Fruit Growers Study Honor Rolls Are Announced For Damage From Freeze City High School

freezing temperatures damaged night's low near 40 degrees. ges to Roy . G. T. Bridges to their orchards, County Agent J M. Cooper reported today. Mr. Cooper said he was "a little uneasy" about the trees.

Unseasonal warm weather had produced blooms in some or hards, particularly peaches.

Some fruit growers believed damage would be slight due to the fact that the trees were coated by freezing rains Saturday night before the weekend ow of 21 degrees was recorded here Sunday night.

J. E. Spencer, local peach grower, planned to tour his orchards today. He doubted if the damage would be extensive.

Mr. Cooper said that pecan groves would not be hurt by the old weather due to the fact that they had not started budding. Freezing temperatures were
