

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

MAYOR G. C. Rosenthal has received from Mayor Edgar Dean of Fort Worth a suggestion that Cisco and the rest of Texas join Fort Worth on next May 23rd in celebrating the 25th anniversary of our State song, "Texas Our Texas."

It was 25 years ago next May that the State Legislature adopted the song as the official State song. As an experiment, we asked the first six people we ran into the question, "What's our State song?" And all six of them answered, "The Eyes of Texas," which is the University of Texas song.

It seems fitting that we join Fort Worth in the proposition, Mr. Rosenthal says. Maybe we can arrange for our service clubs to have the state song rendered at their luncheons during the week of May 23rd.

FEBRUARY, by the way, has a lot of things to observe. Here are some of the events on the schedule:

- Feb. 4 — Kraut and Frankfurter Week.
- Feb. 7 — Boy Scout Anniversary Week until Feb. 13. Slogan for the week is "Forward on Liberty's Team."
- Feb. 9 — Birthday of the U. S. Weather bureau.
- Feb. 11 — Edison's birthday.
- Feb. 12 — Lincoln's birthday. Americanism Week begins.
- Feb. 14 — Valentine Day; Crime Prevention Week begins.
- Feb. 15 — Cherry Week begins.
- Feb. 16 — Anniversary of founding of American Legion, 1919.
- Feb. 17 — Suez canal opened on this date in 1867.
- Feb. 18 — P-TA organized in 1897.
- Feb. 20 — FFA Week.
- Feb. 21 — Beauty Salon Week, Brotherhood Week, Catholic Book Week and Lutheran Publicity Week.
- Feb. 22 — Washington's Birthday.
- Feb. 23 — Rotary Clubs established in 1905.
- Feb. 28 — First railroad chartered in U. S.

WE NEGLECTED to report that Mr. C. M. Townsley, who retired from the Humble Pipe Line Company recently, enjoyed a birthday party on Jan. 25. Among the presents he received was a large tin cup full of pencils and shoe strings. Guess he can now go into business... El Rancho Townsley now has 28 chinchillas — 14 males and 14 females... You'll be glad to know that Mr. Bob Cluck found the miniature football he lost recently.

A CLIPPING FROM the El Paso Times has been handed to us. It follows: "John Huffmyer, strong candidate for all-Border Conference basketball honors from New Mexico A&M College, continues his steady scoring pace and ranks among the leaders in the conference in individual scoring, field goal percentage and free throw percentage. Huffmyer has scored 60 field goals and 50 free throws for a 14.2 points average to rank fourth in individual scoring. His 50 percent shooting average from the field places him second in the conference and he has averaged 71.4 percent of his free throw attempts for tenth place in the conference.

"The smallest man in the starting lineup, Huffmyer is not only a great scoring threat, but he is also a terrific defensive player. In every game he is all over the floor, harrying the opposition at all times. Among his teammates, only Kenneth Dann, 6-8 center, leads Huffmyer on rebounds."

John Huffmyer, you'll remember, was a football and basketball star at Cisco Junior College. He's the nephew of the Roy Huffmyers.

COMES A NOTE to say the Band Parents of Abilene High School are sponsoring a Cavalcade of Talent at Rose Field House on Feb. 9. Acts of all kinds are being sought for the program. They're staging the show for the benefit of the band.

GIs May Pay Off Loans Without Penalty Charge

Veterans holding GI mortgages can make extra payments to their lenders at any time or can pay off the entire loan without a penalty charge, Veterans Administration announced today in response to numerous inquiries.

Scott B. Harrington, manager of VA's Dallas Regional Office, said that the minimum extra payment a veteran may make is at least the amount of one month's payment, or a flat $100. He added: "Veterans, who make extra payments, may have the extra principal re-applied later to regular payments, if the lender agrees, to keep his loan from going into default should the veteran later become hard-pressed for money."

Nazarene Church Observing Youth Week Program

The Church of the Nazarene is observing Youth Week this week, the Rev. D. M. Duke reported today, and plans for the local observance were worked out by the young people's society, of which Billy Duke is president.

The observance opened Monday night with a prayer meeting. Tuesday night was a "crusade for souls" event, and the mid-week prayer meeting will be directed by the young people tonight, with Joe Wayne Farrow as leader.

Lions And Rotarians Getting Ready For MOD Benefit Basketball Contest

It's still a question of who challenged who, but the Lions Club will play the Rotary Club in a March of Dimes benefit basketball game at the community gym Saturday night with no holds barred.

Rotary Club President W. H. McNally said that Rotarians had accepted the challenge of the Lions Club for the contest, and Lions Prexy George Davis said that the Lions had accepted a challenge from the Rotarians.

Both clubs are firmly convinced that W. E. (Dizzy) Dean, local March of Dimes chairman, threw them a curve by being the challenger in both cases.

Tickets will go on sale for the contest Wednesday and Thursday. The 50 cent price will admit purchaser to the Lion-Rotary game and the junior college Wranglerette-Midland Independents girls

March Of Dimes Continues To Get Campaign Funds

Cisco's March of Dimes campaign was still gaining today, Chairman W. E. Dean reported, after city firemen turned in $71 as the proceeds of a benefit dance Tuesday night at the Veterans Recreation Club. The club and Travis Farmer's orchestra donated their services for the benefit affair.

Fire Chief Pete Clements and a group of firemen were in charge of the dance.

The West Ward School sent in another $5.43 to add to the more than $120 they turned in last week. Other donations were acknowledged by Chairman Dean as follows:

pasture over the entire State. Many high quality calves and yearlings were run on these small grain pastures where cost of grain was much less than in the feed lot. Some of these cattle will go into feed lots for further finishing when taken off wheat pastures.

About 70 percent of the total or 90,000 had been on feed less than 3 months, with 27 percent or 35,000 head on feed 3 to 6 months and only 4,000 head on feed more than 6 months. Cattle on feed weighing less than 600 pounds estimated at 59,000 head, was 46 percent of the total. About 41,000 head on feed were in the 600-900 pound class with only 28,000 head over 900 pounds. About 85 percent of the total number on feed were expected to be marketed during the first 3 months of the year with slightly heavier January marketings than in either February or March.

The number of cattle on feed in the United States on January 1, 1954 was 9 percent smaller than a year ago, according to the Crop Reporting Board. The estimated number was 5,334,000 head, compared with 5,884,000 a year earlier and the 1948-52 average of 4,489,000 head. The number on feed in the North Central States was 10 percent below a year ago. In the 13 Western States, it was 8 percent smaller. The Corn Belt total on January 1 was estimated at 4,052,000 head—the second highest on record. The peak number was 4,488,000 on January 1, 1953. The West Corn Belt States declined 12 percent, while feeding in the East Corn Belt was only 2 percent below last year. Iowa, the leading feeding State, showed a 16 percent decrease while Nebraska, the second ranking feeding State this year, showed a 17 percent decrease. Illinois was down 8 percent, but the other eastern Corn Belt States showed increases ranging from 4 to 5 percent.

Animals Fed Low Quality Hay May Not Be Healthy

Farm losses resulting from last summer's prolonged drought may continue through the winter months unless livestock raisers guard against drought induced vitamin deficiencies in forage, the American Foundation for Animal Health warned today.

The Foundation said that hay from drought-stricken areas may have poor quality and may be low in vitamin A. Feeding of this low quality hay over an extended period could undermine the health of livestock.

Vitamin A deficiency can be a problem in swine, sheep and horses, the Foundation said, but it is especially important in cattle. Breeding failures and weak, blind calves which cannot survive may result from this deficiency, even in cases where the cow appears normal.

The Foundation also pointed out that cattle fed on hay or ranges low in vitamin A, and later shipped to feedlots, may show signs that look like shipping fever when the vitamin lack is causing the symptoms.

Idea To Observe Education Week Offered By Prof

AUSTIN, Feb. 3. — Sometimes a man has an idea so good it surprises him. So it is with Dr. Frederick Eby, white-maned University of Texas professor who suggested celebrating the centennial of Texas public education this year.

"It has taken on proportions far greater than I ever dreamed," confides Dr. Eby, who suggested the 1954 observance in letters last year to officials of the Texas Education Agency, Texas State Teachers Association and University of Texas.

Dr. Eby has contributed much material from his rich store of knowledge on the history of Texas education as background for local celebrations of the public-school centennial throughout the state.

Although he is probably the foremost historian of education in Texas, Dr. Eby is looking forward, as well as backward, as the state celebrates the 100th birthday of free public instruction for its children and youth.

"The anguish and moaning we hear from every corner of the earth are the birth pangs of an entirely new civilization struggling out of its cocoon," Dr. Eby says. "The atomic age is upon us with its bewildering possibilities and problems."

"American education is desperately in need of a new philosophy, a philosophy that will produce that high quality of human life that is essential in the new era." Dr. Eby says the school system must reorganize its schedule if it is to function effectively in its second century, because the atomic age will take much of the drudgery out of life and provide man with more leisure time. How will man spend his extra leisure?

Wranglers Stop Allen Team 65 TO 56; WILL PLAY McMURRY

The Cisco Junior College Wranglers handed the Allen Academy Ramblers their first Texas Junior College Conference setback of the season as they out scored the lanky academy cagers 65-56 at the community gym Tuesday night.

The victory put the Wranglers in second place in conference standings with a record of four wins and two losses. Allen still leads with six wins and a single loss. Decatur has three wins and two losses and is in third place in conference standings.

The Wranglers went to work early in the Tuesday game to go ahead, and held on to the lead all the way. They had a two point, 12-10, lead at the end of the first period, and were ahead 28-22 at the half. In the third quarter Cisco really went to work, outscoring the visitors 24 points to 13. In the third period they made the majority of their shots count and were ahead 52-35 going into the final quarter.

The report included: number of families assisted, 592; services rendered to these families, 1,776; long distance telephone calls made, 372; telegrams sent, 360; telegrams received, 208; and total amount of funds expended in program, $2,798.94.

Tuesday night of next week they go to Corsicana for a conference game with Navarro and Friday night return to the Community gym for a return game with McMurry.

Miss Patsy Gardenhire, student at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene, spent the weekend at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Gardenhire.

Bobbie Justice, student at N. T. S. C. in Denton, has returned to school after a week's visit in Cisco with his mother, Mrs. R. L. Justice, and sister, Janice.

TRY THIS YOURSELF—Money cannot buy membership in the world's most exclusive ski club. To be eligible, one must have an arm or leg missing. The club operates on the slopes of the Austrian Alps and was founded after World War II by a group of amputees. Many of them can streak down mountains with greater speed and agility than some two-legged skiers. Here, one-legged Rudi Fiala, right, gives final instruction to a new member, Ralph Donner, who is starting his first downhill run.

SUN AND SHADOW—As long as lissome Iris Maxwell keeps under that umbrella at Miami Beach, Fla., the sun can just keep on shining in vain—as far as she's concerned. But that doesn't keep more fortunate males who happen to be around from getting a stroller's eye-view of the shapely Iris who really is something of a treat to see.

WHITE TROUBLE—The townpeople of Juan, Switzerland, got a break when the village was covered with tons of snow, top photo. Not one person was injured. In Blons, Austria, below, it was a different story and avalanche disaster workers are shown removing a victim. They are passing a cross laid out on the ground to signal helicopters to the scene of great havoc.

USELESS—That parasol Connie Stratman is hiding is strictly a prop, for these are the days when pale white is traded for sun tan in Miami Beach. Among the most delighted sun worshipers are southbound northerners who are getting away from what they thought would be winter at home, where it remains fairly mild.

TEN TO ONE—There are ten of these pups, and only one of little Dorothy Barry in Chicago. Nine of the little doggies, part collie and part Labrador retriever, are bedded down, or trying to be, and Dorothy just can't decide where the last one is to go. The five-week-old additions in the Barry family are reaching the age where their mother must long for a baby-sitter.

OUT OF THE DEPTHS—Because it hit a mine during the closing stages of World War II, the German war vessel Altmensch went down in the Elbe River estuary at Hamburg. Catastrophes Took 1,800 Lives In Nation Last Year, Survey Shows

Catastrophes — accidents killing five or more persons — took about 1,800 lives in the United States last year, a higher toll than in any year since 1947, life insurance company statisticians report.

A major factor in the rise was the unusually heavy loss of life in tornadoes. Thirteen tornadoes killed more than 450 persons, and four of these storms, sweeping through well-populated areas, were responsible for most of the deaths.

The first of these struck Waco, Texas, on May 11th, taking 114 lives. The second and largest was a series of twisters which swept through Michigan and Ohio on June 8th and killed 142 persons, mostly in the Flint, Mich., area. On the following day a third storm cut through Worcester County, Mass., fatally injuring 88 people. A fourth storm roared through Vicksburg, Miss., on December 5th, leaving a death toll of 38.

There were eight other disasters in 1953 which claimed more than 25 lives. They were:

Scheduled passenger plane crash southeast of Mobile, Ala., February 15th, 46 lives lost.

Military plane crash near Pensacola, Fla., July 18th, 44 lives lost.

Crash of transport plane, chartered by Army, at Utah-Idaho border, January 7th, 40 lives lost.
