CISCO, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1953

NUMBER 119

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE CISCO Junior College Singers have certainly earned a fine reputation for themselves and have brought honors to their city and school. Last night, Director Robert Clinton was invited to bring the group to the new St. Paul Methodist Church in Abilene for a program. Yesterday, he received the following letter:

Dear Mr. Clinton: I'm sure you know that we were sincere in saying that we really enjoyed the lovely music last evening. We are not only good musicians but good sports with plenty of it takes' to go over with the young people. Several members have called to tell me how beautifully they sang and how lucky Cisco is to have all of you there — especially you and Jack Chambliss to work with their talented young people.

Nobody in the world appreciates more than I the effort it takes to put on these many programs when the youngsters as well as teachers are rushed to school and completely worn out. The letter was signed by Mrs. Ada Blankenship, wife of a former mayor of Abilene.

HAD AN INTERESTING chat with the Rev. Leslie Seymour, superintendent of Methodist churches in the Cisco district, at the CoFC board luncheon yesterday. This is Rev. Seymour's third year in Cisco as a district superintendent.

Under the Methodist program, their district superintendents hold their posts six years and then take up duties as a pastor again. A district superintendent usually preaches as much or more than a pastor, speaking most Sunday morning and evening at churches in their district sometimes on Sunday afternoons.

Rev. Seymour, who will be one of the Cisco Junior College graduation speakers, is called on frequently by schools and churches. He has spoken already in graduation services this year at Cross Plains, Putnam, Scranton, Burnett, May and elsewhere.

Rev. Seymour began his ministry in the Central Texas Conference in 1925 and has been in the conference ever since. He is most likely to be re-designated as district superintendent here for another year and it will certainly be to our own advantage. Rev. Seymour has been a valuable citizen during the three years, being active in many civic enterprises despite his busy work schedule.

THIS IS TO SAY "happy birthday" to Mr. H. Q. Evans, who turned 81 years old yesterday. He is residing in Cisco for nearly 30 years and still enjoys good health. Mr. Evans has been married for the past eight years, but still enjoys life. He spends considerable time listening to the radio and chatting with friends and family.

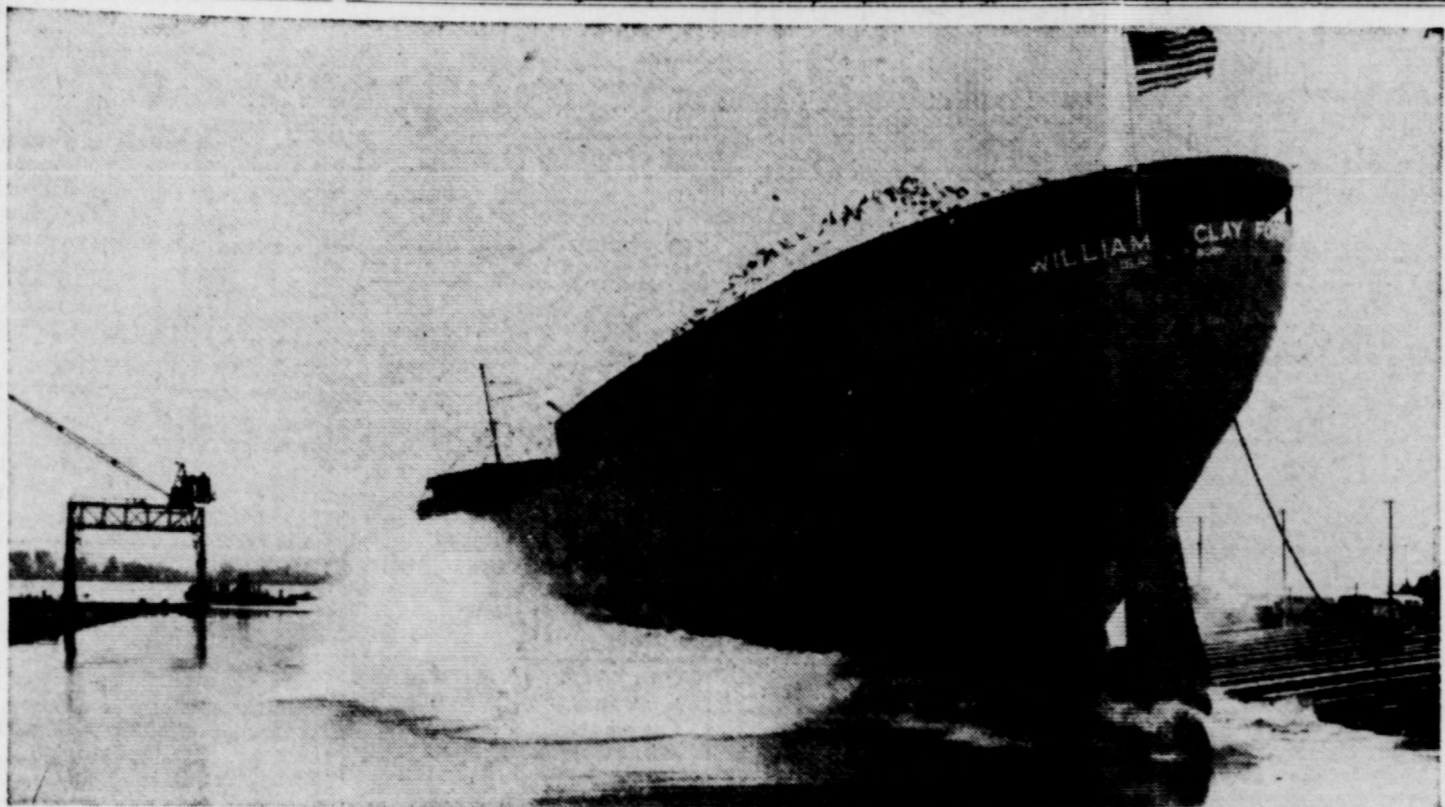

A retired carpenter, Mr. Evans is a charter member of the Eastland Baptist Church. He worked for the Cisco Works back in the pioneer days.

SOME MONTHS ago we ran an item about the value of peanuts as a food. And at the suggestion of a reader, we reprint that information:

The energy value of a pound of peanuts is equal to that in four pounds of steak, 21 pounds of beef, 10 quarts of milk or 33 eggs. In addition, peanuts contain a lot of vitamins and minerals.

WE NEGLECTED to report that a number of Ciscoans were among the top players in the Eastland Golf Tournament last weekend. Claude Wilson lost in the finals of the championship flight consolation to Jimmy Phillips. Ben Labor went to the semi-finals in the first flight, and Aaron Robinson won the first flight consolation. Ralph Glenn lost in the second flight finals. G. P. Mitchell lost in the third flight finals.

A CALLER IN our office today was Mr. Wayne Sellers of Sherman. He stopped to wait for his brother, Doc Sellers of Rising Star. Wayne grew up in this country and worked for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the San Francisco News before becoming business manager of the Sherman Democrat a year or two ago.

DOWN IT GOES—Lurching sideways before righting itself, the William Clay Ford, newest addition to the Ford Motor Company's ore-carrying fleet, makes a big splash during launching ceremonies on the Rouge River at Detroit. Named after the youngest son of pioneer auto maker Henry Ford, the 647-foot vessel will carry its cargo at a speed of 16 knots.

Final Rites For Mrs. Harlan Are Scheduled Today

Final rites for Mrs. W. J. Harlan, 75, who died unexpectedly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul M. Woods, in Cisco Monday night, were to be held at the Bartlett Methodist Church at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

The body was taken overland by Thomas Funeral Home coach Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Harlan had made her home with Mrs. Woods for almost three years. She fell and broke her hip shortly before she came to Cisco to live and had been unable to walk since that time, but was seemingly in good health until her sudden death.

On August 15, 1952, the Austin American carried the following story on the life and usefulness of Mrs. Harlan to the community in which she had lived since 1902.

Bartlett residents have not seen much of Mrs. W. J. Harlan, one of the town's loved citizens for half a century, since her fall two years ago in which she sustained a broken hip and ankle, but to Mrs. Harlan Bartlett is still home, and she visits here whenever she can. Something of the beautiful life she has lived was told in 'Reuben's Half Acre' in the Austin American on August 15 when the editor of that column, Dave Shanks, took his vacation and asked neighboring column writers to write one story for his column. The story prepared by the Ford Forum editor appears in the Austin American.

'Life's Sunset' As a beautiful sunset brings peace and calm to the world at the close of day, so the life of Mrs. W. J. Harlan, now approaches its sunset, has brought peace and calm to the many who have known and loved her during her long residence in Bartlett.

She has been called one of the community's kindest and most lovable women, and her reputation has been earned through her love for and kindness toward other people. Her every thought and deed seems to have been in the interest of other people, and (Turn to page four)

BRAVES BEAT GIANTS TO KEEP TOP POSITION IN LITTLE LEAGUE

The Little League Braves continued to hold on to their lead in the first half of conference play in the Cisco Little League when they won a close contest from the Giants at ABC Club field Tuesday night.

The game was a pitchers duel between Johnny Choate of the Braves and Milton King of the Giants. Choate gave up five hits, struck out 13 and allowed five walks. King allowed six hits, struck out nine, allowed one walk and hit one batter.

Inability to hit when it counted cost the Giants the game. Several times batters came up with the winning runs on base, but were unable to advance them.

All 11 hits by the two teams were singles as the outfielders had an easy evening.

Johnny Choate scored his team's winning run in the second inning after he got on on an error. Baum brought him home on a single.

The Giants threatened to tie up the game in the top half of the sixth when they got two hits and had two men on. Tight defensive play on the part of the Braves and two strike outs by Choate nipped the threat to end the game with two Giant players left on.

Baseball School Is Planned Soon

A baseball school and tryout camp under the sponsorship of the Cincinnati Reds will be held in Breckenridge May 26-29. Red scouts Frank McCormick and Tommy Thompson will be in charge of four day trial camp.

Any boy over 16 years of age is eligible to attend the free school and camp. Candidates should furnish their own uniform, glove and shoes.

Boys showing the necessary ability will be signed to Cincinnati contracts, it was announced.

In the farm team game the Braves downed the Giants 5-3 with Reeves the winning pitcher. Bill Overall was the losing pitcher. Overall and Reeves allowed eight hits each.

Thursday night the Cardinals and the Braves tangled in the Little League contest and the National Guard plays the Roundup Club in a donkey baseball game. Friday night the Giants play the Athletics in the Little League contest and the National Guard plays the Ranger National Guard a softball game.

Saturday night the Boosters Club plays the American Legion Indians a nine inning game beginning at 8 p. m.

Fund Still Being Raised To Assist Tornado Victims

Ciscoans who wish to contribute to a fund to benefit storm sufferers of Waco and San Angelo were asked today to send their checks to the city hall or Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor G. C. Rosenthal reported that approximately $400 has been contributed to date. He suggested that "we should do our part to aid those who have lost everything in the tornadoes." He recalled that many cities sent funds to Cisco many years ago when a tornado wrecked this city.

Several donations of baby clothes and sheets have been left at the fire station for storm sufferers, Mr. Rosenthal said.

Sue Wagley Made Her Class Agent

DENTON, May 20. — Sue Wagley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wagley, Route 1, Kempner, has been selected as the class agent of the Senior Class of the Texas State College for Women for the Ex-Students Association.

The class agent, usually automatically the Senior Class president, keeps in close contact with the vice-president of the Ex-Students Association. She writes news letters with information about class members to the vice-president that will be published in the Ex-Students bulletin. She represents the class of 1953 whenever necessary.

ROSENTHAL IS NOMINATED AS CISCO'S DIRECTOR FOR WTCC

Mayor G. C. Rosenthal was nominated to be Cisco's director for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by the board of directors of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce at their semi-monthly meeting at noon Tuesday at the Victor Hotel Dining Room.

Mr. Rosenthal was nominated to the post to take the place of W. B. Wright, who had served during the past two years.

The directorate voted to contribute to the expenses of Lawrence Davis for a trip to Chicago late this month. Mr. Davis will attend a convention of electrical manufacturers, representing the Charles S. Sandler Company and will remain there for several days to contact industrial prospects.

Methodists Will Hold Conference

The fourth quarterly conference of the First Methodist Church will be held following the covered dish dinner at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday (tonight) at the church, the Rev. E. H. Lightfoot, pastor, reported.

In the conference, reports of the year's work will be heard and officers and committees of the church will be elected for next year. All officers were asked to be present, and visitors were invited.

The Rev. Leslie Seymour, district superintendent, will conduct the conference at 7 p. m. Those who cannot attend the dinner were asked to come for the conference. Circle 3 of the WSCS will serve the dinner.

Clinton's Students Win Piano Honors

Piano students of Robert Clinton won honors in the national piano playing auditions and the national recording auditions held this spring, it was reported here today.

In the national recording competition, Jane Huestis won a $25 cash award, and Johnny Turner and Gayle Williams won honor medals.

In the piano playing auditions held by Cisco Junior College this month, Johnny Turner won highest honors with a grade of 98 per cent, and Gayle Williams and Annette Popalio won high honors with grades of 92 and 94 percent, respectively.

MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting of the Men's Club of the First Methodist Church scheduled for Thursday evening was postponed until May 28.

WORD CLUB TO MEET

The Word Home Demonstration Club will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Willie Word at two o'clock. The County Home Demonstration Agent will be present for this meeting and members are urged to attend.

GLAD TO GET OUT—After being flown from Los Angeles to New York, Mickey, a cocker spaniel, and Butch, a cat, were mighty glad to get out of their shared compartment. It seems that Butch let Mickey go first to see if the coast was clear before shoving on to their new home in Norwalk, Conn.

Trucks Expect To End Drive Soon

Four trucks were busy in all parts of Cisco this week in the annual city-sponsored spring cleanup campaign, Mayor G. C. Rosenthal reported. He said that plans call for the project to be completed Saturday.

The campaign began Monday morning after being delayed for a week by heavy rains. Two city trucks and two private trucks were being used to facilitate the hauling of trash and debris.

Plans call for the trucks to work on the following schedule during the balance of the week: Thursday — East of Avenue D to Beech Street and Humbletown.

Friday — East of Beech Street and the area around the colored school.

Saturday — Cleanup all leftover areas.

Those whose trash bundles and boxes have been overlooked were asked to call the city hall and leave their addresses for the cleanup work Saturday. Mr. Rosenthal said that the total collection of trash and debris, including tree limbs, will make a huge pile at the city dump grounds.

The mayor asked owners of vacant lots to join in the campaign during the balance of the week. He suggested that cleaning the vacant property would contribute to general health conditions and to the appearance of the city.

Special effort should be made to eliminate all mosquito breeding places, Mr. Rosenthal said. He added that the mosquito season "will be with us soon and with proper cooperation the menace will be slight."

Cisco Student Wins Air Force Promotion

Bryan R. Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Conn, Cisco, has been promoted to Cadet Airman Second Class in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Baylor University.

Announcement of his promotion was made this week by Colonel Ernest B. Maxwell, Commanding Officer of the Baylor Unit, which is one of 188 Air Force ROTC units on University campuses in the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

High School Mother's Club Plans Program

Mrs. Don Choate, president of the Mothers Club of Cisco Junior High School, has announced a meeting of the club for 3:15 p. m. Thursday, in the band room of the school. She announced that an interesting program had been arranged for the meeting and urged all members to attend. The meeting was set a week early because of conflict with school activities.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SPRAY PECAN ORCHARDS, COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Wettable DDT powder, sulphur and water comprise the spray and now is the time to use it on pecans for the control of the nut case bearer, worst enemy of the pecans, according to word today from the County Agent's office in Eastland.

Timing is as important as the spray material, it was said. The eggs of the nut case bearer, small olive green worm that bore into the base of the small nutlets for a part of its food, are now hatching and a good cover of the spray materials on the tip end of the limbs where the nuts are in seed.

Three pounds of 50% wettable DDT powder, 8 pounds of wettable sulphur to 100 gallons of water or that proportion thereof is the right mixture. If Rosette is present on the foliage then three pounds of zinc sulphate could be added. Rosette is indicated by tiny leaf, forming the appearance of a rosette.

The nut casebearer is the No. 1 enemy of pecans in Eastland County and annually does thousands of dollars worth of damage to the crop. Because the egg of the insect does not hatch at the same time each year the time to spray varies although May is the month of emergence.

Soon after the trees leaf out in the spring little green balls form and if the balls are cut open, gnatlike insects are found inside. These insects are called pecan phyloxera. The above spray is not suitable for it. Neither is it suitable for the pecan weevil that may feed on the nuts in the late summer.

ROAD TEST ONE - MD

"Road Test One - MD," a motion picture produced by the United States Bureau of Public Roads which is now available either for lending or purchase by interested persons or organizations, is the story of one of the most exhaustive and conclusive tests ever made to determine the effect of repeated applications of heavy loads on highways.

The test was conducted over a one and one-tenth mile section of concrete pavement near La Plata, Maryland, during the last six months of 1950, under the direction of the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Science, on behalf of 11 eastern state highway departments, and with the cooperation of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. The section of concrete pavement selected was of standard design, laid on subsoil which is typical of that underlying many thousands of miles of concrete highways throughout the country. Prior to the test the pavement "had withstood nine years of normal weathering and moderate traffic, with practically no ill effects."

The film, which runs approximately one and one-half hours, tells the story of two tests. One measured the difference between the effects of a vehicle loaded with 18,000 pounds on one axle as compared with a vehicle with 22,400 pounds on one axle. "The length of structural cracking caused by the heavier single-axle loads..." said the film, "was six times the length caused by the lighter loads..."

Another test measured the difference between a dual or tandem-axle carrying 32,000 pounds, as compared with a like axle arrangement carrying 44,800 pounds. The pavement under the heavier load broke down before the test was completed, but by October 13, when tests of the 44,800-pound load had to be halted, "the cracks in that lane totaled 12 times the length of those in the more lightly loaded lane..."

By careful analysis of the damage caused per slab in slabs laid on similar soils the test disclosed that "after only two-thirds as many load applications, the 32,000 pound tandem axles have caused almost four times as much cracking as the 18,000-pound single axles..."

"The incidence of cracking under the heavier loads," concludes the film, "was almost immediate..."

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

No need to be hot under the collar about a sunburn.

Foresight is better than hindsight. Limit the time spent in the sun to build up resistance gradually. Pick a time other than between 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. Apply cocoa butter, suntan oil or lotion, or baby oil beforehand. Don't go to sleep while tanning. Wear a shirt, long trousers, and wide brimmed hat while canoeing or fishing. These are just some of the ways you can keep from looking like a boiled tomato.

Assuming you're a smart cookie and heed all the warnings (hmm?) some eager beaver you know is bound to get an overdose of sunlight. Even if it's his fault (and he's perfectly aware it is), the fact remains he can be pretty uncomfortable, even sick.

The humane thing to do, therefore, is to offer some relief. A lukewarm-to-warm bath may take away some of the pain. Sponging with a solution of tea, epsom salts, or vinegar might next be tried. Some people are helped by a creamy lotion. If the eyes are irritated and burning, cold wet compresses will prove soothing. For blistering over a large area, apply a dressing covered with sterile petroleum jelly.

Naturally, no heavily starched clothing should be worn, and it is better if starch can be avoided altogether. Part of the "rub" comes in when the patient is trying to get his sleep; it's a problem to know what to do with the bedcovers. Naturally, they should be as light as possible, and sometimes a pillow support can be rigged up to keep the top sheet off the burned area.

A sunburn usually is first degree (skin reddened) or second degree (blisters formed). A second degree burn is likely to peel, and when it does there is the usual mess, dirty looking skin. Cold cream or lotion might make the peeling less noticeable, as may leaving off face powder. The patient should be reminded not to pull off the skin, perhaps causing bleeding or infection, but to let it slough off of its own accord.

Galileo invented the pendulum.

TWO FOR ONE POLICY—A photographer in Rome, Italy, managed to snap this photo of the stork while that legendary bird was making a delivery. He's already dropping one down a chimney—gently, of course—so he's obviously doubling up.

Conoco Advertising Program To Feature Automobile Safety

Safer automobiles for safer driving is the main objective of Continental Oil Company's summer advertising program, which begins today in the Cisco Daily Press.

Conoco's advertising will contain a list of safe-driving tips compiled by the National Safety Council. Commenting on the safety-first theme of the company's summer campaign, Paul Jones, National Safety Council director of public information, recently stated:

"The need for spreading the gospel of safety is becoming more urgent year after year, considering that more people were killed in automobile accidents last year than were killed in the Korean War. We feel that Continental Oil Company is to be congratulated for undertaking a program of this sort."

Continental's advertisements, which will appear in 1,029 newspapers, will urge car owners to take their cars to Conoco service stations for safety check-ups, in which tires, lights, batteries, cooling systems, and other parts commonly causing unsafe driving

And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

—(St. Mark XII, 30.)

Surely we are letting ourselves in for trouble, for disappointment, for a denial of the complete happiness that could be ours, if we disregard these words of Jesus and thus delude ourselves into thinking that just loving God a little—while indulging ourselves—is enough. The fact is that a little self-indulgence grows into a lot of it, and soon the Lord is crowded out.

AS IT WAS—The Duke and Duchess of Argyll stand before a fireplace in the great hall of their castle in Inveraray, Scotland. The state rooms of the 18th Century castle have been undergoing restoration for the past two years. They have recently been opened to the public.

SINGING OF BARGAINS—Comedian Mory Amsterdam, center, may be doing just that as he and local firemen in Haverstraw, N. Y., dissolve in some close harmony. Mory was in town to act as MC at the opening of a new supermarket, and the fun doings of attending celebrities put Hollywood to shame.

Final Rites — — —

 her life has been devoted to the service of others. To know her is to love her.

Now in her 75th year and still feeling the effects of a serious fall two years ago, she is not as active as she once was, but she is still spreading sunshine wherever she goes. Bartlett has known her for half a century, principally as the kindly country doctor's wife, who shared her husband's interest in service to mankind and carried on his spirit after his death in 1940.

Others shared her kindness during the sunrise of her life. She was born on a farm near Jefferson, Cass County, East Texas, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hutcheson. When an infant she moved with her parents to Alabama and spent her childhood and youth there. For three years she taught school, and it was during this time that she was married to Dr. W. J. Harlan, a school-day sweetheart, in Hackneyville, Ala., Jan. 20, 1899.

To Bartlett, with their two year-old son Rudolph, they moved to Bartlett in July 1902. Dr.

Harlan immediately began his long service as the community's country doctor, and she began her career of unselfish service which endeared her to the people of Bartlett.

In those days there were no gravel roads nor hard surfaced highways in this section, and he made his calls on horseback and by buggy.

She learned some of the quiet patience that she now displays as she waited his return from those calls that were often night long.

She smiles as she recalls those times now, and says, "I never really minded. I knew his profession before we were married." Especially is she loved and appreciated by members of the Bartlett Methodist Church where she served as a Sunday school teacher for 40 years and as president of the Women's Missionary Society for 25 years.

She is a charter member of the Women's Wednesday Club, a literary club, which was federated in 1903. She is an honorary member of this organization at the present time and is one of the past presidents. This reserved, dignified woman, who means so much to this community, was timid and hesitant when being interviewed, and seemed embarrassed that the writer of this column wished to present her in a column. Her thoughts are never of herself, and she was more anxious to tell of her children and grandchildren than of her life.

Dr. R. K. Harlan, her eldest child, was born Nov. 17, 1900. He is a graduate of Bartlett High School, Rice Institute, and Texas Medical School; he attended the University of Pennsylvania, attended school in Boston, Mass., and has served as surgeon at King's Daughters Hospital and Clinic in Temple since 1928.

Mrs. Paul Woods of Cisco, her only daughter, is also a graduate of Bartlett High School, received her B. A. degree from Southwestern University, and was teaching speech in Cisco when she married Dr. Paul Woods in 1924.

She has four grandchildren, Mrs. Rose Ann Woods Hughston of Dallas; Paul Harlan Wood, senior at Texas Tech; Frank Harlan, who is in the Air Force, stationed in Anchorage, Alaska; John Lewis Harlan, a sophomore at Texas A & M. She also has two great grandchildren.

Mrs. Harlan's principal hobby is people. She loves them and loves to be with them. She listens to their problems, and encourages them when they are downhearted. She never criticizes them.

Crocheting and other hand work have occupied much of her time since the fall in 1950 in which she sustained a broken hip and ankle.
