

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

IF YOU LOOK at the calendar, you'll see that there's only 11 more shopping days until Christmas. And it's only 13 more days until Santa Claus comes. The big event is slipping up on us, isn't it?

The boys over at the fire station have received a small amount of old toys to repair and to turn over to the welfare agency for distribution at Christmas Time. Mr. H. N. Thompson, who has volunteered to help in this project, says he hasn't had much work to do yet. Let's gather up our old toys and rush them to town.

Understand a considerable quantity of clothing has come into the city hall for the welfare agency store room. They still need clothes for all sizes and ages of children and adults. Leave your bundles at the city hall.

WAS OVER IN Eastland last evening, and the courthouse decorations are very attractive. The building is outlined with streamers of lights and a Christmas tree on the lawn. And there's a big Santa scene across the north side of the building.

The Cisco Lumber & Supply was lighting their annual tree yesterday. Henson Construction Company sent one of their trucks over to East Texas and brought back a big pine tree, and it's in place in front of Cisco Lumber. The trees are always pretty in all seasons of the year.

THERE ARE NOW over 60 television sets in Cisco, Mr. Tension of the Radio Sales & Service store tells us. Mr. Tension installed the first set several years ago. He tells us that a recent count shows a little over 50 sets in town. From looking at the antennas, we would have guessed there were more sets here.

THEY'RE ALL SET for a big fight out at the new junior high gym tonight. The Midget teams are playing the Scranton teams, and they're expecting a good row.

By the way, the girls' dressing room at the junior high needs a big mirror, if anybody has one they would like to donate. The girls need a mirror to comb their hair and powder their noses after the cage games. Give the school a call if you can help out on this project.

Robinson Crusoe Has 3-Foot Spread

Grady Corathers, Goldthwaite rancher, measures the antlers of Robinson Crusoe, one of his reindeer, in the above picture. The Eskimos gave the animal his name because he stayed away from the herd most of the time.

All reindeer, including the females, have antlers, but the males have larger antlers. Robinson Crusoe is one of the reindeer that will pull old Santa Claus' sleigh in a Christmas parade in downtown Cisco at 2 p. m. Saturday.

LOBO CAGERS WIN TWO GAMES AND LOSE ONE TUESDAY NIGHT

Cisco teams won two and lost one cage game at Cross Plains Tuesday night. The win for the Lobos kept them in the current season. The Cisco Lobo "B" team opened the activities Tuesday night by winning a short game from the Cross Plains "B" boys 15-5. Bill Smith won high point honors for the game with six. Gary of Cross Plains was in second place with three.

The Lobos, playing against their stiffest competition of the year, looked good in winning over the Cross Plains Buffaloes by a 52-45 score. Jim Webb won high point honors for the game with 18. His shooting was off in the first half but he found the range in the last period to forge ahead of Cade and Bains of Cross Plains, who had 14 each. C. W. Keller of the Lobos was in third place with 12 points.

MISS HUESTIS WILL APPEAR AS SOPRANO SOLOIST IN CONCERTS

Miss Jane Huestis, sophomore student at Cisco Junior College, will be one of the featured performers when the music department presents dinner concerts Friday and Saturday nights at the Victor Hotel Coffee Shop.

Miss Huestis will appear as soprano soloist in the cantata "Hear My Prayer," by Mendelssohn, in a Madrigal program, following the serving of a full course dinner. The singers will render a varied program, including numbers of general appeal selected from the Madrigals of England and contemporary Christmas music, carols and the cantata.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Huestis, the soprano soloist has been organist for the First Methodist Church for the past five years. She has also been a member of the girls' trio, the Madrigal singers, and has appeared as soloist for the Cisco Junior College A Cappella Choir for the past two years. She has been accompanist for the Cisco Community Choir since it was organized three years ago.

Miss Huestis is a graduate of Cisco High School and has been studying under Robert Clinton, head of the college music department, for the past year and a half.

Personnel of the Madrigal group for the two programs will be Miss Huestis, Barbara Schaefer, Ruth Beaty, Patsy King, Jack Chambliss, Ben Green, Bob Womack and Bob Latham.

Those seeking tickets to the concert have been directed to call Cisco Junior College.

Moisture Helps Wheat In North And Plains Area

Moisture from earlier snow and rain was sprouting wheat in parts of the north high plains and revived that acreage which was up in Texas during the past week. In some counties, however, the moisture situation on open wheat land was improved only slightly and in those counties penetration may be insufficient for germination. All of the northwestern area needs more moisture to establish plants and warmer weather to stimulate growth.

Benefits were more obvious in the low rolling plains and in north Texas where rainfall was heavier. Additional acreage was being seeded, "dusted in" acreage was coming up, and earlier germinated fields were making fair growth. Warmer weather was needed generally and some eastern and southern areas were too wet for field work.

Harvest of commercial vegetables was active in most areas by the latter part of the week and both fall and winter type crops, except tomatoes, were moving in fairly good volume. Movement of tomatoes to nearby markets was fairly active but shipment in volume to distant markets was delayed awaiting effects of the earlier cold wet weather.

Winter rangeland and pasture feed prospects have been greatly improved in the eastern half of the State during the past two weeks. Moderate to generous rains have started vegetative growth. Supplemental feeding is being continued, however, as small grains, winter weeds and grasses have not had time to make sufficient growth for pasturing.

Snow and rainfall in the high and low plains counties have been helpful but more moisture and higher temperatures are needed to stimulate growth of small grains. Feeding of hay and cottonseed cake is being continued to hold shrinkage to a minimum. West Texas and the western part of the plateau area continue dry and feed supplies are short.

All Children Are Invited To Attend Downtown Parade

Santa Claus and his reindeer—genuine Alaskan reindeer—will visit in Cisco and take part in a downtown parade at 2 p. m. Saturday as another part of the big Christmas program arranged by local business men.

Manager B. A. Butler of the Chamber of Commerce announced that the Santa Claus parade will begin at 4th Street on Avenue D and go south to 10th Street and return to 4th Street. City police and firemen will assist with the parade. Santa Claus will distribute candy to children along the parade route.

Mr. Butler asked those who attend the parade to stay off the streets in order that more people can see the reindeer. Crowding around the sleigh and the reindeer creates a hazardous condition, Mr. Butler noted.

Every child knows that reindeer live at the North Pole, and that they fly south every Christmas to bring Santa Claus and his bag of presents, Mr. Butler said. But most of the kids are in bed when the antlered herd arrives and have yet to see them.

This has been remedied by the Chamber of Commerce in arranging for Grady Carothers, Goldthwaite rancher, to bring a team of reindeer here for all the youngsters to see.

A reindeer, seen in the broad light of day, is a little different from the Christmas card variety. For one thing, its ankles pop when it walks. Its antlers, shed and re-grown every year, sometimes grow to a three-foot spread with 30 or 40 points.

The reindeer in Alaska are owned by Eskimos, except for two government owned herds and are strictly regulated by the territorial government. It took Carothers three years to get his first permit to take reindeer out of Alaska. They roam wild on the snow and moss covered tundras in north Alaska miles away from the nearest village except for a yearly roundup for earmarking.

The method of rounding them up is different from what Texans think of in the same connection. The Eskimos walk the herds down (there are no horses in north Alaska) with the aid of collie dogs such as Texas sheepmen use. They are coaxed into a centrally located corral to be earmarked.

Every reindeer in the 20 herds in Alaska is kept tab on by the government, although Carothers can rope out the particular animals he wants. But during a recent female shortage, he was limited to males.

The deer are then driven, tied to dogsleds for gentling, the 90-some-odd miles back to the Eskimo village, where a chartered C-46 will fly them the 6,000 miles south to Texas. There they are bunked in an air-conditioned barn and weaned off their native food, reindeer moss, and onto an oatmeal diet.

And come Christmastime they are off on a 10-state tour to show southern kids that there are real live reindeer after all.

Soil Leaders To Meet On Friday

Upper Leon Soil Conservation supervisors will meet Friday in the SCS offices in De Leon, it was announced here Thursday.

Every farmer in the Cisco area and business men who are interested in conservation work were invited to attend the meeting at which time plans for the coming year will be made.

It was reported that the Upper Leon area had been allotted $35,000 for work during the coming year and the supervisors are anxious to spread the allotment equally over the area. In order to receive their fair share of the amount, area farmers were reminded that they should attend the meetings.

Lions Hear About Booster's Club Luncheon Program

The recently organized Cisco Booster's Club now has 71 members and the goal is 150 before the end of the year, Membership Chairman J. H. Latson told the Lions Club in a talk at the weekly luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday at the Victor Hotel Coffee Shop.

The club's purpose is to back the athletic programs of the high school, the junior college and the junior high school, Mr. Latson said. The membership holds weekly meetings on Monday nights to discuss the sports program.

Some 40 members attended a meeting last Monday night at the bank and heard a basketball discussion by Coach Buck Overall and saw movies of the Cisco-Coleman football game. The contest was filmed by Coleman and the picture was loaned to the club for showing here. Next Monday night's meeting will be held at the high school.

Mr. Latson pointed out that the club is open to all residents of the Cisco school district who are interested in the athletic program. Lion Carlos Turner was in charge of the program.

Next week's program will be arranged by Truman Taylor, Vice President George Davis presided over the meeting in the absence of Boss Lion Gene Abbott.

Locker Plant Is Opened In Cisco

The frozen food locker plant in Cisco has been opened under the management of Carl Irby, resident of Rising Star for many years and veteran locker plant operator, according to an announcement today.

The plant, which had been closed for several months, opened for business Thursday. It has been acquired by a group of Cisco business men who said they believed the plant's re-opening would be welcomed by residents of this area.

Mr. Irby, as plant manager, will be in complete charge of operations of the processing departments and the renting of lockers. Mr. Irby, who is well known in the south part of the county, operated the Rising Star plant on two occasions. He expects to move to Cisco within a few weeks.

The locker will be known as the Cisco Locker Plant, the announcement said. O. J. Weiser, previously employed at the locker, will be on the plant staff, Mr. Irby said. Mr. Weiser, who lives just south of Cisco, is well known in this area.

Mr. Irby and Mr. Weiser have spent the past few days in preparation for opening the plant.

Wild Hogs Scarce In Hunt Country

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. — The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission said field reports indicate a light kill on wild hogs or javelinas this season. He explained that the animals exist in normal numbers in their principal South Texas habitat but that hunters at this stage of the season still are more interested in getting their buck deer. Many times hunters would like to bag a wild hog but encounter them while concentrating on deer and therefore pass them up, said the Executive Secretary. "As every hunter knows it is bad discipline to shoot at anything but deer when pressing pursuit on a buck."

the regular wild hog hunter either stalks them like he would a buck deer or uses dogs. He said the latter system sometimes produces more excitement since the heavily tusked boar javelinas put up a fight if cornered by dogs.

Wild hogs are deemed worthwhile trophies by some Texans. Some relish their flesh, particularly the younger ones. Their hides are valuable for glove making.

IT'S THE LAW
★ in Texas ★
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

People often have the mistaken idea that contracts have to be made with great formality, expressed in highly technical language, and executed amid coils of red tape. But this is true only in exceptionally important instances. The simple requisites of a binding contract may be completed in the most informal manner.

Probably most of the contracts in force today are merely spoken agreements. Many contracts are created by informal letters written by persons to one another. Many are made over the telephone, as when you call up a store and they agree to deliver some goods you order. Much of the world's grain supply is bought and sold, in the first instance, merely by hand signals in the great Pit in Chicago.

If the contract is, of importance, involving substantial sums of money or vital services, it is a good idea to reduce its terms to writing to minimize the possibilities of fraud and misunderstanding. Details of oral understandings are easily forgotten or misinterpreted, but written contracts endure unchanged. And, if a difference of opinion must be settled in court, a written agreement speaks for itself.

Certain kinds of contracts, such as those involving the sale of real estate or the lease of real estate for more than a year, will not be enforced in the courts unless written. In the same category are contracts wherein one person undertakes to stand good for the debt of another and those which are not to be performed within one year from the date on which the agreement is made.

In order to create a valid contract of any sort, each party involved must be legally competent to enter into the agreement. Each must be sane and of legal age. A contract entered into by a male or unmarried female under 21 is voidable at the option of the minor (but not at the option of the other party). A married woman is competent to contract if 18 or over, but she is subject to a number of contractual restrictions because of her marriage. To be enforceable, a contract must be entered into freely by each party involved. Their consent must be genuine. Compulsion or coercion will make the agreement void. Mistake, misrepresentation or fraud may also serve to invalidate a contract.

Another requirement of a contract is that each party shall perform some part of it. Similarly, there must be some object or benefit to be gained by each party. In return for your work, your employer agrees to pay you certain sums of money. He gains the use of your services, while you are benefitted by the wages or salary received.

Also, a contract must be entered into for a lawful purpose. You cannot enter into a binding contract to commit a crime or to evade the law. Thus, since gambling and wagers are prohibited by law, gambling debts cannot be collected by legal process. Nor will the courts enforce an agreement to pay interest in excess of the legal maximum provided by statute.

Pneumonia Often Strikes Without Warning Signals

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. — Carelessness in the treatment of a respiratory disease is not only foolish but very hazardous, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who warned Texans today to be on guard against such illness as lead to pneumonia.

Dr. Cox pointed out that pneumonia can and does strike with little or no warning, and in many instances its forerunner is a simple cold, an attack of influenza, or some other respiratory infection.

"A cold or any other infection of the breathing passage which makes one constitutionally weak, especially if accompanied by fever, demands the immediate attention of the family physician," Dr. Cox said. "To self-treat and fight on one's feet a condition of this kind is to endanger life unnecessarily. It is advisable to take all possible steps to avoid respiratory illnesses since they so frequently lead to that most dangerous complication — pneumonia.

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that it is important to build up normal, physical resistance by sufficient indoor ventilation, adequate, nourishing food, outdoor exercise, and sufficient sleep, but added that the family physician should be called immediately if, in spite of such care, a respiratory illness develops.

"Guard against pneumonia which is a communicable disease," Dr. Cox urged. "It may be acquired by direct or indirect contact with a pneumonia patient.

Reduced bodily resistance re-emphasize too strongly the importance of consulting a physician immediately upon the appearance of a respiratory ailment.

National Turkey Federation To Be Held Jan. 6-7-8

STEPHENVILLE, Dec. 11. — A highlight of the National Turkey Federation Convention to be held in Dallas on January 6-7-8 will be the selection of the heaviest turkey in the dressed turkey show. According to T. A. Hensarling, executive secretary, Texas Turkey Federation, Governor Allan Shivers has challenged each of the nation's governors to bring forth their state's largest turkey.

The rules, say Hensarling, are simple. The turkey must be New York Dressed; any age or variety may be exhibited but must be entered in the heaviest turkey class of the dressed show. Cash awards for the first four places will be made. Word has come from several states accepting the challenge and the state executives are asking their state turkey associations to help find their answer to the Texas turkeys.

While bigness may get top billing in one special class, Hensarling is quick to point out that body conformation, fleshing and market appearance will be standards used for picking winners in the National Dressed Turkey Show. Entry blanks and other details on the show are available from Hensarling's office in Stephenville. Entry blanks must be mailed to his office on or before December 26, the closing date for making entries.

For the first time, a junior division will be a part of the dressed show.

Hensarling says there is no entrance fee for either the open or junior dressed shows but that the birds entered become the property of the National Turkey Federation (largest turkey class included) and will be sold to help defray the expenses of the show. Ribbons, cash awards and trophies for the top winners will be presented by the Federation.

The live turkey show is open to any turkey producer in the United States and all varieties are eligible for competition, says Hensarling. December 15 is the closing date for entries in this show. Entry blanks and other details covering the show may be obtained by writing Hensarling.

The officials of the Texas Turkey Federation have appointed many committees to handle details of this national convention. Attendance is expected to total 4,000 which would set a record. All educational meetings are scheduled for the Science Building; the dressed and live turkey shows for the Poultry Building and exhibits for the Agricultural Building all of which are on the grounds of the State Fair of Texas.

Texas turkey producers are urged to take advantage of this opportunity and make entries in these national shows. Hensarling believes it is a real opportunity not only to show what the individuals of the state are doing but to exhibit in a collective way the progress that Texas producers are and have made in improving their product. Regardless of whether entries are made in the shows, Hensarling urges all Texans interested in turkeys to make the National Turkey Federation Convention in Dallas on January 6-8.
