Geophysical Work Is Described In Rotary Program

Rotarian Russell Reeves showed a film depicting the hardships encountered by geophysical crews in making surveys in their never ceasing search for oil at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club at the Hotel Victor dining room at noon Thursday.

The picture was made of actual surveys carried on by the crews. The color film was made in the swamps of Louisiana and gave a clear idea of the equipment used by the group to combat the elements and the terrain and the equipment used in the seismic surveys. The picture was made by Mr. Reeves, who was a member of the group on that particular survey.

Rotarian J. J. Callaway arranged for the program and was the chairman for the meeting. Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians Milt Newman of Abilene and E. J. Nelson of Breckenridge. Other visitors were E. R. McKinley of Leavenworth, Kansas, Frank Ditter and Charles R. Kuhn of Minneapolis, Minn. and Grover Hartt of Dallas.

New Hampshire was originally called the Province of Laconia.

is somewhat like fishing without luck - there's no thrill to it. But there is real thrill in moving forward, serving humbly and doing some one thing well. We never heard of an abstractor getting rich as such, but we have heard of those who have spent a life-time as we have, building up title institutions that are assets to their communities. Yes, we get a thrill out of every order and a real joy in producing it into a quality product.
