The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

WENT OVER TO Ranger last evening to hear Governor Allan Shivers address the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner, and so did 13 other Ciscoans. It was a splendid affair in all respects. There were some 350 people present.

The Governor is a very good speaker. He has a deep bass voice with excellent choice of words. He used enough humor to keep his audience happy and had some good, solid things to say. He was a little late, due to the trouble en route to Ranger from Mineral Wells. The Governor and his public relations aide, Garland Smith, left Austin by plane at 3 p. m. and visited the girls school at Gainesville. Then, they flew to Mineral Wells to take a car to Ranger. They planned to fly back to Austin last night.

The banquet was held in Ranger's gymnasium. The guests were fed plates that featured turkey and dressing. They were full plates, and everybody had plenty. Mr. Fred Bumgardner and his Ranger Junior College choir furnished part of the entertainment. Dr. Calvin W. Harris, the new president, presided over the banquet.

We saw the following Ciscoans at the banquet: Dr. and Mrs. Paul Woods, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McCracken, Anton White, Mayor C. C. Rosenthal, Charles Spears, Fleming Waters, Jack Hailey, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. R. J. Carswell and Miss Marie Winslow.

The Ranger Unit of the Texas National Guard formed an honor guard to greet the Governor. All in all, it was a fine meeting.

Coming home, we held our breath once while two teenagers and a race in hot-rods. One of them passed the other going up the hill. And it turned out alright, for nobody was coming from the other side of the hill. It might happen that way next time.

A FORMER CISCO man is doing well with an oil company, according to an article in the current issue of the magazine California Oil World. He is Mr. Harold E. McGowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McGowen of Humbleton in Cisco.

The magazine reports that Mr. McGowen has been promoted to chief engineer and head of research for Camco, Inc. He is a graduate of Cisco High School and an engineering graduate of Texas A & M College, class of 1941. He served as a major in the field artillery from 1941 to 1946. For the past six years he has been with Richardson and is as district production engineer in the Gulf Coast area. He has had extensive experience with gas lift equipment and is the inventor and developer of the Camco retrievable valve.

SOMEBODY MUST have found some lady's purse, for there is one on our desk. It's an old looking one with a strap. It is full of stuff women usually carry in their purses. If you have lost one, drop by and look this one over.

A BOOK IS OFF the press. It's Hackamore Reinsman, a technical manual on how to train your horse with a hackamore. It's the first publication to be issued by our new book printing department. It was written by Ed Conkall of Bakersfield, Calif., an old hackamore man. And there are two or three dozen of Randy Jeffen's drawings as illustrations.

The average man probably will ask "What is a Hackamore?" What we asked when Randy suggested publication of the book. We learned that it's a special kind of bridle. The book, of course, won't appeal to anybody except horsemen. If you want to buy one, they're selling for $3.50 each and you can get one at The Press.

SUGAR IS GONE. And Sugar Mrs. Peggy Gallagher's little dog. Mrs. Gallagher will be happy if you will call her when you see Sugar, who is a red and white Cocker Spaniel.

MR. O. L. STAMEY, the boss man out at Cisco Junior College, is very justly proud of the showing the CJC Choir made last weekend at San Antonio and the

OCEAN LIFE IN GLASS

Albert Cameron Dies Tuesday In Ranger Hospital

Albert (Bert) Cameron, 65 year old farmer who had lived in the Cisco area all his life, died at 5:45 p. m. Tuesday in a Ranger hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at Thomas Funeral Chapel with Rev. Raymond Pape, Scranton minister, in charge of the rites. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery under the direction of Thomas Funeral Home.

Mr. Cameron was born in Cisco on May 13, 1886, and had lived in the area since that time. He was a peanut farmer south of town.

Survivors are three sisters, Mrs. J. Lawrence of Gatesville; Mrs. C. M. Duke of Lorraine and Mrs. Maye Bailey of Cisco.

Sue Wagley Will Be Princess For Rosebud Festival

DENTON, March 12.—Miss Sue Wagley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil R. Wagley of Cisco, has been selected as a princess for the 14th traditional Redbud Festival at Texas State College for Women, March 28 and 29.

The festival and the Redbud Ball climax-Development Week on the campus. A highlight of this year's celebration will be the installation ceremonies of the created College of Household Arts and Sciences on March 27. On this same date the new home of the College of Household Arts and Sciences and the new Smith-Carroll dormitory will be dedicated.

From the 100 princesses presiding over the festival, a Redbud Queen will be chosen. Her identity will be kept secret until the night of the coronation.

Classmates selected princesses for their friendliness, graciousness, integrity, pleasing appearance, poise, respect for social standards, sense of humor, reverence toward God, loyalty to college standards, participation in campus activities and patriotism.

The program of music and dance honoring the queen, the princesses and visiting royalty from other Texas Colleges will be presented two nights to accommodate visitors to the campus.

Plans Worked Out To Conduct Community Clinic Week Here

City's Needs To Program Of Work

The week of March 24 will be Community Clinic Week in Cisco and the Chamber of Commerce will devote the period to the formation of a work program for the coming year, Chairman J. S. Duff of the program committee reported today.

Plans for the clinic and the special week were worked out Tuesday as the committee met at the Chamber of Commerce with Ralph Duncan, manager of the Community Service Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

All regular committees of the Chamber of Commerce will meet during the week with Manager B. A. Butler and representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to study Cisco's needs and opportunities, Mr. Duff said. This will be the seventh Community Clinic for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in its area in recent weeks.

Each of the committees will study the opportunities and needs in their particular field and make recommendations for the program of work. The Lions and Rotary clubs will be asked to devote their programs that week to the clinic and to offer suggestions for the year's work, Mr. Duff said.

An important part of the week's program will be handled through the city schools. Students will be offered prizes for the best essays on community problems and opportunities. The education committee, of which C. E. Higginbotham is chairman, will meet Thursday to plan this phase of the program.

Women of the city will be invited to take part in the clinic. "We want everybody's ideas and suggestions," Mr. Duff said. "We hope through the clinic to find out what Cisco needs and to explore all of our opportunities. The Chamber of Commerce belongs to everybody in Cisco, and we want it to work for them."

On Thursday, March 27, the plan of work committee will canvass the suggestions of the various groups to set up the year's program.

The program will be announced at the annual banquet on Friday night, March 28, when Fred Shivers, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Shivers is one of the state's best known Chamber of Commerce officials.

Several more planning meetings are expected to be held in the next few days to prepare for Community Clinic Week.

Pipe Line Worker Dies Suddenly

A 53-year old Delta City, Miss., man died at 10 a. m. Tuesday while at work with the pipe line crew engaged in laying the Gulf Oil Company line north of Cisco.

James Dewey Sylvester, an employee of the Associated Pipe Line Company, collapsed while at work Tuesday morning and was dead before reaching a local hospital. He was working with the construction company some 10 miles north of Cisco. He had been in Cisco only two weeks.

Funeral arrangements were being held up pending word from members of his family. Arrangements here were in the hands of Thomas Funeral Home.

Local Man Dies In San Angelo

E. J. Williamson, Cisco, Route 1, died Tuesday night in San Angelo, it was reported here today. Mr. Williamson came here two years ago for his health and moved to his home on the Lake Road.

Funeral arrangements were not known early Wednesday afternoon, but it was believed that the body would be shipped to Mississippi for burial. Arrangements were being handled by Thomas Funeral Home.

Hospital News

E. H. Melton, an employee of the N. D. Gallagher Clay Products Company, was receiving treatment at Graham Hospital today for cuts and bruises he suffered Tuesday night when his automobile collided with a commercial bus at the intersection of Beech Street at Highway 90.

Hospital attendants said Mr. Melton would be in the hospital for several days. He was not believed to be seriously injured.

Mr. Melton's car was damaged considerably. The bus was able to continue after minor repairs.

Mrs. A. A. Rutherford of Putnam, who underwent surgery on Monday, was recovering nicely.

FINAL PLANS FOR DOLLAR DAYS DISCUSSED AT CREDIT MEETING

Cisco business men discussed plans for Friday and Saturday Dollar Days at a meeting of the Merchants Credit Association at 3 p. m. Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce. President Homer Ferguson was in charge of the meeting.

Thursday's edition of The Press will contain many advertisements regarding the week-end Dollar Day. Slogan for the dollar days is "A Dollar's Worth for a Dollar."

This will be the first of a series of special trade promotions by Cisco merchants planned for the coming months. Plans call for

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS BANQUET ON BIRTHDAY OF GIRL SCOUTS

Some 250 Girl Scouts, Brownies, members of their families, troop leaders and workers and families were at the First Christian Church Tuesday night for the banquet celebrating the 40th birthday of the Girl Scout movement in America.

The banquet was served buffet style with the mothers and leaders of the various troops furnishing the food. The menu consisted of ham, salad, baked beans, rolls, cup cakes and coffee. The tables were attractively decorated in the colors of the scouts. The troops decorated the tables in the scout motif.

Mrs. Don Choate, president of the local Girl Scout Association, served as master of ceremonies and welcomed the visitors. She called on Girl Scout Jan Latson who gave an interesting history of the girl scout movement. Mrs. Choate then introduced the members of the local association of which she is the head.

The Lucky Brownie troop, composed of second grade girls, sang a song for the visitors. The troop is led by Mrs. Choate. P. M. Faulkner, of Breckenridge, president of the 16-county area which makes up the Texas Area, was introduced and made a short talk, telling of the growth of Girl scouting in the area and explaining the workings of the area office.

Brownie troop Number One with Mrs. J. W. Sitton as leader, sang the Brownie song and recited the Brownie promise. Mrs. Delmar Johnston, speaking for the parents of Scouts, told what scouting means from a parents viewpoint. She expressed the appreciation of the parents for the work that was being done with the girls.

Brownie troop Number Seven, with Mrs. Dick Thackerson as leader, sang a song and Girl Scout Troop Number Nine, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Graham and Mrs. Jasper Qualls, had a clothes pin relay. Troop Number Five, with Mrs. Lee Heltzel as leader, sang a Negro spiritual. Troop Number Four was introduced as the oldest local troop. Members of that troop assisted in the serving.

Girl Scout Troop Number Six under the leadership of Mrs. John Christopher, presented the flag folding ceremony and concluded the program by singing America. All those present joined in singing the last stanza.

Mrs. Choate, speaking for the association and the leaders, expressed thanks for the cooperation that made the fine banquet possible. The need for additional workers was stressed. An appeal was issued for leaders, assistant leaders and workers to care for the growing movement in Cisco. Anyone interested in helping in the training of girls in scouting was asked to contact one of the association members or leaders.

SPECTACULAR GAINS MADE LAST YEAR IN PETROLEUM RESERVES

Spectacular gains in the nation's proved reserves of liquid petroleum and natural gas were chalked up in 1951 despite the record-breaking level at which they were produced.

In a joint report based on the deliberations of their reserves committees — whose yearly estimates are accepted universally as the industry's most authoritative yardsticks — the two trade associations made these cheering summations for a security-conscious American people:

Proved reserves of liquid petroleum and natural gas reached new all-time peaks as of last December 31; proved reserves of liquid petroleum rose from 29.5 billion barrels in 1950 to 32.2 billion barrels in 1951, a net increase of 2.7 billion barrels; proved reserves of natural gas went from 185.6 trillion cubic ft. in 1950 to 193.8 trillion cubic ft. in 1951, a net increase of 8.2 trillion cubic feet.

The net increase of 2.7 billion barrels in proved reserves of liquid petroleum is the greatest one-year addition in history; the net increase of 8.2 trillion cubic feet in natural gas reserves is the second largest of all time. Both net increases were achieved despite record-breaking production of 2.5 billion barrels of liquid petroleum and 8.0 trillion cubic feet of natural gas in 1951.

In round figures, this remarkable performance by the nation's oil and gas men means that for every barrel of oil or cubic foot of natural gas withdrawn from the ground in 1951, they found or developed two new barrels of oil or two new cubic feet of natural gas — one of which compensated for the production and the other of which went into net reserves.

Another astonishing fact of the liquid petroleum report is the fact that the total of new liquid petroleum supplies developed in 1951 exceeded five billion barrels. This is the first time that the oil industry ever topped the five-billion barrel mark for new oil supplies in any one year.

Correspondingly, it should be noted here that drilling activity in 1951 boomed along at record-breaking levels, resulting in the drilling of an estimated 44,500 wells. Of these, however, only 26,500 wells were productive of either oil or gas or both.

Of the 2.7 billion barrel net increase in liquid petroleum reserves, 2.2 billion barrels represented crude oil and 457 million barrels represented natural gas liquids. Proved reserves of crude oil only are now estimated at 27.5 billion barrels, and natural gas liquids at 4.7 billion barrels.

Production of liquid petroleum in 1951 was estimated at 2.5 billion barrels, an increase of 310 million barrels over 1950. Production of natural gas was estimated at 8.0 trillion cubic feet, an increase of more than one trillion cubic feet over 1950's former record high.

The joint API-AGA report covers new discoveries, revisions of previous estimates and extensions of known pools. The proved reserves of liquid petroleum and natural gas referred to in the report apply only to those whose location and extent have been proved and measured. They do not include any estimate of oil or gas which may underlie vast untested acreage in the United States which appears favorable to the accumulation of oil or gas.

The U. S. House of Representatives has the sole power of impeachment.

A MOTHERLY EYE—Pal, a four-year-old Scotch terrier-and-spaniel grandmother, is taking good care of the kitten she took under her wing eight weeks ago. Tom, the cat, was found wet and sick but, still wrapped in a blanket, he managed to win second place as the best-kept kitten in the small class at a pet show in New York. Pal placed fourth in her class.

Seed Treatment One Form Of Forage Crop Insurance

Most gardeners are familiar with the "damping-off" of seedlings of vegetables and flowers in flats or frames where they are being grown for later transplanting and can be easily examined. An almost perfect emergence from a row in a flat of one of our choice varieties may die in a few days from damping-off. We are less familiar with this occurrence in fields of new seedlings of legumes and grasses. We wonder sometimes why our alfalfa and clover seed of high germination test, sown on a perfect seed bed and with fine growing weather conditions doesn't produce a perfect stand.

Seed treatment of corn, cotton, wheat and barley is a required practice in many locations if a good stand and a resulting maximum crop are to be obtained. Seed treatment of grasses and legumes is still new, but the relatively low cost of fungicides required and the success frequently achieved where seedling diseases are troublesome suggests this may be a desirable insurance.

Since it is not easy to determine the presence of the injurious organisms in the soil and they are so commonly present, a seed treatment that is inexpensive, easily applied and does not injure the stand or the beneficial soil organisms furnishes a desirable form of crop insurance. It also makes possible a lower rate of sowing of expensive seed. Various chemicals have been tried with greater or less success. With some legumes and grasses best results have been obtained with "Ara-san," "Spergon," "Phygon" and "Yellow Cuproside" used as directed by the manufacturer. Not all commercial seed disinfectants tested have given equally good results. Because of the great variability in soil types and conditions, degrees of infestation of soils with disease organisms, weather conditions, etc., great variations in results are to be expected ranging from no apparent effect of seed treatment to a 100 percent or even greater improvement of stand and resulting crop. Sometimes it means the difference between success and failure.

One of the disinfectants much used for treating grass and legume seeds is "Ara-san," of which two forms are available. "Ara-san" is for use in application only, and it may be applied in dust treaters at the rate of 8 ounces per 100 pounds of seed. "Ara-san" SF is for either dry or slurry application. When it is used in a slurry treatment, mix 3 pounds of powder to 1 gallon of water for a 10-pound dump of seed. It can be used dry in batch mixers or blenders. One 3-pound bag treats 900 pounds of seed.

Some commercial treaters who have a problem in treating small quantities of grass or legume seeds have set up small batch mixers or barrel-type treaters for this purpose. Based on results to date, it is suggested that alfalfa, red and clover, and Sudangrass be treated with one of the seed disinfectants mentioned above as a form of crop insurance.
