Life-size Wood Carving of Last Supper

BOSTON, MASS .- All the specialized skills of some of the finest craftsmen of New England have been combined to create this life-size copy in wood of the famous painting "The Last Supper" by Leonardo da Vinci.

More than a year was used in preparing the great carving—18½ feet long and 8½ feet wide. The figures, of limewood, are delicately tinted to give a feeling of lifelike reality, and a giant frame of contrasting walnut gives it depth. The carving will be the point of central interest in The Upper Room chapel, now nearing completion in Nashville. It is expected that visitors who view the carving will be moved to spend a few moments in prayer and meditation in keeping with the purpose of The Upper Room—a devotional guide issued in 17 languages and used round the world. The chapel itself is part of the new headquarters building for The Upper Room, the world's most widely used devotional guide. It is believed that it will become a devotional shrine and point of interest for visitors of the Midsouth.

The picture shows W. D. Irving and Casson New York and Reston who have produced wood.

In a world that has been raped and left desolate by war - men have returned victorious from battle and found that the moral causes of war have grown while they were away.

In a nation that has been shocked by the moral bankruptcy of its leaders - unable to cope with the moral and political delinquency of our times, we need NEW men to bring in the NEW day of love and peace.

In individual men, women and young people who find their restless and insecure spirits insufficient for the crisis of modern living - - a blood transfusion from the plasma of Calvary is a spiritual necessity.
