The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE MAN WHO gave the first concert program ever presented in the City Hall auditorium in Cisco wrote a Cisco man a fine letter the other day. The man who wrote the letter and gave the concert was Leonard A. Gordon, director of Gordon Musical Enterprises of Hollywood, Calif., and the man who received the letter was Mr. J. B. F. Wright of Cisco, who has written scores of songs.

Regarding his visit to Cisco, Mr. Gordon wrote: "If I remember correctly, I gave the first concert program that was ever given in your city hall auditorium. About a year ago, I passed through Cisco, and just to bring back old memories, I visited the city hall. It was the same city hall but it did not seem to be a third as large as it was the night that I gave this concert program for the Fine Arts Society of Cisco."

Mr. Gordon, who is 64, and Mr. Wright met in singing conventions in this area years ago. In part, Mr. Gordon wrote: "A man only lives on this earth for a certain length of time, and then he tells it goodbye. The important thing is what did he do while he lived here on earth. Your song, 'Precious Memories,' will be sung by multiplied thousands and thousands of people long after you and I are completely forgotten. I certainly would say that yours has been indeed a successful life. If I were selfish enough, I could certainly be envious of a man who has done the worthwhile things that you have done. Many wonderful songs that you have written will be held dear to me. I play a recording of 'Precious Memories' often."

Mr. Wright wrote his most famous song, "Precious Memories," in 1923. It is still a favorite and is on the radio frequently. Mr. Wright's picture poems are going to add to their reputation one of these days. They're outstanding.

BACK FROM SOME two months in California are the Randy Steffens of our town. They expected to stay a couple of weeks when they went to the west coast, but Randy got a case of stomach trouble that took him to a hospital. And a few people wanted him to paint them some pictures, "all of which kind of delayed us," Mr. Steffen said. The Steffens enjoyed their trip but "there's no place like home — absolutely no place," he told us.

SAW A PICTURE of Mrs. W. C. Hogue of Cisco in the Abilene paper the other day. She was there attending a luncheon for wives of oil men at a convention. "Somebody tells us that the current issue of Look Magazine mentions the fact that Bobby Huffmyer, former star basketball and football player at CJC, is now the top basketball man at New Mexico A. & M. College."

IT LOOKS PRETTY much like the Madrigal Concerts that the CJC music department is staging at the hotel coffee shop Friday and Saturday nights will be a solid sellout. They decided to stage the Saturday night show when Friday night's program became a sellout with a strong demand for tickets. Now, there's only about 15 tickets left for the Saturday night show.

This concert will be something new. You pay $2.50 for a ticket and you are served a top steak dinner, followed by the program. The event will be formal.

IF YOU'VE LOST a pair of glasses, bifocals in brown shell frames, maybe they're at The Press office. Mrs. Lloyd Surles found the glasses and dropped them off at our office. Anyone who has lost glasses is welcome to come and look.

BACK HOME AND glad to be is Mrs. H. A. McCaules. She arrived home late Thursday after several weeks in a hospital at Temple where she underwent a major operation. She is now permitted to have limited visits by friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Leazar of Longview are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bible.

SUPER SERVICE—Annette Cory, a former school teacher in Chicago, hands her pet pigeon, Merry Garden, to Bruce Trinz, a theater manager. Trinz checks the bird in a special cage until the picture is over. Miss Cory goes to the show every afternoon, seven days a week, and she always checks her pet in this manner.

Hospital News

Mrs. Joe Wilson, who underwent surgery recently, was reported as improving at Graham Hospital Saturday.

Mrs. W. C. Shelton, mother of Mrs. Lannie Mancill and Mrs. E. L. Graham, was improving slowly.

Robert Hall, 12, who was injured when struck by a car on December 1, was improving Saturday.

Mrs. A. B. Reed of Cisco and James E. Smith of Cisco were patients at Graham Hospital Saturday.

Dismissed recently were Mrs. Ralph Buckingham of Gainesville, Billie Troy Thackerson of Cisco, Dr. Eli Powell of Cross Plains, Mrs. A. V. Jones and infant daughter of Albany, Lee Wallace of Cisco, Titia Bell Simmons of Cisco and Mrs. W. E. Hamilton of Breckenridge.

QUEENS IN TOURNAY

The Cisco High School Lobo Queens have entered the Olden High School invitation basketball tournament and will play in the Olden gym Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, it was announced Saturday by Coach P. C. Coza.

Harvey Haynie of Dallas was a recent visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Haynie.

26 Years In City

Small Firm Has Expanded To Large Business Under Sandler

Expansion of a small business opened with 800 borrowed dollars into a firm that occupies some two blocks of space and stocks 30,000 items is the record that Charles S. Sandler has made in Cisco during the past 26 years.

And his Cisco Lumber and Supply Company today is one of this section's largest business organizations, dealing in lumber and building materials, hardware, home appliances and the like.

The Charles Sandler story began on January 4, 1900, when he was born in Fort Worth — the third of six children in the family of Joseph and Fannie Sandler. Two years after his father died, Charles Sandler quit school at the age of 11, after finishing the 4th grade, to help make the family's living.

After working for a meat packer and at odd jobs for a few years, Mr. Sandler opened his first store — a neighborhood grocery — when he was 17 years old. He remained in this store until he moved to Cisco and, in partnership with Pete Cooles,

SANTA AND REAL REINDEER TO VISIT CISCO NEXT SATURDAY

Arrangements have been completed for old Santa Claus to make his annual visit to Cisco at 2 p. m. next Saturday, Manager B. A. Butler of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce announced. And Santa will parade through town in a sleigh pulled by real reindeer from Alaska.

The Chamber of Commerce has arranged for Grady Carothers, Goldwaite rancher, to bring his herd of reindeer here for Santa's parade. Carothers has built up a herd of 18 reindeer during the past five years, importing a few each year from Alaska.

The reindeer live in a special air-conditioned barn at Carothers' ranch during the summer. The real-life reindeer are a little different from the mythical variety, but not less amazing. Their thick hair is hollow to provide insulation against extreme weather. When they walk, their ankles pop and their tongues hang out like a dog's.

A reindeer grazes like a cow, has an intestinal tract much like a horse, and makes a noise like a pig. Carothers paid $150 to $250 apiece for his reindeer, buying them from Eskimos in Alaska. The animals were flown to Texas at a cost of $1,000 each. The reindeer even seem to appreciate the wide-eyed attention they get at the parades, and are as noble as their fantasy brethren, Dancer, Prancer and the others.

Santa and his real reindeer attracted a huge crowd in Cisco last year, and everybody in this section has been invited to be here for next Saturday afternoon's parade.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Graham were spending the weekend in Dallas visiting their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Graham.

Mr. Sandler continues as the active manager of Cisco Lumber and Supply. This firm has something like 2,600 active accounts on its books and, as previously mentioned, stocks around 30,000 individual items. And Mr. Sandler can just about tell you where any one of them will be found in the store.

"Now our dealers are getting ready to present an even greater car to the public — the 1953 Ford. We call it the new standard of the American road."

Details of the 1953 Ford passenger car line will be announced through the press, radio and TV next Wednesday — two days prior to the public introduction in the dealer showrooms, Mr. Smead said.

CISCO CAGE TEAMS WIN THREE CONTESTS HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

It was a grand slam for Cisco High School Friday night as three cage teams from the school won all their games from Eastland High School at the community gym.

The Lobo "B" team boys opened the entertainment for the evening when they downed the Eastland "B" team by a 23-19 score. The Lobo Queens, coached by P. C. Goza, kept the ball rolling when they took the court, and mastered the Eastland girls 31-26. Coach Overall's Lobos made it a 100 per cent Cisco evening when they wound up the activities by taking the long end of a 39-20 count over the Mavericks.

Coach Overall used every man of his eight man Lobo team in downing the Eastland B team. Monte Ingram and Alpha Elder made four points each for Cisco to lead their teammates in scoring but trailed Don Webb and Benny Cates of the Mavericks for game honors. Webb made eight points and Cates five. Others scoring for the Cisco team were Jerry Weiser, 2; Fred Hayes, 2; Jim Reynolds, 2; Bill Smith, 2; Roger Lisenbee, 3; Tommy Reynolds, 3; and Joe Wayne Farrow, 1. The win gave the "B" team a clean record for the season as they downed Clyde in Clyde Tuesday night in the opening game.

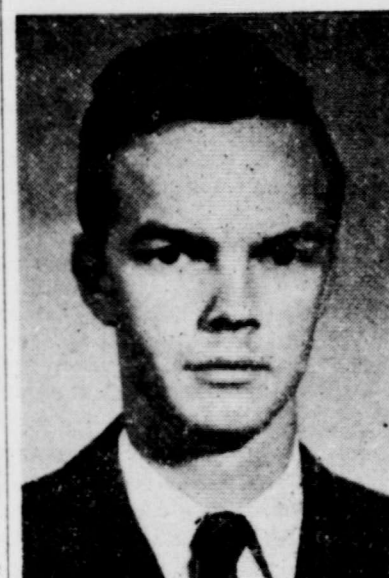

The accurate shooting of Marie Borst and Kitty Lou Pippen kept Coach Goza's Lobo Queens ahead of the Eastland girls all during their game. Borst made eight consecutive free throws and a number of push shots to take scoring honors with 18 points. Pippen was accurate with her long shots and made her share of free throws to wind up in second place with 12 points. It was the first win for the Queens for the season. They lost to Clyde Tuesday night.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Every now and then something reminds us how foresighted Mother Nature really is. For instance, a recent magazine advertisement told how sunshine, stored a billion years ago, fries our bacon and eggs today. The natural gas so many housewives cook with is formed by decay of plants and organisms fed by water and sunshine when the world was young.

One might say that even when Mother Nature was a girl she had sense enough to lay away something for the future. It took man a long time to get around to that idea.

Yet today most persons want to store a little sunshine for their old-age. The problem is to find the best way to do it. There are a lot of individual plans. Investments. Insurance. But the plan that concerns the most people is the one Uncle Sam began 'way back in 1935. It's called Social Security.

Twice within the last two years Congress has increased Social Security benefits. There's certain to be much debate over new proposals in the next Congress. For a good many persons are coming to realize that the whole Social Security program is in a state some experts describe as "dangerous confusion."

Just recently, the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States submitted proposals for some major changes in our Social Security system and asked the Chamber's membership to decide yes or no. But of course the problem of social security concerns everyone, not just business men.

The proposals are based on two basic situations in the field of old age insurance.

First, there are a number of competing programs. Besides the social security program, there are the railroad retirement, the civil service and the veterans' programs. All these pay different benefits and there is a good deal of competition among them to increase benefits.

Second, even the most inclusive social security program, the old-age and survivors' insurance, omits a large number of aged. Those covered by OASI and making regular OASI payments are, for the most part, a long way from age 65 when their benefits will become due. For this reason, OASI income exceeds outgo and has for some time. By now the "reserve fund," actually a paper reserve, totals $16 billion.

Now, just because the OASI program excluded persons 65 and over when it began in 1935, a second program was set up to include some of those OASI excluded. This was to be a temporary program. It was called old-age assistance and is supported partly by the federal government and partly by the states and localities. Far from proving temporary, however, old-age assistance has become more expensive every year.

Even so, there are still many groups of old persons excluded from the old-age and survivors' insurance program. How much it would cost to bring these groups under old-age protection, no one knows, for social security has never been on a pay-as-you-go basis. And that $16 billion "reserve" fund has been and still is a big temptation to continue increasing benefits, and let future generations worry about the cost. All of this has led to the "dangerous confusion" mentioned earlier.

The proposals are aimed at eliminating this confusion and at a sound, pay-as-you-go system.

Briefly, the proposals are: extend the government's old age and survivors' insurance program to cover everybody who is gainfully employed as well as all present retired aged people who are not already protected by it. This would eliminate the need for federal payments to the old-age assistance program which would be left under control of states and localities. Further, the new and extended old-age and survivors' insurance program would be placed on a pay-as-you-go basis, eliminating future debt.

What is Meant by "Title"?

... is another common question asked of abstractors especially by those who are buying real estate for the first time. As the term "title" relates to real property it means ownership — the right to use, possess, enjoy, dispose of and mortgage. The indisputable evidence of title in this sense is a dependable abstract, not just any kind of an abstract but one with some financial responsibility behind it. Do you have a dependable abstract to your home in town or to your farm?

CREDIT

Don't get the wrong impression of the word "credit." Your credit record on a little white card in a credit bureau may not be classified by the word "good," "bad", or "indifferent," but in the minds of the merchants, that is definitely the way it reads.

If all people met their obligations as they should, why have credit bureaus, both retail and wholesale?

If you want to find out how easy credit would be made for any consumer, just get out of a good paying job or some source of income and make application for credit in any town or city. What could merchants say? You must not dream too sweet a dream that the world and all there is in it belongs to people on a credit — you may be disappointed, as else the merchants have gone to scattering merchandise as John D. Rockefeller scattered dimes.

Buying on a credit is a convenience, but unless we have serious intentions to meet the obligation promptly, the second phase of the transaction has to be with Mr. Bill Collector.

Power Steering on the Roadmaster and Super

Television treat — the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR — every fourth Tuesday

How would you like the fun of Christmastime to last all the year through?

That's the way it seems to be when you call this Buick beauty your own—what with the constant cheer it brings to you week after week, month after month.

The cheer of traveling in style that's bright and gay as a holiday wrapping.

The cheer of having rich and spacious comfort — plus the cheery thought that nowhere else can you get as much room for the money.

The cheer of knowing abundant and mighty able power is on call, with all the solid thrift of a Fireball 8 Engine that's valve-in-head — and also high-compression.

The cheer of riding wonderfully buoyant, level and steady—with a ride that feels like the million dollars it cost to perfect.

The cheer of taking your travel free and easy—with Dynaflo Drive* doing the chores in letter-perfect smoothness—with Power Steering** assisting to make parking and slow-motion maneuvers no task at all.

Even the price is a cheerful note here — low enough, you'll find, to crowd the so-named "low-price three."

That means action is called for this very week, to make the most of this good deal while it lasts.

Why not drop in today or tomorrow and see how much cheer is to be found in a Buick showroom right now?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. **Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

A SLIP OF A GIRL—With the poise of a gown model, six-year-old Diana Wishing parades before buyers during a children's fashion show in London. She's daintily lifting the hem of her party frock to show off those ruffled undies.

The colorful Bersaglieri never walk or march at the normal pace but always perform on the run, and with unique precision.

Small Firm Has --

On January 6, 1924, Mr. and Mrs. Sandler were married, and Mrs. Sandler has contributed considerable to this success. Mrs. Sandler is a native of Dallas. They bought their present home, 404 West 9th Street, when they came to Cisco. The home has been improved from time to time. The Sandlers have two children. Their son, Mel, is 22 years old. He spent two years at the University of Texas and, prior to that, four years at Riverside

Military Academy. He is a talented musician. Their daughter, Zell, 20, is a senior at Southern Methodist University. She was a star member of the Lobo band and plays in the Mustang band. Miss Sandler toured Europe last summer. During the 26 years, the Sandlers have assumed their share of all civic responsibilities. He served for eight years as a director of the Chamber of Commerce and has been a member of the Cisco Lions Club 22 years, with 21 years of perfect attendance.

Mr. Sandler has never missed an opportunity to give a pint of blood when a unit comes to Cisco. Both he and Mrs. Sandler took vows to do everything they could to help the blood programs in 1940 when Mrs. Sandler was ill. She needed a blood transfusion and 110 Ciscoans called or went to the hospital to volunteer their blood to her.

"You don't forget things like that," Mr. Sandler said. Mrs. Sandler is chairman for the Eastland County Red Cross blood program at this time.

If Mr. Sandler has a hobby, it's probably pigeons and bees. He has a pigeon loft at his lumber yard and there's a hive of bees working the year around behind glass inside his office.

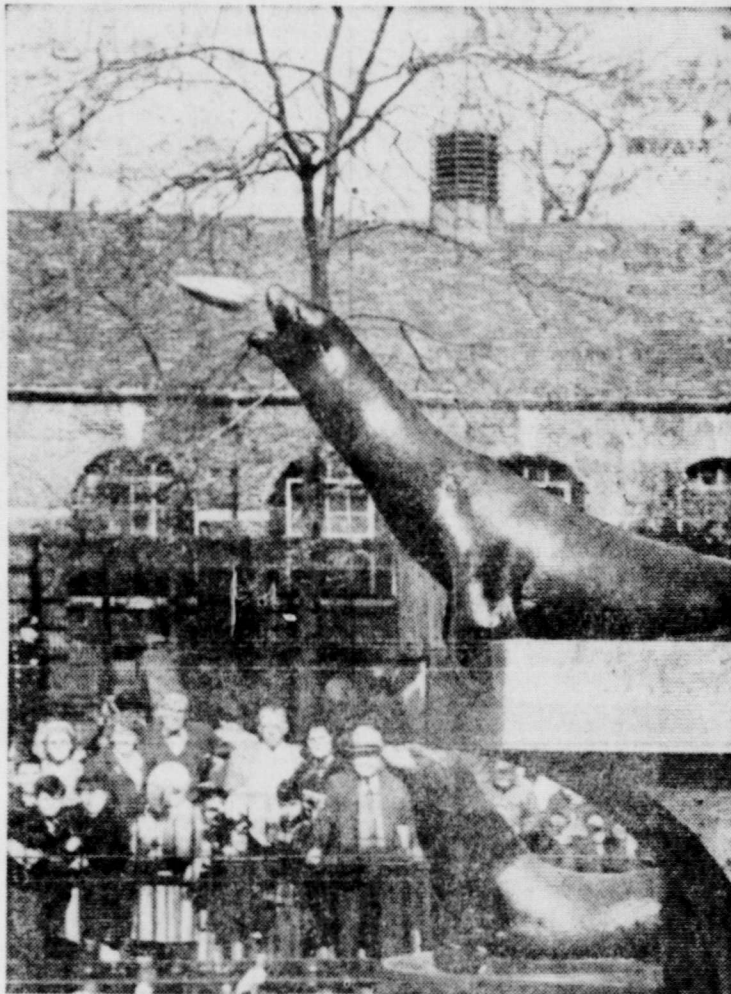

Mr. Sandler didn't exactly know to what to attribute his success. His neighbors might call it the reward for hard work and good citizenship, and that would be just about right.

MILD WEATHER SEEN

The weather man has forecast a mild weekend for this section with no rain in sight. Skies are expected to be partly cloudy. Sunday's high was due to be in the 60's with the low around 45 degrees.

Mrs. C. M. Pogue and Mrs. E. C. McClelland visited in Rising Star on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. J. W. Kornegay and baby of Fort Worth and Kenneth Jones, a student at Decatur College, are visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Jones.

SHOW OFF—As his brother remains aloof on a lower level, this energetic seal at New York's Central Park Zoo sticks his neck out to catch a fish dinner in a manner that draws applause from spectators. The seal will eventually pass the show-off stage, however, and eat his meals more sedately.

IN THE SWIM—While some folks prefer to spend the cold-weather months in the north with plenty of Wintertime sports, pretty Geraldine Palmer has other ideas. The New York model makes an annual pilgrimage to Miami Beach, Fla., during her vacation. She claims she prefers swimming in the surf and enjoying the warm breezes that sweep over the sand to anything on snowshoes or skis.

WILLING LISTENERS—As Ray Heatherton, TV's gaily-dressed Merry Mailman, spins yarns in New York, he has an attentive young audience. The lads are all members of the New York Chapter of the Hemophilia Foundation who visited Heatherton at the studio. The philia Foundation raises funds in various ways to help sufferers of the rare blood disease.

BEHIND THE WALLS OF TEXAS STATE HOSPITALS

Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on our State Hospital System, prepared under the supervision of Dr. George W. Jackson, Medical Director of the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, and sponsored by the Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene, University of Texas.

John L. had an anniversary, but he didn't even know it. Today was his twentieth anniversary. Twenty years since he had come to the State hospital, brought in handcuffed to the sheriff, brought in like an animal going to the stock yards.

There was hardly anyone left who remembered John L. Back in the city where he used to live, time had washed over, leaving the sands of his existence naked and unmarked.

Twenty years ago he had been a young man, newly-married, hard-working. Twenty years ago there had been an apartment and a wife with blue-black hair and a son, a son with blue eyes and a dimple in his chin. There had been work and love and laughter. But love had died and laughter had disappeared the night the gay little wife had gone off with another man, leaving the baby crying and wet in his crib.

John L. had found that one couldn't be father and mother to an infant—and still drive trucks across the country. Without a mother, without sisters, he could not bring up the son who held his dreams and his immortality in his two fat hands.

The son had gone to strangers. And John had come, eventually to this crowded, sweat-filled room.

Twenty years! The face of the world had changed. Wars consuming the earth (and John L.'s son fighting overseas), jet planes streaking across the skies, inventions making it possible to cross space, great and horrible men rising to power.

In twenty years nothing was the same—nothing but John L. and the men and women like him.

John lay curled up in his bed in the ward, curled up and motionless like a bear who has hibernated for the winter and forgotten it was spring.

Dr. M. stepped briefly into the ward. He could still feel the sun, warm on the back of his neck. But in the ward the air was chilled. There was the feeling of hopelessness, of dark corners where sunlight would never touch.

And Dr. M. clenched his fists and wished that he could will time back for John, that he could have him now as a newly-committed patient. For Dr. M. knew that in mental cases, as in surgery, speed in treatment is essential. If John had been treated with electro-coma when he first was admitted, he would have had a 90% chance of recovery. After two years, the chance dropped to 25%. After five years to less than 5%.

Dr. M. did some quick arithmetic in his head. If it cost $2 per day per patient, the State had already expended almost $15,000 on John. He shook his head. And some taxpayers complained that electro-coma and insulin therapy cost money!

He hurried through the rest of the ward. There were so many other wards, needing so much attention. He rubbed his hands wearily across his eyes. A little attention would mean so much to some of the patients, a little time to talk. But there was no time. There were not nearly enough doctors, not nearly enough hours in every day.

The doctor crossed the stubby grass over to Ward . But there was progress being made. Patients were being processed faster so that treatment could start immediately. And there was more insulin therapy being used, more refresher courses for the doctors, more consultation staffs of specialists, better laboratory equipment. And on the physical care side, the operating rooms were being improved, restraint curtailed, constructive activity for patients begun.

Begun! That was the word. Everything had only begun. And there was so much yet to do. Group Therapy. Better treatment centers. More recreation. More trained doctors.

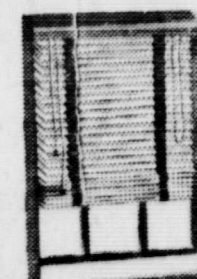

Dr. M's footsteps hurried a little more as he went to the next ward. His work, too, had only begun.

The over-all re-evaluation and expansion of diagnostic care and treatment techniques has changed many phases of our State hospital operation.

But there are multitudes of things which need to be done to bring the best care and the quickest recovery to our State hospital patients.

Don't ask John L. He was too late.

But ask Dr. M. He knows.

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

Many people remember when mastoid infection or "mastoiditis" was a dread word. They picture a child with his head wrapped in bandages after a severe operation, perhaps fighting very hard for his life — and sometimes losing the fight.

Thanks to many new drugs which now can be used to control infections of the middle (acute otitis media), the rate of mastoid infections has been reduced greatly in the last fifteen years.

Today, although mastoiditis does occur once in awhile, it can be treated more effectively with some of the same drugs used to combat middle ear infection, meaning that surgery, if necessary, need not be as drastic or as serious.

In almost every instance, acute mastoiditis follows a middle ear infection. The "mastoid process" is a part of the bone which surrounds the middle ear. It is filled with air spaces that connect with the middle ear, explaining why it is easy for infection in the middle ear which is uncontrolled to spread. Pain, tenderness, and swelling of the area immediately behind the ear are among the first signs of mastoiditis. The ear drum bulges and usually breaks, and pups, possibly tinged with blood, flows into the canal. If the drum doesn't tear, it usually must be lanced. The fever runs high, and headache, loss of appetite, constipation, and general ill feeling may be complaints. There possibly is deafness in the infected ear.

Other complications of middle ear infection have been brought under control almost as much as those of the mastoid area; these include meningitis (inflammation of the covering of the brain), brain abscess, and infection of the inner ear. Even though complications of middle ear infection do not occur as often today, they are important because they may cause either death or loss of function of some part of the ear, with deafness, if left undetected or untreated.

Eastland Soldier Is In Majestic Picture

Cantrell plays the part of a civil war officer and also that of a deputy sheriff. The picture was made near Flagstaff, Arizona, and Cantrell's mother witnessed the filming with special studio permission. Sgt. Cantrell is now stationed in Korea.
