The Gay Philosopher

WE'RE SUPPOSED to get 4.5 inches of rain in June as compared with 1.7 last year during the same month, according to a new forecasting service up at the First National Bank.

The forecast service is provided by the local bank by the First National Bank of Houston. In a letter to the local bank, the service was explained as follows:

"It's one of the finest weather-forecast services we have ever run across and we've arranged for you to get it every month. The service is furnished by the National Weather Institute, one of the nation's most authoritative sources of weather information. It is used nation-wide by many industries whose operations are affected by weather conditions.

"You might be interested to know that the man who founded the company was meteorologist on General Eisenhower's staff during World War II. His weather predictions set the date for D-Day and the invasion of Normandy.

"While the service does not claim 100 per cent accuracy on day-to-day temperatures and rainfall, it does have a record of 80 per cent accuracy on weather trends for an area. A wet spell or cold wave can be anticipated well in advance, and this information can be of value to many of your customers."

The forecast for the month has been framed and is hanging just inside the front door of the bank. There's a wet spell forecast for the period from June 5 to 9. Mild weather and rain are forecast again from June 16 to 25. It's very interesting, and the local bank will be happy to have you drop by and look it over.

THE FAIRLY HIGH wind of the past few days has taken a few hats off and pitched them around a bit. We were driving down the street yesterday and our hat flew off, out of the car, and about two blocks down the street before we caught up with it again.

Mr. E. L. Jackson, the utility company man, had a kind of a believe-it-or-not experience. He was walking down near the front door of the Victor Hotel. The wind picked up his hat and placed it on top of the marquee over the front door. For a dime, Mr. Jackson was able to obtain the services of a youngster to climb up and fetch his hat.

Dr. E. H. RAMSEY, one of Cisco's representatives in the Korean fighting, telephoned his sister, Mrs. Ted Waters, from Tokyo last evening. He reported that all was well on the other side of the world and that he is getting his copies of The Press regularly. He hopes to be home for Christmas. Has been there for several months now.

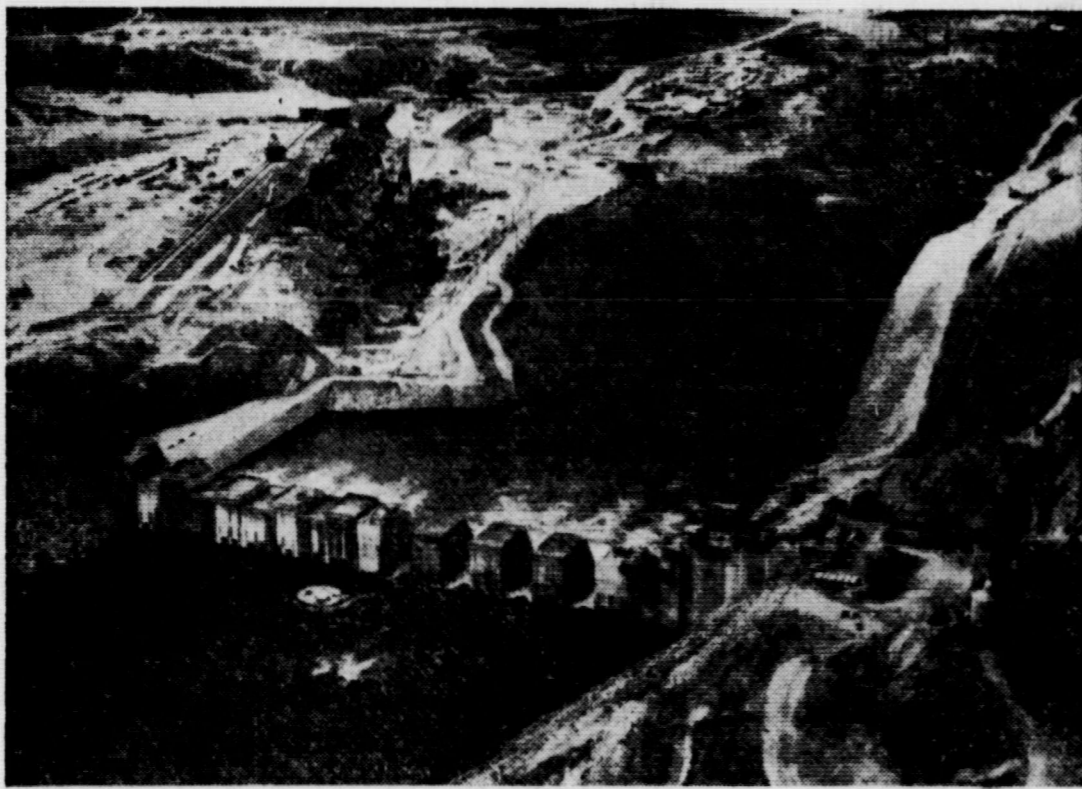

HOME FROM THE Greenland country are Mr. and Mrs. Ely Black. He's in the Air Force and has been stationed there for the past 18 months or so. Mrs. Black, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. Ball, was with her husband in Greenland.

They started home recently on a heated train and by the time their train got to Cisco, the heat had turned to air-conditioning. They're on 30-day leave before he reports for a new assignment.

THANKS TO SOMEBODY for a big box of apricots, plums, squash and onions that we found on our front porch the other day. Would be glad to know who left same. Excellent eating. . . Today's another birthday for the Rev. E. H. Lightfoot, the First Methodist pastor. . . District Lions are still talking about the Cisco orchestra that provided music in the lobby of the Baker Hotel at Mineral Wells all afternoon recently. The orchestra was composed of Ray Judia, Ken Russ and Travis Farmer of Cisco. . . Mr. Con Collins reports that their Memorial Day weekend trip to Rogers, Arkansas, was very interesting. They saw a lot of pretty country.

MR. ROBERT Clinton has returned for the weekend after enrolling for graduate study at the UofT in Austin. He's impressed with the school. The study rooms are all air conditioned.

Young Musicians Provide Program At Rotary Lunch

Four year old Joe Crowder and his nine year old sister, Phyllis Crowder, entertained Rotarians with a group of novelty songs at the meeting of the club held Thursday in the Hotel Victor dining room. They were accompanied by their father, Cecil Crowder.

The youthful entertainers, popular on jamboree programs in this area, sang hillbilly and popular tunes to the accompaniment of a guitar played by their father.

Joe started the program by singing "Don't Let the Stars Get In Your Eyes." Phyllis and Joe then sang, "Doggie In the Window," with Phyllis taking the lead. Joe sang two numbers, "Here Rattler" and "Too Old To Cut the Mustard Anymore." Phyllis and Joe teamed up to sing "Knot Hole," and Joe ended the program by singing "Your Cheatin' Heart."

The young entertainers have appeared on a number of programs in the area and on several radio stations. W. B. Wright was in charge of the program. He was aided in the presentation by A. B. Butler.

President Con Collins announced that J. J. Porter, recently appointed postmaster, had been approved by the board of directors as a new member and that he would be welcomed into the club at the next meeting.

Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians Harrel Brown, O. T. Daugherty and E. W. Berry of Abilene and Clyde Owen of Graham. Another visitor was Mrs. E. W. Berry of Abilene.

The series of sermons will be delivered during the morning services each Sunday. The public has been invited to attend all services at the church.

Red Cross Will Handle Overseas Messages For Service Personnel

Effective June 1, the American Red Cross has been authorized by the Departments of the Army and Air Force to relay through their rapid communications death messages involving immediate families of overseas servicemen of these two branches, Rev. Otto Marshall, home service chairman for the Eastland County Chapter, announced today.

Formerly, the Red Cross could send death messages to servicemen via these rapid facilities only if leave for the serviceman, which the family had requested, was denied.

Provision has also been made that all of these death notifications contain complete information as to the time and cause of death, welfare of the remaining family, whether leave is being requested, and any other relevant facts. Whenever possible, the message is given in person to the serviceman by the Red Cross Field Director at his base, to help him meet the shock of distressing news.

Since November, 1950, the Army and Air Force have allowed the transmittal of birth messages by rapid transit, but these messages do not have priority. The Navy makes its rapid communications system directly available to Navy, Marine, and Coast Guard families for sending emergency communications, as well as birth messages for its overseas personnel.

Reporting and communications service is a charter responsibility of the American Red Cross, Marshall says. The Red Cross provides the link between servicemen and their families when regular communication facilities fail, helping to reestablish direct contact, and to provide counsel whenever it is needed. Red Cross furnishes specific information when requested by the military.

To carry out this responsibility Red Cross Home Service maintains 24-hour coverage, thus insuring prompt assistance with reports and requests for reports in urgent situations involving servicemen and their families.

Rev. Marshall pointed out that one of the most misunderstood phases of Red Cross is its inability to grant emergency leave to servicemen. This prerogative rests solely with the military. When requested by a soldier's commanding officer to verify certain facts, the Red Cross can use its vast network of chapters and field directors to obtain necessary information, but the decision whether or not leave is granted must be made by the commanding officer.

It was stressed that all Shriners, regardless of the Temple they belong to, were invited to attend the meeting.

Dr. Carlyon To Conclude Series Of Talks Tonight

Dr. James T. Carlyon will conclude his series of sermons at First Methodist Church Friday at 8 p. m. He will base his sermon on the letter of St. Paul to the Philippians.

During the week he has discussed the Letters of St. Paul and the book of Acts. The congregations have increased with each service, and the close attention given indicates the fine appreciation of the congregation for each discussion.

The pastor will conclude the week's meeting Sunday, speaking at 10:50 a. m. service on "The Plague of Complacency," and the final sermon at 8 p. m. on the "Secret of Inward Strength." There will be no services on Saturday.

The pastor and delegates along with many visitors leave Wednesday for the annual conference in Fort Worth. S. H. Nance and O. L. Stamey are the official delegates. Others who plan to attend the entire session are Mrs. Lightfoot, Mrs. John Shertzer, Mrs. L. W. Seymour, Mrs. Nance, Mrs. Stamey, John Lightfoot and Joe Stamey.

Both teams are entered in the American Legion baseball league and will play in the conference schedule for the right to represent the district in the state meet.

The Indians defeated Mineral Wells 11-9 in a game here last week. They meet two times in conference play.

The Little League make up game scheduled for tonight was postponed in order to give the field to the Indians.

Prices for admission to the game tonight were set at 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

Ozark Quartet To Be On Jamboree Program Saturday

The Stamps Ozark Quartet, popular radio and concert artists, will join the Kendrick Quartet and other popular area performers in a two and a half hour show at the regular Saturday night Cisco Jamboree to be held this week at the football stadium.

Members of the Cisco Volunteer Fire Department were selling tickets at a fast clip and indications were that a large crowd would be on hand for the performance.

The change in sites of the show from the city hall auditorium to the football field was decided on because of the extra seating. Admission charges were set at 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

Fly And Mosquito Menace Drawing Complaints Here

Mayor G. C. Rosenthal reported today that there are too many flies and mosquito breeding places in Cisco and he asked citizens to help in a campaign to rid the city of the pests by eliminating the breeding places.

The recent city-wide cleanup campaign was a success, "but we failed to eliminate the fly and mosquito breeding places," he said. "Let's work together to eliminate these carriers of disease. Let's have our city free of these pests as the polo season nears."

Mr. Rosenthal said there has been a number of complaints filed at the city hall about chicken pens and fish ponds in the city limits. He noted that the areas would be inspected soon and that city ordinances in these instances would be enforced.

A PRECEDENT—It was established by a hotel in Detroit which installed this escalator from street to lobby. Five young ladies were quick to take advantage of this "first" by visiting the Sheraton Cadillac and helping themselves to a ride.

The school will be held under the supervision of local members, assisted by two specialists in the work assigned to work here by the Sunday School Department of Baptist churches.

Farms Feel Need On Rainfall Soon

Eastland County farmers who would like to plant wheat this fall for the first time in the past three years have been asked to make applications for new grower allotments at the PMA office at the courthouse, Supervisor E. E. Powell reported today.

Under the allotment program for the coming year, those who have planted wheat during the past three years will not need to make application for acreage. Others will need to apply for the new grower allotments. The applications must be made during June.

Mr. Powell said that the 1954 quota for the county is expected to be known in the near future.

Eastland County farmers already have planted some 3,000 acres of castor beans this spring. Mr. Powell reported. This compares with some 3,300 acres planted last year. This year's total is expected to be about the same as last year.

The PMA office has castor bean seed for sale at 15 cents per pound. Support price for castor beans is nine cents per pound.

Most of the country's peanut acreage has been or is being planted, Mr. Powell said. Peanut seed is comparatively scarce at this time, and the seed is selling from 23 to 25 cents per pound.

Most farm areas are beginning to need rain. A rain in the next few days would provide adequate moisture to finish the planting of peanuts and grain crops and would materially benefit crops now up to a good stand.

Eastland County orchards have a good crop in prospect, a survey showed. Apricots, plums and early peaches are beginning to move to market. Vegetables are fairly plentiful.

Ruth Beaty Will Be Presented In Recital Sunday

The Cisco Junior College Department of Music will present Miss Ruth Beaty, vocalist, in a program at the First Methodist Church Sunday at 4 p. m. Miss Beaty will be assisted by Johnny Turner.

Miss Beaty is a second year student at the school and has received her voice instruction from Robert Clinton, head of the music department of the school.

Turner is a freshman student at Cisco High School, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Turner. The program consists of four parts with Miss Beaty featured in three of the parts. Young Turner will play the accompaniment for her and will be featured in the other part of the program in Piano solos.

For the first part of the program Miss Beaty will sing Danza, Danza, Fanciulla Gentile by Durante; Vergin, Tutta Amor, also by Durante and Voce di donna od'angelo from "Gioconda" by Ponchielli. In the second part of the program she will sing Romance by Debussy; Les Berceaux by Faure and Habanera from "Carmen" by Bizet.

Johnny Turner will be featured in the third part. He will play Prelude and Fugue in C Minor by Bach; Sonata op. 13, first movement by Beethoven and Ritual Fire Dance by De Falle.

For the final part of the program Miss Beaty will sing Rest Sweet Nymphs by Worlock; Wall-lie by Scott; He's Got the Whole World In His Hands by Kerby; and Miranda by Hageman.

The public was invited to attend the program.

Mrs. Ed Green has returned to her home in Kilgore after a visit with her mother, Mrs. S. C. Wright.

Mrs. C. A. Cannon of Rising Star is expected for a weekend visit with Mrs. S. C. Wright.

Joyce Jenkins of Cisco is a patient in the Hillcrest Hospital in Waco. Her room number is 316.

ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT

Government officials, both elective and appointive, almost always pay lip service to the cause of economy. They advocate cutting government cost wherever possible and giving the taxpayers 100 cents worth of value for each dollar spent. In the year, however, these fine words have already been backed up with deeds.

Now the situation has changed very greatly. The administration and the Congress really seem to mean business when they say they want to cut waste and unnecessary spending, balance the budget, and reduce taxes. The only major point of difference concerns method and precedence. One group in Congress believes that taxes should be slashed first and government should trim its sails to fit the wind thereafter. The other, and probably the larger, group believes a balanced budget should precede tax reduction. The President is firmly on the side of the latter group.

The President's tax message to the nation, made on the 19th of May, was a clear and detailed expression of his views. His general philosophy on taxation is set out in these words: "We believe that... present taxes are too high. We think they are becoming a real threat to individual initiative. We believe at the same time that no citizen, once satisfied that the government is operating with honesty and economy... wants any tax-saving at the price of essential national security."

The program Mr. Eisenhower outlined has several phases. He advocates that the present excess profits tax be extended for six months beyond the June 30th expiration date that current corporation income tax rates should be maintained and not reduced for the time being; that the projected increase of one-half of one percent in the oblige security tax be postponed; and that the proposed 10 per cent reduction in individual income taxes should be effected, but not before January 1st.

Many will disagree with details of this program. A strong case can be made, for instance, that eliminating or substantially reducing the excess profits tax would in time increase governmental revenues, by stimulating business spending and expansion, and many regard the excess taxes as an unfair and inequitable levy. Such considerations as these will be weighed pro and con when Congress goes to work on the President's proposals.

However, the tax message as a whole was well received by Congressional leaders. A typical majority view came from Speaker of the House Martin, who observed that the President's stand is necessary because of "the need he inherited," and predicted that "the budget will be balanced next year and the people will get tax relief."

There is still another phase of fiscal policy which the Administration is working on now. The tax system has grown like Topsy, in a helter-skelter way, and it is full of inequalities, injustices, and plain economic absurdities. There has long been a need for an exhaustive study of the whole system, in order to lay the ground work for an orderly and rational overhaul. A group of qualified experts has been assigned to make a study. This is a long-term proposition of the highest importance.

RED CROSS --

Recent Army and Air Force rulings now allow emergency leave to a serviceman whose wife or minor child has died if the family requests leave. For deaths of other members of his family, however, it must be established that additional problems exist in the home which only his presence can alleviate.

As part of its Home Service program, the Red Cross can also help establish the facts when there is serious illness in a serviceman's family and an emergency exists requiring his presence at home. This reporting service also covers emergency family situations requiring the serviceman to be home for more than the normal 30 day leave period, when he is requesting reassignment and deferment from overseas service, or discharge for dependency or hardship. In these latter situations, however, the serviceman himself normally must first apply.

In all of these instances, however, actual disposition of the serviceman's request rests with military authorities. The Red Cross confines its activities to gathering, verifying, and transmitting the necessary information.

Ever Thought of This?

... If you buy real estate without an abstract the chances are good that you will be required to furnish one when you sell or borrow money. It is customary for seller to furnish buyer with an abstract as he usually adds cost of same to the sale's price. So for many reasons all in your favor get an abstract and have it examined by your attorney when you buy real estate.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

At this time and for the next several months, hundreds of thousands of people will visit Washington. There are many, many interesting places and the Capitol, of course, is the center point.

To know the history of the Capitol gives inspiration, and there is much to be learned about it. For instance, few of us realize that in the War of 1812 the British occupied the City of Washington and took possession of the Capitol. The British Admiral Cockburn stood on the rostrum of the House of Representatives and shouted, "Shall this harbor of Yankee Democracy be burned? All for it will say Aye." Since the House was occupied by British troops, they voted unanimously to destroy the structure. Chairs, tables, books, and pictures were collected to kindle the fire, and soon the Capitol was in flames. Many historical treasures were lost, even though a downpour of rain came shortly thereafter and extinguished the fire.

President Jackson barely escaped assassination in the Rotunda of the Capitol in 1835 as he headed a funeral procession from the House Chamber. As he stepped up to speak, a man by the name of Lawrence aimed a pistol at him from about eight feet distance, but the pistol misfired. It is said that "Old Hickory" would have knocked his assailant down with his cane, but a young Naval Lieutenant beat him to it.

On the ground floor of the Capitol is a tomb that was built for George Washington, but his family decided not to use it for his resting place. Although Geo. Washington was not buried in the tomb, I occasionally stop by its doors and recall a prayer of the First President. I also think of it on occasions when I have stood by his grave at Mount Vernon, Virginia, and considered how appropriate is the prayer for our country today. Here is Washington's prayer:

"Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of Government, that there may be peace and justice at home, and that through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all of which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Visitors to Washington this past week who came by my office were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Middleton, and Mrs. Nell Middleton, of Abilene; Colonel and Mrs. Frank Jones, and Frank, Jr., from Mineral Wells; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Fudge, their daughter Patricia, and son David, from Abilene, who are here for the graduation of David from the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Also visiting were Lt. Errol Fry, who is stationed with the Air Force here in Washington, and his brother, John, from Houston, both born and reared in my hometown of Anson, Mr. M. E. Shell and son from Gorman; and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, Eastland; Mrs. E. G. Hampton, Clyde; Mrs. L. E. Dudley, Abilene; Miss Eudora Hawkins, Abilene; and Mrs. John J. Perry, Sweetwater, who are in town for the meetings of the American Federation of Women's Clubs being held this past week in Washington.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the Texas Medical Association

Among the medical specialties is one called "internal medicine." What is internal medicine and what is an internist, and what's the difference between an internist and an intern?

Internal medicine is the branch of medicine that deals with the diagnosis of diseases of the organs inside the body like the heart, kidneys, or stomach and with treatment not involving surgery. An internist is a doctor who limits his practice to internal medicine. An intern is a doctor who has completed his university education for a medical degree, who may have been licensed to practice medicine, but who before beginning the private practice of medicine is undergoing a period of hospital training under the supervision of more experienced doctors.

Internal medicine is a vital area because correct diagnosis is the cornerstone upon which treatment must be built. Medical authorities agree that of the many branches of medicine, diagnosis is one of the hardest to master. However, the internist is not just a diagnostician, as he is sometimes mistakenly called. Diagnosis is only a part of his work, the other being treatment.

The specialty of internal medicine is more closely related to general practice than any other field. The general practitioner can make a diagnosis and give treatment in most human illnesses. At time, however, he calls in as a consultant the internist to confirm a diagnosis or to decide on a suitable course of treatment.

The internist takes university and hospital training in diagnosis and nonsurgical treatment, probably is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine, and perhaps engages in research giving him more insight into diseases of the heart or other vital parts of the body. He learns to perform examinations using complicated equipment like the electrocardiograph and basal metabolism machine and to interpret other unusual laboratory studies. With extra experience and special equipment, he gains skill so that he is able to diagnose and treat the less common, as well as the common, diseases.
