HOOVER'S NEW BOOK

The third volume of "The Memoirs of Herbert Hoover" went on the bookstands early in September. To many, it will be the most interesting of the series, dealing as it does with the 1929-1941 period.

At the end, Mr. Hoover makes four points. These are: "1. That the Great Depression extended from 1929 to 1941; 2. That recovery from the Great Depression came quickly to other nations of free economy; but, as a consequence of the New Deal devices, it never came to the United States under Roosevelt during peacetime; 3. That the primary cause of this failure was the New Deal attempt to collectivize the American system of life; 4. That the Great Depression was ultimately in name ended only by the war."

Mr. Hoover is never bitter, but he makes his views very plain. His policies and plans, he says in effect, were deliberately distorted and misrepresented by the Democratic spokesmen. He feels that the way the banking crisis was handled by Mr. Roosevelt was unnecessary and inexcusable, and that it brought needless hardships to millions of people and prolonged and deepened the depression—that, in brief, the crisis was purposely used for purely political objectives.

Mr. Hoover, of course, is dealing with history, but that does not mean his book lacks timeliness. It has that in full measure. And one of the most interesting of his ideals comes at the very end. He writes, "As a result of eight years of the New Deal, there was not more but less liberty in America. . . . But out of these years of New Dealism and the necessary expansion of control measures by the war came a partial redemption of America from collectivism . . .

DREAM CAR AT TEXAS FAIR

The K-310, Chrysler Corporation's experimental sports sedan, will be on display in the Automobile Building at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas October 4 through October 19. The K-310 is one of the features of the new $1,000,000 "New Worlds in Engineering" show explaining how the American automobile is designed.

"A first real turning away from collectivism came with the Congressional election after the war (1946). In the new Congress, Republicans with the aid of conservative Democrats repealed . . . according to an estimate by a re-putable member — some 70,000 New Deal and war rules, regulations and orders, which went far to restore the American system. It has since had some setbacks, but that the American system has survived at all is proof of its vitality."

Those are cheering words, and a great many other writers and commentators and observers of the ever-changing American scene feel the same way. The temper of the country now, they think, is away from the collectivist philosophies of both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman. And they believe that the current presidential campaign, in which neither candidate is an extremist, proves it.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

"Where's Joe this morning?" "He got a charley-horse during the game last night and couldn't make it to work."

Many firms interested in the welfare of their employees have set up recreational programs, and the large number of "7 p. m. athletes" in American business and industry has been a fairly recent development. The company's enthusiasm for a volleyball or softball team is picked up and multiplied by each man and woman who takes part.

A file clerk, whose major form of exercise for twenty years has been walking to and from her car in the parking lot, suddenly may be cast in the role of "anchor man" for the bowling team. A middle-aged executive, recalling his days of glory as a star on Way Above Normal's winning football team in 1920 and 1921, decides to give right end a whirl. Some muscles, aching backs, twisted ankles, tennis elbows, and a host of other complaints can be expected. If nothing more serious comes from this unaccustomed rugged participation, the player can consider himself lucky.

To assure a safe recreational program, the company physician should work hand in hand with the athletic director. First, the doctor must find out if the athlete-to-be is physically fit to take part in sports. Next, he must determine that the game chosen holds no unusual dangers for the individual employee; if he turns thumbs down on the supervisor with a bad heart playing left field, it's up to the patient to heed his advice and substitute a less strenuous activity. Finally, along with the coach the doctor should be responsible for seeing that the player learns the right playing techniques to avoid serious injury and for reminding him that if and when he is hurt, he should report promptly for treatment.

The 7 p. m. athlete who follows the advice of the doctor and coach will find company sports enjoyable and safe.

EVEN FIRE insurance rating schedules in Texas are going pocket-sized. Here State Fire Insurance Commissioner Paul H. Brown compares the new, streamlined General Basis Schedules, at right, with the unwieldy book from which Texas insurance agents have computed fire insurance rates for nearly 30 years. Completely revised after months of work, the new General Basis Schedules is only a quarter of the size of the old book.

Bride Elect Honored With Morning Coffee

A coffee honoring Miss Linda Fee, bride elect of Raymond E. Fairchild, was held Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Raymond Royall with Mrs. Royall and Mrs. C. R. Carrothers as hostesses.

The house was beautifully decorated with red spider lillies and greenery. The serving table was laid with a gray and silver cloth and centered with an arrangement of red spider lillies in a silver bowl. Table appointments were of silver. Mrs. George P. Fee, mother of the honoree, presided at the coffee service.

Each guest brought her favorite recipe, which was placed in a wicker basket and presented to the honoree.

Approximately forty guest called during the hours of 10 and 11:30 o'clock.

Q — I have just been discharged from the WAVES, and I plan to go to school under the Korean GI Bill. I am married and my husband earns a nice salary. We have no children. May I claim him as a dependent and receive a higher rate of GI education allowance?

A — No. So long as your husband is not actually dependent upon you, you may not claim him as a dependent for GI allowance purposes.

Q — I realize I'm allowed to make only one change of course under the Korean GI Bill training provisions. But is there any limit on the number of times I can change schools, without changing my course?

'Typical Texan' Is Title of New Book Off Press

DALLAS, Sept. 25. — Texans' political independence is no surprise to historians, says Joseph Leach, professor at Texas Western College in his new book "The Typical Texan" just published by the SMU Press.

As far back as the 1830s when Three Legged Willie Williamson was appointed district judge by Sam Houston he let the community know how things were going to be, after some of the citizens had informed him that they wanted none of Houston's courts there. Williamson placed a rifle at one elbow and a pistol at the other and declared:

"Hear ye, hear ye, court for the third district is either now in session or by God somebody's going to get killed."

Leach says, however, the popular conception of a Texan as some one belligerent, independent as a hog on ice, and given to loud and long boasting about his state came more from the East than from Texas. For instance, a New York magazine in 1882 said "the typical Texan is half-alligator, half-human, who eats raw buffalo and sleeps out on the prairie; he is peaceable only after he has killed everybody in sight and can find no fresh material to practice on."

According to Professor Leach, the politically recalcitrant Texans are direct descendants of the Kentuckian who saddled his horse, shouldered his gun and set out for Texas to "fight for his right."

While "The Typical Texan," Professor Leach's new book is in no sense a political work, it will no doubt be helpful in explaining Texans to unhappy members of both political parties.

Floral wallpapers are always favorites, especially in bedrooms. Year after year they are bigger, brighter, and prettier than ever, and for a change the flowers look like something you might see in a country garden. Instead of lush and tangled tropical growth or hothouse flowers, there are pink roses and purple lilacs, phlox and lilies-of-the-valley and old-fashioned daisies.

"I've just heard a wonderful story...and it's about you!"

SAYS OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND

Do you know why your ears were burning a bit ago? I was listening to a wonderful story about a Defense Bond owner. A thrifty, patriotic person, one I respect and admire. You.

You're writing the most exciting success story the world has even seen. And I'm proud of it, for you see, I'm on the same team. I'm a Defense Bond owner, too.

I wonder if you know all the good things that Defense Bonds mean to us. For example:

FIRST—Thanks to new Treasury regulations, every Series E Bond we buy begins earning interest after only 6 months. It earns 3% interest compounded semiannually when held to maturity. It reaches full maturity value earlier (9 years 8 months) and the interest it pays is now bigger at the start.

SECOND—Every Series E Bond we own can now go on earning interest for 10 more years after it reaches the original maturity date—without our lifting a finger!

THIRD—During the 10-year extension period, every unmaturing bond earns at the new, higher interest rate (average 3% compounded semiannually). Our original $18.75 can now pay us back $33.67. $37.50 pays back $67.34. And so on.

FOURTH—When we make ourselves and our families economically secure through buying bonds, we're helping to build the great economic strength that backs up our national defense. And this is the best security our money can buy. For after two world wars we have found that peace is for the strong!

U. S. Defense Bonds are one of the easiest, most convenient forms of saving ever invented. For through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, you can buy bonds on a time payment plan. Just specify the payments, as large or as small as you like, and they will be automatically set aside from your salary. This way you save the money before you spend it. And millions of people have found this is one sure way to save.

State Fair Will Feature Musical Show on Midway

DALLAS, Sept. 25. — Magnolia Ravenal will be stealing the spotlight from Little Egypt on the glamorous new midway of the 1952 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 4-19.

Magnolia Ravenal, of course, is the heroine of Jerome Kern's beloved "Show Boat," which will be presented in a one-hour version by St. John Terrell's Music Circus at the state fair.

"The State Fair of Texas, America's largest and most progressive fair, is out to raise the calibre of entertainment on its Midway, getting away from the old-fashioned 'Little Egypt' type of 'girlie' show," James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager said.

The production of "Show Boat" will be presented at the fair in a unique, umbrella-type tent that seats 1,700. It is the first show that Oscar Hammerstein, who wrote the lyrics for "Show Boat," has ever allowed to be shortened. Not a single song has been dropped from the original score, Terrell said.

The Music Circus presents the popular musical "in the round," where the audience completely surrounds the stage.

The State Fair of Texas will be

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
 A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

At this time of year, landlords and tenants alike are thinking about farm rental arrangements for 1953. While many operate from year to year on the basis of verbal agreements regulated largely by local customs, written leases are better and may save disagreement and hard feelings between the parties.

Farming is a business and should be conducted in a businesslike manner for best success. Rental contracts involve a full year's work by the tenant and possibly thousands of dollars for both parties. A few dollars spent on a properly drawn lease is good business economy.

A farm lease is not a simple paper. Printed lease forms often turn out to be traps if not understood, or if not properly executed. A farmer-tenant contract is intricate and of such importance to both parties concerned that amateur draftsmanship is risky.

Fixing of cash rent or designating the length of term are relatively simple. Yet, even in these matters, ambiguity or incompleteness can cause bitter disputes and expensive lawsuits.

A loosely drawn property description may have consequences entirely unintended by either landlord or tenant. Where rent is to be based on acreage, an accurate description is doubly important.

In addition, there are legal rules to substitute for some omissions in written leases. For example, a holdover by the tenant may automatically renew the contract if the lease is silent on the subject. It is as important to know the results of omissions as to know the courts' interpretation of the language used.

There are many matters which should be covered by a properly drawn lease. For instance, if a tenant is to farm on a share basis, care should be taken to define what expenses are to be paid by the parties as well as what shares are to be taken out. A lease should cover such things as who is to make repairs, what land is to be cropped, whether the tenant can cut timber, whether loss of a building by fire

Presbyterian Women Hold Meeting Tuesday

The combined inspirational and business meetings of the Women of the Church of the First Presbyterian Church were held Tuesday at the church with the vice president, Mrs. F. E. Harrell, presiding, due to the absence of the president, Mrs. John Kleiner.

Mrs. H. Grady James led in opening prayer and roll call was answered by seventeen members. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and reports from the officers were given. Mrs. Glenn Dietaker, chairman of World Missions, stressed the need of clothing to fill two duffel bags to be sent to foreign countries. She also stressed the need of refugee mothers of Kits containing sewing equipment.

Meals were arranged for Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Pearce during their stay in Cisco October 11 through 19 when Dr. Pearce will conduct revival services at the church.

Mrs. C. M. Townsley was in charge of the program. Mrs. James led the devotional, using as her scripture, Matthew 28: 6-20 the Great Commission, which was suitable for the study of William Carey. Miss Willie Word gave the life of William Carey and Mrs. P. R. Warwick closed the meeting with prayer.

or other cause frees the tenant, or whether the landlord must accept a sub-tenant.

One great cause of difficulty with leases is blind faith on the part of the persons involved that all differences of opinion can be worked out. Poor memories as to verbal agreements can cause disputes between persons even though they are both honest and generous.

Many of the possibilities that should be covered by a properly drawn lease will not occur to inexperienced persons. The renting of land deserves a written contract, and it is a contract too important to be entrusted to anyone other than an expert.

Coffield and French M. Robertson, Co-Chairmen of the Prison Board's rodeo committee. Mr. Tom Peebles, prominent rancher of Lexington, Texas, furnished the pony and took great care to see that the rodeo management got one of the best available for the occasion.

Preparations for the big show going on throughout the prison, indicate that this year's Prison Rodeo will be the biggest yet. Rodeo manager Albert Moore says that new stock has been added to the bucking string to be used this year and also announced that try-outs for prospective riders will be held a week before the show opens "to separate the men from the boys." Only the best riders and performers will compete in the show when it opens.

Reserved seats are available for all four Sundays of the rodeo by mail or wire. Send checks or money orders to L. W. Wright, Prison Ticket Office, Huntsville, Texas. All seats are $2.40, tax included.

Annual Prison Rodeo Is Planned For Next Month

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 25. — When the Prison Rodeo opens for its 21st series of October Sunday afternoon shows this year the rodeo management will celebrate the occasion by giving away a fine Shetland pony.

Some one of the thousands of young cowboys and cowgirls who attend the first show of the 21st Annual Prison Rodeo series, Sunday, October 5th will become the master or mistress of a handsome little black and white Shetland pony and a fancy, tooled-leather cowboy saddle complete with bridle and all the trappings.

Some time during the rodeo a halt will be called between events of the show and the junior-size cowhorse awarded. The lucky young rodeo fan who gets the pony will be announced by Roy Dillon, rodeo MC, and called into the arena to receive the prize.

The idea of giving a pony as an added attraction at the first show of this year's series was conceived and developed by H. H.
