The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

A LAPIDARY is a man who cuts and polishes stones — anything from diamonds and costly stones to pretty rocks. And there's a lapidary in Cisco for a visit of a few days. He's Mr. Ralph E. Murphy of San Francisco, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are staying at the Victor Hotel and will be here through Sunday. He is a retired building contractor who enjoys working with stones as a hobby. He has gathered a number in this area and is interested in talking with anyone who has a similar hobby.

THE NEW WATER well out at Lake Cisco Park was still flowing this morning while city officials await a report from state laboratories on how good the water is. Meanwhile, a second well is being drilled to continue the study of underground reserves.

With a ten-months supply in Lake Cisco, city officials feel that spending a little money on water wells is justified.

The people of our town are to be complimented on their cooperation in conserving water. The Country Club greens committee is busy with plans to begin using water from another source by May 1.

A study of the water records shows that just about everybody is using much less water than they were this time last year. One of the biggest customers the city has is the Humble Pipe Line Company. This company has one water meter for all of their properties, and the record book shows that they're using just half as much water as they did last year in March.

All of us are becoming more conscious of the value of water.

THE LAMPS ARE back — at least part of them. They were brought back this week from Eastland and the 4-H Club show and a good many are on display again at West Texas Utilities Company. Drop by for a look if you haven't seen them yet.

A FINE PROGRAM of top quality music is planned for tonight out at the high school auditorium. The famous Imperial Quartet will give a concert under the auspices of the Cisco Booster's Club. This quartet sings regularly on big radio stations and has a large following. You will enjoy every minute of the program, we have been assured.

WE NOMINATE MR. Charlie Roberts as a fisherman de luxe. He went out to Lake Cisco late the other afternoon and decided to fish from the bank for a few minutes. He only had a half dozen minnows so he figured to use them up and quit.

The crappie started biting and Charlie brought home a nice string of them. The biggest was a grandfather crappie that weighed three and a half pounds. Mr. W. J. Foxworth was a witness.

OUR FLOWER scouts report that there are some mighty pretty flowers of all kinds and colors up at the J. V. Heyser, Sr., home on Avenue N. . . . And we have heard glowing reports about the beauty of the berry vines in bloom out at the W. J. Prange place on Route 2.

THE CISCO County Club members will have a covered dish supper at 7 p. m. Saturday at the club house. Mrs. Paul Woods of the entertainment committee tells us. All members are asked to bring a covered dish of food for the family supper. A game hour will follow. . . . The date for giving away the club's TV set has been postponed to May 3 at the annual golf tournament. . . . All members of the golf tournament committees have been reminded that they're to meet at 7:30 p. m. today at the Chamber of Commerce to work on plans for the tourney.

FEDERATION TO MEET

The City Federation of Women's Clubs will meet Monday at the club house with the Twentieth Century Club in charge of the program. Reports on the District Convention will be given and all members are urged to attend.

VA Will Inspect Veteran Schools

DALLAS, April 10. — A new program to make sure that schools training veterans under the Korean GI Bill are meeting all standards of the law has been put in effect, the Veterans Administration has announced.

Under the new program, VA Educational Benefits Representatives will make periodic visits to schools and establishments in which Korean GI trainees are enrolled, to see whether all provisions of the training law are being complied with.

Among the provisions to be checked are safeguards that protect the interests of the trainee and the Government, such as minimum standards that certain schools and courses have to meet, limits on the tuition a veteran has to pay, and the like.

A good part of the work of the VA Representatives will be information in nature, explaining the provisions of the law, pointing out any operational deficiencies that may exist, and making suggestions as to how they can be corrected.

VA said the Korean GI Bill gives it a number of responsibilities that can be carried out only through the system of periodic check-ups.

Mrs. G. L. Bailey has received word that her son, Billy Dunn, stationed at Toyko, Japan, has been promoted to captain.

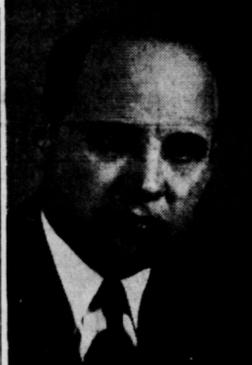

LEGION POST PLEDGES SUPPORT FOR NEW INDUSTRY FOUNDATION

The John William Butts Post 123 of the American Legion pledged $100 to the Cisco Foundation, an organization formed here to promote industrial development, at the regular semi-monthly business meeting Thursday night at the Legion Hall.

"In supporting this worthy project, we have three purposes in mind," Post Commander W. J. Foxworth said. "First, we want to do our part in bringing more jobs to Cisco. Second, we owe a lot to the Korean veterans who are fighting to safeguard the ideals for which the nation and the Legion stand, and we aim to help them find jobs as they return home.

"Third, the Legion wants to keep sons and daughters of its members in the Cisco area. This calls for getting jobs for both Cisco High School and college graduates.

"The Cisco Post firmly believes that the best way to build up Cisco is by encouraging industrial development as a means of providing jobs for our people. We believe that this can best be accomplished through a coopera-

Pampa Minister Begins Revival At Local Church

The Rev. O. C. Curtis of Pampa, former resident of Cisco, will begin a series of meetings at the East Cisco Baptist Church Friday (tonight), it was announced by the Rev. F. C. Bradley, pastor.

Rev. Curtis made Cisco his home for a while before entering the ministry.

D. C. Brisby of Cherokee will have charge of the music and song service. The public was invited to attend the services, which will be held at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. through April 19.

tive effort such as the Cisco Foundation.

"We are pleased to have an opportunity to pledge our financial assistance, small as it might be, to this organization and to complement its leaders on a fine program of community development."

In other action, the meeting discussed the Lake Cisco Swimming Pool program. Mr. Foxworth announced the appointment of a swimming pool committee for the year to be composed of J. W. Sitton, E. L. Jackson, Gene Abbott, Joe Comingore, Haywood Cabaness and W. B. Wright.

Delegates to attend the 17th District Convention in Stamford on April 25-26 were named as follows: E. L. Jackson, E. V. Hays, W. P. Knight, W. J. Foxworth, Charles Roberts, Haywood Cabaness, Fleming Waters, Marshall Jones, Rex Moore and Jesse Simmons.

Business Session Due To End Annual P-TA Conference Here

Most Farm Areas Busy In Fields After Fair Rain

Field work was pushed as rapidly as possible over the eastern half of the state where soil moisture generally was adequate for the planting, germination and early growth of crops during the past week. A few spots in northern, eastern and extreme southern counties were too wet for field work following light to moderate showers that fell over much of the state. In the west and northwest, however, showers only partially relieved the shortage of surface moisture and added nothing to the depleted subsoil supply.

Wheat in the important high plains districts continued to deteriorate as only light showers fell, and high, hot winds sapped the scant moisture available. Much of this wheat is barely holding on and will require moisture very soon to keep it alive and growing. In eastern low rolling plains counties, good grain crop prospects were maintained by rains during the week. Small grains in the north Texas area continued to make good growth, with additional moisture in the form of light to moderate showers.

Early corn made good growth in upper coastal and southern counties. Planting was active in northern and northeastern counties, with early plantings up. Grain sorghums in the coastal bend and southcentral counties, benefited from improved moisture and warm weather. Sorghum planting was active in the central Blacklands and was beginning in the low rolling plains. Cotton in southern counties made fair to rapid growth. Cotton planting was beginning in north-central and east Texas and land was being prepared for planting in later areas. Rice planting was becoming general. Flax in south Texas benefited from recent rains. South Texas broomcorn and peanuts were in good condition.

Field work was interrupted the middle of the week by fairly heavy rains in the lower valley, Laredo, and part of the Coastal Bend areas. Shed stocks of onions were ample to take care of current needs. Tomato harvest was limited to light supplies in areas in the west end of the lower valley. Prospects were improved for most other early planted crops in south Texas, especially non-irrigated plantings of snap beans, cantaloups, cucumbers, sweet corn, and watermelons. Ranges and pastures continued to supply good grazing in the eastern half of the state. Cattle are showing some gain in this area. Pasture feed remains short in the Panhandle, west, and southwest Texas areas where rain is badly needed to bring pastures into production. Some ranchers are continuing supplemental feeding of hay and cottonseed cake. Sheep shearing was continuing.

VALUE OF INDUSTRIES IN CITY IS STRESSED IN ROTARY TALK

The value of present industries to Cisco was discussed by Rotarian F. E. Shepard as a part of the program as the club met at noon Thursday at the Hotel Victor.

Mr. Shepard pointed out that the community should seek new industry, but that it should not forget the value of the older businesses, nor fail to appreciate them. He cited several types of industry.

Among those was the Humble Pipe Line Company. Mr. Shepard said that the company employed some 106 people; here with an annual payroll of between $500,000 and $600,000. He told that some 50 of the 106 employees owned their homes and paid taxes to support the community and the schools.

He stressed their value in community business, civic affairs, spiritual affairs and the schools.

County Appoints Court Member

Frank Castleberry, former Eastland feed dealer, was named by the Eastland County Commissioners' Court to serve the unexpired term of his brother, Ed Castleberry, who died recently after serving some three months of his fourth term as commissioner of Precinct 1.

Mr. Castleberry accepted the appointment, and has begun his duties of serving the Eastland-Ranger area. It was believed that the precinct would be operated without changing the present personnel.

Frank Castleberry has been a resident of the county for some 50 years. He sold his feed business a few months ago.

Baptist Baseball Team To Workout

John Popolio, manager of the Baptist baseball team, Friday announced that his team would begin working out Monday at 6 p. m. at the diamond at the rear of the gymnasium lot.

He called for all boys in the 13-15 year old age group who attend church services at the First Baptist Church or the East Cisco Baptist Church, who desire to play, to be on hand Monday for practice.

Plans call for a schedule of games with local teams, teams from Brownwood and other places.

County Singers To Hold Convntion

Hundreds of singers from a wide area of Texas were expected in Eastland Saturday and Sunday for the annual session of the Eastland County Singing Convention. The first session will be held Saturday night at the high school auditorium.

Many of the state's leading quartets and leaders were expected to take part in the affair, it was reported by Judge R. L. Rust, who is in charge of the preparations.

The convention is open to all who like good singing, it was announced. A basket lunch will be spread at noon Sunday. Everyone was asked to bring a basket of food.

Value Of Defense Stressed In Talk

Delegates to the annual conference of the First District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, expected to conclude their two-day session in Cisco with a program of business, workshops and committee reports Friday afternoon.

The visitors heard four outstanding speakers on program Thursday afternoon and night and Friday morning, climaxed with an address by Mayor Jim Wright of Weatherford on civil defense. Other major conference speakers were Dr. James B. Boren, president of Midwestern University Wichita Falls; B. M. Dinsmore state P-TA vice president, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, prominent club woman Eastland.

"Education and democracy are inseparable and a well informed public is America's best weapon of security," Mayor Wright told the conference Friday morning. A recent visitor in Nevada to witness an atomic bomb explosion, the Weatherford man gave an account of the blast.

Observers wore goggles and watched the explosion from a distance of seven miles, Mr. Wright said. He described the blast as "painfully brilliant, noting a churning fireball, red yellow and purple, appeared in the sky. In two seconds, the observers could feel a heat wave. He compared the noise as equivalent to an explosion of 15,000 tons of TNT. The flash was visible to 600 miles.

Mr. Wright described the effect of the blast on special house near the scene. A valuable lesson from the experiment, he said, was the knowledge that with proper caution the public can be safe near the center of atomic explosions.

The importance of civilian defense training was emphasized. Everyone should know what to do in an atomic blast, he said.

Mr. Wright was introduced by Mrs. J. R. Hudson of Weatherford who urged that every city should appoint a civilian defense chairman, and begin a program of education.

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLISON Congressman 17th District

The House of Representatives has again passed the Tidelands Bill by an overwhelming majority. Those of us who have worked on this legislation for several years hope that the issue is going to be settled with the President's signature, although it is not all that we hoped it would be.

The House voted 285 to 108 to restore to the States Tidelands within their "historic boundaries." For all States, other than Texas and a part of Florida, this means three miles. For Texas, it means ten and a half miles into the Gulf of Mexico.

The Bill as passed, and the one which will likely be laid before the President, is not as strong a Bill as was passed by the House of Representatives last year. It is, however, all we could get.

Lenin, the founder of modern Communism and Stalin's teacher, said that "religion is the opium of the masses," meaning that capitalists and their rulers use religion to lull the people into acceptance of their authority and conditions.

It has been said that man is "incapable of religion." Men must worship something—a God, an icon, an idol, an idea, or even a golden calf. Some men worship money and when they find at the end of life that they can't take it with them they are utterly lost and undone.

And so the poor, misguided people of Russia who had been deprived of the old faith and the old refuge of prayer to the one God, came to watch at the bier of the man who had destroyed their faith and murmured prayers. No dictator can stamp out religion. It is too deep-rooted in the minds and souls of men and women. The leaders of the French Revolution tried it. Hitler tried it.

So Stalin passes from the scene. Well-informed students of Russia say that he cannot bequeath his "divinity" to his successor. It will take a generation or more to build up another myth about some new leader and in the meantime the men at the top will plot and fight among themselves for power.

The pomp and panoply of atheistic, ruthless, cruel Communism made a holiday of the funeral of this man who called himself a god. A band of seven hundred fifty pieces played his funeral dirge. Liegemen, henchmen, and satellites, driven by fear, paid their respects. No churchman took part in the funeral program. There was no reference to God or a life hereafter. But the people prayed quietly.

Contrast this tragic farce with the funeral of any good man or woman you have known in your own home town, as sincere tears were shed in memory of unselfish service to community and to fellow men.

In the immortal words of Tennyson: "Kind hearts are more than coronets, and simple faith than Norman blood." — East Texas Magazine.

A. R. Bible of Abilene transacted business in Cisco Thursday.

skepticism, but in the meantime, keep our powder dry. On Thursday, April 2, in a speech on the Floor of the House of Representatives, I had this to say:

"If the press correctly reports the conference called by President Eisenhower with the mayors of big cities and certain local governmental leaders, he evidently must be rather disappointed, because they told him that they wanted the paternalistic attitude of the Federal Government continued. What does that mean? It means we will continue to have big government, and big government will get bigger. There is no other result, and the big city mayors and these local governmental leaders still want the Federal Government to help in various projects which cost millions of dollars. Those millions can only be obtained by high taxes and the tax dollar has a way of losing its value from the time it is collected from the taxpayer until it is returned to pay for some local service. If local government would use that dollar without its roundtrip to Washington, more value would be received.

Of course, we all realize we have to have Federal assistance for highways, for harbors, for airports, and for a lot of those things which affect national defense, but local governments usually get as much from the Federal Government as they can, yet they want taxes and expenses reduced. The two just do not go together. So until the big city mayors and the local governmental leaders decide and agree that they should assume their own responsibility and pay for it, we are going to have big government.

I was gratified to see that the distinguished majority leader, Mr. Halleck, has introduced the bill, H. R. 4406, in line with the President's recommendation that a very careful study be given to the matter of Federal-State local government relationships. Until that is done; until our philosophies change and until greater dependence on ourselves is asserted, we will have big and bigger Government in Washington.

I doubt if the attitude of the mayors of the big cities is encouraging to President Eisenhower. It seems to me the basic fact to remember is that our freedom would be very limited if the United States were governed by only one national authority. In large measure, freedom is the product of local control over local affairs.

The American people are so desirous of peace that we are inclined to become somewhat glibly toward overtures of cooperation from the Soviet Union. Within the last several days, a number of gestures have been made by the Russians which ordinarily might suggest a changing attitude. However, our hopes should not soar too high. In the past, we have seen numerous other overtures of this nature which we thought were genuine, only to go as sour as a two-day old bucket of milk in the sunshine. We need to keep our eyes on the music and not begin playing the fly-specks instead. In other words, we can listen without complete

Your Senator Reports

(Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, writing from Washington, reports weekly on happenings in the National Capital as they affect Texas and Texans.)

The Senate took up last Wednesday the legislation restoring Texas' title to every foot of land she had as an independent Republic and which we retained when we entered the United States.

This is the so-called Holland Bill, of which Senator Price Daniel and I are co-sponsors. Senator Daniel and I worked very closely together to get this bill out of committee. Forty Senators are co-sponsors of this bill and it has the support of the Administration. The House passed similar legislation last week.

I understand that bills are to be introduced in the Senate and House to reorganize the Farm Credit Administration and make it an independent agency. I have not yet seen copies of the proposed bills, but the principle involved seems sound. The legislation would bring control and participation in all functions of the agency down to local levels within the 12 agricultural credit districts throughout the country. I think the agency should also be permitted to make economic emergency loans for any agricultural purpose, as well as for the disaster type loans now authorized.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson called a grain sorghum industry conference here Tuesday of last week. Purpose was to review the present grain sorghum situation and to consider measures to help stabilize prices and production. Invited from Texas were B. J. Gist of Abilene; Jack N. Greenman of Fort Worth, and Bob Yeager and Mark Triplett, both of Amarillo.

The FSA reorganization bill, main effect of which so far as Texans are concerned will be to make Oxeta Culp Hobby of Houston the first Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, sailed through the Senate last week. Nobody registered a negative vote. Remember the "Enola Gay?" It's the B-29 from which the atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima nearly eight years ago. This plane, which is now the property of the National Air Museum, is in moth balls at Pyote Air Force Base. The Air Force informs me that the famous plane will be on display at Pyote Air Force Base on May 16 for an Armed Forces Day open house celebration.

I have given Senator William Langer, Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, additional information on the work load in the Eastern District of Texas, which has only one Federal Judge. I am pressing for action on my bill to provide an additional judgeship in this district.

The 1953 Texas Cancer Crusade is now under way, with Arch S. Underwood, Lubbock, as Chairman. Financial goal is $600,000. Every day over 600 Americans die of cancer. John S. Clark, El Paso, has been named project manager for a $100,000,000 subcontract for electrical work on the Atomic Energy Commission's new gaseous diffusion plant in Ohio. Mrs. H. H. For Big Crop of Vitamins Grow Garden of Greens

Never Let Swiss Chard Leaves Grow Taller Than 10 Inches

Green, leafy foods rich in Vitamin A are easily provided in abundance by the home garden. In fact, the gardener must be on guard against too great abundance, so efficient are they. Small plantings of several kinds are advisable, so that the family will not become "fed-up" with one kind served too often.

You can leave spinach out entirely, if the family insists, and still provide a tempting selection of various greens, most of which make welcome ingredients in bowl salad as well as tasty cooked dishes.

Most widely grown are Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach. Chard is an ancient vegetable, probably the first form of beet to be grown for food, while New Zealand spinach is relatively modern, having been discovered as a wild plant in New Zealand, where the natives did not eat it. It became popular in Britain long before its vitamin content was known. Its flavor resembles that of spinach.

It has large, hard seed, which some have difficulty growing; but grows well if sown in the early spring, as soon as the soil has been prepared. Seeds often live over winter and come up in the spring, and the plant is hardy in spite of a tropical origin. But it is easily overdone; since one plant fills a bushel basket, and when the tips of its leaves are cut off for use, new tips grow rapidly, and the harvest continues until late in the fall.

Swiss chard should be used when the leaves are young, not over ten inches in height. Sown with the earliest crops, it will be ready to cut in a month, and new leaves will grow to replace those that are cut. Chard has a distinctive flavor which many prefer to spinach, and children usually like it better.

The mustard family provides several varieties of greens. One known as Tendergreen will produce edible leaves in 21 days from sowing, and if the roots are left undisturbed will produce eight or nine crops in the season. All the mustards are quick growing, and are much esteemed in the southern states.

Garden sorrel is a hardy perennial, which will live over winter and produce greens. It does best in light shade. Kale is a fall and winter plant. Sown in June, the plants set out in rows two feet apart, they will produce leaves which stand freezing, and are improved in flavor by that experience. Collards are a member of the cabbage family which do not make heads, but leaves with cabbage flavor. All these varieties of greens are rich in minerals and vitamins, and are valuable in the diet and produce a surprising quantity of food on small space.

SOMETHING TO WRITE ABOUT—That's what a group of high school and college publication reporters got in New York when they called on comedian Danny Kaye, center. Result of 18,000 Inventions

SINCE ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL designed the first telephone 78 years ago, there have been more than 18,000 inventions and improvements in your telephone service—about 230 a year. Some you see, like today's convenient handset. Most are behind the scenes in the complicated equipment it takes to handle your calls swiftly and accurately. But seen or unseen, our constant search for ways to do a better job for you helps hold down the cost of your service and expands its value. SOUTHWESTERN BELL... A TEAM OF 28,000 TEXANS... For the Men Who Succeed—

... and for those who will some day succeed them, our suggestion is that they invest part of their earnings in real estate. Wise investments in real properties have yielded fortunes to many people. And those who succeed in this venture never gamble on the title. They buy only quality abstracts made by those who have themselves invested wisely—in their plant—in their personnel—and in their responsibility to the public.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

Hospital costs have changed a lot since the days when Grandpa was a young man. Although his bill was less per day, his illness cost more in the long run because he remained longer in the hospital and lost more time from work even after he'd left the institution. Patient days spent in the hospital in 1888 averaged 52 days, whereas in 1948 they averaged 8.5 days. In 1953, they averaged even less.

Because patients are receiving the benefits of more skilled nursing and medical care, plus more effective drugs designed to combat certain diseases, they are paying more per day. However, recovery is swifter; in addition, fewer deaths occur in hospitals than formerly.

How can you best take care of your hospital bills? Of course, there are several methods. Hospital insurance is popular, the latest estimate of those being so covered being ninety million people in January, 1953. Hospital insurance does not always cover the entire costs of hospitalization but is a definite help.

You may be able to pay your bill in advance or at least by the time you leave the hospital. However, if you find it hard to pay in a lump sum, sometimes a prepayment or postpayment plan can be worked out. For those entirely unable to pay medical expenses not only do city, county, or federal hospitals provide needed drugs and medical attention during the hospital stay, but social service workers, cooperating with community agencies, try to help these patients get back on their feet, financially and medically speaking, after their discharge.

If you foresee any trouble in paying your hospital bill, your best bet is to take up your problem as soon as you can with the hospital officials. They are used to handling difficulties of this kind and will gladly advise what you should do. They can tell, for example, what costs will be covered by your insurance policy and what costs you must bear personally.

By having settled definitely on how the bill is to be paid, the patient's mind is put at ease, a factor which is likely to contribute to his welfare and recovery. His relatives, too, are likely to feel a great burden has been lifted from their shoulders.

Outlook Is Good For Game Birds

AUSTIN, April 9.—The Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission said reports generally indicate promising hatching conditions for doves in Texas.

He said field studies show a high dove population at this time but added that some of the birds apparently are merely stopping over enroute to northern nesting areas.

"The present population of mourning doves indicates that we should have another good hatch of birds, particularly if moisture conditions continue to improve," said the Executive Secretary. "Of course, there are many deterrents. Any trend toward violent weather would be costly since the flimsy dove nests, containing eggs or young, are vulnerable to the elements."

The Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Commission (W. C. Glazener) said field observations "are very promising." He noted one unusually heavy concentration of mourning doves in the Alpine area as described by Flying Game Warden Frank Hamer. The Director said it had not been determined whether the doves were transient or part of the permanent population.

BABY LESSONS—Selective Service chief Gen. Lewis Hershey, left, is definitely not robbing the cradle in Washington, although it might appear that way. He's engaged in a diaper-changing contest with singer Pfc. Eddie Fisher, right, and they're both doing their chores with dolls at a Red Cross campaign luncheon. Bachelor Fisher came in second to Gen. Hershey, but the latter is a father and undoubtedly knew a thing or two about what he was doing, and how to do it.

There's Economy in These Beef Cuts

Surveys show that the average homemaker makes use of less than 10 per cent of the scores of available meat cuts. Since price per pound is affected by this demand for a comparatively few cuts, it is evident that she is overlooking many cuts that would help to stretch her meat dollar. Because meat is the center of the meal and is important in the food budget, it is of distinct advantage to be familiar with as many cuts as possible. The above chart presents a graphic picture of less-demanded beef cuts and their origin. The shaded areas, representing 60 per cent of the carcass, are sources of these lesser-known cuts. Unshaded areas provide the cuts in most popular demand. In addition to their price advantage, the less-demanded cuts afford increased variety in the menu, and are as rich in nutritive value as the more demanded cuts.

Thursday afternoon's program formally opened the two-day conference. After the formal opening ceremonies, Mrs. C. E. Eaton, vice president, called the conference to order. E. L. Jackson, president of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, delivered a welcome address. The response was given by Mrs. A. E. Unruh, a vice president.

The Cisco Junior College A Cappella Choir, directed by Robert Clinton, presented a musical program. Mr. Dinsmore spoke on the importance of P-TA work. He noted that the state organization now has 430,000 members. He predicted a shortage of 3,000 teachers next year and a continued shortage for years unless a salary adjustment induces more college students to become teachers.

A dinner was served in the basement of the First Methodist church, the conference headquarters, Thursday at 6 p. m. Speaking on "Family Life Contributes to World Peace," Dr. Boren stressed the importance of the home in a successful school program. He noted that religion has been a basic principle of American endeavor throughout the nation's history.

"No nation or individual can rise very high without a genuine reverence toward God," Dr. Boren said. He saw nothing wrong in the use of religious references in textbooks, noting that "many important happenings in our history were omitted and have become lost due to an effort to keep textbooks free of religion."

Dr. Boren said the nation's roots were built on a religious foundation and "there's no reason for keeping it secret."

"A foundation for a good education is a colossal faith in God," Dr. Boren said. "No nation is capable of ruling unless it is an educated nation. There is a faculty higher than human reason, and it will be found in religion."

Dr. Boren urged that religion should be a part of the life in every home. He noted that the style of behavior in children is usually established in the preschool period and "we sometimes have too much coasting in the home."

Mr. Clinton sang a solo to conclude the program. After the night session, the delegates were entertained at a recreation hour program in the church basement under the direction of Mrs. Lou Hertenberger of Navasota, state recreation chairman, assisted by Miss Jane Huestis of Cisco.
