The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

WELL, THE WOLF hunt that you have been hearing about is almost over. John Maloney, the writer assigned to the article by True Magazine, says that he has a stenographer's notebook full of material for sorting out while writing the story in the cool of his mountain retreat in North Carolina Blue Ridge territory. He also says that he wishes some of his new-made friends here in Cisco and other West Texas towns could go up there to enjoy the fangy mountain air, the trout streams, and the hospitality of the mountain people that he likes so well.

JOHN'S BIGGEST thrill on the hunt, we think, took place Thursday afternoon. Tommy Shedd, his cousin-driver-assistant, was with him on a wolf chase where greyhounds became exhausted by the heat and gave up. But not Tommy, who is used to hunting Smoky Mountain bear and wild Russian boar, now prolifically breeding in the Cherokee National Forest of East Tennessee. "I want that wolf's ears," Tommy declared, pulled off his shirt and took off.

The wolf — not yet full grown — obviously was tired. After a mile of chase Tom came on him trying to dig his weary way into an abandoned fox den. The Tennessee hunter came up from behind, grabbed the wolf's neck and legs in an iron grip, and waited until others lagging behind on the chase came up to help him tie the critter up. Proudly, he came back into camp with the wolf over his shoulder, to the amazement of John and all the other hunters. Those ears are on their way back to Tennessee at this writing.

WEDNESDAY JOHN and Tommy were guests on the ranch of Louis J. Ackers about 15 miles southwest of Albany. Using some of Mr. Ackers 34 registered Walker hounds, they bagged two good-sized wolves, and, incidentally, came on the carcass of an ewe killed by these same wolves the night before.

On this hunt they were accompanied by Mr. Ozzie Sweet, the photographer sent out from New York to illustrate John's article. He was able to get scores of photographs of the chase in color, as well as close-ups of the chase and kill in both cases.

As a side note, it's interesting to know that Mr. Sweet is official photographer for Arthur Godfrey, who was a "cub" in radio when John was a cub on the Washington Post in Washington, D. C.

Art and John at that time shared an apartment with the late Emie Pyle, and John says that Washington has seen nothing like the ruckus those three kicked up at that time when they were considerably younger than now. Since Arthur is in the hospital just now, Sweet could take the assignment to fly down and do the pictures. When he left Cisco Thursday evening to take the plane from Dallas, he was on his way back to New York "to photograph Arthur's operation."

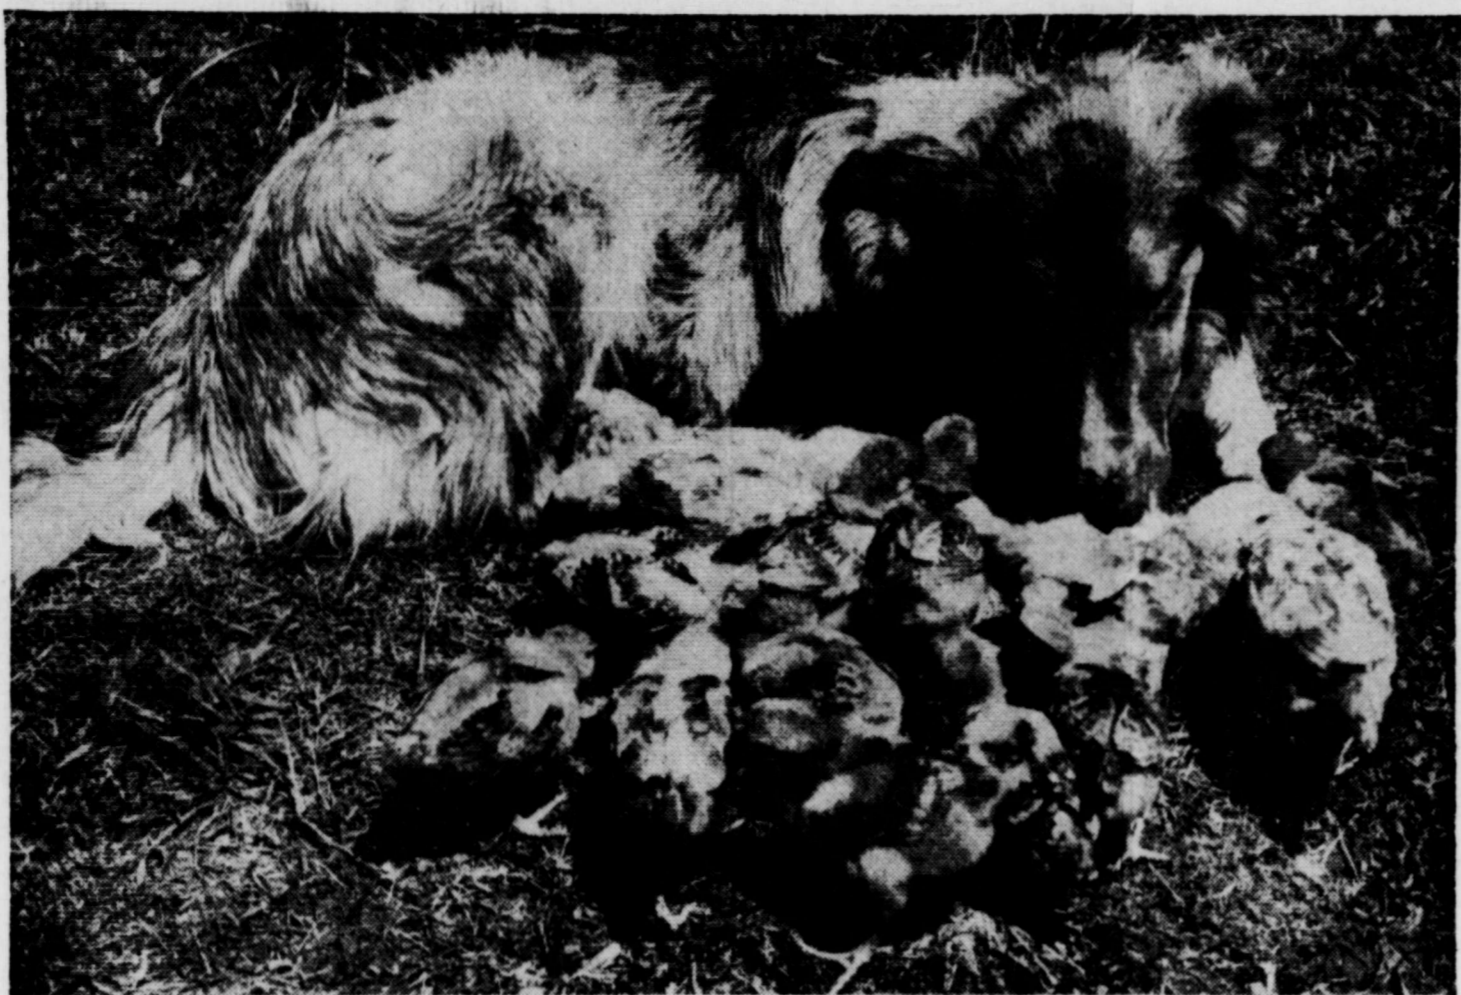

FROM CISCO JOHN and Tommy, accompanied by Randy Steffen — who has been John's right hand man in working out the wolf hunts — will go to Arizona to do a story on the Havasupai Indians who live on the floor of a branch of the Grand Canyon. They plan to live with the Indians for a week or so, with arrangements being made by the National Park Service, and write a story about their retention of their ancient arts and crafts, particularly in the tanning of deer and antelope hides and their skills in leather work.

They will return by way of Cisco, and there is a possibility that John will do one more story, based on a leading institution in Cisco, before he goes back into the mountains.

THIS ISN'T THE Letters to the Editor Column, but we thought you might be interested in the following note we got yesterday: Bill Berry's Hacienda June 6, 1953

Dear Mr. Editor:
Tom and I can't leave Cisco

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS—Lady, a dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Vanzandt in Dial, Ga., permits her new playmates to swarm all over her. Since those friends are baby chickens, the relationship is not a usual one. The chicks were purchased for a setting hen who just couldn't be bothered. So Lady, normally a cattle dog, stepped in and took them over.

Indians Defeat Mineral Wells In ABC Field Game

With every member of the team coming in for his share of glory, the American Legion Indians defeated the Mineral Wells 75ers 15-5 at ABC Club Field in a non-conference game Friday night.

Don Emsley was the heavy hitter of the game when he clouted out three safeties and made three runs in five times at bat. Don Greenhaw hit safely twice and made two runs on three official trips to the plate. The other seven members of the team got lone hits.

Dizzy Howell, Indian pitcher, was given the credit for the win by allowing the 75ers five hits. He struck out seven enemy batters. The Friday victory gave Howell four wins in four starts, and kept his average for the season at 1.000.

The two teams were even at the beginning of the fourth inning, 4-4. The visitors made a run in the top of the fifth to put them ahead but their lead was short lived. The Indians came back in the bottom half of the fifth to score four runs to bring the score to 8-5. A big seven run sixth gave the Indians their 15 tallies.

The Friday night game was the final pre-conference game for the Indians, who open district play Tuesday afternoon in Stephenville.

VA said the pamphlet discusses what a veteran should look for in selecting the neighborhood, the lot and the house itself.

It also covers the costs of home ownership, the contract of purchase, final settlement or closing the loan, and what to expect before and after moving into a new home.

The responsibilities of the veteran home owner and what the VA can and cannot do to assist the veteran are also discussed.

A copy of the pamphlet will be sent to each veteran applying for a certificate of eligibility for a GI loan. Veterans also may obtain a copy by writing the nearest VA regional office. There is no charge for the pamphlet.

Greenhaw Leads Indian Sluggers In Early Games

Don Greenhaw, Indian pitcher and outfielder, led the Cisco Indians at the plate with a hitting average of .500 for the season as the local American Legion entry completed its pre-conference schedule Friday night. Greenhaw had hit safely 10 times on 20 trips to the plate.

Jackson, Indian first baseman, was in second place with a season average of .419. He had hit safely 13 times in 31 times at bat. Dizzy Howell, the leading Indian pitcher, was in third place with a season average of .353. Howell had six hits in 17 times at bat.

The Indians open conference play at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Stephenville against the favored Blue Jays. The Blue Jays have won the district for the past six years; have won two bi-district championships and one regional championship. Stephenville has one of the best teams in the history of American Legion baseball there.

The two losses were to the Stephenville team who downed the Indians 7-6 and 10-0 in the two games so far this season. In the first game Greenhaw relieved Howell who had gotten behind 4-6. The Indians tied the game in the sixth with Greenhaw on the mound, but Stephenville pushed across a run in the seventh to win, and give Greenhaw the loss.

CITY COMMISSION TO DISCUSS GAS DEAL, STUDY PHONE RATES

The City Commission will have a full program of business matters to consider at its semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night at the City Hall, Mayor G. C. Rosenthal reported Saturday.

Boy Scout Camp Opens On Monday For This Section

Monday will be a happy day for Boy Scouts all over eight counties of the Comanche Trail Council, which has headquarters in Brownwood, when they gather at the council summer camp site on Brady Creek in San Saba County. The camp is located on the Gibbons Ranch 16 miles south of the town of Richland Springs.

Rated as one of the best Boy Scout camps in the three states that composes the ninth region — Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico — Camp Billy Gibbons is the ideal wilderness Boy Scout camp with wild turkey, deer and numerous small animals in the area. Many Scouts see their first wild deer and turkey in the open. Swimming water is spring fed and changes constantly, making the swimming hole the type the Scouts' dads and granddads remember so well.

The camp this year is a flood of flowers and greenery. Drinking water is furnished by a deep bored well that contains one of the finest limestone types of water, stored in a large concrete tank and treated for further precautions. The camp has a large mess hall that will accommodate 350 Scouts at one time. It has an office, canteen, first aid room and refrigeration room. A large 16 x 120 foot ranch style porch is now under construction.

The first meal to be served will be Monday at 6 p. m. and the last for each of the two-week periods will be Sunday at 12 noon. Church services will be held at 9 a. m. Sunday and the final awards and goodbyes will be said at the noon meal.

OIL MEN CALLED PIONEERS IN WEST TEXAS CONSERVATION

ABILENE, June 6.—Oil men are West Texas' pioneer conservationists. With secondary recovery and pressure maintenance practices, the oil industry has brought to the surface millions of barrels that otherwise would have been lost eternally.

So declares an article in the current issue of the West Texas Today, magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

In West Texas Today, the article reads, conservation is of utmost importance whether it results in the saving of crude oil or of water and soil.

Results attained or expected from a few secondary recovery projects in West Texas were described.

These have or will result in production of 14,511,829 barrels that would have been lost, it was stated.

At the current average price for oil and the State production tax rate, that would result in payment of $1,667,844 into the State treasury in production taxes and $4,534,947 to owners of land, computed at one-eighth royalty, the article noted. These figures are based on an average market price of $2.50 per barrel.

West Texas Today's article stated:

"Everyone who has informed himself knows that the oil industry contributes most of the income of the State of Texas that finances the many services of government. Without the industry's contribution Texas children could not enjoy a fraction of the educational advantages they have. Education is only one of the many services State government gives the people.

"West Texans who produce crude oil from the earth's depths and the farmers and ranchers who produce food and fibre from its surface have one all-important problem in common; that is, to develop and practice methods to conserve or to replenish the basic natural resources of which they are the stewards."

The figures used in the article were based on a recent publication of the Texas Railroad Commission. It is entitled "A Survey of Secondary Recovery and Maintenance Operations in Texas to 1932."

Robert Mancill was to return home Sunday after spending the week in Dallas visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Mancill. Mr. and Mrs. Mancill were to accompany him on his return to Cisco.

Flower Growing Trains Defense Garden Leaders

Vine Ripened Tomatoes Can Be Grown on Flower Garden Fence.

To consider the part home vegetable gardens should play in the national defense program, the National Garden Advisory Committee, on which all national amateur garden organizations are represented, held a meeting at the call of the U. S. department of agriculture.

In the existing cold war, it found, there is no food emergency that calls for an all-out campaign comparable to Victory Gardens in the last war. But the committee recommended that a plan for such a campaign be prepared and put into effect immediately if "hot war" begins.

Meanwhile every effort was urged to increase the number of skilled amateur gardeners capable of being leaders and teachers, when needed. The government was asked to promote amateur gardening, with emphasis on lawns and flowers as well as vegetables, since skill and experience in growing flowers can be turned to the production of vegetables when necessary.

The most satisfactory garden program for any home which has the space produces both flowers and vegetables. While flowers in the average home garden are rarely equal to the quality of those sold by florists, they are produced in great abundance at far less cost. But home grown vegetables can and usually do surpass in quality those sold in markets. The principal reason for this is their freshness.

Home gardeners can select varieties which excel in tenderness and flavor, but do not possess the ability to "stand shipping," which commercial varieties must have. Home grown vegetables can and should be cooked within an hour after they are harvested, which brings them to the table with flavor at its height. This is true of all vegetables, even such staples as potatoes and cabbage, but it is especially true of those that contain sugar.

Some space no matter how small, should be set aside for vegetables. If the number of varieties to be grown must be limited, choose those which cannot be found in markets, and those whose flavor deteriorates rapidly.

Snap beans, picked before seeds begin to form, are a rare treat. Carrots as large as a little finger, are like no other carrots in flavor. Peas must be picked at exactly the right degree of maturity and cooked within an hour, for supreme quality. Beets as large as golf balls, cooked soon after harvest, are a different vegetable. Italian squash are delicious when two days old, as large as your thumb, and cooked quickly after picking; but the next day even if kept in the refrigerator, they have lost their flavor.

These quality vegetables will delight you, as will home grown sweet corn, cooked within half an hour after picking, if you have room to grow it. A variety of salad greens also should have a place in every garden where there is room, and always tomatoes, so that you can serve fruits which ripened in the sun, are vegetables which will make your tossed salad a daily favorite with the whole family.

RECORD-BREAKING GAS MILEAGE

for the driving YOU do!

This year's Chevrolet brings you the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And it's the kind of everyday economy that saves you money wherever and however you drive!

Inch along through heavy traffic. Roll up the miles in steady highway cruising. Long trips or short errands, byroads or boulevards, you get far more miles per gallon in this great new Chevrolet.

New high-compression power is the reason. Both the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in Powerglide* models and the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine in gearshift models—deliver more power on less gasoline. Acceleration and hill-climbing ability are greater, fuel consumption is lower!

This is the kind of economy that counts the most—important gasoline savings for the driving you do, together with lower over-all costs of upkeep. And along with it, you enjoy all the other advantages that only the new Chevrolet offers you. Come in and see for yourself!

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission available on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models only.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Bobbie McWhorter, Miss Carolyn Crofts, and Miss Anita Carlin.

Martha Ziehr Becomes Bride Of Emmett Rich

Miss Martha Ziehr became the bride of Emmett Rich in a double ring ceremony performed May 30 in the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ziehr, with the Rev. D. M. Duke officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and close friends. The house was decorated for the occasion with seasonal cut flowers.

The bride wore an ice blue or-gandy dress with white accessories. She carried out the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed and blue.

Miss Betty Williams was maid of honor and Carvel Reed was best man. Wedding music was played by Miss Kathleen Rich.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The table was laid with a white lace cloth. Miss Mary Gill ladeled the punch and Miss Patsy Gage served the wedding cake.

Ford Compliments Dealers In Story Of Firm's Growth

The part played by Ford dealers since Ford Motor Company was first founded on June 16, 1903, in helping to put America on wheels, is told for the first time in pictures and story in a special issue of "The Ford Dealer" magazine out this month.

More than 100,000 copies of the pocket size book — over four times its normal circulation — have been ordered by Ford dealers throughout the United States for distribution to their friends.

"Known as 'The Ford Dealer Story,' this special issue tells how Ford dealers helped change America from a horse-and-buggy country to the world's most motor-minded nation," L. W. Smead, Ford Division general sales manager, explained.

"It contains 112 pages of pictures and text collected during the past nine months by staff writers and researchers who interviewed pioneer dealers from coast to coast. And it is the first time automobile history has been written strictly from the standpoint of dealers who actually lived the stories that are told."

The story opens in 1903 with the first Ford dealer, Billy Hughson, of San Francisco, whose original territory franchise covered the entire west coast and the Hawaiian Islands. Hughson bought Henry Ford's cars even before the company was incorporated, willing to take a chance that the horseless carriages Ford would build had a future.

Starting with the machinists, blacksmiths, livermen and hardware merchants who made up the bulk of the first dealers, the story tells how they created a new kind of business — the automobile business.

The enthusiasm, imagination and hard work with which they taught a gee-hawing public to manage a car or truck is told in first-hand recollections of pioneer dealers now in their eighties, or by their sons who grew up in the business.

Mexico, will be ushers.

Both Miss Agnew and Mr. Kincaid are graduates of Cisco High School and Cisco Junior College. Miss Agnew is a senior at Hardin-Simmons University, and Mr. Kincaid is a senior at Abilene Christian College.

The couple plans to send out no formal invitations, but issued an invitation to all their friends to attend the wedding rites.

Presbyterian Circle Has Regular Meeting

Circle One of the First Presbyterian Church held its regular meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, June 2, in the home of Mrs. H. T. Wilson with the chairman, Mrs. Glenn Deitaker, presiding.

Following the business session, the Special Emphasis report on the church's General Assembly was given by Miss Helen Crawford. Mrs. A. E. Jamison taught the lesson, "Jesus the Mighty Miracle Worker," based on passages from the first, second, and third chapters of the book of Mark.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting to a guest, Mrs. Gail Jones of Pecos, and Mesdames Bill Bragg, Joe Comingore, Glenn Deitaker, Grady James, E. A. Jamison, James McCracken, and Charles Spears, Miss Helen Crawford, and the hostess, Mrs. Wilson.

Intermediate G.A.'s Meet On Wednesday

The Bell Intermediate G.A.'s of the First Baptist Church met in regular session Wednesday, June 3, at the church.

Linda Cheves called the meeting to order and Charlotte Collins read the secretary's report. The watch word, allegiance, and star ideals were repeated and Marita Webb led in prayer. A program from the magazine Tell was given with Maedean Collins, Marita Webb, Drucilla Townsend, Linda Bennie, and Charlotte Collins taking part.

The group voted to have a slumber party at the home of Mrs. Whitmire and the meeting closed with sentence prayers.

Those attending were Maedean Collins, Marita Webb, Drucilla Townsend, Linda Cheves, Linda Bennie, Charlotte Collins, and Mrs. Whitmire.

Mrs. R. M. Dolf and son, Rickie, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were expected Saturday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lockhart.

Texan Answers New Yorker With Magazine Story

Texas-born George Sessions Perry reports he now has time to answer a New Yorker's ten-year-old question, "Why Doesn't Texas Join the Union?"

His reply is an article of that title in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, where he says he doesn't feel bad about taking so long because it's been a good question since 1800.

What has brought the question back into focus, he advises, is Edna Ferber's recent novel, "Giant," which has laid a red, smoking iron a little deeper than a "hair brand" on Texas' millionaires.

Perry comments that he never expected to see the day when he would be defending millionaires, but "we less-efulent Texans have long considered the high jinks of our millionaires and the stories growing therefrom as part of the free entertainment due every man, woman and child in the state."

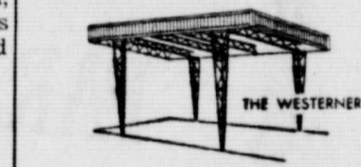

Pointing out that there are two schools of Texas millionaires, the author says there is, of course, the lunatic fringe of a few goons whom no self-respecting Texan would let into the house, "but most of us have long since come to know that there's about as much of them by volume in the Texas millionaire herd as there is alcohol in beer."

The other, in general, are found to have stood up pretty well when compared with new millionaires from other quarters. In the connection, Perry recalls the conduct of the Florida real-estate operators, the California gold rush participants and the Hollywood movie people.

Perry examines Texas history, the circumstances under which it joined the United States and the tremendous expansion in all directions in recent years. "Now show me a set of normal human beings who can do all that, do it so quickly, and keep from crowing just the least little bit every once in a while, and I'll furnish the astonished look," he promises. As to the question, "Why Doesn't Texas Join the Union?" Perry thinks perhaps the answer lies in the casual remark of an Oklahoman who said, "Looks like to me the question no longer is 'Why doesn't Texas join the Union?' The real news is: 'Isn't it nice that the United States finally joined Texas?'"

Ever Thought of This?

... If you buy real estate without an abstract the chances are good that you will be required to furnish one when you sell or borrow money. It is customary for seller to furnish buyer with an abstract as he usually adds cost of same to the sale's price. So for many reasons all in your favor get an abstract and have it examined by your attorney when you buy real estate.

Vets Questions And Answers

Q — I expect to graduate from law school under the Korean GI Bill. After I finish, would I be allowed to take further training on-the-job in a law office, for the study of clerkship?

A — You would be permitted to take this job training under the Korean GI Bill only if your State requires it as a condition that must be met before you may be admitted to the bar examination and to practice.

Q — I am the widow of a World War I veteran, and I have a daughter, age 20, who is in school. The VA has been paying us a pension that covers us both. My daughter is planning to get married and drop out of school. Will she still be entitled to a pension?

A — No. Under the law she may not be paid a pension after she marries or drops out of school, or both.

Q — I have been paying premiums on my GI insurance by having VA deduct the payments out of my monthly disability compensation check. My compensation has just been reduced so that it no longer covers the amount of the premium. Could VA continue to apply the premium payments, if I send in a check for the difference each month?

A — No. One of the requirements that must be met, for VA to pay premiums out of compensation, is that your monthly compensation pay be at least equal to the amount of the premium.

Q — I have a 20-year endowment GI insurance policy. I have elected to receive installment payments, after the endowment period is up. What would happen if I die before I receive all the payments, and I fail to name a beneficiary?

A — In such a case, the unpaid installments would be paid in one sum to your estate.

Bill Wooten of San Francisco, California, is expected Wednesday to spend a thirty day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wooten and other relatives.

without a heartfelt word of thanks to you and all the other friends we've made here who have made our stay in West Texas so interesting and profitable. When we first had letters from you, Bill and Bonny and Randy in New York, we seriously doubted we'd ever get wolves down here. You've got them, we now know, together with some of the finest folks we've ever encountered. Texans are real sports, and I won't laugh when I hear the traditional C. of C. spells from now on.

Here's an invitation to you and the other fellows who have hunted with us these past ten days. We've acutely got an overload of bears up near my lodge in North Carolina. I want you, the Throckmorton gang, Mr. Ackers and a few others to come up in October and help us get rid of a few of them. My cattle-raising neighbors are complaining that bears are worse than the drop in prices.

The North Carolina Game and Fish Commission, with whom I am working closely, cordially invites you to come see what we've got. We'll be expecting you — but be sure and bring your long woolens — for it's cold at that time of the year up in them thar hills.

Very sincerely,
