commented Myrick, who has operated commercial dairy on the southern outskirts of Cisco for the past 24 years.

"Good breeding, feeding, management and marketing of milk will assure our county of making a name for itself in the dairy world and we are on our way toward this goal," Myrick concluded.

Any owner of milk cows in the county who wishes to ortificially breed to an outstanding bull is requested to phone 133-F at Carbon, breeding technician for the organization. The cow does not have to be purebred to secure the service. However should she be purebred and registered, the resulting calf can also be registered, it was said.
