The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THIS IS TO say "Welcome" to the many visitors in Cisco for the First District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, convention. Our little community is delighted to have so many visitors, and we can assure them that every Ciscoan stands ready to do anything possible to make their stay a pleasant one.

PERHAPS THE visitors will want to drive around town and see some of the pretty flowers. The iris is coming into full bloom up at the Jay Richardson home. The pretty flowers are of all colors, and Mrs. Richardson has enlarged her garden. In addition to iris, she has some very attractive roses and other flowers. The Richardson home is located up on Avenue N. Mr. John Penn has some attractive iris in bloom at his house on Avenue D. He put out a big bed of them last year and they're very attractive now.

OUT AT THE City Park, below Lake Cisco dam, the water well continues to flow while City and Legion officials decide what to do next. The well, a joint project of the City and the Legion, topped a water sand at about 150 feet and the hole was drilled to about 190 feet.

Mayor G. C. Rosenthal tells us that they ran a test with the well digger's bailer yesterday. They figure the 6-inch hole would be good for 13,500 gallons per day. A bigger hole, they feel, would yield more water. They're waiting now for an analysis of the water before deciding the next step.

DRILLERS STRUCK water just west of Cisco on Highway 90 yesterday. The well was dug by Rice and Phagan at the new drive-in cafe and filling station, which is beyond the city limits on the highway. The well was being completed today. Observers said it would be a good well.

THE FELLOWS OVER at the Merchants Motor Lines are getting set for a big safety meeting on April 19. The event will honor Merchants employees in Cisco who helped win the Texas Safety Association's first place award for two consecutive years. A safety film will be shown and special recognition will be given to two Cisco drivers.

Jess Caffey will be honored for driving 378,264 miles without an accident during the past six years, and Roy Alvis Speegle will receive an award for driving 216,692 miles without an accident in the past four years.

THIS IS TO say goodbye to the L. L. Vanns, who are moving this week to Abilene. Mr. Vann goes to work there Monday for West Texas Utilities Company, selling things electric. Mr. Jack Rawson has taken over the interests of Mr. Vann in the Cisco Appliance Company, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. DeLong have purchased the Vann residence.

The Vanns, who have lived in Cisco for five years, will live at 504 Elm Street in Abilene. And they've ordered The Press to send a copy of the paper to their house each day.

CISCO JUNIOR College officials are having a busy week. President O. L. Stamey and Dean H. R. Garrett have gone to Austin for business meetings. And Music Director Robert Clinton is due to attend a meeting in Austin late Friday and another in San Antonio on Saturday.

IN RUNNING A list of the new VFW officers the other day, we didn't quite finish the job. The complete roster of officers is as follows: Leo Phagan, commander; Thomas J. King, quartermaster; Rex Moore, adjutant; Mac Bean, senior vice commander; Standlee McCracken, junior vice commander; R. E. Grantham, judge advocate; Norval Wood, chaplain; Dr. E. L. Graham, post surgeon; Robert H. Donovan, patriotic instructor; Roy Westfall, service officer; Holland Nix, legislative officer; and, we were named the director of publicity.

NOTHING LIKE IT—U. S. Army homing pigeons, still used by the world's most modern mechanized force, form a haphazard traffic pattern as they come home to their loft in Korea. The birds are said to be indispensable in certain battle situations, despite the fact that their message-carrying is perhaps man's most venerable means of long-range communication.

WTCC BOARD ENDORSES EIGHT BILLS DEALING WITH WATER

ABILENE, April 9.—Directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have endorsed eight bills and a proposed constitutional amendment dealing with surface water that are before the Legislature.

The bills were prepared and introduced as a result of work of the Governor's State-Wide Water Committee, of which J. B. Thomas, Fort Worth, is chairman. The WTCC worked with the governor in organization of the committee and participated in the deliberations of the committee. The WTCC directors have accepted the recommendation of the organization's Water Resources committee, headed by Homer D. Grant, Lubbock. That committee voted in a Big Spring meeting recently to urge that the regional chamber support the measures.

The proposed constitutional amendment would enable the state to collect fees for the right to divert or use fresh surface water. The funds thus obtained would be used to secure not to exceed one-third of bonds or other obligations issued by cities or other political subdivisions to finance diversion or use of public surface waters.

The amendment specifically would prohibit collection of fees for use or diversion of percolating ground waters or waters covered by riparian rights, such as private stock tanks. The proposed fees per year would be: for irrigation, 10 cents per acre; for hydro-electric power and other non-consumptive and non-diversionary uses, five mills per acre foot; for all diversionary rights of use other than irrigation, 10 cents per acre foot.

Golf Tourney Plans To Be Studied Friday

J. A. Robinson and M. M. Tabor, general chairmen of the committees in charge of the annual Cisco Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament to be held May 1, 2 and 3, have called a meeting of all committee chairmen and committee members for 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Chamber of Commerce. All committee members were urged to attend the meeting to aid in making final plans for the tournament.

Willard K. White Accepts Law Post With Dallas Man

Willard K. White, Cisco attorney, announced Thursday that he had accepted the position of attorney for Col. D. Harold Byrd, Dallas oil man, and that he was leaving Cisco this week to assume his new duties.

Mrs. White and their children will remain in Cisco until school is out late in May.

Mr. White came to Cisco in July, 1947, to take over the law practice of the late F. D. Wright. He operated the offices alone until some two years ago when W. B. Wright came to Cisco to enter the firm and take over a part of the business formerly operated by his father.

Mr. White will be returning to his home city to practice. He came to Cisco from Dallas after graduating from Southern Methodist University and practicing law in Dallas for a while.

Mr. Wright will continue to practice law here, using the same offices in the Reynolds Building.

Popular Quartet To Give Concert In Cisco Friday

J. L. Stafford, chairman of the Boosters Club committee in charge of the arrangements for the Imperial Quartet concert to be held at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday, reported that a full house was expected for the affair.

The popular radio and television entertainers will present a two hour show of sacred and novelty numbers, it was announced.

The concert is being sponsored by the Cisco Boosters Club, and the proceeds derived from the show will be used in the work of the club in its program.

Members of the Boosters Club were selling tickets for the show. The price of admission was set at $1 for adults and 50 cents for all students, including junior college students.

Miss Agnes Baylor of Cisco and Robert Bell of Scranton won top honors in the 4-H Share-the-Fun Festival held Saturday in the Eastland High School auditorium before more than 350 cheering spectators.

These two youngsters will represent Eastland County at the District Festival in Stephenville on May 16, in an effort to reach the State Finals at A&M College in June.

BURLESON SPEAKS AT MEETING OF LIONS; OFFICERS ELECTED

Official Washington should study its peace feelers offered by Communist Russia from short and long range viewpoints, Congressman Omar Burleson of the 17th District told members of the Cisco Lions Club in a talk at their weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday.

The congressman is spending some ten days in his district while the House of Representatives takes its annual Easter recess. He plans to spend the balance of this week and part of next week visiting in the district before returning to Washington.

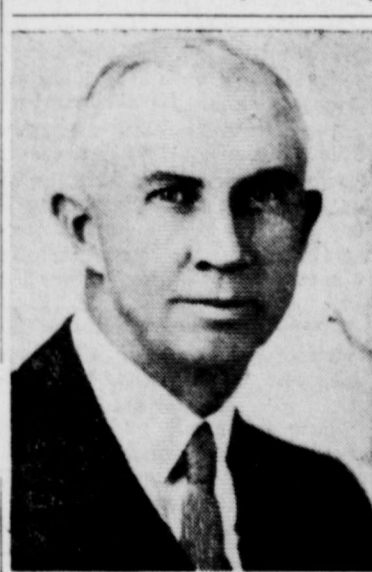

In dealing with the Communists, Mr. Burleson endorsed the President's action in accepting any offers on their face value. Looking at the proposition from a long range viewpoint, however,

GOOD MANAGEMENT IS URGED IN OBTAINING BEST PEANUT CROPS

COLLEGE STATION, April 8.—Increased yields of high quality nuts can make peanut production in the state a more profitable farm crop, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Acreage allotments are low, therefore, yields must be increased in order to get the most from the limited acres. But, says Miller, quality must also be improved along with the yield per acre. Several years ago a 7-step program was outlined by a group of successful peanut growers, processors and research and extension workers. Miller reports that progress has been made but dry weather and unfavorable growing conditions have handicapped the program for the past two or three years. Moisture conditions are generally favorable now in most of the heavy peanut producing counties and the specialist suggests that growers take another look at the 7-step outline.

YOUR GOOD NAME

Have you ever wondered uneasily what your credit standing actually is on the file records of the credit bureau? A person can usually tell from experience whether his credit is good or bad. If it's good, he'll get the loans he wants and charge accounts will be opened for him on request. If it's bad the opposite will happen.

To protect your credit, let us make these recommendations:
Pay your bills promptly, if you can.
If you can't, because of some emergency, go see the credit manager of the store whose bill you can't pay immediately. Explain the circumstances. Tell him when you can pay, and live up to your promise.

Shallow Sowing Now in Favor for Garden Plants

Left: Use Hoe Handle to Make Drill for Medium Sized Seed. Top Right: For Small Seed, Press Edge of Board Into Soil. Bottom Right: Corner of Hoe Makes Deep Drill for Large Seed.

When seeds are sown directly in the garden, they are either sown in drills or hills, or they are broadcast. Drills are shallow trenches making a straight row into which seeds are dropped. Hills are not elevations, but merely points at which plants are desired. Several seeds are sown to produce one plant, the strongest being allowed to develop.

In modern practice, which favors shallow sowing, a drill may vary from a slight depression in the soil, made by the edge of a board, to a furrow half an inch deep, drawn with the hoe handle. For peas, beans, and corn, a drill one or two inches deep may be made with the edge of the hoe blade. Not even sweet peas need be sown deeper than this.

While drills are used chiefly in the vegetable plot and cutting garden, where plants are grown in rows, hill planting is useful for the larger annual flowers which are spaced some distance apart in the border. Vegetables planted in hills include the vine crops, bush squash, and pumpkins.

With a trowel, dig a shallow hole, mix in the bottom from a tablespoonful of plant food for most crops, to as much as a pint for watermelons; cover this with a layer of fresh soil, sow and cover the seed. Mark the location of the hill, so it will not be disturbed in cultivation.

These simple precautions will insure against the failure of a sowing, which is likely to result when the soil is not properly prepared, or the seed is too deeply covered, or where the location of the sowing is forgotten and it cannot be looked after.

Moisture as well as warmth is necessary to germinate seed; and while spring rains usually provide it, the garden hose should be used when rains fail. Seeds require at least a 50 degree soil temperature to germinate, some much higher than that. When sown early, and likely to lie in cold soil waiting for warmth, they may be protected from moulds and fungi by dusting with a disinfectant. A tiny amount into the seed packet and shaken well, is sufficient to coat the seeds.

SPRING CLEANING—Now that brooks and streams are running freely again in Korea, Cpl. Roland Gray, of Peoria, Ill., uses one of them to wash his jeep. Gray is with the First Marine Division, which has seen a lot of cold weather. His jeep still had its chains on, but now they won't be needed for a few months.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

Nobody likes to be sick — agreed. So when you get a hospital bill, it stands for something you didn't want in the first place. Just the same, it's no longer necessary to prove to most people that a hospital is a pretty good place to be when a man's sick and is a "feller who needs a friend."

Hospital bills have been compared to hotel bills. Like a hotel, the hospital offers twenty-four hour service in some departments; room service for meals, planned and prepared according to the doctor's orders; laundry service for bed linen, changed once a day or oftener if needed; and maid service. A drug store also is available. A hospital, however, has other "added attractions" — nursing and medical attention and laboratories where x-ray, pathologic, and other services can be carried out.

With so many jobs to do, it's small wonder hospital expenditures run so high. It has been estimated that salaries for hospital staff alone run anywhere from 58 to 75 per cent of total operating costs. Other large items are for food, laundry, and public utilities, all of which have shown increased costs in recent years, as any housewife can testify. These items don't take into account funds needed for future construction and expansion.

Hospitals are constantly striving to improve their services without having to charge patients more. In planning future buildings, expert planners advise how to get the most out of the space and materials allotted for construction and how to arrange the

U of T Launches Study Of Defense Against Hot Sun

AUSTIN, April 8. — The University of Texas has launched a research program to determine new architectural defenses against the hot summer sun. Objective is to find better shading designs and construction techniques which will make Southwestern homes cooler during the warmer months. Professor Werner Dornberger, architectural engineering department chairman, is director of the project, sponsored by the University in cooperation with the National Research Council, federal-private agency for coordinating all U. S. research. Aldar Olgay (pronounced Ol-joy), formerly with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and specialist in adapting architecture to sectional climatic advantages, has joined the University staff to work on the project. After an intensive study of sun travel and radiation on the Southwest, researchers will concentrate on external sun shading, and the sun's effect on materials and structures.

Investigators will prepare film slides illustrating their results (for distribution to schools and architectural organizations) and will publish a reference book, "Devices Against the Sun," and a special manual on construction of buildings with metal and glass fronts.

The sun research project brings to four the number of current University studies to make Southwestern housing more comfortable. Other researchers are investigating possibilities of using the sun's rays for winter heating, perfecting an evaporative cooler that won't increase humidity and finding ways to determine climate variations within a community. All projects are part of a National Research Council program — directed by University Engineer Dean W. R. Woolrich — to improve housing in warmer climates.

See Your Doctor If You Suspect Cancer - Dr. Cox

AUSTIN, April 9. — Many people put off seeing their physician, when they suspect cancer, because they are afraid. And yet, this fear, resulting in delay, causes many deaths from cancer. One-half of the lives now being lost to cancer could be saved if sufferers would see their doctors in time, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The sooner cancer is found, the less likely it is to have spread to other parts of the body, making cure impossible.

Most persons are familiar with the danger signs, such as a small sore on the skin, lip, or tongue that does not heal quickly, a mole wart, or birthmark that suddenly changes in appearance; a painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip, or tongue; persistent indigestion; or radical changes in normal bowel habits; any unusual bodily discharge or bleeding; and persistent hoarseness lasting more than a few weeks. When any of these symptoms show up between physical check-ups, go quickly to see your doctor. They are common indications that cancer may be starting.

You cannot tell if you have cancer — without seeing a doctor. A regular thorough physical check-up by your family physician is your best guard against cancer, plus an examination when one of the danger signals, or warnings appear. The first symptoms of cancer are scarcely noticeable. You may notice just a slight change from the normal. But do not wait until you feel pain to see your doctor. It is characteristic of cancer that there is no pain in the first stages. Pain is usually a late symptom and when it comes, the growth is often far advanced.

IT'S THE LAW
★ in Texas ★
A public service forum
of the State Bar of Texas

The institution of appellate courts, of which the U. S. Supreme Court is the highest, illustrates how America has tackled the problem of attaining justice. Plato long ago showed that the idea of justice is difficult to come by. It is perhaps even more difficult to translate into human conduct and apply in the settlement of individual cases.

How does a case come before an appellate court? If you and your neighbor have a dispute over the property line between your two lots, you would be foolish to go to court for a settlement if you did not believe that right was on your side. Therefore, practically every civil action that comes before a trial court originates in an honest difference of opinion as to what the law or the facts of that case are.

But right cannot be on both sides; so one or the other of the litigants must be mistaken. When you seek legal counsel on such a question, it frequently happens that your lawyer will advise you not to go to court. Only a relatively small percentage of cases reach trial. The law is clear enough so that among the millions of transactions taking place in the country only a relatively few ever result in lawsuit.

But suppose you and your lawyer have decided that your case has enough merit to warrant going to court. The facts on both sides are presented, the lawyer on both sides argue the merits of their clients' cases and the court is then called upon to render a decision. In some cases this decision will be based on findings of a jury. The vast majority of these cases are settled then and there with the decision of the trial judge.

But judges, like all of us, are human, and the law is complicated and subject to varied interpretation. At times the trial judge may err in admitting or evaluating the facts, or in interpreting the law applicable to the facts. Under such circumstances your case may be appealed to an appellate court.

Some states have no intermediate courts between the trial court and the state Supreme Court. In such states a case from District Court is appealed directly to the Supreme Court, the highest court of appeal in the state.

In Texas, cases are appealed from a District Court to one of eleven Courts of Civil Appeals. Sometimes the judgment of the latter court is final, as in ordinary divorce cases not involving property. But if the case meets certain requirements it may be further appealed to the Supreme Court of Texas. Criminal cases are appealed directly from the District Court to the Court of Criminal Appeals, which is the highest state court in criminal matters.

Federal cases are appealed from a U. S. District Court to a Circuit Court of Appeals and from there to the Supreme Court of the United States, provided the latter will assume jurisdiction of the matter.

When you appeal your case, you ask that the error you believe you have found be corrected. If it was an error, that is what will happen — the trial judge's decision will be reversed.

High School News Notes

By RHELDA REED

The annual Junior-Senior banquet will be held Friday night at the Cisco Country Club amidst a beautiful garden scene which carries out the theme of the Coronation of King Lobo XXI. Speeches will be made by various students of the two classes. This is the one opportunity that the Junior class has of showing their admiration as well as their appreciation to the Senior class of 1953.

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

It was our honor and privilege to have a very outstanding speaker at our assembly last Thursday. This speaker was Mrs. Amah-Shah from India, a country which is always interesting to hear about. Mr. and Mrs. Amah-Shah were met with very enthusiastic audiences everywhere but I don't believe that Mrs. Amah-Shah saw one anywhere as enthusiastic as the one she met at Cisco High School.

We enjoyed her talk on India very much because in it she made us realize how precious our freedom is, which we sometimes merely take for granted. Her talk was most impressive.

When she had finished, Rev. Leslie Seymour asked any person who had on "Cowboy" boots to please come forward, because Mrs. Amah-Shah had never seen a pair of real "Cowboy" boots. We hope if she ever returns to Cisco she will visit us again.

FOOTBALL

Coach J. N. Williams announced early this week that spring training will begin on Monday, April 13. He believes that we are going to have some excellent material left from last year as well as coming up from our "mighty Midgets." We hope there is a large number that will be interested in football this year because we are losing some excellent players through graduation.

GRADUATION

The high school graduation, which about forty odd Seniors are looking forward to with great anticipation, is scheduled for May 29. The graduates' invitations arrived Wednesday.

Every school boy or girl always looks forward to the time when he or she will graduate. When the time draws near, they always wish that they had high school to go through again. However, when they start to college in the fall they soon forget high school and enter into the college activities with as much vim and vigor as they had in high school.

We wish we could all stay in high school forever and never have to take on the responsibilities of life but that is quite impossible. We hope that our Senior Class of 1953 will have the best of everything throughout life!

LIBRARY NEWS

Our library has gotten various books in which we will all be interested, especially the boys. We have received several books on baseball. Among these are "Baseball Techniques Illustrated" by Allen, "Baseball's Greatest Line-up" by Walsh, and "Baseball; Individual Play and Team Strategy" by Combs.

I think Mrs. Garverick has spring fever as bad as the rest of us since we received these books. We are well aware how Mrs. Garverick feels about the Dodgers, anyway. We hope for her sake they win the series someday.

GOSSIP

Mary Scott has more offers to go to the banquet than Carter had oats . . . Buddy and Mr. Williams have been getting along quite nicely since last week. We hope he'll make A in algebra . . . Anita Stroebel and Kelly Coats have been seen talking together quite a bit in chemistry lately. Kelly, you'd better run if Loretta hears about this!

We've heard of a lot of things but this tops them all. Bob gave Cindee a little 'ole bunny for Easter. This isn't so unusual except this one was real. They haven't named it yet but we feel sure that it will be some original name . . . This is station C.H.S.: Will Jimmy Webb ask some poor defenseless girl to go with him to the Junior-Senior Banquet? . . . What's this about Frances Self going to Eastland in such a terrible hurry? . . . I wonder who Lundy Ann will go to the banquet with? Maby she'll go to the banquet with the rest of us stags. It's a hard decision, isn't it . . . We entered Mrs. Hazlewood's sixth period English class last week only to hear Mrs. Hazlewood make this statement, "Your vacation is over. Now that you are through with your term themes you can really go to work." Nancy Cluck looked up solemnly and said, "I'm certainly glad that vacations only come twice a year."
