Belden interviewers button-holed 1000 adult Texans, selected by methods insuring a scientifically representative cross section of the state's entire population. Using a lengthy questionnaire, they asked a wide range of questions to determine attitudes on a number of specific points.

The survey, believed to be the most detailed and self-searching inquiry into public opinion ever made by a state bar association, produced considerable food for thought — both for lawyers and for laymen.

For example, four out of every ten Texas adults (40%) have hired a lawyer at one time or another. And eighty-eight percent (88%) of those hiring lawyers were satisfied with their services.

Sixty-six percent (66%) think that the main reason people put off going to a lawyer is that they don't know how much it will cost, believe it will cost too much, or just don't have the money.

And, while seventy-three percent (73%) of those who have hired lawyers thought the charges reasonable, almost one-fourth of Texas adults (22%) have personally put off consulting a lawyer at one time or another because of uncertainty as to his charges or a fear that the charges would be too high.

In answer to the question, "How do you think lawyers could give you better service?" adult Texans answered: "have lower fees" or "have stated fees," 14%; "give honest opinions," 8%; "give quicker service," 4%; "take an interest in client's welfare, not just money," 4%; and "talk simply and explain carefully to client," 3%.

The Belden Survey showed that many Texans think well of lawyers as public officials. Those interviewed were handed a card listing lawyers, businessmen, teachers, farmers-ranchers, bankers, engineers, labor union leaders, and doctors.

They were then asked which would make the best public official in several different categories, with the following results: Best Justice of the Peace: Lawyers, 56%; businessmen, 15%; teachers 7%; farmers-ranchers, 7%; miscellaneous or no opinion, 15%.

Best County Judge: Lawyers, 63%; businessmen, 12%; teachers, 5%; bankers, 4%; farmers-ranchers, 4%; miscellaneous or no opinion, 12%.

Best Mayor: Businessmen, 49%; lawyers, 16%; bankers, 11%; engineers, 5%; teachers, 4%; labor union leaders, 4%; doctor, 4%; miscellaneous or no opinion, 7%.

Best Governor of Texas: Lawyers, 40%; businessmen, 21%; farmers-ranchers, 7%; teachers, 7%; bankers, 7%; labor leaders, 5%; miscellaneous or no opinion, 13%.

Best Member of Texas Legislature: Lawyers, 37%; businessmen, 19%; farmers-ranchers, 12%; teachers, 8%; labor leaders, 7%; bankers, 5%; miscellaneous or no opinion, 12%.

Best Member of Congress: Lawyers, 42%; businessmen, 19%; farmers-ranchers, 9%; teachers, 6%; labor leaders, 5%; bankers, 4%; doctors, 2%; miscellaneous or no opinion, 13%.

In choosing the best community leader, businessmen ranked first (33%), teachers, 24%; farmers-ranchers, 21%; bankers, 9%; doctors, 8%; labor leaders, 5%; and lawyers, 5%.

Results of the survey will be used by the State Bar in planning a long range program designed to the standing of the legal profession in the eyes of the public.

"While we are gratified by the public confidence in lawyers shown by the answers to many of the questions, it is the less favorable answers that will be most helpful in our work," Burney stated.

"Some of the unfavorable opinions arise from lack of information, which we are undertaking to correct by our public information program. Others are better founded and will serve to focus the attention of Texas lawyers on their opportunities for improving their service to the public. The survey will give a strong impetus to the State Bar's program of raising its own standards and improving the administration of justice."

All parts of the body have a wrapping, a muscular connection, a fluid channel supply, and a pithy inside. In the stomach this wrapping is called the peritoneum, the muscles from the muscular coat, the fluid channel supply is known as the submucosa and the pithy inside is known as the mucosal coat.

Coming into the stomach through these holes are substances which the stomach jumbles together to make its own specific secretions, secretions which no other part of the body can manufacture. In the upper part of the stomach are the gastric glands known as the fundic or peptic glands which manufacture three different kinds of secretions: one which creates more mucus, one which leads to the formation of pepsin...

In the lower part of the stomach are the pyloric glands that secrete alkaline, salty, substances which seem to work on the secretions of the upper part of the stomach to make them into such things as pepsin, rennin, and hydrochloric acid.

The stomach, like all parts of the body, needs the proper amounts of outside substances in order to release its own brand of secretion. Then it needs another type of substance to combine the outside substances and its own secretions in proper form so that the finished product can be sent from the organ.

MIRACLE OF MAKE-UP

CREATING AN ILLUSION—Film actress Susan Whitney, 11, portrays a 10-year-old shepherd girl, top left, and the same character as a 45-year-old nun, right, in "The Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima." The film tells the story of three children who in 1917 reported that the Virgin Mary had appeared before them at Fatima, near Lisbon, Portugal. Gilbert Roland is shown in a scene with Susan, lower left, who has matured 35 years, thanks to Hollywood make-up artists. At right, Gordon Bau and Joe Norlin, with glasses, start work on Susan's expert aging.

Texas Continues 4-H Club Safety, Health Contests

Three national 4-H programs, in which club boys and girls help to make rural America safer, healthier and happier, are being continued this year in Texas, the State Club office has announced.

"Suffer The Little Children..."

During the filming of "The Prince of Peace" this beautiful composition was especially posed for use to illustrate Easter editions of magazines. It shows Millard Coody who plays the role of Jesus in the pageant sequences and 6-year-old Ginger Prince, star of the modern sequences, typifying Christ's words "Suffer the little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." This 2-hour cinecolor production opens at the Joy. — Thurs. & Fri.

They are the Farm and Home Safety, Health Improvement and Recreation-Rural Arts program, all conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Illustrative of club members' activities in the three programs, 1951 records show that more than 580,000 members took part in the Farm and Home Safety program checking and correcting accident and fire hazards on home grounds and farmsteads; nearly 750,000 4-H'ers improved their own health and cooperated in improving health conditions in their homes and communities, and a half million 4-H boys and girls assisted in developing recreational activities, as well as took part in music and art appreciation.

Incentives for outstanding county records of achievement in these programs are merit medals for winners in Safety, provided by General Motors, and certificates of honor for those in both Health and Recreation-Rural Arts, in which Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich., and U. S. Rubber, respectively, are the awards donors.

The respective donors also provide trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November for State winners in Safety and Health. In the latter, cash awards of $20 to each are presented to ten clubs carrying the best health programs in the State. In Recreation-Rural Arts, a $25 cash award for the purchase of equipment will be given to each county naming a blue award group of 4-H Clubs.

National awards are college scholarships of $300 each for eight top ranking winners in Safety; $100 U. S. Savings Bond and blue ribbon in Health, and Chicago Club Congress trip for each of 12 champions in Recreation and Rural Arts.

Lethal Punch Is In Old Batteries For Farm Stock

AUSTIN, May 23.—Discarded storage batteries may be useless for starting motors, but they can still pack a lethal punch when it comes to killing livestock, the American Foundation for Animal Health warned farmers today.

DANCE STEPS—Pretty Margery Kent doesn't have to practice too much for her paces as a drum majorette in London, England. Margery's a ballet dancer and her dancing will stand her in good stead when she leads the band at Battersea Park gardens all this season.

Recent Rains Aid State's Wildlife

AUSTIN, May 23.—The Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Texas Game & Fish Commission said recent rains have aided wildlife in most areas of the state.

He said the moisture came at a crucial period of the spring nesting of such major game bird species as quail, mourning dove and turkey.

The rains also have stimulated growth of food and cover for deer and other game animals, as well as providing needed water.

The Assistant Director pointed out that the rains have not yet broken the drought in important parts of South Texas and West Texas.

One of the greatest benefits from the rains is the effect it will have on turkey nesting in the Hill country of Texas which provides an estimated ninety per cent of Texas turkey hunting.

The Assistant Director said this vital area has missed a good hatch for three previous years with the result that the brood stock has been hard hit. "Without rain to grow cover for nesting, wild turkeys simply do not have a disposition to nest," he said. "Then many of the birds hatching died for lack of food and water."

Reports from field men to the Commission described spring prospects as "generally good" excepting the scattered areas which still are suffering from drought.

occur when an animal licks old batteries, eats orchard grass that has been treated with lead arsenate, or licks paints, ointments, or salves which contain lead."

Foundation authorities also recommend that farmers check against five additional livestock poisoning hazards:

"(1) Mercury poisoning from eating seed grain that has been treated with mercury.

"(2) Rat poisons, including warfarin, if sufficient amounts are consumed over a long period of time.

"(3) Chemical weed killers which may contain substances poisonous to stock.

"(4) Grasshopper poisons, such as arsenic-treated bran.

"(5) Highway surfacing oil which rains may wash into pastures."

Farmers who suspect a case of livestock poisoning were urged to get a veterinarian on the job as promptly as possible, as time is an important factor in saving the animals' life.

Forces End Reserve Survey

Completion of the 15th area's survey of Air Force Reservists Wednesday provided Air Force with data vital to the future," said Colonel E. Glenn, commanding officer of Third Air Reserve District.

Glenn said about 1,000 men responded to the request that they be surveyed by an Air Force team. The success of the survey was a great part to cooperation of employers, and families of reservists.

Glenn said, "We want to thank all you West Texans for your part in your fine reputation cooperation."

ARMY GAMES ON OKINAWA

LEARNING THE HARD WAY—The 29th Infantry Regimental Combat Team is now fully trained in its first amphibious assault on the shores of Okinawa, of World War II fame. The men hit beaches, stormed enemy emplacements and simulated actual conditions of brutal warfare. Above, a sea wall on the beach is littered with life jackets where running men threw them, and beyond that point, they "lived" or "died," according to what they had learned. Amtracs came ashore, top photo, shooting as though the invasion were real, while Navy planes flew cover. Later, amtrac men halted an advancing column when they found one of their tanks, second in line, bogged in the sand and needing the help of a sister tank, lower photo.

Employers Asked - -

minimum age for boys is 16 years and the minimum age for girls is 18 years.

Mr. Ferrell also would like for youngsters to know about the type of age certificates needed for employment. For employers who wish to protect themselves from unintentional violation of the child labor provisions of these Federal laws will require boys and girls to obtain age certificates before they start to work.

Such age certificates are needed for minors under 18 in general employment and by those who are 18 and 19 if they work in occupations declared to be hazardous. Minor girls of 18 and 19 will need such certificates if they work on government contracts, he says.

In Texas, such certificates of age are issued as a public service by any of the 82 offices of the Texas Employment Service.

Finally, he advises young workers to find out about the legal minimum ages and other conditions for employment which are set by the state child labor laws of the state in which they work. Some state laws have higher ages for employment than the two Federal laws, and whichever sets the higher standard prevails.

Further information about the legal minimum ages for employment under Federal laws may be obtained from the Wage-Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, Fort Worth, Texas.
