The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

IT'S ONLY ABOUT three months until school starts again and another football season will be with us. Understand the fall session of the schools will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 8. The school youngsters concluded the 1952-53 school year by reporting Monday morning for their final report cards.

Manager W. P. Knight of the Lake Cisco Swimming Pool tells us that the bus students enjoyed a fine picnic and skating and swimming party at the lake Monday. A very large crowd of youngsters enjoyed the outing.

WE MADE A pretty bad mistake last week in reporting on the higher education plans of Coach O. B. Graham of the Mid-gets. He already has a master's degree and we indicated that he was still at work on it. He got a bachelor's degree from Texas A. & M. College back in 1940 and received his master's at Texas Tech last summer.

Late this week, the Grahams plan to drive to Williamsburg, Virginia, where he will attend William and Mary University for a semester. Their departure is being held up until he disposes of some huge stones that he recently dug out of his front yard up on 9th street.

PROF. ROBERT Clinton of CJC heads out Wednesday for Austin to enroll at the University of Texas to work on his doctor of music degree. Mrs. Clinton and the children plan to remain in Cisco, and the professor will be home every weekend. . . Mrs. Roy Killingsworth has gone to Canyon for study this summer at the college there. . . Mr. Jack Chambliss of CJC plans to study this summer at NTSC. Will get a bachelor of music degree. He already has two bachelor's degrees.

JUDGE EUGENE Lankford reports that there's a book missing out at his house. It's by Miss Nora Davidson and concerns the establishment of Memorial Day. It has pictures of the decorating of soldier's graves at old Blanford church in Virginia, which led to national Memorial Day.

Judge Lankford thinks he loaned the book to someone who has forgotten to return it. And he would like to have the book back.

MR. W. B. WRIGHT, the lawyer, has finished an extensive decoration project up at his offices in the Reynolds Building. They've put in new floor coverings and have refinished the walls and wood work. It's all very pretty, and we've suggested that he should hold an open house and serve turkey sandwiches. He has the matter under advisement.

MR. LAWRENCE Davis of the Charles S. Chandler Company is back from Chicago where he attended a national convention, looked after some personal affairs and then stayed on for a few days to make contacts for the Cisco Foundation.

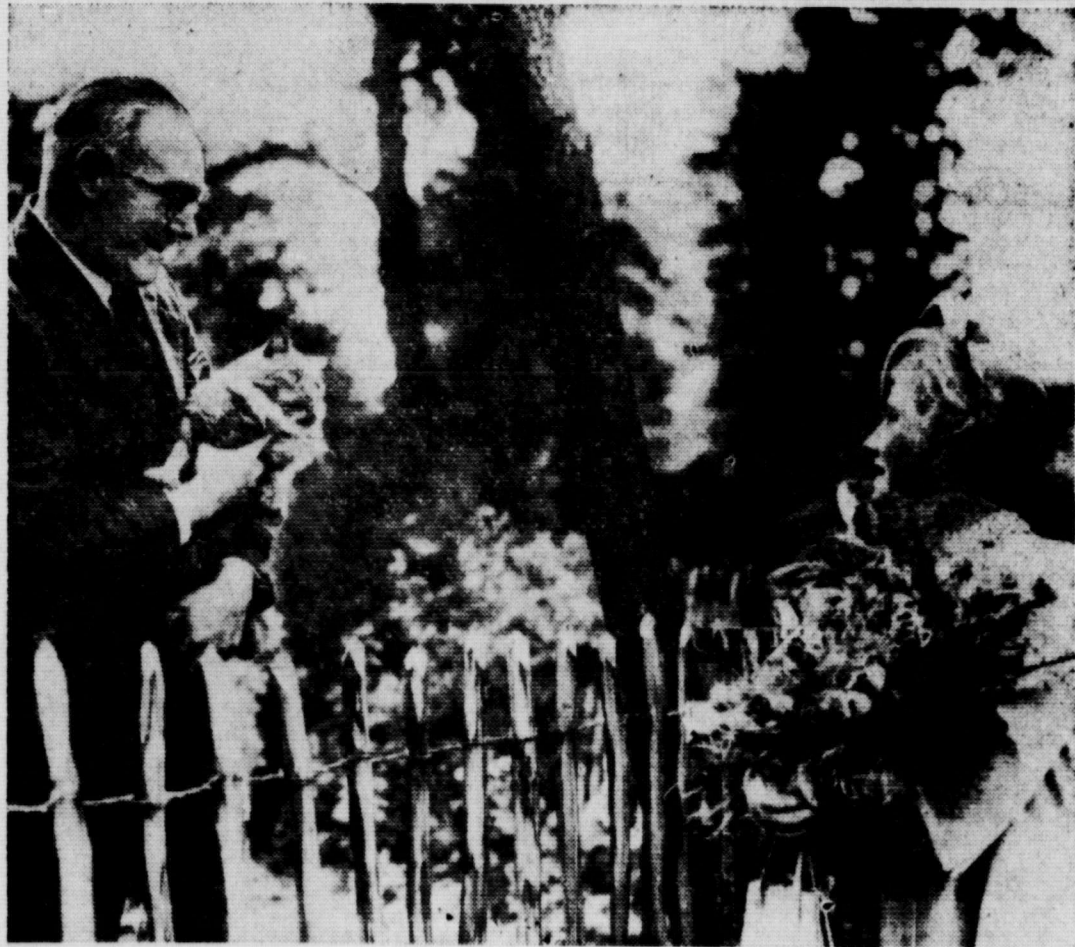

Foundation leaders, who are endeavoring to attract new payrolls for our town, are highly pleased with the work that Mr. Davis did and are hopeful that they may report results soon.

THERE'S SOME good news and some bad news from the Cisco Unit of the National Guard this week. The bad news is the fact that the Unit lost a softball game the other night to the Service Pipe Line of Albany with a score of 14 to 11. Local pitchers were Clarence Noble and Eldon Callerman.

On the good news side of the ledger, the Unit has received word that some of their members received excellent scores in a recent carbine shooting event over at Abilene. Some of the scores were: Bill Bennie, 265; Clarence Noble, 260; Ted L. Fields, 237; Marvin Jackson, 237; George Hull, 236; and Andy Mosley, 230. Perfect was a score of 300.

The guard unit provided the firing squad for the Memorial Day service at Oakwood Cemetery last Saturday morning. And they wore their new white accessories that the John William Butts Post of the American Legion bought for them. Looked very good, indeed.

Dr. Carlyon Opens Methodist Meet

Dr. J. T. Carlyon is speaking twice daily this week in a series of meetings at the First Methodist Church with services at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

He is using the Book of Acts as the basis of the morning services, and the Letters of Paul for the 8 p. m. services. A good crowd was at the church Monday night to hear the lesson from the Galatian letter.

The Board of Stewards will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight for a short business session prior to the revival service.

Tonight Dr. Carlyon will talk from the book of Thessalonians on the subject, "From Jewish Messiah to Christianity." Wednesday night his subject will be, "Healing Our Broken Body," taken from the Corinthian letter. Thursday night the subject, "Christian Freedom," will be taken from the Roman letter, and the final service Friday night will be a lesson from the Phillipian letter, "The Cross vs. A Crown." The public was invited to attend all the services.

behind twice to win over the Red-orters. They were trailing as they went to bat in the first inning and were trailing again in the bottom half of the fifth.

Fred Hayes put the Indians ahead in the second inning when he banged out a round tripper over the center field fence.

Don Greenhaw, Indian pitcher, won his own game when he hit a homer over the left center field fence with two aboard in the fifth inning.

The Indians exhibited a lot of power Friday night in making 11 hits count for 11 runs. Greenhaw was the leading man at bat for Cisco when he hit safely on three out of four trips to the plate.

Saturday afternoon the Indians got off to a good start and made four runs in the first inning against Stephenville, but blew the lead in the third to lose 6-7. The Indians combined a hit and five free passes to go ahead 4-0 in the first. In the second inning the Stephenville Blue Jays made a run and in the third counted four more on two hits and three Indian errors. The Indians tied the game again in the sixth when they made two runs on a hit and a Blue Jay error. The Blue Jays

NOTED QUARTET TO SING HERE

The Stamps Ozark Quartet of Wichita Falls will be featured on the Cisco Jamboree program to be held Saturday at 8 p. m. at the football field, it was announced Tuesday by members of the Cisco Fire Department, sponsors of the Jamboree.

The football field was decided on as the location for the show when it was feared that the city hall auditorium, site of the regular Jamboree performances, would be inadequate to handle the crowd that follows the popular quartet and other performers on the Jamboree.

The Kendrick Quartet, popular in this section of the state, will appear on the program with the Stamps group, as will many of the regular Jamboree performers.

A full two and a half hour show has been arranged, it was reported. Tickets for the show will sell for 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for children. Advance tickets may be purchased from any member of the fire department.

The game was called at the end of the fourth on the 10 run run. Charles Lavery, Card pitcher, was the big show at bat for his team. He hit safely on three out of four times at bat, banging

A prospective purchaser of the gas properties, including the distribution system of the Cisco Gas Corporation, approached the city with the offer to sell, Mr. Rosenthal said.

Eastland Couple Are Found Dead In Home Monday

Milton J. (Pop) Gaines, 61, prominent Eastland business and civic leader, and his wife, 60, were found dead in their home in Eastland Monday afternoon by friends who had gone there to see about them after Mr. Gaines had failed to appear at his business as usual.

J. R. Boggus, justice of peace, reported that their death was caused by carbolic poisoning. A three ounce bottle of the poison, more than half empty, was found in the bath room of the Gaines home. They were found in separate bedrooms in night clothing. Acid burns were about their mouths. Justice of Peace Boggus said that he would render a verdict Tuesday.

Their bodies were discovered by Henry Pullman and Willie Smith, Eastland business men. It was estimated that they had been dead 14 to 16 hours when they were found.

A sealed letter addressed to the Rev. J. Morris Bailey was found on top of the family Bible. Mr. and Mrs. Gaines were members of the First Methodist Church of which Rev. Bailey is pastor. The contents of the letter were not to be made public.

According to business associates and an Eastland banker, Mr. Gaines had been depressed because of financial reverses. He was the owner of the Eastland Auto Parts Company which he established upon moving to Eastland 14 years ago from Wichita Falls. He had served as postmaster at Wichita Falls before moving to Eastland.

Funeral arrangements were pending Tuesday. They will be announced by Hamner Funeral Home in Eastland.

Excess Profits Tax Seen 'A Tax On Community Prosperity, Growth'

LUFKIN, June 1.—The present 82 per cent excess profits tax is "a tax on our community prosperity and growth." This was pointed out today by R. W. Wortham, Jr., vice president, Southland Paper Mills, Inc., here. Wortham issued an appeal to all Texas people to get behind their representatives in Washington in their efforts to cut federal spending and ask them to permit the tax to expire as scheduled. "Like all so-called business taxes, the excess profits tax may be collected from business concerns, but the price is paid for by all the people," he continued. "In this particular case, small companies which are undergoing growing pains, and other firms trying to expand their production and employ more people, are hardest hit. "This means the real damage is being borne by all citizens of Texas. Every time this tax forces a local plant to cancel an expansion program, local workers and school graduates lose job opportunities. When this happens, everybody loses — employees, neighboring farmers, grocers, carpenters, local merchants. In the long run, even our schools, churches, Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A., and other welfare organizations suffer. It is definitely a tax on our community prosperity and growth." Wortham said approximately one firm in every four now is subject to the tax. Many Texas firms are thus hobbled, he pointed out. He said national surveys indicate that about eight out of every 10 of these companies are small firms employing less than 500 persons. The tax is scheduled to go out of existence June 30, unless a new bill is pushed through congress. Regarding the administration's recent request for its extension until the end of 1953, Wortham said businessmen generally are applauding President Eisenhower's "honest statement on our military and financial situation." "However," he emphasized, "there is keen disappointment that Congress has not cut federal spending so that such a damaging tax can be wiped off the books."

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

If someone you know should have a heart attack would you know what to do? Heart trouble may be evident in several ways. The patient may complain of pain, may seem faint, or may have a hard time breathing. There may be pain under the breastbone, which may extend into the neck, the back, or either or both arms or, pain may be felt only in the abdomen. Pain as a symptom of heart disease applies almost altogether to people older than 35 years of age; in those younger it usually can be traced to something else. A heart attack differs from a faint in that the patient doesn't recover quickly. Unless the patient is having trouble breathing, lay him flat and cover him to keep him warm. However, if he feels better with his head propped up or sitting up straight, keep him in that position. The patient who feels better walking about probably isn't having a heart attack. Keep the victim of possible heart attack as quiet as you can. Pain and fear of suffocation which he may have are likely to make him nervous and apprehensive, so you should do what you can to calm him down. If he has medicine to take for an attack, you should help him take it. Coffee or tea also may be beneficial. A stroke is caused not by a heart attack but by a blood vessel in the brain breaking. High blood pressure is likely to be present. Blood flowing out of the artery or vein causes pressure on the brain, which accounts for the symptoms. The patient may be unconscious, is likely to be paralyzed on one side, and may have his mouth drawn to one side. One pupil will perhaps be larger than the other. The pulse will be strong and slow, but breathing may be difficult. The patient should be laid on his back with the head raised a little and should be kept warm. There must be absolute rest, and if he must be moved, great care should be used so that he does not exert himself. With a heart attack or a stroke it is important to keep the patient quiet and get a doctor right away.

Vets Questions And Answers

Q — What points does VA check on, in approving a "wheel-chair housing" grant for a paralyzed veteran who meets all basic requirements of the law? A — VA has to determine (1) whether it's medically feasible for the veteran to live in the proposed house and in the proposed locality; (2) whether he can afford the particular house, and (3) whether the home is suitable to his needs for dwelling purposes. Q — Through an oversight, I paid my GI insurance premium right at the end of the grace period. What does VA consider as the date the payment is made — the date I mail my check or the date it's received by the VA? A — The postmark date on the envelope containing your remittance is accepted by VA as the date payment is made. Q — I am a disabled World War II veteran, and I applied for training under Public Law 16. Shortly after I filed my application, VA notified me that I was being dropped from the compensation rolls, and my disability rated at zero percent. This was a result of a physical exam I took. Even though I'm no longer entitled to compensation, would I still be allowed to go ahead with my Public Law 16 training, since I filed for it before my zero rating went in effect? A — No. Since you were taken off the compensation rolls before you actually started training, you would not be permitted to enroll under Public Law 16. Q — Does the term insurance available to veterans who served since Korea pay dividends? A — No. The new forms of insurance for post-Korea veterans are non-participating; they do not pay dividends. However, the premium rates are lower than for any other form of Government insurance.

Hedges and Background Plants Grown From Seed

Plants with decorative foliage are especially useful to new home owners who need screen and background planting at small expense, quickly effective. If landscape plans have not fully taken shape, and it is desired to test the effect of a large shrub in a certain place, before actually planting it, the gigantic castor bean can be grown in a few weeks. From one small bean can grow a beautiful plant eight feet tall and as large in diameter. The leaves are large, beautifully shaped, of bronze or maroon coloring. The Zanzibar strain will produce plants 12 feet tall, in favorable locations, with rich soil and plenty of water. For a low hedge around a flower planting, or to serve any similar purpose, the fine leaved fire plant Kochia chidisi is excellent. Conical bushes 2 1/2 feet high with fine light green foliage can be grown singly or close enough together to be trimmed as a hedge. In the late summer the leaves turn to crimson. The softly brilliant coloring of coleus plants reach their full brilliance in a sunny location, and will grow quickly from seed. A mass planting in a front yard focal point is highly decorative. New leaves develop throughout the summer and the colors never fade. Bushes four to six feet tall can be grown from seed of Tibouia, sometimes called the golden flower of the Incas. This bears flowers of bright orange, about two inches in diameter. The variety Torch grows 3 to 4 feet, and is more compact, with earlier flowers. In hot, sunny locations, Amaranthus tricolor, often called Joseph's coat after the biblical story of the coat of many colors, will attain its finest coloring. The inner foliage is of blackest bronze, tipped with green, the outer bright scarlet and gold. Heavy-leaved plants should be relieved by those of finer character in the border. Some of the ornamental grasses easily raised from seed are useful for this purpose and are often seen associated with cannas, castor beans, or the fancy leaved caladium. The ornamental grasses, both annual and perennial, give excellent decorative effects. The penstemon, pampas grass, (erianthus) and euhalia with green and white leaves are all attractive.

Survey Reveals Coast Fish Are Making Comeback

ROCKPORT, May 30. — The Chief Marine Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission reported new indications that Gulf Coast sports fishing is recovering from the devastating 1931 freeze.

He said the principal late evidence is the improved trout fishing particularly in the Laguna Madre which stretches from the lower end of Corpus Bay to Port Isabel. However, fishing seems to have been better all along the Gulf Coast.

Field returns from Marine Biologist Ernest Simmons to the Commission's Marine Laboratory state that fishermen are using hook and line as well as trot line successfully. He reported that the luck has been especially good around Flour Bluff, 23 miles south of Corpus.

Game Warden Herman Schliesing of Port Lavaca, who has been working out of the Corpus Christi office, observed that trout fishing results have been the best since the unseasonal freeze in February 1931 killed millions of pounds of fish. Trout and redfish were extremely hard hit there.

Schliesing reported that many big trout were being caught in Laguna Madre, indicating that for some reason the fighting sport fish were moving in from other areas. He pointed out that the smaller trout would be those produced since the historic freeze.

Biologist Simmons reported that a series of northers had whipped fresh water into the more or less land-locked Laguna thus reducing the salinity of the farflung lagoon. Simmons reported that recurring northers or heavy rains would be necessary to prevent a possible late summer kill in the Laguna where the salt content of the water oftentimes creates a July and August hazard.

Another report on better coastal fishing came from Game Warden M. B. (Pug) Mullinax who patrols a large coastal area while working out of the local Commission headquarters. He said that when the weather conditions permitted, trout are hitting "like the old days."

West Texas Peace Officers To Meet

SAN ANTONIO, May 30.—A large delegation of West Texas police officers will attend the Texas Police Association convention here June 15-17.

TPA President Roy Lay, police chief at Corpus Christi, announced today plans were complete for the convention. He expects the meeting to attract "more than 250" police officers.

"One of the largest delegations will come from the West Texas area," Lay added.

The convention will feature four panel discussions and speeches by 17 leading experts in the law-enforcement field.

Almost every police specialty will be covered. Subjects include a panel discussion on the recent Waco tornado, burglary, auto theft, juvenile delinquency, police relations with the press, traffic, disaster control and others.

The subjects will be covered by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from Texas and Washington, college faculty members and leading Texas municipal and Department of Public Safety officers.

The annual convention will be the 54th held by the Texas Police Association, which has only one aim: to improve the caliber of police work in Texas.
