Commission seeks county history info

Don't forget the Parmer County Historical Commission is planning to print a third county history book. They are seeking family history information.

The historical commission has produced a pamphlet as a guideline for submitting family history information. Copies of the pamphlet are available at the library, the Friona Star office, or from Gladys Spring.

Send your history to Gladys Spring, P.O. Box 398, Bovina, Tx, 79009 or email her at gladyss@amaonline.com. They would like to have family histories and any old photos related to the history of Parmer County. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated for this Prairie Progrèss Volume III.

Trail ride set for Memorial Day

A trail ride is being organized for the May 26 Memorial Day Holiday. Riders will leave from the Friona Arena on West Highway 60 and ride to the Martinez Ranch in Bovina, an approximate 3 1/2 hour trip.

Organizer Sam McIntosh says anyone that wants to ride is invited. Riders should meet at 8:30 a.m. at the arena. The ride will begin at 9 a.m. For more information call McIntosh at 295-8235 or 806-626-7681 (cell), or Pablo Martinez at 295-8305 or 881-9700 (cell).

Consider what American Idol contestant, Brooke White did. She began to sing a song and almost immediately forgot the lyrics. What were her options?

Option 1: She could have run off the stage in shame. Option 2: She could have covered up her mistake by singing the wrong lyrics and hoped no one would notice. Option 3: She could have admitted her mistake immediately and corrected it by starting over, giving her the opportunity to remember the lyrics.

If you're a fan of the show like me, you know what she did - option number 3. And I give her kudos for her choice.

I think it accurate to say that we don't usually make mistakes purposefully since most of us would say we don't want to learn "the hard way". I know I would rather "get it right" the first time. Still, it seems we discover a mistake only in hindsight sometimes the moment after making it or sometimes not till we're further down the wrong path. Regardless of when we realize a mistake, dealing with it appropriately requires courage and integrity.

Running away from a mistake will never help us discover the valuable lesson waiting for us to learn. I've certainly done my share of running from mistakes. For me, it may have been more of not taking responsibility for the mistake that was mine. It was easier to avoid facing, this difficult truth.

But was it really?

When a mistake we've made hurts others or causes problems for others, it is our something even better. selfishness and pride that feeds the unnecalleviate. When we're the only one suffer- ReligionAndSpirituality.com.)

So you've made a mistake. You know it ing from our mistake, we will never get free and so does the rest of the world. What do from the misery and suffering our mistake is causing us, until we correct it. Then we would be ready to learn the lesson that will keep us from making the same mistake again.

> Trying to hide a mistake is simply another way to avoid facing it and correcting it. It is also another way to deny responsibility. The cost is a high price to pay. It could be your credibility that is lost.

> I don't know if Brooke White will be the next American Idol or not. But she is sincere, genuine and honest, and I for one love her voice and style. I was in no way surprised by her ability to immediately compose herself after making a mistake - in front of millions I might add — and start again singing her song correctly and beautifully.

> She gave us a good example for what to do when we goof. Stay calm. Keep our cool. Gather our thoughts. Consider what to do next to remedy the situation. And then do it. Don't panic. Don't run. Don't cover-up. Don't over-analyze or dwell on it. As the Nike slogan says, "Just do it."

> Although it may at first seem difficult to do the right thing after you make a mistake, people will respect and appreciate your honesty. Perhaps at times people won't immediately value you owning up to the mishap or maybe even want to punish you for your failings.

> But I know I've learned my greatest and most memorable lessons from my mistakes. I've always gained much more than I've lost from the experiences. And usually, if I've lost anything, it has been something that needed to be lost so I could gain

My parents and my husband Charles' parents moved to Friona in 1944. The only street

We both went to First Baptist Church and are among the members who remember marching out of our old church singing and into the new church where they were playing the same song on the new baby grand piano. I thought the light fixtures were beautiful and wondered who on earth would get up there to change the light bulbs. I still don't know.

When I went to work for Friona State Bank I was newly married. My favorite memory of Friona State Bank is the day an elderly farmer needed to write a check and pay a man some money. He didn't have any of his checks with him. All he had was a brown paper sack and a pencil.

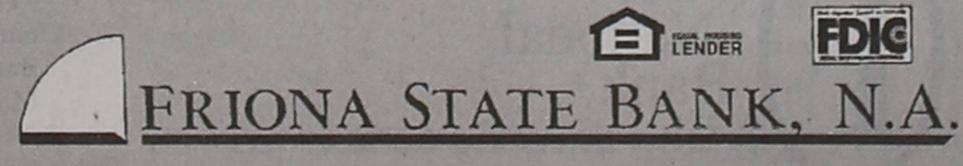

He tore off part of the sack and tried to get it about the size of a check. He put a date on it and who it was to. Then he wrote how much money it was for and gave it to the man. The farmer was old and his handwriting was large and shaky. He always tried to get his entire name on his checks so he got his initials on the check and some part of his last name.

The piece of paper had enough information on it to tell who he wanted to pay the money to and how much. When the teller took the torn piece of brown sack and the man asked if he could get his check cashed the teller let out a laugh you could hear all over the bank. She gave the man his money and brought the check back for us to see in bookkeep-

That check was passed all around the bank and we all got a good laugh out of it. Everyone in the bank knew if he wanted to pay the man on a brown piece of torn paper then we would just go ahead and let him. It was what he wanted to do and it was his money. People do come first and did before it became a slogan for the bank.

Living in Friona you will find you can do things you can't do anywhere else because people know you and care about you. Our family grew and we sent our two children, Doris and David, through 12 years of school in Friona. Now our grandsons Tyler and Truman Hough are both in school here.

If you have lived in Friona long enough you will wonder who the farmer was and if you lived here long enough you would know him but I can't tell you his name because everything is always confidential at Friona State Bank.

Order historical bricks now

Don Spring says the Parmer County Historical Commission will be placing commemorative family brick orders for setting by July. The historical bricks are placed around the Parmer County historical marker in Farwell. Spring said, "The marker is looking better and better because of the hundreds of bricks surrounding it."

"At the present time," Spring said, "we are thinking of setting bricks in early July so maybe family visitors from out of town may visit and get a look at the memorial over the July 4 weekend." Bricks are available in three sizes, 4" X 8" $50, 8" X 8" $75, and 6" X 12" $100. Bricks may be ordered at the Friona Library, or from Bonnie Howard or Gladys Spring.

Think about this

Why is the Bible so popular?

T. LEON TALLEY, Minister, Sixth Street Church of Christ Why is it that the Bible is so popular? First, we need to understand that the Bible isn't popular because it's easy to read. Many books are easier to read than the Bible. Neither is the Bible popular because it is short and sweet. The Bible I use most has 2000 pages in it.

The Bible is popular for one reason and one reason alone. People believe it to be the inspired Word of God. When you read the Bible you're reading words of the God of the universe; the words of the Almighty God who created the universe. When you look at this book, the Bible, you are seeing the very will of God. Now can you think of any book that would even come close to the Bible in importance? I certainly can't!

But, we need to realize too, that there is a battle being waged over the Inspiration of the Bible. Many people no longer believe that the Bible is inspired. Some don't believe it is inspired because they think there are discrepancies found in the Bible.

Most, however, are "practical" disbelievers in inspiration. By that I mean they may claim to believe the Bible is inspired by God but the way they live their lives shows that they really don't believe that God is speaking to them through the Words of the Bible.

Don't you think it's really important that we think about what we say we believe and compare that to how we live?

Kennedy Stovall of Midland, Texas, daughter of the groom, served as the flower girl. Andrew Myers of Wichita Falls, Texas, son of Adam and Nichole Myers, served as the ring bearer.

The couple's music selection was "Bless the Broken Road" played during the lighting of the unity candle.

The registry was attended by Marissa Hoelscher and Alison Chapa, both of Lubbock, and both friends of the bride.

The pews of the church were lined with white tulle bows, two pewter candelabras, and spring flowers.

A reception was held at the Estes Center of the church with Monica Stovall of Midland, Texas, sister of the groom, and Stella Cervantez and Megan Stewart, both of Lubbock, and both friends of the bride, serving as reception assistants.

The tables were covered with white cloths centered with pastel satin overlay and floating candle arrangements.

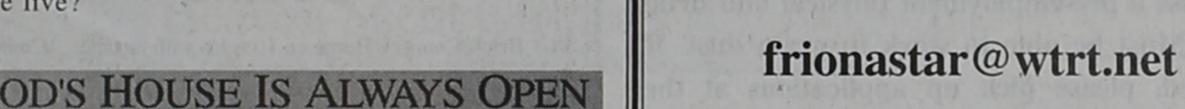

The bride's cake was a three-tiered white cake of offset squares decorated with pearl accents and fresh tulips. The bride chose serving pieces belonging to her paternal grandmother, the late Loyce Brown.

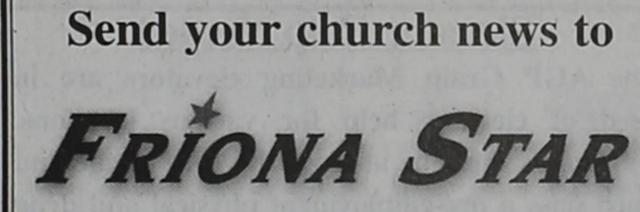

The groom's cake was red velvet decorated with chocolate covered strawberries.

After honeymooning at Buffalo Gap Bed & Breakfast, Tisha and Dustin will reside in Burleson, Texas.

Tisha is a graduate of Grady High School in Grady, New Mexico and has a Master's degree in Occupational Therapy from Texas Tech University Health Science Center. She has been employed at Covenant Medical Center in Lubbock.

Dustin is a graduate of Midland Lee High School in Midland, Texas and attended Texas Tech University. He is the owner/operator of Stovall UHI.

Friona Schools Centennial Review

School days, school days. Remember the days of the twirlers leading the band on the field and in parades? This photo is of the 1959 Friona baton squad, I-r, Pam Roden Baker, Mary Jane Grubbs Clements, Nancy Outland Roden, Sue Baxter, and Lavon Fleming Reeve. Nancy Roden says she remembers the band marching from downtown Amarillo all the way to the fairgrounds during the Amarillo Fair parade. We are celebrating the Friona Schools 100th birthday in 2008. If you have any school history share it with us at frionastar@wtrt.net.

The newest LifeStar helicopter visited Friona. The 2007 version was new when purchased. Patients load from the side in this one instead of the back. It has a new patient weight capacity of 350 pounds and a height capacity of 6-ft. It also has a GPS capability which will allow it to fly in less favorable weather conditions.

Friona Star publisher Ron Carr and Prairie Acres activity department employee Cecelia Schueler look over the winning ticket for a laptop computer in the nursing home's fundraiser drawing. Carr drew the winning ticket. The Prairie Acres activities department sold tickets for the drawing to raise money for the residents' activity fund. The winner of the laptop was Reba Brito of Friona.

Bonnie Glover was finally successful in receiving the Purple Heart medal for her father, Roy C. Shumate, who perished in the Pacific during WW II on board the USS Monaghan which sank during a typhoon taking the lives of 786 men. Mrs. Glover petitioned the government for the medal after doing genealogical research about her family. Her original request was denied since her dad was killed by the typhoon, not during enemy action but the medal was subsequently awarded. Seated are, 1-r, Bonnie Glover and daughter Donice Jones. Standing are her granddaughters Kimberlee, left, and Stephenie Jones.
