The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

ACCORDING TO the papers, the Texas Legislature adjourned yesterday without taking any action on the matter of redistricting the courts of the state. This means that Eastland County's 1st District Court will remain as is for at least two more years, as the Legislature only meets every other year. Special sessions of the Legislature are sometimes held, but they're always called for a short period to deal with some emergency matter and the court redistricting would not very likely be passed as an emergency matter. The court redistricting issue will most likely be given some attention before the Legislature meets and studies it again. During the 135-day session, the Legislature sent the governor 428 new laws, a large percentage of which were local in nature.

THE VFW BOYS had planned to conduct the annual Memorial Day Poppy Sale this Saturday, but due to the fact that it will be a holiday the Poppy Day Sale has been postponed until Saturday, June 6.

WE'VE DECIDED that putting out a newspaper is kind of like milking cows. You've got to do the job every day. Your work won't wait until the next day, regardless of how badly you might want to go fishing or do something else.

WENT OVER TO Fort Worth yesterday to look into a few little details and found the city sweltering hot. The business firms there just can't imagine how they ever operated without air-conditioning. The folks all seem too busy to relax. You can walk down the streets for an hour or more without seeing anybody you know.

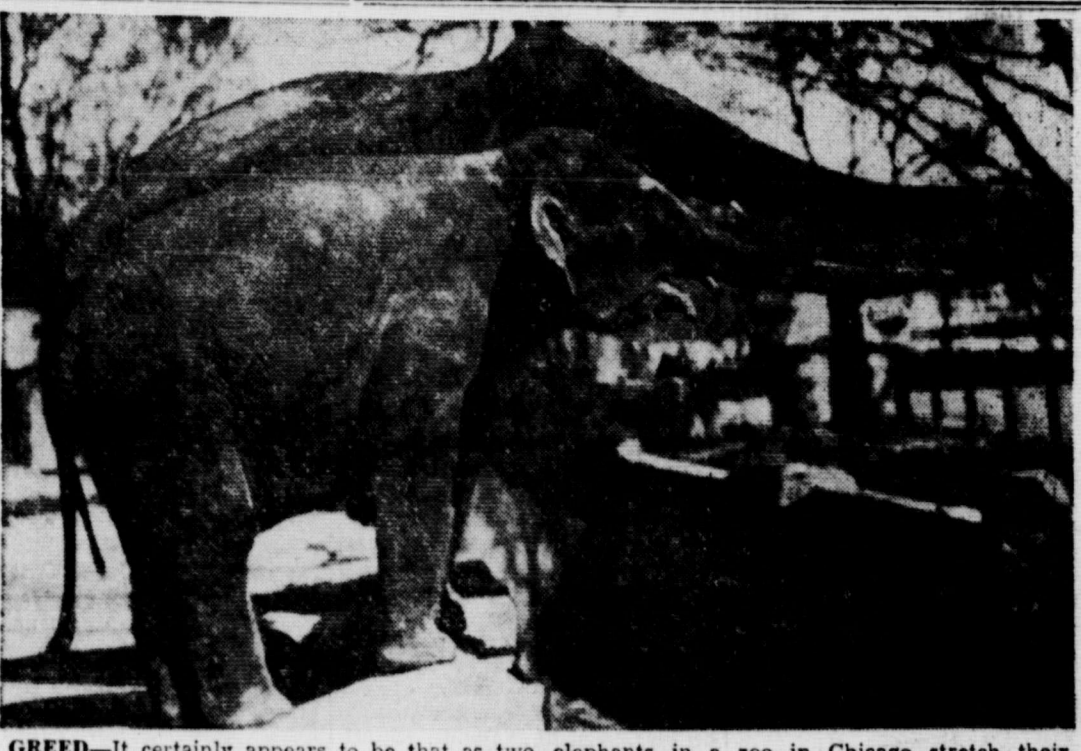

WOULDN'T YOU hate to live in a place like that?

HOME FOR A brief visit last night and early today was Mr. Eddie Jackson, son of the E. L. Jacksons. He has just completed his sixth year of college at the University of Oklahoma. He is a master of the arts — an educated man. Says it's comforting to relax in the knowledge that school days are over. He has been in school since he was about six years old.

EDDIE has a busy program lined up. He departed today for Corpus Christi to accept a position as an electrical engineer with the Humble Pipe Line Company. Next week, he goes back to Norman, Okla., to be commissioned an Ensign in the U. S. Navy and get married. He will then work for Humble until he is ordered to active duty for a couple of years with the Navy. He's a former Press paper boy, you know.

THE MAIL BRINGS the information that for 22 years the Harvard Business School has been holding a one-day summer conference for businessmen. Purpose of the conference has been to bring the best thought of faculty and industry leaders to bear on the one subject most important to businessmen for that year.

Report Is Given Of Minors Found Working On Farm

DALLAS, May 28. — Almost half the minor children found working on U. S. farms in violation of the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act last year were below normal in their completion of school grades. Some never had attended school. In cases closed during the last half of the year, a total of 4,251 such children between 8 and 15 years of age were found to be illegally at work on the nation's farms during local school hours, according to the April issue of the Labor Information Bulletin, just published by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Contrasted with the U. S. normal for rural children, more than three times as many of these working children, aged 8-15, had not attained their normal school grade. The picture worsened as the children's ages increased: For minors 8 years of age, 9% were below normal in school grade; of the 15-year-olds, 65% were below their normal grade attainment.

OF all migrant children, 51% were in grades below normal for their ages. Among the local children, 42% showed such retardation.

WE wish to take this means of expressing our thanks to the many friends and loved ones that helped make the passing of our loved one easier to bear. Every word of kindness and every deed will always be remembered.

Spring Planting Work Is Resumed In Open Weather

Planting, replanting and cultivation was resumed in Texas this week as hot, windy weather dried soils rapidly following the previous week's cool rainy weather.

Prospects faded fast as the strong winds and high temperatures took the scant moisture which fell in that area a week earlier.

Corn was in good condition in the blacklands but dry weather was needed in east Texas. Some flooded lowland acreage in east Texas was lost.

Summer grass was coming along very fast over the eastern half of the State where soils were generally saturated from heavy rains of the previous week.

Appeal Sounded To End Campaign For Cancer Fund

AUSTIN, May 28. — An eleventh-hour appeal to put this year's Cancer Crusade over the $600,000 state goal was made today by a Texas doctor, himself a staunch volunteer cancer fighter.

The spokesman is Dr. G. V. Brindley of Temple, chief surgeon of the Scott & White Clinic and chairman of the American Cancer Society's Texas Division executive committee.

Dr. Brindley said that so far this spring a total of $520,000 has been contributed to county cancer units in Texas, from all sources.

The Texas Crusade is far ahead of any previous year, and is so close to success that the last effort is of particular importance," according to Dr. Brindley.

Your Interest In The Continental Shelf

(Third of a series of three articles by John Ben Shepperd, Attorney General of Texas, discussing the nature, title and disposition of the underwriter land mass beyond the tidelands known as the Continental Shelf).

In my two previous articles on the Continental Shelf I have discussed the nature of the great underwater plain and why Texas and other coastal states claim a share in its development. In this final article your interest in this offshore land will be shown.

I know that many of our citizens have told me that they sometimes get a little tired of the tidelands discussion, but I do not think that any citizen of Texas can afford to get tired of the problem. If you owned property worth thousands of dollars, and it was in jeopardy you would be concerned about it until you finally learned that it was safe.

That is just the case with our tidelands and with our interest in the Continental Shelf.

We can not forget that the value of the resources of the Continental Shelf is even greater than that of the so-called "tidelands" just quit-claimed to us by the federal resources off the United States coast line at $100 billion. Resources off the coast of Texas have been conservatively estimated at $3 billion.

This means that every man, woman and child in Texas has at least $400 in prospective benefits from the underwater lands. The Continental Shelf is many times larger than the historic boundaries of the States.

Since all of the monies received from leases of this land go to the Permanent School Fund, you can see what a modern and remarkable school system we could build in this State could we secure a fair share of the revenues from submerged lands off our coast.

Traditionally the federal government has refunded 37 1/2% of all income from public lands to the States in which such lands are located. If the national government will give Texas and the other coastal states the same treatment as regards the Continental Shelf, our Texas school children would have schools which would be the envy of the world.

As the recognized leader of the Nation in oil and gas production, Texas can contribute an enormous amount of know-how to the administration of the offshore lands. Further, Texas' conservation laws, if applied to these lands, would eliminate waste and result in decades of maximum production.

It has been suggested that the federal government allow coastal States like Texas to apply our normal severance tax on the minerals taken from under the Shelf. This would greatly assist us.

Farmers in the State will be interested to learn that many scientists believe that the next great farming frontier will be this ocean bed, where large crops of all types will be systematically farmed and harvested.

Experiments have indicated that terrific yields at small expense may be expected.

From every standpoint — economics, international law, domestic law, and geography — Texas should share in the development of the Continental Shelf off her coast.

I urge you to write your individual Congressman or United States Senator and encourage him to keep up his relentless fight for our rightful share in the Continental Shelf.

Billy Graham To Hold Revival At Big Dallas Bowl

DALLAS, May 27. — Dallas area church leaders this week took another look at the facts and figures piling up on the eve of the Greater Dallas Evangelistic Crusade led by the famed evangelist Billy Graham, and realized that every indication is that Texas may be host to the largest evangelistic meeting in American history.

The 75,000 seat Cotton Bowl will be utilized for the month-long series, to begin Sunday afternoon, May 31, and continue through Sunday, June 28. The Stadium has the largest seating capacity ever used for an extended revival meeting.

Last summer, Evangelist Graham saw the largest single crowd in his experience when 60,000 persons nearly filled Rice Stadium on June 1. Rev. Ralph Bacon, chairman of the Dallas effort, was confident when interviewed this week that the vast Cotton Bowl would be filled on more than one of the weekends of the Crusade.

Included in the record breaking proportions for the Dallas Crusade are the following: a 1,500 voice Crusade Choir recruited from local churches and trained by music director Cliff Barrows, 800 ushers, 1,000 personal counselors, and nearly 2,000 daily prayer meetings in Dallas area homes. In addition, a large staff of workers will assume responsibility for various phases of the Crusade, including the 100 crib nursery, the first-aid room and the delegation reservation department.

Certified Alfalfa Seed is Plentiful for 1953

Dr. L. F. Graber, University of Wisconsin, inspecting a field of certified Buffalo alfalfa growing in the west under irrigation for seed production.

Release of improved varieties of alfalfa by Agricultural Experiment Stations and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has helped bring about a new era in alfalfa seed production.

Improved varieties include Ranger, Buffalo, Atlantic, Narragansett, Talent, Caliverde, and Williamsburg. Their superiority in their respective areas of forage adaptation is now recognized.

The annual volume of certified seed of superior alfalfas has only recently exceeded 5 million pounds. It reached an all-time record of 35 to 40 million pounds in 1952. This is about 40 per cent of alfalfa seed usage in recent years.

Most certified seed adapted to northern and eastern regions is grown outside the variety's area of adaptation, the larger part in California. It is generally accepted that seed certification adequately safeguards varietal identity and performance, whether seed of these superior varieties is grown within or outside its respective area of forage adaptation.

Agronomists, farmers, seedsmen and others concerned with seed, have come to the conclusion that the best and safest buy is in Ranger and other improved alfalfa varieties is certified seed. The small premium paid is cheap insurance of proper performance and a long-life stand.

A considerable quantity of U. S. verified origin seed from acceptable origins is available and for many purposes will give satisfactory results. Much of the commercial seed used will probably continue to be of this category. Some of this will be offered under variety names but not certified because of insufficient genetic purity or for failure to meet certified seed standards or some other certification requirement.

Certified seed, however, carries the fullest possible assurance of variety. Since all responsible field seed suppliers now offer certified alfalfa seed of locally adapted varieties as well as U. S. verified - origin seed, farmers should have no difficulty in obtaining their requirements.

Seedsmen today recognize the difficulties of handling uncertified seed of variety designation, so many of them confine their purchases and sales of alfalfa seed by variety to seed that is certified. They, as well as the farmer-purchaser, recognize that this is a real protection to both in and lets figure.

HOW TO EARN A REWARD

TO EACH HIS OWN—After completing its turn in a circus in Berlin's British sector, a trained bear got a kiss from its pretty trainer, upper left. In Cleveland, Izzie, a pet robin whistles "Yankee Doodle" for Mrs. Minta Copeland before getting a snack, right. A puppy in Tring, England, lower left, is vainly hoping to chew a little meat off that bare bone, but Skip, a baby squirrel in Grand Rapids, Mich., right, is faring better with young Douglas Holmes, his master. Doug takes his pet to school and they even share their meals.

UNEXPECTED GUESTS—As she sat watching a television program in her home in Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Leona Francisco was surprised to see nine baby opossums walk in. Now she watches her new pets instead of TV; they live in a cage especially built for them.

Bicycle Mishaps Occur Frequently In Warm Seasons

The seasonal return to America's streets and highways of 21,000,000 cyclists — more than double the prewar total — renews the threat of bicycle mishaps which take about 600 lives annually, according to insurance company statisticians.

About two thirds of the fatalities occur in the months from May to October, nine out of every 10 deaths are among males, and 70 percent of all victims are boys at ages five to 19 years, the statisticians report.

Collision with a motor vehicle is by far the greatest bicycle hazard, being responsible for at least four fifths of the fatalities. The remaining proportion is due mainly to falls from bicycles, running into fixed objects, collision with railroad trains at crossings, and fatalities among pedestrians who are run down or collide with cyclists.

Study of claims paid on the lives of industrial insurance policyholders during 1946 through 1951 indicates that most fatal bicycle accidents are preventable, with the hazardous practices of the cyclists themselves the most important factor in causing the accidents.

"Cutting in" in front of a motor vehicle and crossing from one lane to another are the most common violations of traffic safety practices. Carrying an extra passenger on a bicycle, and lack of caution at intersections or around curves also contribute considerable numbers to the death toll.

Other hazardous practices include failure to exercise due caution when coming out of a driveway or alley, riding around between parked cars, riding too far from the curb or on the wrong side of the street, and using bicycles in poor mechanical condition and lacking proper equipment.

"Little or no progress has been made since World War II in reducing the death toll from bicycle accidents," the statisticians observe. "Inasmuch as youngsters constitute the focal point of the problem, parents and school authorities have a special responsibility to make children aware of the hazards that attend cycling. Measures should also be taken to alert drivers of cars and trucks to look out for bicycles."

Watch Your Food During Summer, Dr. Cox Warns

AUSTIN, May 28. — The coming of warm weather brings a warning from Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, for all persons to be on the alert regarding food poisoning. Most cases investigated by the State Department of Health disclosed that improper food handling was responsible for the illness.

Food poisoning is commonly caused by bacteria in food. In general there are two types, food poisoning and food infection. Food poisoning is caused by bacteria in the food that produce a poison and usually the symptoms appear within a few hours. In food infection, the bacteria do not produce a poison, but attack the body. This takes longer so symptoms usually do not appear for 12 to 24 hours after eating.

In both kinds of illness the symptoms may be similar: nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain and fever may all occur. In food poisoning nausea and vomiting may predominate while in food infection diarrhea may be the prominent symptom.

As a prevention Dr. Cox suggests that all food be protected against flies and other pests. Refrigerate all perishable foods including meats, poultry and cream-filled pastries. Many outbreaks of food infection are caused by leaving food out of the refrigerator. Also, avoid handling food if you have a sore or an infection on your hands or if you are sick.

THREESOME—On the last night of her annual engagement in Fort Lee, N. J., singing star Lena Horne, left, was visited in her dressing room backstage at the Riviera by owner Bill Miller and Lenore Ulric, star of stage and screen. Miss Horne will soon begin a tour that will take her across the country, and Miss Ulric is to appear in a new play on Broadway in the autumn.

MEDIAeval SETTING—During the annual flower show in Florence, Italy, the city's ancient palaces and buildings acquire added grace and beauty. The best floral specimens of growers in the area are displayed along the streets in the historic settings. Here, a flower-lined thoroughfare by the Uffizi Gallery leads to the medieval tower rising majestically in the background.

SHE HAD A TIME OF IT—Eight hours after she was accidentally locked in a bank vault in East Alton, Ill., Ann Linkogle, 19, reaches out to shake hands with Maron Clark, who drilled a hole in the vault's wall. Ann got locked in while filing records, and she used a telephone in the vault to tell of her plight.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

The Congress is now grinding out Appropriations Bills for money to run the Government for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and running to the same period in 1954.

Reductions are being made in practically everything, but unfortunately the greatest reduction must come from National Defense if the cost of Government is greatly reduced.

Since 87c of every Federal tax dollar goes to pay for past Wars, foreign Military and economic aid, defense at home, veterans benefits, and the interest on the National Debt, it only leaves 13c to run all the other huge activities of the Government.

The National Defense budget has been reduced by over 5 billion dollars, and the Air Force is evidently bearing the brunt of it. The Secretary of Defense says that the efficiency of the Air Force will not be reduced. I hope he is right, but it is hard to see. It concerns me deeply because it seems there is no choice but to be strong if we are to be safe in the dangerous world in which we live.

Incidentally, I am setting up a file on the requests I receive not to cut funds for this, that, and the other. It seems most of us are for cutting funds which affect the other fellow, but not for expenditures or those things in which we are particularly interested. Usually letters and telegrams start off with, "I am for economy, but —" or "I am for economy, however —"

This country is in somewhat the same position as the couple who got married and set up a budget for their living. The boy had a limited income. So they were going to set aside so much money for this and so much for that. However, after about a month, the boy began to receive bills for things purchased by his wife before their marriage. The bills had to be paid and the budget went out the window.

This country has bought two World Wars for itself and a great many other countries and the bills are past due. These bills are represented by the Public Debt, the interest on which is around 6 billion dollars. In addition, since the present preparedness program started, there is left unpaid approximately 81 billion dollars. Those are now becoming due, and they can only be paid from the dollars wrung from the poor old taxpayer. The Congress is always trying to figure out how the bitter pill can be sweetened, but it "ain't" easy.

In the face of these tremendous responsibilities, there is no need for me or anyone else to say that the path before us is strewn with roses. It is not too difficult for us to face a real crisis when we can see it — such as War — but it is human nature for us to lose sight of the essentials before our eyes if we can put it off to another day.

The Eisenhower Administration says that the Budget cannot be balanced this year, even if taxes are not reduced and even if considerable reductions are made in spending. They ask that the excess profits tax on corporations be extended from its expiration date on June 30th.

Regardless of the level of taxes, one thing is certain. There is a great need for adjustment of taxes. We need an overhauling of our entire tax system in order to better equalize the burden.

I am often reminded to ask myself which is worse — to have no convictions or no courage to back them up.
