The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

AS YOU MAY have heard, Mr. A. Hooker of Hooker's Jewelry has purchased the Reynolds building and we dropped by this morning to ask about the matter. And we like the reason he bought the building.

"I like Cisco and I believe in the city enough to put my money in it," said Mr. Hooker.

Mr. Hooker added that the price of diamonds and jewelry aren't going up at his store. You can still buy diamonds cheaper at Hooker's than at stores in the big cities, he said.

A resident of Cisco for seven or eight years, Mr. Hooker has operated one of the section's best jewelry stores. He has been and still is active in the affairs of the city, his church and his community. And we hope his investment works out good.

MRS. TED HALE let us look at a copy of a letter she received the other day from relatives in Cairo, Egypt, where they're visiting.

Excerpts from the letter include: "I saw the tomb of King Tut in the Valley of the Kings. We saw the treasures that had been taken from the tomb of Tut. It takes one's breath to see the jewels taken from the tomb. They're all in the museum and a person couldn't in a month begin to see it all."

"Cairo is a city of two and a half million people. There are thousands of large modern apartment houses, some as high as 14 stories. We saw the old Cairo, where there is much poverty. We're off to Jerusalem, Greece, Turkey, and Italy. The women we visited in Arabia are all veiled when they go out. They gave a tea for us (all women). The homes are like palaces. When we appeared in public we seemed to be a curiosity, swarmed and with our white hair. It's truly a man's world in this part of the world. The food — I like and some I don't like. Coffee fit to drink."

HEAR THAT Coach George Bauer of Baylor University, who spoke in Abilene last evening, was a visitor at the high school here today. He addressed a banquet of Baylor exes at Abilene.

IT'S SUPPOSED TO rain between March 20 and 27 to break the two-year drought of good rains. That's according to a Cross Plains man who has been predicting weather with 90 per cent success for some 65 years. He admits that he missed out one time in ten. Let's hope that this won't be the "miss."

OUR REMARK THE other day about the sand amused Mr. Claude McBeth. "You should have been out 200 miles west here," he said. They had gone to Andrews for the funeral of Mrs. R. L. Allen, who was his wife's aunt, and were returning Wednesday while the sand was blowing. They drove about 200 miles an hour and couldn't see over 30 feet ahead.

Latin Americans Use Coffee Funds To Buy US Goods

Latin American nations, none of which receive U. S. help under the Marshall Plan, have increased their purchases of American-made goods in greater proportion than those that do.

The sharp increase in exports to Latin America is being cited in Washington as evidence that the aid given friendly European countries has not limited, as some economists feared it would, exports to other markets.

Since Latin American purchases of capital goods from this country are made mainly with U. S. Dollars obtained from their coffee sales to the U. S., the greater purchasing power of the republics was attributed largely to last year's increase of coffee consumption in America.

The National Coffee Association said that U. S. coffee imports from the 10 leading coffee producing nations of Latin America in 1950 were 2.3 billion pounds. A conservative estimate of imports for 1951 was set at 2.5 billion pounds. This is an increase of 158 million pounds or enough for more than 6 billion cupsful.

A typical example of the rise in Latin purchases from the U. S. is seen in the exports of steel products. In the first six months of 1950, exports of these to Latin America were $75 million; to ERP countries, $52 million. During the last six months of 1951 exports of the same materials to Latin America increased to $105 million while those to ERP nations dropped to $42 million.

REVIVAL MEETING IS PLANNED HERE BY CHURCH OF NAZARENE

The Rev. Joseph Bierce of Chattanooga, Tenn., will open a revival meeting at the Church of the Nazarene here Wednesday, March 19, according to an announcement today by the Rev. D. M. Duke, pastor. The revival will continue through March 30.

Plans call for services to be held twice daily — at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Bierce is an evangelist and has been in the Nazarene ministry for some 14 years. He has been president of the district Nazarene Young People's Society, both in the New York district and the Carolina district.

In addition to preaching, Rev. Bierce renders special solo work during his revival campaigns. "We are pleased to extend a welcome to the general public to attend these services," Rev. Duke said.

Citizens Offer Help To Halt Liquor Sales

A move to eliminate the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors in Cisco was in prospect today after some 80 citizens attended a meeting of the city commission Thursday night and offered their support and cooperation to city, county and state officials.

The delegation of citizens appeared at the council meeting under the auspices of the Cisco Ministers Association, and the Rev. Ralph T. Wootton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, acted as spokesman for the group.

Reading a prepared statement, Rev. Wootton complimented the commission on its "heartily reception of us in this public meeting." He said the Ministers Association voted unanimously at a recent meeting "to petition the city commission to join in the conclusion that the establishment on the southeast corner of the intersection of Avenue E and 10th Streets is a public nuisance and should be closed permanently."

Rev. Wootton called attention to the fact that the building in question was located across the street from "a noble public school institution where little children have stood and witnessed unseemly experiences and then related them to their parents and others, being a habitat of illicit liquor trading as evidenced by numerous raids by certified officials who found evidence of guilt on the premises."

"We realize," Rev. Wootton continued, "that if this country is to recover and continue its existence, individual citizens must begin such 'grass roots' movements as this. We are dealing with principles rather than personalities as our major concern and in so doing we come as the result of a spontaneous uprising of the citizens in the spirit of cooperation."

Rev. Wootton noted that the citizens were ready to cooperate fully and "we expect to back you to the fullest that our goal may be accomplished."

Rev. Wootton quoted L. C. Bowman of Abilene, district supervisor for the Liquor Control Board, as "giving us his word Wednesday evening that he was ready to begin immediate proceedings to secure an injunction to lock up this establishment. He expressed wholehearted sympathetic attitude and confessed that this should have been done before this time and that he was to blame for not getting the job done."

After Rev. Wootton concluded his statement, Mayor G. C. Rosenthal read a copy of a letter that he had written to the Liquor Control Board in March, 1951, in which the mayor asked for the closing of the place. Mr. Rosenthal expressed appreciation for the interest of the citizens.

Sheriff J. B. Tucker, who was present, was introduced. He said his officers had raided the place some 30 times during the past year and "we now have 13 bills against it."

County Attorney Joe Nuessle, also present, spoke to compliment the citizens. He noted that "you are the chief enforcement officers." He pointed out that the powers of jurors were considerably more than any enforcement officer's. He expressed appreciation for the interest of the citizens.

The county attorney pledged his office to the task of taking the proper legal steps "to solve the problem." He explained the processes of law necessary to handle the situation and urged the people to continue their interest.

Police Chief M. L. Perdue was introduced and spoke briefly to express appreciation for the interest of the people.

Following the meeting, the commission took care of routine business matters. All members of the commission were present.

Dr. O'Brien To Be Speaker Here

Dr. P. D. O'Brien of Big Spring will present an illustrated lecture on a recent trip to Palestine and the Holy Land at the First Baptist Church in Cisco at 8 p. m. Tuesday, March 18, according to an announcement by the Rev. Ralph T. Wootton, pastor, today.

The program is being sponsored by the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church, and there will be no admission charges or offering taken. The general public is being invited to attend.

Dr. O'Brien's illustrated lectures have been highly praised in all places where he has appeared, Rev. Wootton said.

The services of an Abilene bull, Brampton High Pinnacle 462260, is now available to Eastland County through the North Texas artificial breeding farm near Dallas, Technician Clyde Hickson reported today. The work here is sponsored by the Eastland County Dairymen's Association.

The new bull was proved in the R. L. Head herd near Abilene. He was originally imported in to this country from Canada. His daughters have been outstanding milk and butter fat producers, Mr. Hickson said.

Information concerning the program may be obtained from Mr. Hickson, who lives in Cisco.

Cattlemen Will Hold 75th Meet In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, March 14.—For the 75th time cattlemen will gather for the annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association to be held here March 17-19.

The site of the 75th convention will be in modern Hotel Texas in contrast to the first meeting of the organization held under a large oak tree in the frontier village of Graham, Texas in February of 1877.

Since its initial meeting the organization has grown from a handful of cattlemen in North west Texas to a membership of more than 10,000 in 16 states and has become the nation's largest association of cowmen, representing the ownership of more than three and a half million cattle.

The basic creed written the day the Association was organized has never been altered:

"The members of this association shall work together for the good and common interest of all stock raisers — and do all within their power for the promotion of the stock interests."

The Association was formed during the era of the open range, and many of its early activities centered around the organization of the round-ups, trail drives and protection against theft. Today 29 full-time inspectors are employed to give protection service to members and market inspectors are on hand to check brands and ownership of cattle at every major market in the Southwest.

A new speaker announced by president Ray W. Willoughby of San Angelo is Marvin Jones, chief judge, United States Court of Claims. Jones was born in Cooke County, Texas and is a graduate of the University of Texas law school. He practiced law in the Panhandle of Texas and was elected to Congress from the 13th Congressional District in 1916. He served 20 years on the House Committee on Agriculture and was its chairman from 1931 to 1940. He became chief judge of the Court of Claims in 1947.

Speakers previously announced are Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas; Lt. Gen Robert Wells Harper, commanding general of the Air Training Command with headquarters at Scott Air Force Base, Ill.; Lic. Oscar Flores, director of the Mexico-United States Commission for the Eradication of Foot and Mouth Disease in Mexico; Porter M. Jarvis, executive vicepresident and director of Swift and Company, Chicago and Harold Cooley, member of Congress from North Carolina and chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

A full program of entertainment has been arranged beginning with a dance in the lobby of Hotel Texas, Monday evening, March 17th.

The association has issued a cordial invitation to all cattlemen, regardless of Association membership, to attend business sessions of the convention.

Reynolds Building Is Bought By Hooker

Sale of the Reynolds building, a 5-story office building at the corner of Avenue D and Sixth Streets in downtown Cisco, was announced today. The building was bought by L. A. Hooker, local jeweler, from J. H. Reynolds, oil operator.

Transfer of title to the structure was completed and recorded on March 12, Mr. Hooker taking possession immediately. The building, one of the largest in Cisco, was erected in 1920.

The ground floor of the structure is occupied by Mr. Hooker's jewelry store and by West Texas Utilities Company, and the four upper stories are 100 per cent occupied by various offices. The name of the building will be changed to Hooker's Building, it was reported.

Mr. Reynolds, who has offices on the third floor for his oil operators, reported that the sale of the building did not mean that he planned to leave Cisco. He added that he had taken a two-year leave on the offices he has been using.

Mr. Hooker came to Cisco in 1946 and opened Hooker's Jewelry. He said that he bought the building because "I believe in Cisco and its future and I want my money invested here."

The sale was handled by Tom Stark, local real estate man.

Buck Orchestra Plays Program At Rotary Meet

"One of the most outstanding programs of the year," was the comment of Rotarians following their regular weekly meeting at noon Thursday at the Hotel Victor when they were entertained by the Breckenridge High School Dixieland Band.

The eight piece orchestra was composed of members of the Buckaroo band. They played the old New Orleans type of music and spiced their program with a vocal solo and lead parts by the various instruments. The orchestra was directed by Alton Roan, former Cisco man who is director of band and orchestra for the Breckenridge school. The program was in charge of Rotarian Bob Elliott.

The band started the program by playing "Two Beat" than Max Bryant playing a trombone lead in "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You." The band teamed up to play "When the Saints Go Marching In" in traditional Dixie style. Miss Caroline Martin, vocalist for the group, sang "Because of You."

Other numbers played by the band included "Swaneland," "Basin Street Blues," "Clarinet Marmalade," and "How Come You Do Me Like You Do." Roy White, pianist for the orchestra, played a bogie woogie number. Other members of the orchestra were Michael Hagler, Terry Tyson, Jimmie Campbell, Janet Cracey and Lyndal Lusby.

It was announced to Rotarians that Dr. Edward Taborsky would speak to the club on April 17. Dr. Taborsky was secretary to Dr. Edward Benes of Czechoslovakia and attended the Munich conference and other important meetings before and during World War II. He spent some time behind the Iron Curtain and escaped to England. He is now on special assignment to the United States.

Visitors at the meeting Thursday were Rotarians L. R. Pearson of Ranger; Herbert Billhartz and Homer Scallorn of Abilene; Dr. Jim Whittington, Earl Stephens, Melvin Rathael, Bernard Hanna and A. L. Murrell of Eastland. Other visitors were Lloyd Cosgrove of Fort Worth, Brantley Hudson of Brownwood and Mrs. Bill Fewell of Cisco.

MASONS WILL MEET
There will be a called meeting of the Cisco Lodge No. 556 A. F. & A. M. on Monday, March 17, at 7:30 p. m. for work in the Master's Degree, Secretary L. D. Wilson reported today. All members were urged to attend.

Mrs. Wilburn Tabor and children will leave Saturday for Shamrock where she will join her husband who is employed there.

"LOOKING FOR REASONS"

Large things sometimes have small beginnings. The Mexican government a few days ago suspended talks on a military aid agreement with the United States, probably in fear of the political repercussions it might have among a people still suspicious of "Yankee imperialism."

Whatever the reason or combination of reasons, it is apparent that the United States lacked in Mexico the good will and trust necessary to conclude an agreement aimed only at preserving the common security.

If we wonder at the distrust and suspicion, some of the answers are at hand. We can not successfully export a Good Neighbor Policy and maintain at the same time practices in discrimination which wound the sensitive Latin-American pride deeply.

In Fort Worth last week a conference sponsored by the Council of Social Agencies for a study of Latin-American problems disclosed that a check of children's homes supported by the Community Chest here revealed that only one accepted children of Latin-American descent. Nor does the county's tax-supported children's home take them.

In Texas the expression Latin-American is a euphemism for Mexican. Fort Worth, like other Texas cities, has a large Mexican population. Some are native-born Texans, some are naturalized.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

The arteries of the body seem to keep close tab on each other; they know what their neighboring arteries are doing. Such curiosity may not be welcomed in some quarters but it is certainly a big help in circulatory circles.

Among the arteries that feed the heart muscle, the coronary arteries, there is very fine teamwork. When one arterial line of the blood stream gets blocked off by such means as coronary occlusion, the neighboring lines, called the collateral circulation, try to take over for the area that's not getting its blood supply.

Since the plugs that block the arteries are usually a long time in the making, these neighboring lines can often start in early on the job of helping and can maintain a feed-line to the starving area, keeping everything under control.

Sometimes, however, the neighbors are not close enough or the plug develops so rapidly and a portion of the heart muscle will be cut off from the bloodstream. The portion that is cut off from nourishment dies and that dead area is called a myocardial infarction; it looks like a scar on the heart.

The seriousness of myocardial infarction depends upon which part of the coronary artery is affected. Many people have suffered this type of heart attack without ever knowing it and only at autopsy have the scars been found. Others may have passed it off as "indigestion" or some other ailment which hurt badly for a few minutes and then did not recur.

There is often not a lot of difference in the symptoms of angina pectoris, coronary occlusion and myocardial infarction. Frequently only a physician can tell the difference in the way these attacks look and feel. But there is a great deal of difference in the effect these three attacks have upon the heart and the manner in which convalescence and recuperation is handled.

You Can't Afford to Sow Seed Unless It's Tested

Good stands of grasses and legumes cannot be obtained from low-germinating seed, no matter how well you prepare the seedbed and sow the seed. With commercial seed, always read the label carefully. See that the seed comes from a reliable source, and that the tests for germination and purity are of recent date and show a satisfactory percentage of pure live seed.

SEED TRUTHS

- 1. Good stands are not obtained from low-test seed. 2. High quality seed obtained from a reputable dealer is the best insurance of a stand. 3. Seed kept in a dry, cool place is most likely to retain its vitality. 4. New seed of certain legumes and grasses often remains dormant some months after harvest. 5. New clover seed may have a high percentage of "hard" seed. 6. Hard seeds in legumes may be reduced by scarification. 7. Scarified seed loses vitality rapidly in storage. 8. Delayed germination of hard clover seed causes volunteer stands.

conditions they may remain for months or years without swelling or decaying. Finally, when the seed coats decay, or are broken by temperature changes, the seeds may germinate. Hard seeds are common with small-seeded legumes. Red and alsike clover and sweet-clover seeds when threshed may contain relatively high percentages of hard seeds. These are responsible for many of the volunteer stands of clover on farms where ripened seeds are plowed under with the sod, or where manure from clover hay containing ripe seeds is spread.

A considerable portion of the hard seeds in a lot of seed will germinate in the late winter if sown while freezing and thawing are still taking place, so that seed which contains a high percentage of hard seeds may be sown earlier than permeable seeds. This is frequently done with sweetclover.

Seed with a high proportion of hard seeds is often "scarified." Special scarifying machines have been developed to treat such seed. Scarified seed loses vitality rapidly, so that such seed more than one year old may be weak and low in germination.

Texas Leads All Other States In Road Building

COLLEGE STATION, March 14.—Dewitt C. Greer, state highway engineer, Texas Highway Department, has reported that Texas has built 1263 miles of federal aid roads, 248 bridges and eliminated 11 railway grade crossings in 1951 to lead the nation in this field. These figures were released recently by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"This federal aid road construction," Greer said, "was supplemented by a sizeable program of farm to market roads financed with state funds made available by the last session of the Texas legislature.

Speaking at the 26th annual short course in Highway Engineering, at Texas A. and M. College, the state highway engineer pointed out also that during 1951 Texas built 137 miles on the interstate highway system, which is strategic both from the military and the civilian viewpoint insofar as the movement of traffic is concerned. The nearest competitor to Texas in this field was California with 354 miles, he said.

Greer urged the engineers of the Highway Department to continue their good work in 1952 of "expeditiously and efficiently putting the money under the rub-

FOR THE BLIND—At the New York Guild for the Jewish blind, young Peter Barnett, and David Stayer finger their braille Hagadah, or prayer books, as Rabbi Walter Cuckat recites the ritual prayer for the blessing of wine. The braille edition of the Hagadah is the first ever made and was printed to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the death of Louis Braille.

Rev. Seymour To Be On Wesley Program

The Rev. Leslie Seymour will deliver the sermon for the morning service at the Wesley Methodist Church on Sunday. Following the morning service, a service of communion and dedication will be held in connection with the Week of Dedication and Prayer which has been observed by all Methodist Churches during the past week.

The evening message will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. J.

W. Gilk. His subject, "I Believe in the Holy Ghost," will be a continuation in the series on the Apostles' Creed.

ber' for the maximum benefit of Texas motorists."

"The controlled materials plan of the federal government is now operating smoothly and so far as Texas is concerned the Highway Department has developed flexibility in highway design in order to reduce to the minimum the use of critical steel. Highway projects are therefore moving to construction without interruption or delay at the present time."

Greer said that "in a report made to the national congress 30 days ago Thomas H. McDonald, commissioner of the Bureau of Public Roads, pointed out the movement of the federal aid highway construction program in the U. S., it was interesting to note that during the calendar year 1951 Texas led the nation in the number of miles of federal aid road constructed, the number of bridges built and the number of highway grade crossings eliminated."

The highway short course will continue through Thursday morning, with more than 400 in attendance.
