The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE FREEZING weather the other day didn't hurt the outlook for a fruit crop, our scouts report. Some of the early plums aren't too many trees in bud and bloom. Mr. J. E. Spencer, who has approximately 8,000 peach trees on his place south of town, is expecting to make some peaches.

There's still a definite need for moisture. The one inch over the weekend helped, but it was too little to begin with. The forecast calls for light and occasional showers tonight and Friday. Let's hope the forecasters know their stuff.

ONE OF THE drivers for the City Cab Company reports finding an old-fashioned gold wedding band in his cab. Says he found it Monday and he'll be glad to give it to whoever lost it.

DURING REMODELING work at the Garner building, which the J. C. Penney Company will occupy before too long, workers found an old photograph. It has been able to identify H. V. Kirby, one of the founders, took it to Shy Osborn Studio, and Mr. Osborn has patched up the picture. It's on display in a window. It's in a good state of preservation and might be valuable to someone. Shy invites one and all by to see and try to identify the picture.

COMES A NOTE from Mrs. George Irvine as follows: "As Mr. Huffmyer is often having you send me his recipes, I would like to have you place this in your paper. Many have asked me for his recipe. And I will give everyone who reads your paper a chance to enjoy these tasty cookies. You may take it home to your wife."

"Mr. Huffmyer, please top this: Cream and Nut Cookies." The recipe follows:

1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup butter (1/2 Crisco), 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. vanilla, 2 eggs (well beaten), 2 cups flour.

Cream sugar and shortening. Add beaten eggs and vanilla. Add salt, soda and flour. Be sure and sue all flour and work dough until smooth. Roll out 1/4 inch thick in two parts and spread with this mixture which has been cooked and cooled: 1/2 pound dates, 1 cup nut meats, 1 cup water, 1 cup sugar, cook until thick, cool and spread over dough and roll like cinnamon rolls. Let stand over night in refrigerator until firm.

And if Mr. Huffmyer can top this recipe, we'd like to taste some of it. Wouldn't you?

IF YOU'RE GOING to run for place on the City Commission, you'll have to get your name in the city hall by noon Saturday. That's the deadline. The city says that candidates must be 30 days prior to the election, which will be held on April 1.

It's different in the school board election. Candidates are required by law to file for places on the ballot 10 days before the election. And the election will be held on the first Saturday in April — April 5.

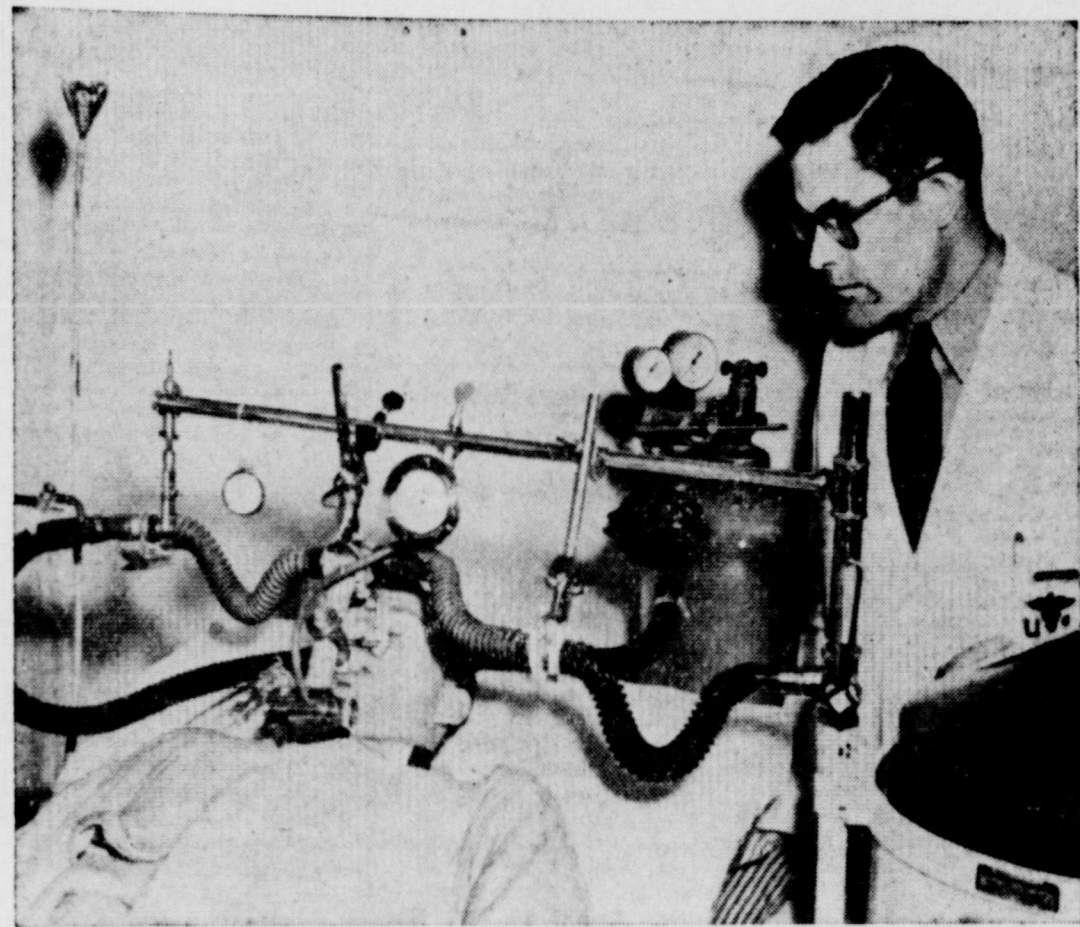

RAN INTO MR. and Mrs. M. Cotton of the Cotton Wholesale Candy Company this morning. And they're doing nicely since buying out the Hitt Candy Company some weeks ago. They didn't have any samples with them today.

REV. SIDNEY SPAIN, pastor of the First Christian Church, will become the husband of Miss Elizabeth Geer of Rule in a wedding ceremony at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at the bride's home in Dallas.

Miss Geer has just returned as a teacher of the 4th and 5th grade in the Dallas schools. She's a Baylor graduate. A shower for Miss Geer is to be held tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kimmell in Dallas.

After the wedding, Rev. Spain and his bride will leave for a honeymoon trip. They'll be back in Cisco to stay on March 8. The society department will give the details of the various events.

Modern Education Trends Discussed In Talk To Lions

"Modern Trends in Education" was the subject of a talk by Superintendent Arlin Bint at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cisco Lions Club at the Victor Hotel Coffee Shop. Lion Norris Young was in charge of the program.

Mr. Bint pointed out that the schools always invite and welcome constructive criticism. He complimented the P-TA and the mothers clubs in helping the school system accomplish the most with the resources and equipment available.

Finances are a great problem for most of the schools in the state, Mr. Bint said. He pointed out that the cost of running school systems has advanced as much as have costs of operation in all other fields of endeavor.

"Our responsibilities as individuals are many," Mr. Bint said. "The schools cannot educate children without help from the parents in the home." He noted that the development of a child included his moral, mental and physical being, and that a child's education might not be complete if teachers and parents did not work together.

Modern lunch rooms, vocations education, group study and other features are contributing to the school's ability to educate its students, Mr. Bint said.

Members of the club were invited by Mr. Bint to visit the schools next week during the local observance of Texas Public School Week. All units of the school system will take part in the program with special events.

4-H Clubs Renew Two Programs For Coming Year

With Spring busting out all over throughout the South, Texas has renewed two 4-H programs which are important factors in the development of wholesome family relationships and purposeful, healthful living, the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work has announced. They are the Garden and Home Improvement awards programs, designed for both boys and girls.

In 1951, more than 350,000 club members raised 120,000 acres of garden vegetables and small fruits, according to State Club leaders, thereby providing essential and nutritious foods for use throughout the year, and increasing individual and family incomes by reducing the amount of food purchased. About 200,000 members taking part in the 4-H Home Improvement program performed 550,000 tasks, such as making slipcovers and curtains, upholstering and refinishing furniture, and painting or papering rooms to make their homes more comfortable and attractive.

Incentives for outstanding records of achievement in both programs remain the same as last year. Every club members taking part in either program has the opportunity to win one of four county medals of honor. Also a state award of an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November, and a chance to become a candidate for one of the eight national awards — a $300 college scholarship. Allis-Chalmers provides the Garden program awards, and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation those for Home Improvement.

Last year, 260 4-Hers in 88 of this State's counties received medals for their Garden records, and 120 members in 56 counties won similar recognition for home improvement achievements.

All 4-H programs are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

'Grants' To Texas Are Considerably Less Than Amount State Pays U. S.

ABILENE, Feb. 28. — With string attached, the Federal government "granted" Texans this fiscal year two-thirds of the road money they paid in taxes to the U. S. Treasury, according to an article that appeared recently in the Austin American-Statesman that is reproduced in the last issue of West Texas Today, the magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Highway Department announced that the federal government has "granted" Texas $26,681,000 for highway aid in the coming fiscal year.

"The Editor's Notebook" in the Austin newspaper contained the following: "Several weeks ago the Texas

The state's program, including $15 million direct appropriation for lateral roads, regular state gasoline-tax supported work, and federal matching, runs a little over $100 million a year.

"But the point is that the federal government takes a great deal more than any $26 million out of Texas in road-use and motor vehicle taxes every year, and thus the state gets a lot less than it contributes in taxes designed to support the highway program.

"Texas fared well in the generous federal 'grants,' with only New York getting more refunds of the money collected from citizens of a state.

"But the federal money comes back with a lot of strings. For one thing, no matter what the state's needs, nor its local road financing program, it is limited to $14,305,046 for construction of primary highways. It is required by a federal fiat to limit secondary and feeder roads to $9-577,321; and it is graciously permitted to ask the government to apply $2,799,612 to expressways and urban projects.

"To get any item of the federal grants, Texas must prepare plans according to federal specifications, award contracts and supervise construction, all subject to federal approval.

"The allotment itself was made in proportion to area, population and mileage of postal roads, mileage and population of rural areas, population of urban areas and so on.

"Based on the state's collection of gasoline taxes, the federal government took more than $37 million out of the state in gasoline sales tax levies alone; besides which it collected a lot of taxes on motor vehicles, tires, tubes, automobile accessories and parts. Texas will get back probably two-thirds the amount it paid, and that with strings attached.

"This is a perfect example of the type of thing the voters of Texas and the United States ought to wipe out next year, and they ought to be mighty sure that the votes they cast will be effective in that direction.

"It is no generous boon and benevolent grant to give back to Texas half the money taken away from it in road-use taxes.

"It is no benefit to Texas to

LOOKS LIKE THE REAL THING

LIVE AMMO IN MANEUVERS—Simulating action they may soon see in Korea, infantrymen are being trained at Fort Dix, N. J. Below, two fast-flying jet planes drop napalm bombs on an "enemy" position to clear the way for advancing troops who see a smoke screen, hear the scream of the jets and artillery and increase their knowledge as skilled infantrymen.

THINGS TO COME—Flame throwers blast the enemy from a cave position as troops advance, top photo, and other trainees walk beside an advancing tank to take a hill position. With many problems similar to these ironed out after intensive exercises, the GIs are better able to take care of themselves.

NICE LINES — Showing off her sun-kissed form in Miami Beach is pert and lovely Dorothea McCarthy, wearing a swimsuit of faulle. But the suit isn't only for looks—good as it is. It can be used for swimming.

more severe and longer lasting attacks.

Ringworm is marked by round scaly areas on the scalp, and patchy baldness or short, broken-off hairs. It is caused by a fungus—a vegetable-like growth caused by spores. Sources of infection, health officials and skin specialists say, are the scalp lesions of infected persons, articles of clothing containing the spores, or the infected hairs or scales shed by an infected person.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, in cooperation with the skin specialists society of the Texas Medical Association, and the State Board of Barbers and Cosmetologists, is rewriting the rules and regulations governing the sterilization of beauty and barber shop instruments after each use. They hope to get legislation enacted to provide penalties for non-compliance.

There is no immunization against ringworm. Recommended control measures are cleanliness of the hair and scalp, and provision for separate isolated classrooms for suspicious cases. Positively infected children should be excluded from school until the condition is cleared up, Dr. Cox believes.

The diamond is the hardest stone.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

The first branch that is sent packing from the main bloodstream, the innominate artery, siphons the blood in a percolating fashion upward towards the right side of the neck. The right carotid artery keeps a-going on up through the neck into the head, while the right subclavian artery takes out on a tangent along the right collarbone.

That innominate artery is the gateway to the whole upper right side of the body, furnishing blood for food to all the shoulder, arm and hand, in addition to the brain. It sometimes is also connected with the thymus gland (tucked behind the heart), to the arteries that feed the bronchial tubes, and to the bottom of the thyroid gland. Since those connections are not always there, however, not much is known about what function the innominate artery has in connection with these parts of the body.

When the companion vessel of that headway branch of the innominate artery starts down from the brain, carrying the blood back to the heart, it is the well-known jugular vein; the companion vessel of the carotid artery on the left side of the head and neck is specifically known as the left jugular vein.

While in the head, however, those carotid arteries have several branches which send blood into the face, scalp, side of the head, ear, covering of the brain, eye, big nerve of the brain (trigeminal nerve), and pituitary gland.

The connection between the heart and face is close enough for you to see that when your heart goes pitty-pat, you can follow through and see what makes you blush. Sometimes it's not the face that gets the extra pumping of a pitty-pat heart, however; you can feel it in the head in a light-headed sort of way. And with the connection of the heart with the eyes, too, maybe love really can be blinding.

WTUC Magazine Accorded Honors

ABILENE, Feb. 28.—The West Texas Utilities Company and Jimmie Martin, editor of the ELECTRIC TIMES, company employee publication, were awarded honor medals at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, February 22, when Freedoms Foundation, Inc. singled out 22 Texans for recognition of their efforts in "bringing about a better understanding of the American way of life."

As publisher of the Electric Times, the company was awarded a medal and the editor was awarded an individual medal for stories and editorials which appeared in three issues of the magazine during 1951. In the 1951 contest selections were made from more than six and one-half tons of speeches, exhibits, programs, scripts, recordings, films and other documentary materials. Winners were announced by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, distinguished physicist, in special Washington's Birthday ceremonies at historic Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

Freedoms Foundation is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian awards organization chartered in 1949 for the specific purpose of annually making awards of cash and medals to Americans who make outstanding contributions to a better understanding of freedom by the things which they write, do or say. It is financed by widespread public subscription support. The foundation's first awards program was held in 1949 with awards being presented by General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower. The 1950 awards were presented by General of the Army Omar N. Bradley.

Honor medals will be presented at regional ceremonies throughout the nation during March and April, including convocations at the University of Denver, Boston University and special ceremonies at the Los Angeles Advertising Club, and in the Chapel of the Four Chaplains, Philadelphia.

Martin, who has served as industrial editor for WTU since 1945, is a member of a pioneer West Texas newspaper family, and before joining WTU operated newspapers in Brady, Childress, Snyder and McCamey. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University where he had an active part in student publications, and served as editor of The Bronco, university annual, during his senior year.

At the present time he is a member of the Board of Directors of the American Association of Industrial Editors, a national organization composed of editors of industrial publications.

Ladino Clover Seed Crop Increased 9-Fold in 3 Years

Ladino clover, the greatest innovation in pasture legumes in the last 25 years, has recently come into prominence over almost the entire United States. It has superseded alsike clover to a large extent in many areas, and has a much larger range of adaptation and use. Because of this situation it has been necessary to look to the best sources of seed supply to meet the greatly expanding requirements. Fortunately, the rate of seeding is low: From 1/2 to 2 or 3 pounds per acre in pasture mixtures have proved ample.

In the past 3 years (1949-51) average seed yields of Ladino clover were nearly double and the production nearly 9 times that of the previous 9 years (1940-48). For the first time in the 12 years of record there was a substantial carry-over of over 3 million pounds on June 30, 1951, so that the supply available for sowing in the fall of 1951 and spring of 1952 was 13,400,000 pounds, or 2 1/2 times the average of the 3 previous years. An increase in disappearance during the sowing season of 1951-52 proportionate to the increase in disappearance in 1950-51 over 1949-50, without considering imports, will use up most of this supply and leave a carry-over of only 200,000 pounds, plus exports.

Seed production of Ladino clover is largely in California and Oregon. Specialized seed production and control of Lygus bugs in these States account for the great increase in U. S. average yields in recent years. The national average of nearly 140 pounds per acre the past 3 years is nearly double that of 1940-48. Yields of 250 pounds or more of clean seed per acre are reported from California.

According to Osterli and Miller in "Crops and Soils" for October, the use of 1 to 1 1/2 strong hives of bees per acre in California is ample to provide complete pollination. Careful management at every step from planting to harvest and seed cleaning pays well in the production of this crop.

Because of the widespread presence of ordinary white clover in Eastern States, where Ladino is grown as a forage crop, it is probable that most of this seed will continue to be produced in the West where conditions are more favorable.

The Ladino seed crop is ready to cut when about 90 to 95 per cent of the visible heads are brown and the flower stem or seed stalk has started to dry. It is usually harvested by either (1) direct combining, (2) combining from the windrow, or (3) by stationary threshing.

A period of 4 to 5 days after mowing is required to "cure" the clover plants prior to threshing, which requires skill, experience, and patience. The threshing operation fits into a four-step pattern: (1) picking up the windrows, (2) threshing, (3) rethreshing of the straw and chaff from the first threshing—usually with a stationary machine, and (4) vacuuming the field and threshing the material picked up by the vacuum machine.

Proper assurances of trueness of variety through field inspection and adequate records of pedigree and production should be insisted upon by all purchasers of Ladino clover seed, because the seed cannot be distinguished from common or other varieties of white clover.

Those participating in the study were Mrs. J. C. Fletcher, Mrs. Standlee McCracken, and Mrs. Fleming Waters. The group joined in singing "My Faith Looks Up To Thee," followed by prayer by Mrs. McCracken.

Mrs. W. R. Huestis presided during the business session. Routine business was transacted and the meeting closed with the fifteen members present repeating the Missionary Benediction in unison.
