The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

DROPPED IN TO enjoy a piano recital at the First Baptist Church last evening, and it was splendid. Some 20 little girls and two little boys played their recital pieces. The little girls were very pretty in long evening dresses. And it occurred to us that it's a shame that there isn't something else that they could attend and wear their pretty dresses.

Overheard a lady remark: "Wonder how many woman-hours went into making all those little dresses?" Each little girl played the piano in the recital for only four or five minutes.

Somebody ought to give a big party for all the little girls in town with new recital dresses. The time for this should be shortly after all the recitals are over. Wouldn't it be a grand sight to see all the little girls in one place — dressed in their recital formalis?

One of the boys on the program we attended was Delbert Schaefer, son of the Harry Schaefer. He came out to play dressed in cowboy boots and appropriate informal clothes. He did a fine job, too. Delbert, by the way, is a top catcher on one of the Little League farm teams.

OUT AT THE GOLF course the other afternoon, they were giving out the prizes for the winners of the annual Cisco tournament. And when they came to Buddy Deen, consolation runnerup, it was announced that under the Interscholastic League rules for high school students, he could not accept a prize.

And it seems to us that this is unfair. Under the rules at this time, a high school student can receive only one sweater award per year. It wasn't very long ago when a good athlete could win four sweaters in a school year — for football, basketball, baseball and track.

ENJOYED A BRIEF chat with Mr. Robert Kamon late yesterday. He arrived home Tuesday from a six months trip that took him across most of the oceans and to 23 countries. It was just about six months ago that he sailed from Houston for Australia. The trip took more than a month and stops were made at interesting places.

In Australia, Robert spent some three or four months touring the country and studying the geological formations for oil possibilities. He was able to obtain from the government there a concession of 3,600,000 acres of land for oil exploration.

Robert returned home by plane, going through India, the Middle East, France, England and to New York. He flew to Dallas Monday night and got home to Cisco on Tuesday.

Regarding plans for the future, Robert says he'll catch up on his rest and then do some checking on the possibilities of developing his concession. He's convinced that the United States and Texas and Cisco are very splendid places. He made scores of pictures that are most interesting. Glad you're home, sir.

WE'RE GLAD TO report that Mr. R. H. (Dick) Cutting, the Halliburton oil well cementer, is doing nicely after undergoing major surgery at the Baird hospital on Monday. . . . The folks out at Scranton way are happy in the knowledge that their new hard-surfaced road to Cisco will begin getting the hard surface about May 15. The road bed and bridge work is just about complete. . . . Cisco and the area received seven tenths of an inch of rain Sunday night. Lake Cisco caught more than an inch of water during the slow rain.

OUR SCOUTS report that the county has obtained right-of-way to continue the Highway 80 2-lane road beyond Ranger to the county line. It wouldn't be surprising if the next step would be to complete the double-lane road before long on to Weatherford. Highway 80 then would be a fine, fast road from Fort Worth to Abilene.

There's a project in the books for widening the highway from a mile east of Cisco through town. And the road is already a very good one from Cisco west to Abilene.

Cisco Airman Is Commended For Excellent Work

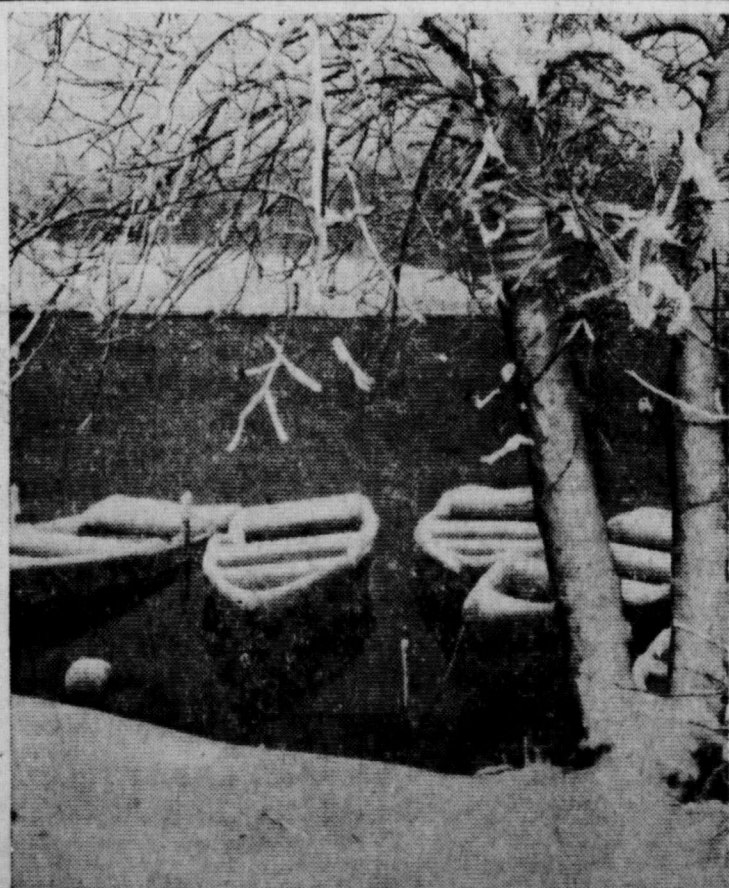

Staff Sergeant Otis G. Donohue of Cisco has won the commendation of his commanding officer for his work as a crew chief with the 60th Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron at Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico, according to information here.

"In commending you for the superior way you have performed as a crew chief in this unit, I wish to enumerate the qualities which have enabled you to achieve these superior results," the commanding officer wrote Sergeant Donohue. You are diligent, knowledgeable and efficient. More important, you have manifested the resiliency to bounce back from disappointing and frustrating situations in your role as crew chief and still produce high quality results in your work.

"Your technical ability and capable leadership is quite on par with those displayed by most master sergeants performing in your specialty. The exercise of all these good qualities plus the maturity of judgment you have shown leads me to rank you as one of the three best crew chiefs in this unit.

"You are unquestionably qualified to assume the grade of technical sergeant, and I am proud to have an airman of your moral calibre and technical ability serving under me."

Sergeant Donohue is the son of Mrs. Stella Donohue of 704 East 9th Street, Cisco. He attended the Cisco schools and joined the Air Force in 1946. His wife, the former Miss Beulah Joyce Pharr of Cisco, and their two sons, Gary and Michael, are with him in Puerto Rico.

WHAT A SURPRISE!—With trout season beginning, fishermen near Rockville, Conn., were wondering if they were going to have to cut a hole in the ice to get at the fish. Indians To Meet Ranger Thursday In Baseball Tilt

The American Legion Indians and the Ranger American Legion baseball teams will meet in a return game at ABC Club field Thursday night following the Little League games, it was announced by Manager D. N. Morrison Wednesday.

The Indians defeated Ranger 5-4 Saturday night when Dizzy Howell pitched a fine game, striking out seven of the nine men he faced before he went out to give other players experience.

Morrison announced that Bill Greenhaw or James Brogdon would start on the mound in the Thursday night game. Howell, Love and Elder will be ready if needed.

The Little League farm game for Thursday will start at 5 p. m. and the league game will follow in order to allow the Legion game to begin at 8 p. m. There will be no admission charged for the Little League games as usual. A contribution will be taken to help defray the expenses of the Legion game.

Morrison said that his team was looking for additional games before going into district play early in June. There are four teams in the district. They include Cisco, Ranger, Breckenridge and Stephenville.

Pioneer Citizen Of Area Buried Near Sweetwater

George Robert Boshier, 79, one of the pioneer residents of this area, died at his home in Sweetwater at 10 a. m. Saturday after a long illness.

Funeral services were held at 9 a. m. Sunday from Patterson Funeral Chapel in Sweetwater. Paul Foutz was the officiating minister. Burial was in the Lorraine Cemetery with the Rev. Grouse officiating at the graveside rites. Friends were pallbearers and honorary pallbearers.

A native of Tennessee where he was born on December 24, 1873, Mr. Boshier came to the Cisco area with his parents, the late S. P. and Julia Boshier when a small child. They settled on the Ammerman Ranch as managers. The Mitcham ranch is a part of the old Ammerman spread.

When Julia Boshier died in 1903, S. P. Boshier moved to the home of Arch and Adren Boshier to live for a while. He then moved to Lorraine where he made his home with George and Eva Boshier who had no children of their own but had cared for many.

Survivors are his wife, Eva Boshier of Sweetwater; a sister, Mrs. Betty Utter of El Centro, California; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mattie Munneyhonx, and a niece, Mrs. Inez Cook. Mrs. Monneyhonx and Mrs. Cook had made their home with the Boshiers while they were ill.

Relatives in this area are Mrs. Adren Boshier, Mrs. Mittie Schlaepfer, Mrs. Coy Miller, Mrs. Ardella Garrett, Harry Grider, all of Cisco; Mrs. Carl Nix of Waco, formerly of Cisco; Billie and Patricia Boshier of Abilene. He had many friends in the area.

Pioneer Residents Of Area Dies Early Wednesday

M. I. Maples, 74 year old retired farmer who had lived in the Cisco area for 60 years, died in a Wichita Falls hospital Wednesday morning after an illness of several months.

Mr. Maples came to the Cisco area 60 years ago from Alabama where he was born on March 17, 1879. He farmed in the area south of Cisco until his retirement several years ago. He made his home here at 807 West 8th. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Funeral arrangements were pending Wednesday afternoon awaiting word from a son who lives in Kansas. The arrangements will be announced by Thomas Funeral Home.

Survivors are two sons, W. A. Maples of Rising Star and E. B. Maples of Ellenwood, Kansas; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Coleman of Durant, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Fred Coulter of Cisco, and two brothers, S. O. Maples and Cecil Maples of Fort Worth; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Ence of Fort Worth, Mrs. Pearl Lockhart of Rising Star and Mrs. Martha Clark of Amarillo, 11 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mrs. V. H. Bosworth has returned from Abilene where she was at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Dora Kennedy, who underwent major surgery Thursday in Hendricks Memorial Hospital. She is in room 429.

SKYSCRAPER FRAME AFIRE—Smoke sweeps through girders of the Republic National Bank Building under construction in Dallas, Tex., as firemen are called out to battle the four-alarm blaze. The fire started on the 20th floor and spread through five other floors before it was brought under control. Because of low water pressure, firemen had considerable difficulty.

JOHNNY CHOATE HURLS NO-HIT GAME IN LITTLE LEAGUE PLAY

Johnny Choate, star hurler of the Little League Braves, pitched the first no hit-no run game of the season at ABC Field Tuesday night when his team defeated the Athletics 10-0 in a four inning contest.

Choate faced only 12 batters in the four inning affair and struck out 10 of the Athletics. He allowed only two men to reach first. They reached first on bases on balls.

Esebedo, the Athletics pitcher, struck out six men but allowed 12 hits and gave two free passes. The game was called at the end of the fourth when the Braves were 10 runs ahead of the opponents.

Adams and Baum hit home runs for the Braves in the four inning affair. In the game between the farm teams of the two clubs, the Braves downed the Athletics 11-7. Thursday night the Athletics play the Cardinals with the farm team game scheduled to begin at 5 p. m. The Cardinals lost to the Giants in the opening contest Monday night.

It was decided to begin the Farm team game at 5 p. m. because of the Cisco Indian-Ranger game scheduled to follow the Little League contests. The Indian game should start around 8 p. m.

Saturday night the Braves and the Giants tangle in what should be a close contest. The game was changed from Friday night because of the intra-squad football game at Chesley Field.

Pioneer Resident Is Buried Sunday

J. R. (Bob) McAdams, 92, pioneer resident of Eastland and Comanche Counties, was buried Sunday at the Pleasanton Cemetery. He died at 6 p. m. Friday at Victoria.

Mr. McAdams had been in business in Eastland, Gorman and DeLeon for some 45 years. A pioneer resident, Mr. McAdams often recalled visiting Cisco the day after the 1893 cyclone to help clean up the debris and render first aid.

Surviving are seven children, including Mrs. A. E. McNeely of Cisco. Mr. and Mrs. McNeely attended the final rites, returning home Monday.

Cisco Wins Over McMurry Team

The Cisco Independent Team chalked up another win to their victory column Sunday as they beat McMurry 11 to 2. This was their second win over the McMurry team as they previously beat them 7 to 1.

The Cisco team looked very good as their fielding and hitting was at its best.

Frank Howeth was the winning pitcher although he was relieved by relief pitcher Wendell Battle at the 7th ending.

Monday the 27th the team plays the T. C. U. freshman at T. C. U., it ought to be a very good game because these Cisco boys really have a fine team.

The sophomore class went to Fort Worth Monday to do some shopping and attend the Ice Capades of '53 at Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. While in Cow-Town nearly everyone went to the latest 3-D show, "The House of Wax", while others sought out other means of excitement such as bowling and shooting pool.

The trip was enjoyed by everyone, but it got off to a bad start because of a few differences of opinions as where to eat, but eventually this was settled and everyone took their own different course and no one was disappointed.

College History

Cisco Junior College was first known as Britton's Training School, and academy in 1909. In 1911, O. C. Britton, the first president, got university affiliation for his academy, which then averaged about thirty students from the eighth grade through high school.

In 1922, Midland Junior College was moved to Cisco, and the school's name was changed to Cisco Christian College. The Christian Church sponsored this college.

Two years later, the name was once again changed to Randolph College, in honor of Randolph Lee Clack, whose family fundamentally aided in the founding of Texas Christian University.

Randolph College closed in 1937. The college was inactive for three years, until in September, 1940, it was taken under the wing of the Cisco Public Schools and was once again opened. It was given the present name of Cisco Junior College.

History of Cisco

The now thriving city of Cisco, located at the junction of two of Texas' leading railroads and highways, had an unpretentious start.

A Baptist minister, G. C. Stephens, established the town in 1879 when there were no more than a half-dozen families in Eastland county. The few families within a days ride of town used it only for the things they could not raise on their farms and ranches.

It was known as Red Gap because of the color of the clay in the hills surrounding it. The town started with a log school house, a general store, a church, and a postoffice.

Red Gap led an uneventful existence during the early days with only the occasional dance, brawl, or hanging of a cattle rustler to break the monotony. But in 1880, Jay Gould and his group of New York bankers announced that they were extending the rails of the T&P from Fort Worth west, to El Paso and that they would run through Red Gap. In 1881, the Texas Central, now known as the Missouri-Kansas and Texas, or "Katy," made a crossing of the T&P tracks in Red Gap. The name of Red Gap was then changed to Cisco in honor of John W. Cisco, one of the New York bankers who helped finance the Texas Central venture.

The town of Cisco became a large inland cotton market but the farmers were soon deprived of that crop because of boll weevils. Cisco has become a center for dairying, poultry raising, stock farming, and is one of the leading peanut producing sections of the nation.

Cisco saw its most spectacular growth from 1917 to 1923 when the Ranger boom brought new citizens. The population rose from 2,500 to more than 15,000 and Cisco had dreams of being a "big City". With the discovery of the East Texas pool, the boom in Cisco was over and the population cut in half.

Cisco has one of the West Texas' most sufficient water supplies with Lake Cisco which has a 40,000 acre water capacity. The town is now one of the leading industrial centers of West-Central Texas. It is surrounded by fruit, dairy, and stock farms, and an oil and gas field. In its 74 years of existence,

The Cisco Lake

The Cisco Lake was started in 1920 and finished in 1924. The Dam is one of the largest hollow dams in the United States. It was built to where tourists could pass through it and look at it. Beneath the Dam is one of the U. S. largest out door swimming pools. The year of 1953 seems like it will go down in history as the lake was the lowest. This is the first time in the history of the lake that it has ever been this low.

Cisco has weathered three major adjustment periods, one cyclone that destroyed much of the town, and a depression. It has grown to a town with a school system which includes a high school, a junior college, a graded school, and a school for colored children; it has a first class post-office, beautiful church buildings of almost every leading denomination, and stores that attract trade from a wide territory.

The existence of this town of Cisco and its business was and is possible only because of those hardy few who had the courage to go into a semi-wild area to establish their homes and, for a few years, eke out a bare existence from the soil.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

In maintaining high standards of patient care in hospitals, doctors police themselves.

Medical staff members deliberately use self discipline and self supervision to make sure that every patient receives careful diagnosis and the best treatment. A committee composed of doctors reviews the hospital records of each staff member and determines his "batting average" of diagnosis. It compares the admission, preoperative, postoperative, and pathologic diagnosis of each one's patients. If the percentage of correct diagnoses isn't within reasonable limits, the doctor concerned is asked to explain at a hearing before the committee why not. If his errors seem to result from failure to keep up with advances in techniques of from carelessness and if he doesn't try to correct his ways, he may be disciplined. His appointment may not be renewed when it expires or other action such as suspending his operating privileges may be taken. If the patient in question dies, an even more extensive investigation is conducted.

Many people don't understand what an autopsy is or why it is necessary. It is an examination of the patient made after death. It is conducted with the same care and regard for the body as surgery on the living patient. Autopsies add to the store of general medical knowledge. They may benefit the patient's family directly, if, for example, it can be determined that he died from a disease which tends to run in families such as high blood pressure, cancer, or coronary thrombosis. Before an autopsy is performed, the hospital requires that a form of consent be signed by the patient's next of kin. To meet the requirements of hospital approval, a certain number of autopsies must be done each year. Staff members are encouraged to perform autopsies, especially if the cause of death is a mystery.

With the improvement in surgical techniques, a patient's body after death may serve another purpose. "Banks" for various parts of the body have been established. A patient may will his eyes, bones, or even his blood vessels to these banks. Tissue removed after death is preserved by refrigeration or chemicals until it is transferred during surgery to another patient needing it.
