Crops Is Better In Some Sections

Prospects for starting the 1952 crop season were further improved, particularly in eastern areas, as light rains covered much of the State during the past week. In east Texas, many bottom land fields were too wet. In the northwest rains were light and gave only temporary relief. In more favored areas of the High Plains, however, there was some improvement in wheat condition. In Low Rolling Plains counties, the crop deteriorated and rains in that area were very light. In central and northern counties both wheat and oats were responding to im proved moisture.

LINDBERGH'S STORY IS REVIEWED

Twenty-five years ago this spring a tall young flyer named Charles Augustus Lindbergh landed a tiny monoplane at Le Bourget airfield outside Paris and began one of the most fabulous careers of our day and age. From that moment on he has never been long out of the nation's headlines. Lindbergh, a man who passionately desired anonymity, found he could no more avoid the limelight than he could dodge the shadows.
