FARM NEWS

By The Hired Hand

Here we are again with some more farm and ranch news which we hope will be of interest to you.

The authorities tell us that the farmers of the South are due a good crop of insects this year due to the mild winter. However, we are told that losses from most of the "little varmints" can be avoided if the farmers choose the right chemical poisons.

Perhaps you peanut farmers will be interested in some protection against "leaf spot," a real hazard to peanut crops. Not that we are trying to advertise any remedy, but it is reported that an old and reliable protection against "leaf spot" is 10-90 copper sulphate, dusted on for the first time when the plants are six to eight inches high and about every 14 days thereafter.

Brady Boggs, who lives just off the Lake Road near the rodeo arena, told us that he is having trouble with "punkin bugs" on his squash vines. He's looking for a sure remedy.

Since Christmas, Mr. Boggs has built some fine new fences on his farm. During this time, he has taken time out to plant potatoes, tomatoes, beans and squash. He reported that prospects look good for his grain crop this year. His grains include oats, red top and sudan. According to Boggs, his sudan is growing at the rate of three or four inches a day.

Brady Boggs was also happy over the price that two of his calves brought at the auction Monday. He has four other calves which may soon be on their way to market.

Down the highway, we saw Wesley Smith busy with ten handsome white face Herefords. He said he had 25 more head about seven miles north of town. Smith is a part-time ranchman who is employed with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

He has a beautiful spot picked out for his ranch home of the future.

At the Cisco Airport we found T. W. Keith busy with his aeroplanes. Keith did some farming last year but he didn't manage to get a crop in this year.

We met the new Mrs. T. W. Keith a few days ago — a very charming lady.

At the I. J. Pence farm on the edge of the Cottonwood community we learned from Mr. Pence that Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Davis of Cayuga, Texas, were recent visitors in their home. Mrs. Davis will be remembered as the adopted daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Luther Pryor of Cisco.

The Pences have 110 acres in wheat plus several acres of other grains for their 18 head of cattle, including seven calves. They also have 100 frying-size chickens

At Bluff Branch we met Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yeager, a veteran farming couple. They have a good crop of beans, peas, tomatoes, muskmelons, and popcorn in their garden.

Although Mr. Yeager claims to be a retired farmer, we can imagine that his garden, chickens, and cows keep him and his wife pretty busy.

The Yeagers showed us a wind-charger that has been faithfully producing electricity for them for ten years — and the best thing about it is that there are no monthly light bills.

At the old Mitchum Ranch, we had a very enjoyable visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fry. In addition to the 4,400 acres which he helps his father with, Henry is working 2,500 acres here. Most of this acreage is planted in oats and barley except for about 300 acres in row crops.

Henry reported that the ranch was keeping him and his son busy was a ranchman before him and he has spent all of his 65 years on a ranch. At the age of 16 he bought his first four cows and he says that from that day until this, he has never been without cattle.

M. E. Fry --

According to Fry, there is a great deal of farm work connected with a ranch. Some 500 acres of the Fry Ranch is now in cultivation, having been planted in oats, from 4 a. m. to sundown daily.

Mrs. Fry treated us to a great big luscious sirloin steak, so now we can vouch for the fact that those cattle on the Fry Ranch are really all right.

barley, and grain sorghums. All of these grains are used to feed the cattle on the ranch.

Several barns on the 4400 acres are used to house the cattle being groomed for stock appearances.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fry were born and reared in Brown County. They have known each other since their early school years at the old Fairview school house. "I've packed her shoes home from school many a day," Fry often tells his friends.

M. E. Fry was about 10 years old when he first began to feel that Lena Miller was the girl for him. Nine years later when she was 17 and he was 19, they became Mr. and Mrs. and settled on what they now refer to as "the old home place." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller of Woodson.

After living there for 18 years, they bought another ranch south of Brownwood and moved to it. The two ranchers in Brown Co. totaled 3800 acres.

In 1942, at the beginning of World War II, the U. S. government bought the Fry ranch, south of Brownwood, for an addition to Camp Bowie. Staying in Brown County one more year, the Frys sold their ranch and then moved to Cisco to run the ranch which they had bought several months previously.

In addition to the two sons, already mentioned, Mr. and Mrs. Fry have two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Jones of Fort McCavett in Menard County and Mrs. John Petty of Bluff Branch. Both sons are ranchers and the two daughters married ranchers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fry have made many friends during their seven years in Cisco, where they reside at 1007 West 13th. They are members of the First Methodist Church, where he is a member of the Board of Stewards.

"We didn't move to Cisco to stay and we didn't think we would like the town," says Fry, "but people have been so nice to us, that now we like the town, so I guess we'll just spend the rest of our days here."
