The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE RECENT election on the meter question has settled the argument. We're glad to find that the city is going to us one way or the other. The election. And that's as it should be.

GLAD TO HEAR that people are interested in building summer recreational facilities at Lake Cisco Park. The city now has under advisement such a proposal from an Abilene company. As we understand it, the firm will either remove the old house of the city or build something in the area where the old zoo was located.

WE WERE interested in looking for copies of The Press for ten years ago. The paper was full of Lake Cisco Park and pool openings. They had a big style show and everything. And the crowds came from everywhere. Wonder something like that would go on now?

THE JOURNALISM CLASS of Cisco Junior College is going to be over at The Press office next Friday and write the news for that day's edition. The students are enthusiastic about the project, and we believe you will see their work.

ABOUT THIS time every year we start having trouble with the word "baccalaureate." Ordinarily it can spell it. But when it starts coming in spelled in various ways we get confused and give up. We've just opened the dictionary and the right place for quick reference every time it comes up.

DID YOUR DOG lose its collar? A dog collar with a rabies tag No. 2390 issued at Fort Dodge was reported that nobody has said anything of his home at 309 West 14th Street. And the owner is welcome to it by calling at the same.

BEST STORY we've heard in some time deals with the man who couldn't sleep. Worry was the root of his troubles. He was a suit manufacturer and went to a doctor.

"Have you tried counting sheep?" asked the doctor.

"Counting them?" said the man. "I've not only counted sheep — I've sheared them, woven the wool into cloth, made it into suits, sold them, and lost money — and still can't sleep."

THEN THERE'S the story about the young preacher who looked over his congregation on Easter Sunday and remarked: "I realize that there are some of you here who will not be with us again until next Easter. And I want to take this opportunity to wish them a Merry Christmas."

Credit School To Be Held In City

Plans for a week's school on credit procedures for the Cisco area were announced Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Merchants Credit Association. The school will be held under the association's sponsorship from May 29 to June 2 at the Victor Hotel.

Members of the association voted to adopt a program worked out by the Retail Trade Committee.

ROUTINE business matters were discussed.

FINAL PLANS BEING MADE FOR GIRL SCOUT FINANCE CAMPAIGN

Committee heads to direct the annual Girl Scout drive, which is scheduled to begin soon, were being appointed by Finance Chairman Stanley Webb and final plans for the drive were being prepared, it was announced by the local executive committee.

The budget has been set at $1,500 and Mr. Webb issued an appeal to the citizens of the town to rally behind the campaign to aid him and his committee in making it a success.

The drive will be carried on much like the annual Red Cross drive which exceeded the quota by some $1,000.

The executive committee stressed the need for the work in Cisco and if the drive is successful an expansion program is planned. The starting of troops for Negro and Mexican girls is being planned as is an overall educational program for the troops already established.

A large portion of the money will remain in the local treasury to finance camps and work projects. The remainder goes to the area and national offices to aid in the establishment of permanent summer camps and other activities.

Gustine Wins In Game With Cisco

Gustine's softball team staged a 5-run rally in the final inning Tuesday night to defeat the Cisco All-Stars by a score of 9 to 3 in a game at ABC Field. A large crowd turned out for the game.

Cisco held the lead until the Gustine team pushed across two runs in the sixth to take the lead, 4 to 3. The seventh inning uprisings gave the visitors the decision.

Suddeth was on the mound for Gustine, while W. Black pitched for Cisco.

Thursday night's schedule calls for West Texas Utilities Co. to play Scranton at ABC Field. No game is scheduled in the Inter-City League.

City Considers Plans To Build Summer Cottage

Members of the city commission took under advisement Tuesday night an application by the Crane Printing and Lithographing Company of Abilene to build summer cottages at Lake Cisco for their employees.

The commission considered the matter at the regular semi-monthly meeting.

Mayor G. C. Rosenthal said no action was taken because the company had not definitely decided what it wants to build. Mr. Rosenthal asked Mr. Crane to look over the old house owned by the city near the country club and to submit definite plans.

The mayor added that the city would cooperate in any way practical to establish recreational facilities for its employees at the lake.

The council approved routine reports.

Tickets On Sale For PTA Program Saturday Night

Requests for tickets to the West Ward P-TA program planned for Saturday night, May 13, in which Mrs. May Davis Moore will be presented in a dramatic interpretation of a popular novel, are coming in from towns in the area and officials of the organization were assured a good reception of their program which was planned for the area as a means of adding to the cultural entertainment of the citizens.

Mrs. Moore will present her interpretation of "Life With Mother," in keeping with the Mother's Day theme. Her ability as an entertainer has been highly acclaimed by newspapers and other publications all over the nation.

Arlin Bint, superintendent of the Cisco public school system, has attended one of her programs and he urged everyone to hear the artist. He said that she was a wonderful entertainer and those who failed to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear her would miss one of the best programs ever brought to Cisco.

Mrs. Delmar Johnston, president of the P-TA, reported that the tickets were on sale and available from association members. The price has been set at 50 cents for adults and 20 cents for students. The program is not being presented as a money raising affair, she said, but is being brought here purely for the entertainment here purely for the entertainment of citizens of the area. The small admission charge is being made to aid the club in defraying the expense of bringing Mrs. Moore here.

Rotarians Sound Protest On Use Of Lions' 'Ump'

Plans for Lion E. L. Jackson to umpire Saturday night's charity softball game between the Lions and Rotary Clubs brought a protest today from members of the Rotary Club.

"We are confident that Mr. Jackson is a good umpire," said Manager Charley Graham of the Rotary Club team. "But he is a Lion. And if the Lions insist on using him, we are going to insist that Rotarian Bill Hogue be permitted to work as an umpire, too."

Graham suggested that Jackson be permitted to call balls and strikes when Rotarians are at bat, and that Hogue call "what he sees" when Lions are at the plate. And this appeared to be the compromise arrangement on the umpiring situation.

Both Graham and Lion Manager Chief Warden planned to announce their lineups in the next day or two. Neither manager had scheduled a practice session.

Meanwhile, tickets went on sale for the game. Members of the Cisco Junior College Choral Club are selling tickets for the game. Proceeds will go into the treasury of the Cisco Welfare Association for use in local charity work.

The game will begin at 7 p. m. and will last for five innings or one hour, depending on which ends first.

After this contest, Kilgore's Creamery of Eastland and Cisco Junior College's Wranglers will play to provide fans with a twin-bill.

Mrs. Howell Sledge and daughter, Patricia, are visiting in Eastland with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Bassett spent the weekend at Littlefield, near Lubbock, where they were visiting his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Bassett.

Patterson Well Seen As Best In Lake Sand Pool Near City

NOW, WHERE'S SHE GOING?—Why, it's comedienne Joan Davis cutting up for the ship's photographer in New York. Joan was sailing for Europe aboard the Ile de France for a little vacation and when she was asked to strike a pose, well, what could be more natural for Joan? Anyway, it must mean "bye, bye."

TWO WELLS DUE TO BE FINISHED SOON

Initial completion efforts today indicated that the Chester Imes No. 1 B. W. Patterson, Lake sand oil test just east of Cisco, has good possibilities of being the pool's best well.

The cement plug was drilled early today in the Patterson well. The tools went 18 feet into the Lake sand and oil and considerable gas appeared. The well was "killed" to be shot with nitroglycerine late today. Oil men said the well "looked very good."

Also being drilled in today was the E. C. Johnston No. 1 Mahan-Edwards. The plug was drilled this morning and Lake sand was expected to be picked up during the day. Completion work was expected to be finished Thursday.

The Johnston Company's No. 1 Daniels, in the same area, has been completed and placed on pump. Although no potential test has been run, it is expected to make at least 35 barrels per day.

Program Planned To Begin Bond Sales Campaign

DALLAS, May 10 — Facilities of three major radio networks—NBC, ABC, and MBC—will air a full hour's program Monday from 8 to 9 p. m., Central Standard Time, inaugurating the Independence Savings Bonds Drive, officials of the Treasury Department announced here today.

The broadcasts will feature brief addresses by President Truman and Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, and a radio show including several name bands and more than 20 radio and movie personalites.

Secretary Snyder will speak from Independence Hall, Philadelphia, when ceremonies inaugurating the drive will be held. The original Liberty Bell, mute since 1835 when it cracked in tolling the death of Chief Justice John Marshall, will be tapped lightly by the secretary, after which its full voice, reproduced in 49 exact duplicates for the Savings Bond drive, will be heard. Mr. Snyder will introduce President Truman, who will be speaking from Chicago.

One of the 49 replicas of the Liberty Bell will visit 120 Texas cities and towns during the seven week drive, and will participate in the state "kickoff" of the campaign in Fort Worth next Tuesday.

The organ is being given to the university, the Donahues said, "because of the excellent training which is being given our daughter, Mildred."

Miss Donahue is a senior at H-SU.

MUCH INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN ROUNDUP CLUB ARENA OPENING

Interest in the Roundup Club's official rodeo arena opening, scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Sunday, was mounting as contestants from all over Texas notified officials of their intention of entering the special rodeo events scheduled for the day.

Enough entrants have entered to assure a full two hour arena program. Some of the leading ropers and roping horses will be entered in the team roping and the jackpot roping events, it was reported.

In the team roping events riding clubs and sheriff's posses of many Texas towns have sent entry blanks. In this event the teams will be composed of two members and the average time of the two ropers will be considered in awarding the prizes.

In the jackpot roping individual ropers will vie with each other for the prize money.

In addition to the roping events there will be bronc riding, various races for men and boys and women and girls.

Tickets for the arena program and the barbecue that will close the program are on sale by the Roundup Club members and may be purchased for $1. The tickets include the program and the barbecue.

Fort Worth Man To Be Speaker At CJC Service

Hayden Edwards of Fort Worth has been selected as the commencement speaker by the senior class of Cisco Junior College, it was reported by President O. L. Stamey. The exercises will be held at the college at 8 p. m. May 25.

Mr. Edwards is one of the best known speakers of the south, having served for a number of years as State Chaplain for Lions International.

The week of May 21 will be spent in taking final examinations and completing final semester work. The school will officially close on May 26. President Stamey stated that final plans were being made to begin summer classes soon after the close of the regular year.

Three chartered buses brought students from Sweetwater High School. They spent the day swimming, golfing, boating and picnicking.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Lewis of Throckmorton spent the weekend in Cisco where they were the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Waddell.

THE COST OF WELFARE -

The Economist, of London — which is England's principal journal in its field — recently published a searching article "The Cost of Welfare." It deals only with the experience in Britain. But it is of worldwide significance, in that it shows clearly how social services grow in scope and cost on an amazing scale, much like a snowball rolling downhill.

At the beginning of this century, according to The Economist, public social services cost about one pound (the pound is now valued at $2.30) per head of population. By 1936, it had grown to 10 pounds, and now it has reached 37 pounds. Allowing for changes in the purchasing power of the pound, social expenditures by the government on each person in Great Britain are 12 times as great as they were 50 years ago. And social expenditures have outstripped all other public expenditures.

It is commonly believed that the present huge budgets of the major nations are principally the result of the huge expenditures that have arisen from wars, past and prospective. But The Economist found that this is not so in the case of Britain. Strange as it may seem, in England war expenditures including both war pensions and interest on the national debt, are just about the same proportion of the national income as before the last war. The magazine then says: "It is, then, social rather than defense spending which dominates the budget."

Most interesting of all is The Economist's account of how government social security developed in Britain, in a very short period of time. Prior to 1903, poor relief and public education were practically the only forms of social payments. In that year the First Old Age Pensions Act was passed, followed by a National Health Act in 1911. Then the trend was really under way. New pension acts were passed, along with measures covering unemployment, maternity, child welfare, etc. By now, as everyone knows, cradle-to-grave social security is firmly established in Britain.

The cost — whatever one may think of the theory — is enormous. It now represents about 43% of Britain's total governmental appropriations. And the burden is not borne by the rich by any means. It falls squarely on those with middle and low incomes. As an example, The Economist estimates that the average working-class family, with a total annual income of less than 500 pounds, spends out 72 pounds a year in beer and tobacco taxes alone! The Economist's concluding line is not original, but it bears repeating: "It is still true that nobody — or practically nobody — gets anything for nothing."

In the swamps along the Savannah River, in Georgia and South Carolina, game wardens light a constant war on poachers.

NEWS FEATURES OF THE DAY

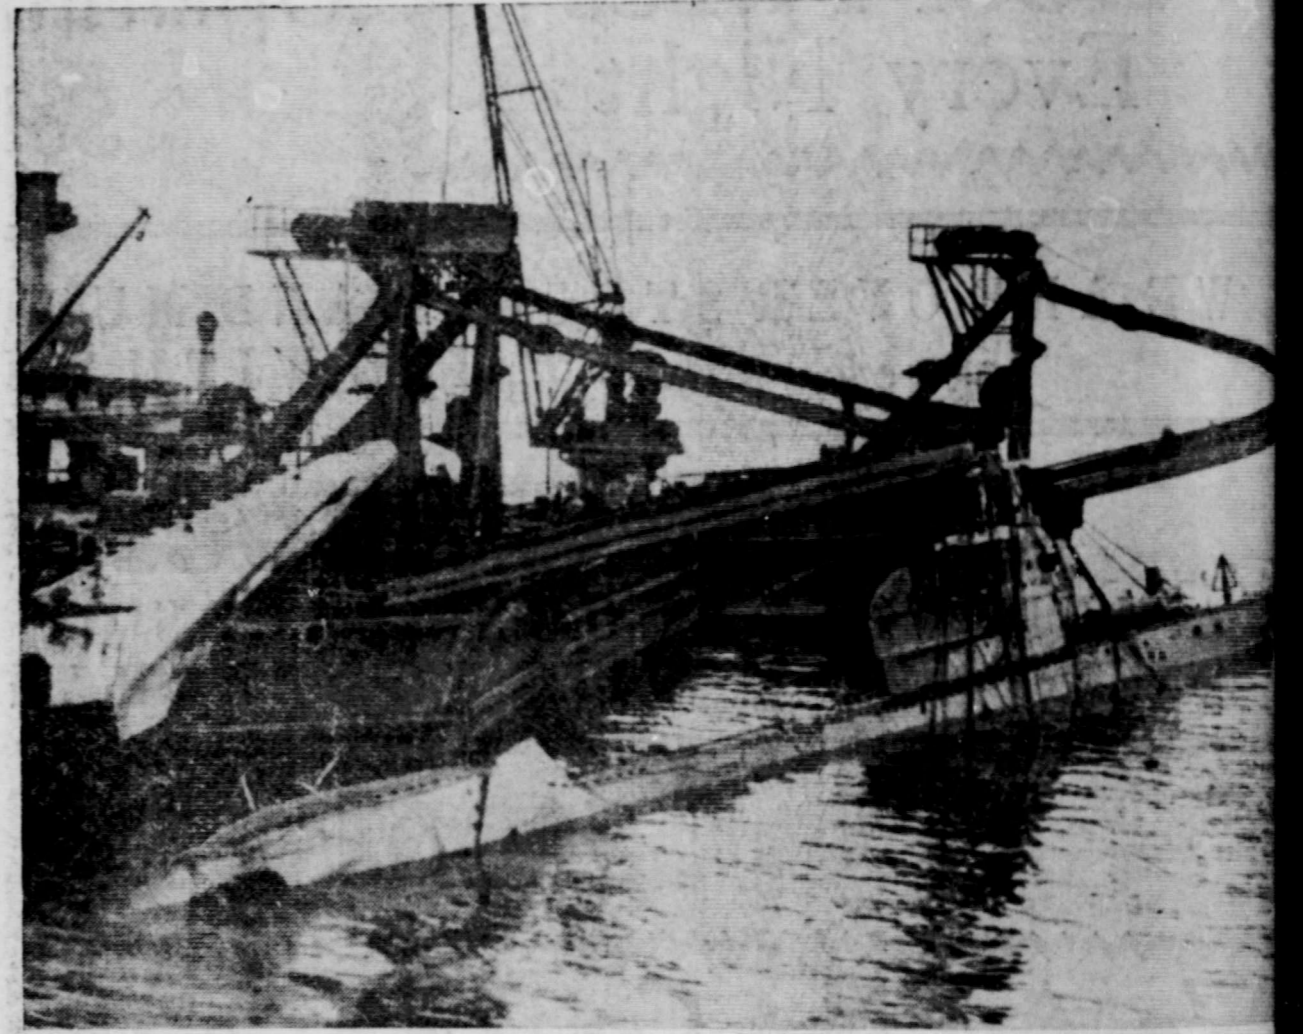

CAMBRIDGE OARS IN ACTION—The Cambridge boat race crewmen make their first appearance this year on the Thames Tideway, near Putney, England. They're getting ready for their annual clash with Oxford on April 1st.

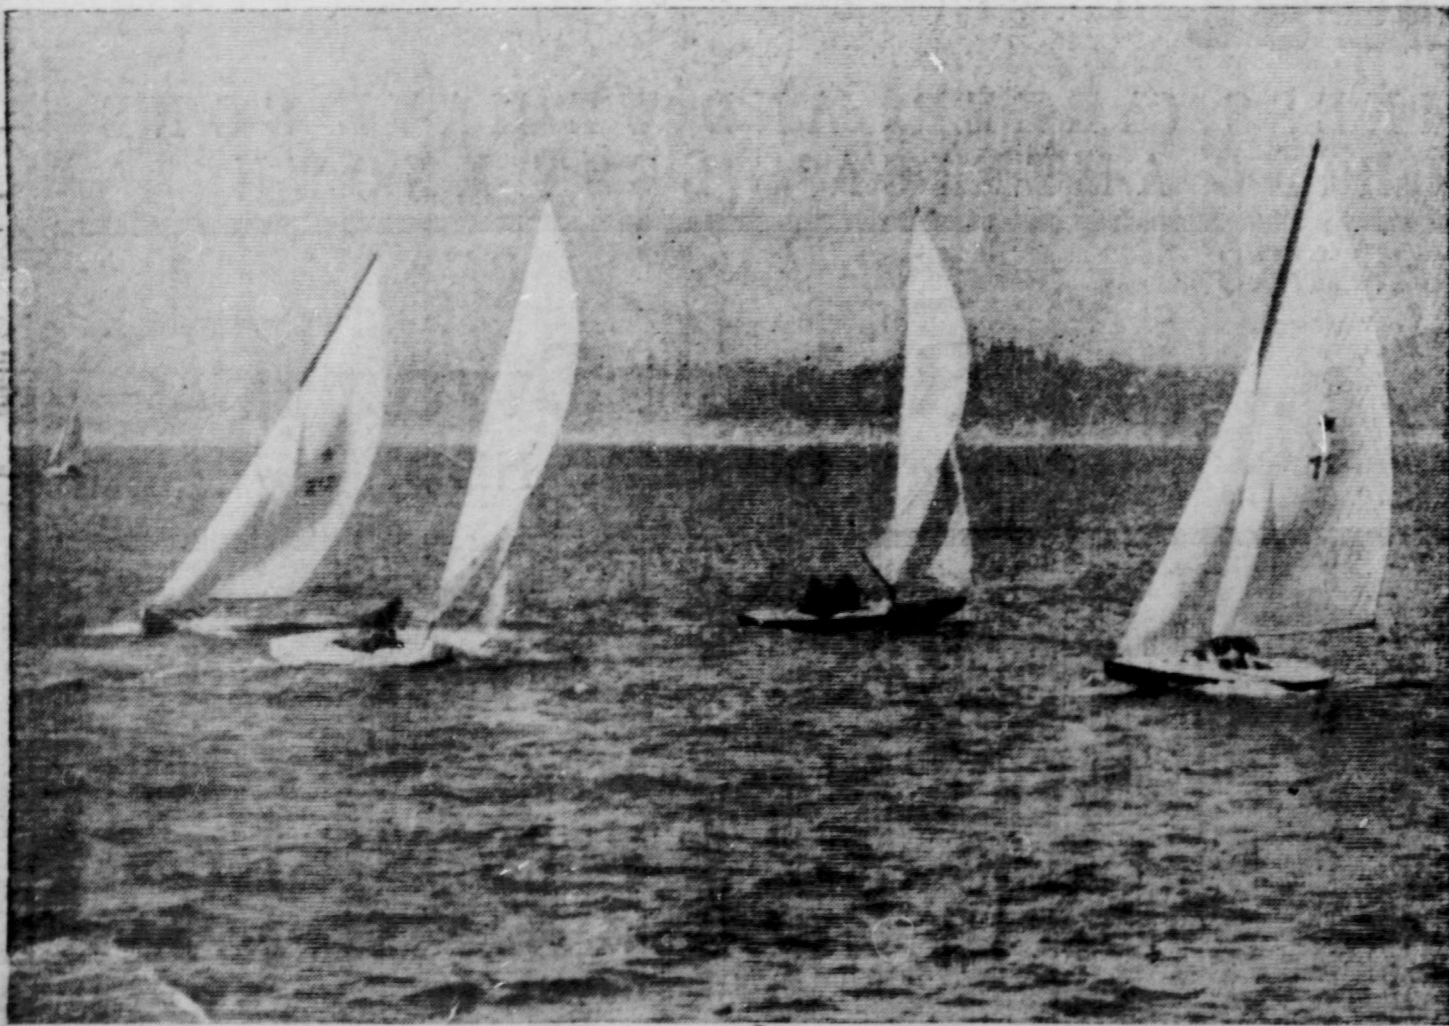

ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE—As part of the shipment of 94 jeeps and station wagons being sent to Latin America by the Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, this jeep was given a strenuous sendoff at Lake Success, N.Y. At the sendoff, Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, UNICEF fund-raising coordinator, and the youngsters are children whose parents work for the U.S. Army.

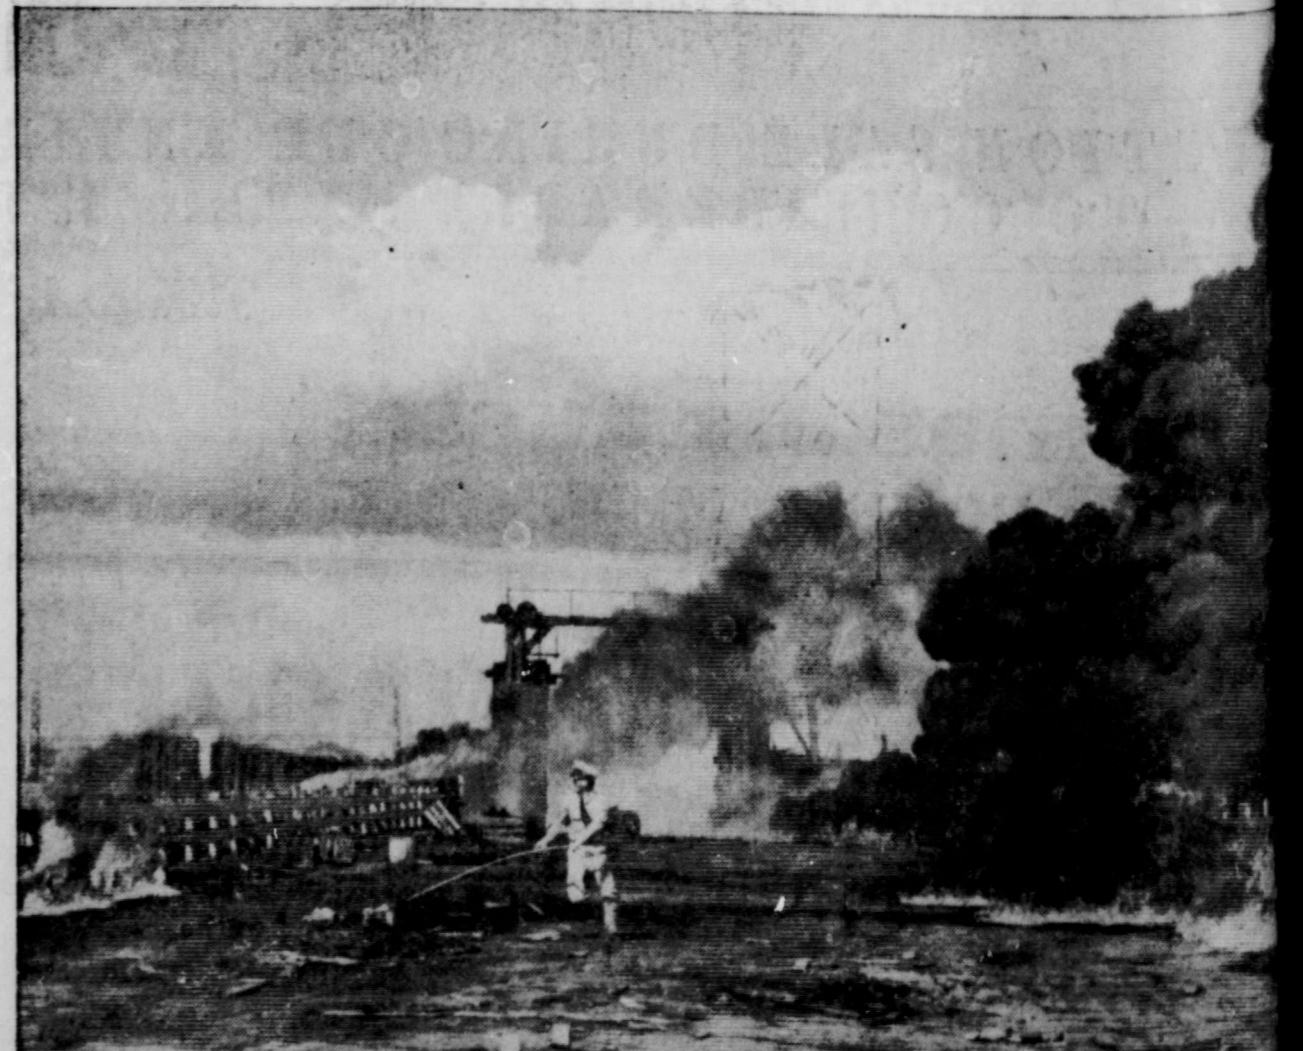

IDEAL HOME—Architect Henri Prouve displays his aluminum house, built on piles, at the 1950 annual Ideal Home Exhibition in Paris, France. This home, designed for a family of four, is included in the show which featured household accessories as well as houses.

FUTURE INDEFINITE—The British submarine Truculent, which sank January 12 with a loss of 64 lives, has been raised and beached on a sandbank near Sheerness, England. An attempt will be made to free the ill-fated sub, and tow it to Sheerness, where it will be pumped dry and patched up. There it will stay until its future has been decided.

TRYING OUT THE WATER—Four boat-loads of yachting enthusiasts are shown jumping the gun on official yachting season by holding an impromptu race in the San Francisco, Calif., bay. These boatmen probably felt they needed to tune up a little before entering any official competition after a winter of inactivity, during which the boats were laid up.

BURNING THE FAST—The past goes up in smoke as Warrant Officer Roland D. Foster, Army Engineer Corps, sets fire to a long-dormant ferry mole in Alameda, Calif. The mole was destroyed because rotting piers, driven in the last century, have been found and floating into the path of seaplanes landing and taking off. It hasn't been used for the past 12 years.

FARMER OF THE WEEK....

Clark Stock Farm, One Of Best In Area To Hold Cow Auction

One of the finest herds of registered Hereford cattle in Eastern... County will move out to improve herds elsewhere on Wednesday, June 7, when Dr. F. E. Clark holds an auction sale at his 600-acre stock farm four miles west of Cisco.

R. Peterson of Fort Worth, well known cattle auctioneer, has been engaged to conduct Dr. Clark's dispersal sale. And in addition to that cattlemen from four or five states will be invited to bid on the Anxiety 4th Herd.

To be offered in the auction are some 43 cows, three fine bulls, and some 25 calves. Starting with the blooded cat will be hard for the veteran physician. But the doctor ordered him to slow down, to three operations, and Dr. Clark believes in following the doctor's orders.

Dr. Clark won't get out of the business, however, as he plans to replace the Herefords with Jerseys and sell the calves. The Clark stock farm, which is one of the best in the area, is an example of modern methods and farm techniques can do for workland. Some five years ago, Clark bought 640 acres of land for $12,000. Today, he would make $60 an acre for his holding in addition to valuable cattle, the farm has other assets. More than 100 Angora goats provide crops of mohair each year. They have more than 1,000 trees. Many of the trees are producing paper shell pecans. Dr. Clark has been told that his pecan crop will be more valuable than his cattle. Operating closely with the farm agent and with the conservation service, Dr. Clark's tillable land is a patchwork of grasses. He has some 10 different varieties, including big little blue stem, wild rye, vetch mixed with side oats, gramma, and the King Ranch grass. Some grass seed have cost up to $100 per pound.

lent cover crops, the grasses are mowed three times a year to be baled into hay for winter feeding. With a large variety of grasses, Dr. Clark has green pastures the year around. He has used considerable fertilizer in rebuilding his soil. Terrace work has not been overlooked.

At least a half dozen excellent stock tanks are scattered over his 500 acres. The farm is showing the benefits of wise management. The soil would grow anything. The buildings are in an excellent state of repair with all modern conveniences. Some 300 chickens roam the yard. A large garden is beginning to produce.

Dr. Clark is a native Texan. He was born in Collins County at McKinney and came to this area as a boy of 10 in 1898. His family settled at Atwell, 18 miles southwest of Cisco, and Dr. Clark recalls many occasions when "I rode a bale of cotton to Cisco."

The location of the Clarks' attractive brick home on Avenue N in the southwest part of town was influenced partly by his trips to town on a bale of cotton. He said he always wanted to live in a house "on that gravel hill." And it came to pass. The home was built in 1927.

Dr. Clark is a graduate of the University of Texas School of Medicine at Galveston. He was in school there from 1908 to 1912. He first began practicing here but after a few years moved to Kent County where he was in practice for several years. In 1918 Dr. Clark came back to Cisco and hung up his shingle for keeps. He has delivered more than 3,000 babies in the Cisco area, and he says it's difficult to go down the street without seeing somebody he ushered into the world.

Dr. Clark still is active in his profession, confining his work largely to office and city calls. He has long been interested in civic affairs and held commissions in both World War I and II.

Dr. Clark was married on June 2, 1912, just after finishing medical school, to Miss Leila McCrary of Center, Shelby County. They have four daughters, Mrs. Carl Siddall of Freeport, Mrs. Thomas Smartt of Cisco, Mrs. O. Odom Jr. of Cisco, and Mrs. Leo Hatten of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Mrs. Hatten, whose husband is a first lieutenant in the regular army, has been in Honolulu some two months.

His friends are convinced that Dr. Clark will have some trouble parting with his cattle when sale time comes. He knows all of them by name. Most of his herd came to Cisco one or two at a time as he visited sales over the county.

In replacing his beautiful Herefords with fine milch cow stock, Dr. Clark will have the realization that he is contributing something of lasting value to his community — dairy stock that will bring prosperity to the small farmers.

EBERHART PROVES WISDOM OF SOIL CONSERVATION PRACTICES

When the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District was organized in 1941, J. B. Eberhart was elected to represent Zone 5, on the board of supervisors. He, and the Chairman of the board, Walter Fritts, are the only two board members who have served continuously since that date.

Mr. Eberhart owns and operates 970 acres of farm and ranch lands, 4 miles north of Rising Star. Of this land, 408 acres in cultivation, and 555 acres are in pasture land.

He uses a rotation of peanuts, and vetch and rye for grazing, on all his cultivated land. In speaking of vetch, he often states, "I make my money on vetch from grazing and soil-building. At harvest time, if there are any seed on it, I combine it, and regard it as a bonus. If the seed don't make, I'm still ahead."

Mr. Eberhart is working on methods of doing trashy mulch tillage. In one of his fields this year, he assisted his center in running flat sweeps under his rye, leaving all possible straw on the surface. He is confident that he will make higher yields, at a cheaper cost, and at the same time keep more protection on his land, than if he had turned the crop under.

On his pastures, he has bulldozed 285 acres of brush, and is killing the sprouts, by use of goats. He leaves the brush lying on the ground, and the grass thus protected is making good growth, and will be an excellent seed source for the land in between, once the goats are removed.

In summing up his conservation practices applied to date, he works 231 acres on the contour, plants a vetch and rye cover crop on 408 acres, practices trashy mulch tillage on 356 acres, is improving his 555 acres of pasture land, strip crops 226 acres, and has constructed 11 miles of terraces, one mile of diversion terraces, and three farm ponds.

In addition to this, Mr. Eberhart has been tireless in his efforts to spread the Soil Conservation District program as far as possible. He has spent many hours of his own time, and traveled thousands of miles at his own expense, in trying to spread this good work.

There's Magic In Litter On Floor Of The Henhouse

There's magic in the litter on henhouse floors that poultrymen formerly thought they had to clean out and renew frequently. Substances in the residue, when it is allowed to accumulate, aid egg production, hatchability, and livability and fast chick growth.

A report on the wonders of the built-up litter is given in a farm magazine by D. C. Kennard, poultry investigator at Ohio Agricultural Department Station.

"We find a nugget at our feet," Kennard wrote in his report. "Animal protein factors, including vitamin B-12, are developed by chemical and bacterial action in built-up laying and brooder house litter."

This residue is started with the usual amount of any suitable material such as chopped straw, wood shavings, sawdust or pulverized cobs. More is added as needed until floor cover is 3 to 12 inches deep.

Filth is destroyed by chemical action," the story says. "Fiber and manure decompose and become like compost. In the processes the animal protein factors of vitamins for health and growth are produced."

"Built up litter has economical, sanitary and nutritional advantages. Chief saying is in labor and materials. Chicks grow faster when litter accumulates. We have lost very few chicks from dread coccidiosis on built-up material. This litter provides favorable surroundings for growth of natural parasites of organisms causing coccidiosis. Ammonia, a product of fermentation, prevents the development of disease organisms in the litter.

"Hens lay well without having ever set foot on the ground or green feed. Some of the best pullet layers at Ohio station in '49 were started and raised on litter that had been used for three years previously."

FARM NEWS

By The Hired Hand

Here we are again with some brief news items about your farm neighbors over the county.

The most productive pear tree we know anything about is located on the Troy Lamb farm on the Rising Star highway. Last year, this one tree produced 50 bushels of pears.

The Lambs have a new smoke house built over an underground cellar. It is really a beautiful little red tile building.

They are also happy about the new tin barn which is used for storing feed for their cattle.

T. P. Simpson is seeking to raise a big crop of peanuts and feed this year.

The Simpsons are looking forward to receiving a lot of eggs from their 365 white leghorn pullets.

Their son, Rev. Curtis Simpson, is a former Cisco resident who is now pastoring the Mangum Baptist Church, while he attends school at Hardin-Simmons University.

In addition to peanuts, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rich, who live 9 miles south of town, are planning to raise peas, corn, tomatoes, cantaloupes, and watermelons.

Mr. Rich is much improved from an illness he has had since last September and is now able to do some work on his farm.

Due to the late freeze, their big orchard will not produce very much fruit this year.

In the Romney community, we met Cecil Carter, who was busy taking care of the farmers who come by his service station and grocery.

Glad to have Cecil as one of this week's new subscribers to The Press.

Last week end, W. J. Hammer of Nimrod was trying to buy a small boar hog weighing about 125 pounds. He has six head of hogs now and is planning to have some more in the near future.

Hammer is planning on a big crop of peanuts this year.

J. A. Parkerson is planning to rebuild a farm that has been a bit run down.

At present he is a carpenter by trade, but the Parkersons are raising some chickens at their Romney home. They plan to do some farming in the future.

Jess Graham has done a grand job of making an old army building into a beautiful farm home. After covering asbestos shingles around the building, and putting a new roof on it, he trimmed it with yellow shutters for the windows.

At present Jess is working 210 acres over the county, with 140 acres in peanuts.

Paul Ivie of Route 2, Cisco, has recently completed a new tin dairy barn with concrete floor. He already has a number of cows to start what he hopes will be a prosperous dairy business.

Recently he began a house-to-house milk delivery service in Cisco. We wish Paul a successful future in his new farming venture.
