

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

WE NEVER STOP being amazed at the fine record that John Ben Shepperd, the Attorney General of Texas, is making in the service of his fellow Texans. The folks over at Hardin University have chosen him as their May 31 commencement speaker. And in connection with this event, they have put out a publicity story containing some information that we never knew before.

We quote their publicity release, in part, as follows: "At 38 years of age, Shepperd is one of the youngest members of the Texas executive family, a native of Gladewater, he is president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and served two years as Secretary of State before being elected to his present office."

"Recently elected Southern Regional Conference Chairman of the National Association of Attorneys General, Shepperd is also a member of the Association's executive committee."

"He took office as Attorney General a year ago and heads a staff of 47 attorneys who handle approximately 2,000 law cases a year and serve as legal adviser to 800 state and county officials and agencies."

"As Attorney General, Shepperd is a member of 34 boards and commissions of the state government, including the State Banking Board, State Tax Board, School and Veterans Land Boards and State Elections Board."

"During the first year of his administration, the Attorney General's office won 1199 cases out of 1232 tried or appealed—more than 97%. He reduced his department's telephone bill by more than half; his travel expenses 25%; issued an opinion limiting his own salary $2,000 and submitted a budget request so that his office was given more than it asked for. At the year's end he returned $25,000 of unused budget money to the treasury."

"He was named outstanding citizen of Gladewater five times. Three times, he was named among the five outstanding young men of Texas and was recently named by a national magazine among the ten most outstanding graduates of the University of Texas School of Law and holds an honorary doctor of law degree. He was in the Army in World War II, is married and is the father of four children."

John Ben Shepperd is a public official of whom we can all be proud. And we hope he continues to make himself available to public service in Texas.

OFFICE MANAGER D. N. Harrison of the Henson Construction Company reports that they have just had word from Fort Worth that their boss, Mr. J. J. Harrison, underwent surgery in the Harris Hospital there yesterday. And his condition is just fine. He's in room 767.

Mr. J. L. Thornton of Cisco is recovering from surgery in room 764 at the same hospital. Do you suppose they know they are practically adjoining rooms? They're old friends, and both are former professional baseball players and old golfing buddies.

Mr. Morrison says he didn't find out if they know each other there. But he has a feeling they do. Both Mrs. Henson and Mrs. Thornton are in Fort Worth.

MR. STEPHEN Haboush, who is to live on the western shores of the Sea of Galilee and who appears in a program at the high school auditorium tonight, was at the Lions Club for a talk yesterday.

When you hear somebody mention the Dead Sea over in the Holy Land country, you probably don't think too much about it. Mr. Haboush says a noted chemist took some of the water from the Dead Sea to his laboratory. The Dead Sea is 10 miles wide and 49 miles long. And its water contains metals and minerals worth 2,000 billion dollars. That's what the chemist told us.

Immunization Is Seen As Best In Disease Control

AUSTIN, March 25. — "Immunization is superior to all other means of communicable disease control because immunity becomes part of oneself and is always there as a defense against certain diseases."

This is the statement of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who adds: "Immunization is the best and most effective means of protection against diphtheria, tetanus, smallpox, whooping cough and typhoid fever."

According to Dr. Cox the ages that are best for immunization of children are: for diphtheria and tetanus, 9 to 12 months; Schick test, 6 months later, not immunize if immunity has not been established; smallpox, 6 to 12 months. Tetanus or lockjaw is not common; however, when it does occur it is usually fatal. The tetanus germ gets into cuts, scratches, abrasions and particularly deep wounds, so that it has always been an important problem of public health as well as military medicine.

Other ways to fight disease are through good sanitation measures. The provision of safe water supplies, the pasteurization of milk, the supervision of food and other precautions have in many communities reduced typhoid fever to a minimum. Isolation and quarantine have their place and are extremely valuable, but none of them has the quality of immunity, of being a part of oneself, and consequently always available.

COLD FRONT BRINGS DUSTER TO AREA; TWISTERS ARE REPORTED

A cold front squall line, accompanied by one-tenth of an inch of rain and a windy dust storm, passed through West Central Texas early Wednesday night. Fair weather had followed the storm today, ruling out any hopes for rain for at least two or three days.

The brief rainstorm hit Cisco at about 7:15 p. m. Hard rain fell for a few minutes, followed by high winds and dust most of the night. Area rain gauges registered about .10 inch.

Anderson reported that a varied musical and vocal program was planned for Friday night with local and visiting entertainers scheduled to appear.

On the program will be the Gospelaires quartet from Eastland, Sid Foster and his Country Roundup Gang from Breckenridge, Fonda Wallace, a 10 year old Wichita Falls television star from Munday, and many others.

Among the local entertainers will be Paul Huffman, Smiley Ricker, Kelly Coats, Roy Thacker, Charlie Brown, Cisco's own Minnie Pearl, and many others. The program is set to start promptly at 8 p. m. and will last for about two hours. Everyone in the area was invited to attend.

Farm Activity Is Slow Over State In Dry Weather

Farm activity over the state continued to drag along very slowly for this season of the year as lack of moisture, recurring dust storms and cool weather continued to keep pressure off spring planting during the past week. In the plains dust storms again reduced visibility to near zero and a haze of dust moved across the state.

Serious wind erosion occurred and the swirling, drifting sand took out some additional wheat acreage. Only a few local areas in the northeast received effective showers during the period. Freezing temperatures a week ago which extended southward to a line through about Del Rio and Austin caused further damage to fruit. A short fruit crop is now in prospect.

Wheat prospects in the north-west deteriorated further in the high winds and blowing sand. With surface moisture completely lacking and soil moisture steadily decreasing much of the remaining acreage in that part of the state was approaching the breaking point. Oats and barley prospects were deteriorating in all areas. Corn planting moved northward to the Red River but much of the intended plantings were still being delayed until moisture is received. Time was running out, however, on the optimum corn planting season over the eastern third of the State.

Lack of moisture and cool weather also delayed cotton planting in south central counties. In the lower valley "damping off" and blowing sand was causing loss of stands and necessitating some replanting. In south central counties peanut and broomcorn planting started but moisture was needed. Flax prospects continued to fade. Rice planting continued slowly.

Warmer weather in the commercial vegetable areas was favorable for all spring growing crops, especially advanced crops in the southern counties. Cantaloup and watermelon prospects were improved in the irrigated sections of the lower valley, Laredo, and the winter garden. Non-irrigated sections in early areas still needed moisture and planting of cucumbers, sweet corn, cantaloups and watermelons was being delayed.

In the south, west, and north-west, dwindling supplies of feed on small grain pastures and native ranges combined with no prospects for spring grass until soaking rains are received encouraged very heavy marketing of cattle, calves and lambs. Most remaining cattle were being taken off the eaten down, dust covered wheat in the northwest except where prospects for making grain were nearly hopeless.

Over most of the eastern third of the state green feed was generally adequate for current needs but supplies were still far short of the usual surplus feed available in that area at this season of the year. Native range grass and small grain pastures have again collected a coating of unpalatable fine dust from the recurring sand storms. Stock were showing considerable shrinkage.

Numerous Entries Expected In Show

Everything was in readiness today for the annual Eastland County Livestock Show to be held Friday and Saturday at Airplane Field in Eastland, County Agent J. M. Cooper reported. The event is sponsored by the county livestock raisers association.

Numerous entries are expected in all classes, including angora goats, sheep, fat lambs, hogs, beef cattle, fat steers and dairy cattle. County 4-H Club and FFA boys, as well as adults, are expected to enter animals in the show.

The rules provide that all animals to be shown must be in their places by 11 a. m. Friday. The judging will begin at 8:30 a. m. Saturday and continue until about 3 p. m. Judges for the show are: J. B. Pumphrey, Jr., Old Glory Hereford breeder; J. E. Kehoe, Fort Worth sheep buyer; Walter Rice, Fort Worth; James A. Gray, San Angelo, and J. O. Woodman, Arlington.

All animals must remain in the show grounds until 4 p. m. Saturday. Cash prizes amounting to approximately $600 will be distributed among the club boys. Entries of adults will compete for ribbons only.

C. M. McCain of Eastland is general superintendent for the show. Each division has a superintendent and several assistants. There will be no admission charges for spectators.

All FFA and 4-H Club boys who show either fat lambs, barrows or steers will be awarded a trip to Fort Worth again this year by the livestock show association as has been the custom for several years, it was announced by President Boy Hilley, Gorman, association president.

Mr. Cooper said that the public is invited to attend the show. "Since our club boys are the principle exhibitors of the show, your presence will lend encouragement to the general program," Mr. Cooper said.

James Starr, FFA sponsor at Cisco High School, reported that the local chapter's entries will include some 16 hogs in the various swine classes, 12 goats, three sheep, three calves and five dairy cows.

Armed Forces To Have Special Day

AUSTIN, March 24. — "Power for Peace" will be the slogan for the fifth Armed Forces Day to be observed throughout the nation May 15.

On that day and during the preceding week, Americans will pause to pay tribute to the nation's armed forces — their teamwork and efforts to keep America strong and free, to the unity of the American people and power and principles for which they stand in the world-wide struggle for peace.

The public will not only have an opportunity to observe the military might of America's active military forces but also the country's standby power of civilians — Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps reservists.

Scheduled during the observance will be parades, fly-overs, military exhibits, open houses, luncheons, dinners, balls, mass meetings and other special events. Local project officers have been named in all the principal cities and communities of Texas to work with civilian committees in planning specific Armed Forces Day observances.

The Commandant, Eighth Naval District, New Orleans, La., has been given primary responsibility for Armed Forces Day in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. The Commanding General, Fourth Army Headquarters at San Antonio has been designated as the Cooperating Commander.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hobert of Munday were the guests of his sister, Mrs. Cora Plumlee, Tuesday. E. R. Hobert accompanied them home after several week's visit with his daughter, Mrs. Plumlee.

START OF THE DAY—You know what it's like to take a dip in the morning before breakfast, but shapely Camille Stewart likes to do a few exercises before getting into the water at Miami Beach. And that makes it all the better for onlookers, too.

DO WE MEAN WHAT WE SAY?

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has launched a new movement for economy in government under the name of IGHAGS — I'm Gona Holler About Government Spending. Local clubs are being formed throughout the country. The program was discussed in March at Waxahachie at the convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. We wish the ladies success in their undertaking. Former President Herbert Hoover said recently that if 200 pressure groups would take a holiday for two years the Federal Government could save more than five billion dollars a year and perhaps balance the budget. Knowing human nature to be what it is, we have little hope of these groups ceasing or slowing down. All chambers of commerce publicly espouse the principle of free enterprise and at least give lip service to the proposal of getting the government out of business. But after 35 years of professional chamber of commerce work in Texas, I often wonder if we mean what we say.

We have seen many chambers of commerce in Texas advocate economy in Washington and at the same time (sometimes at the same

We have seen newspapers print editorials on economy in government and at the same time (often on the same page) publish pleas for more money from Washington for their favorite river, dam, highway or government housing.

We have seen chambers of commerce endorse government economy and fight to the last ditch every attempt to save money in government operation if it affects their towns.

We have seen owners of great business institutions and believers in free enterprise go to Washington in some government job connected with grants in aid or government handouts, and very soon catch Washingtonitis and go over to the do-gooders in the name of welfare.

We have seen businessmen get rich on government contracts and then support political policies in which they do not believe. Recently it was reported that five counties in Arkansas refused Federal Government gifts of dried milk, butter, cheese and shortening. It made headlines. When the first government "Emergency" Relief program was started in late 1932, a district meeting of the East Texas Chamber at Kellyville, near Jefferson, adopted a resolution refusing this government aid and condemning it as Socialistic. Later, we regret to state, we got into it up to our necks.

At a conference of regional chambers at Austin a few months ago at which the subject of economy in government was discussed, one local chamber manager said: "Let's be realistic, fellows. In my town a hospital is under construction with the help of government funds. Our doctors, who yell loudest about socialized medicine, are all for this new hospital. My members are for it. Do you think I am going to fight it?"

Today the general attitude toward government economy seems to be that nearly everybody is for it except where it affects his pet project. Do we really mean what we say? — Hubert M. Harrison in East Texas Magazine.

Cantatas and operas differ in that a cantata is a musical drama sung without costume, scenery or action, while those things are present in an opera.

Most musical terms are derived from the Italian language.

JUST FOR FUN—Two Italian youngsters in Rome are shown completing their costumes as a Balinese dancing girl and an Indian brave. The kids were needed for a big party at which some 800 children appeared in a variety of masks and costumes, all of which added to the fun they must have had.

Hollows May be Hills in Language of the Garden

Beginners are sometimes puzzled by garden talk, but soon learn that this hobby, like others, has its own vocabulary. To sow seed in hills, for example, does not mean to cover them with a mound elevated above the surrounding surface.

Except in localities where rainfall is heavy and drainage is poor, it means a point, as distinguished from a "drill", which is a row. Seeds sown in a drill are dropped continuously while hills are spaced some distance apart.

Among seeds sown in hills are cucumbers, melons, pumpkins and squash, which all produce vines that spread over the ground in all directions, also bush pumpkins and squash, which make fairly large bushes and require ample space to develop. Sweet corn is sometimes sown in hills, three plants to a hill, though the practice of growing this crop in drills is spreading.

Hills are lined up in a straight row, and spaced at equal distances apart in the row. The usual practice is to dig a shallow hole with a trowel, mix plant food with the soil in the bottom, fill soil on top of this, and then place the seeds, using a few more than plants are to be grown. This is to make sure that enough plants come up; if more grow than are wanted, the surplus ones are thinned out.

In sections of extremely heavy rainfall, or where land is poorly drained, hills may be elevated, so that the seeds are held above the average surface level, and drainage is thus improved. But in well drained gardens, it may be advisable to leave a slight depression above the seeds, since most of the varieties sown in hills are tender, and are sown late when warm weather dries the soil and rains have become less frequent than in the early spring. A depression will concentrate the moisture from light rains and heavy dews, to speed up germination of the seed.

To facilitate cultivation, each hill should be marked by a stake until the seeds begin to grow. When the hills are accurately lined cultivation between rows may be carried out with the same ease as between drills; and a hand-hoe can be used to keep down weeds in the row.

Annual Texas Day Program Presented At Meeting

The annual Texas Day program was presented, opening with the state song, "Texas, Our Texas," sung by Jack Chambliss, who mentioned that it was the 25th anniversary of the adoption of the state song. Mrs. J. T. Anderson gave a paper on Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, whose activities affect every life, "her office making her automatically god-mother of us all."

Mrs. Anderson said that everyone agrees that Mrs. Hobby is charming and capable — that the factors in her success are hard work, keen mentality, and ability to see several angles to every question.

"Since Mrs. Hobby's department has been placed at cabinet level, she has voice in highest council in the nation. She has cut workers in her department to 35,000 but is accomplishing much in pure food, personally backing plants, and improving education facilities around army posts and defense plants. There has been an increased allotment of 21.5% for public health, and 60,000 handicapped men and women have been rehabilitated and are productively employed. There are about 2 million more in need

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

Prior to World War II many thousands of people had never heard of a power of attorney. Some thought reference was made to an attorney or lawyer and did not know it was a written document.

But, with enlistments and the draft into military service of hundreds of thousands of young people, practically all who were heads of families were suddenly faced with the necessity of business being transacted during their absence: the selling, leasing or mortgaging of houses, farms, automobiles, refrigerators, household goods — in fact nearly all kinds of property.

A document called a "power of attorney" solved many diverse domestic and small business problems during the war. A power of attorney is a paper, a legal document, as is a deed, mortgage, note, etc. To be eligible for record, the document must be acknowledged before a notary public, or other like officer, or before a military officer authorized to administer oaths.

A power of attorney may be general or special. If the former, then the party named therein as agent or "attorney in fact" for the party signing the document is granted authority to "do all things that I could do if present in person." In a special power of attorney another person is given the right to convey, mortgage, or sell a certain described tract of land, a certain car, only household goods, only to endorse and cash checks, or some other certain limited authority.

Obviously, whether the power of attorney is general or special, the signer of the document must have unlimited faith in the agent named therein. That agent, as respects the power conferred on him or her, can act as completely as if the principal were present in person.

The use of a power of attorney as a convenient document is not limited to war times. Any person may occasionally have extended absences, or perhaps foreign trips may be necessary. The family may contemplate a lengthy vacation, or a person may be hospitalized by extended illness requiring entire freedom from business responsibilities. In any of these events powers of attorney may be resorted to so that absence or illness will not retard the transaction of important business.

Every act which one can delegate to another, may be authorized and legalized by a power of attorney designating the agent and the powers given. One's relatives, his attorney or banker, or a close business associate, may be given the most confidential and trustworthy authority. Any competent adult, male or female, may execute a power of attorney.

It is obvious that a document granting so much authority should be prepared with the greatest of care. A business man or attorney examining the document might at too late a date find that the agent was not given the authority needed to carry into effect the will and purpose of the absent or ill principal. Hence it should be drawn up only by an attorney, whose training and

Washington

CHARLES BURLESON, Congressman, 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Construction is being given in the Congress to provide construction of Federal buildings on a 15- to 20-year lease-purchase arrangement. The House of Representatives approved such a bill last week. It would provide local competitive bids to build post offices, courthouses, etc. The property would be leased back, and during the period, State and local taxes would be paid by the owner. At the end of the 15- or 30-year period when the lease terminated, the bill would pass to the United States.

post office buildings have been constructed since before World War II. Shortly before the Korean conflict, the Public Works Committee of the Congress planned approval of one post office in each Congressional District where most needed, but the legislation was abandoned because of the outbreak of the Korean war.

The Tax Bill passed by the House of Representatives last week is the first revision of the laws in seventy years. With changes which have come during this period, certainly some are needed. The bill is 875 pages in length, including the amendments. There is a considerable part of it which I do not know, but it was a matter of "take or leave it," since it was brought on the floor of the House Representatives under what is known as a "closed rule," which means that no amendments can be offered. I also deplored the haste of the Ways and Means committee in not making available to members of Congress this document for study. It was passed approximately four hours after debate started. It was impossible to read it, much less to discuss it.

President Eisenhower's news conference the other day, he had to say: "You know, the world is suffering from a multiplicity of fears. Fear the men in the Kremlin, fear what they will do to our people around them; we are seeing what unwise investigators do to us here at home as they try to combat subversion or bribery or deceit within. "We fear depression, we fear the loss of jobs. All of these with their impact on the human mind make us act almost hysterically, and you find hysterical reaction. "We have got to look at each of those in its proper perspective... to understand what the whole sum total means. And remember this: The reason they are feared and bad is because there is a little element of truth in each, a little element of danger in each, and that means that finally there is left a little residue that you can meet only by faith, a faith in the destiny of America, and that is what I believe is the answer."

This statement of the President reminds me of an editorial appearing recently in The Abilene Reporter-News, referring to the criminal trials of witchcraft in the State of Massachusetts 262 years ago.

It seems the State Legislature of Massachusetts has approved a bill clearing the names of those hanged as witches at that time. The analogy is drawn to the present day in connection with the mass hysteria which sometimes takes hold of the modern world. The Salem witch burnings, which lasted only a few months, operated under color of the law, but modern hysteria sometimes takes many forms of violence, and its practitioners are not always careful to operate within the law. The quotation of Robert Burns, "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," was used in the editorial most appropriately.

The last paragraph of the editorial contains a very deep truth — "Fetters in all its forms is a threat to civilized institutions. Cool heads and hearts devoted to human welfare, based on the great precepts and examples that have come down to us in the Scriptures, are the only safe guards against the Salems of this world. Not only witches were executed at Salem. The Christian religion was crucified there."
