

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE ROYAL and Pontifical University of Mexico opened its doors to students in 1553. Just one year later, there issued from the press of Juan Pablos, the first printer in the New World, a little book entitled "Dialogues for Instruction in the Latin Language," prepared by Francisco Cervantes de Salazar for use in his classes at the new school. Few copies of that original book have survived. Probably the only complete copy in the world today is in the library of the University of Texas. It was obtained in 1937 from the heirs of a noted historian who secured it in 1849 after long and persistent search.

This book has been translated and published by the University of Texas Press by the wife of a former Ciscoan — Minnie Lee Barrett Shepard. Her husband was the late Tom Shepard, formerly in the drug business here and the brother of Floyd Shepard. Tom Shepard moved from Cisco to Lubbock where they were married.

Mrs. Shepard, who has been a member of the Classical Languages faculty of the University of Texas since 1934, has visited in Cisco on numerous occasions. The author of numerous articles and poems, Mrs. Shepard is currently engaged in translating books of Justinian's Digest for the Roman Law Series, edited by Dr. Clyde Pharr.

The U of T Press published the book as an honor to the University of Mexico, which last year observed its 400th birthday. The U of M, by the way, was the first university established in North America and the book which Mrs. Shepard translated was the first book published in the new world. Mrs. Shepard's book, which has just been released, is attracting favorable reviews and attention. She sent one to Mrs. Bob Hammett, daughter of the Floyd Shepards, and it is a very handsome volume indeed.

MR. NORMAN Huston, the local manager at West Texas Utilities Co., was driving out the farm road southwest of Cisco late Monday when a front tire of the pickup truck went flat. Mr. H. then got his spare tire out and it, too, was flat. In the course of a half hour, a couple of trucks and a few cars came along and gave Mr. H. a helping hand.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of the school holidays, we drove up to the Oklahoma country over the Easter weekend to visit our mother-in-law. The folks up that way were just about in the same shape we're in — they hadn't had any rain for months until three inches fell about a week ago. Grain crops didn't look too promising, but spring weather might fix that.

The people up there were still talking about a terrible accident that occurred on the highway a week before. An 18-year old boy had just traded his hot-rod for a late model car and was going down the highway. A friend was riding with him. Somehow, he lost control of the car and it crashed into a big tree beside the road, killing both of the lads.

People were still stopping to look at the tree. And somebody had cut through the bark all the way around it, so the tree would die.

HOW MANY PEOPLE would you guess are in the Texas prisons, not including the city jails. A report just sent us by Senator Wagonmiller shows that on March 20 of this year a total of 8,156 men and women were behind Texas prison bars.

The report showed that the smallest number in prison in recent years was in 1945 when the total was 3,398. The number was down during all the war years. The survey shows that as the population of Texas grows, the prison population grows. The closer people live together the more apt they are to get into trouble. There has been a definite shift in population in Texas from rural to urban areas, which contributes to the crime picture.

The report adds that people with little or no job training seem to be most likely to get into trouble. That's an important fact for us to consider in raising children.

IN THE GARDEN—Well, not exactly a garden but hundreds of sheep graze opposite a row of apartment buildings and homes in Duesseldorf, Germany. A post-war drive is now on to produce as much wool as possible in that country to reduce the high wool import figures.

New Cracker Is Added To Premier Company's Plant

FORT WORTH, April 20. — The State of Texas as a leader in refining capacity was strengthened this week as another unit was added by a Texas refiner. Premier Oil Refining Company of Texas has just brought on stream at its Fort Worth plant, a new catalytic cracking unit which again increases the total refining capacity of the state's 64 refineries. This unit also further strengthened the State's position in having the largest share of the nation's catalytic cracking facilities.

As the new catalytic cracker came on stream this week, it enables Premier to increase very considerably the percentage of gasoline yield out of each barrel of crude oil refined. This unit, together with others installed during the past three years by Premier, will enable the company to meet the anticipated octane requirements of automobiles to be made in the foreseeable future.

In commenting on this latest expansion program which costs in excess of 2½ million dollars, R. P. Hargis, President of Premier Oil Refining Company, said, "Premier has in its system every major refining process for the production of modern automobile gasoline. It is the policy of this company to maintain a refining system which includes the latest in technique and research."

Premier's four plants are located at Longview and Arp in East Texas and at Fort Worth and Baird in West Central Texas.

The list of teenagers reporting for practice in the Teen-Age Baseball League has grown to 40, it was reported by D. N. Morrison after ten additional players reported Monday. More were expected to join the group during this week.

Among the 10 reporting Monday were three boys who played with the Little League Athletics last season. They were Ray Hill, 13; Rudy Archer, 13 and Thomas Busby, 13. AUSTIN — This is the week of decision. At his press conference last Friday, his first since the legislature adjourned, Governor Allan Shivers promised that this week he would positively answer the oft-profound question "Do you intend to run for re-election?" He has been very agile in evading a definite answer. (Editor's Note: Mr. Shivers announced that he would run for re-election.) A lot of political "futures" depended on the Governor's decision. Many office holders planned to remain where they are if the Governor decided to run again. So this was truly the week of decision.

nounced that precipitation over much of the state, including drought-ridden West Texas, brightened the prospects for farmers and ranchers this year. Everywhere, the situation was described as improved, but more moisture was needed to insure agricultural success during the coming season.

While the rains helped, the Texas drought was not completely broken. Governor Shivers said he would ask for more Federal aid for dry West Texas counties. As usual, Texas weather went to extremes.

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, there was too much rain. Flood situations existed for a time in Alamo, McAllen, San Juan, Donna, Edinburg, and El Paso. Turbulent weather conditions brought a tornado warning to Central Texas, reminding of the Waco disaster last year, when on May 11 a twister caused 114 deaths, injuries to 500, and vast property damage.

Governors from the drought stricken states of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas will meet at the call of President Dwight D. Eisenhower for a conference in Washington on April 26.

Governor Shivers has signified his intention to be present. The conference will precede a meeting of the commission on Intergovernmental Relations, to which Shivers belongs as a presidential appointee, and a conference of governors on economic and defense matters.

Government support and cutting the cost of milk and dairy production are not the answers to steadily dropping market prices. So says Sam E. von Rosenberg of Austin. He is state manager of the American Dairy Association of Texas.

Von Rosenberg contends that greater marketing and selling activities are the only solutions to the precarious position of the dairy industry. To that end, dairy farmers of Texas are setting aside two cents for each 100 pounds of milk and one-half cent for each pound of butter fat for cream, for a merchandising program to be conducted by the industry.

An important victory was won by the State of Texas in a five-year-old attempt to collect anti-trust penalties from ten major oil companies. The third Court of Civil Appeals, here, ruled that there was sufficient cause of action to entitle the state to a trial.

Filed in 1949, the state's suit alleges that the companies conspired to fix and maintain non-competitive tank wagon prices on gasoline. Defending companies argued that the petition should be thrown out because it did not give specific names, dates, and details of the alleged conspiracy.

Reversed by the court's decision was a ruling handed down in 1952 by District Judge Charles O. Betts, whose opinion was that the state had failed to show a cause of action. Companies involved in the suit are: Arkansas Fuel Oil Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas, The Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co.

The group allegedly controls 90 per cent of the state's gasoline outlets. Big Bend Park, which will receive some of the Big Horn sheep, is a game refuge, and hunting is not yet permitted in the adjacent Black Gap game restoration area created by the Game and Fish Commission. If the Big Horn sheep do thrive, the Commission plans to permit harvest of the scientifically-determined surplus on the same basis that the restored antelope herds are managed.

Meanwhile, other new Commission projects are being installed. The quail crisis is getting renewed study on the basis of Commission action earmarking $200,000 to experiment on a state quail hatchery. Authorities hope for natural quail recovery since general rains are counted on to restore habitat, food, cover and water which were ravaged by the prolonged drought. Besides, game management technicians pen-raised quail, once released, do not survive in justifiable numbers.

Other major restoration projects include one centering around a bid for legislative permission to compensate landowners providing deer for transplantation to other areas. This proposal was brought up in behalf of the huge King Ranch, which is a main Texas source of trapped deer for general distribution.

The Commission is under call for a special May 14 meeting to decide on the projected increase of coastal shell from 7 to 10 cents per cubic yard. The extra funds would go toward wildlife restoration.

Which investigated Communist infiltration of labor unions. He is a farmer and rancher. Shivers also announced the appointment of Hal Peterson, Kerr County stockman and rancher, to the Game Commission to fill the unexpired term of Scott Schreiner, who resigned. Peterson resigned from the Upper Guadalupe River Authority in order to accept this appointment.

Perhaps the 'biggest news in Texas was the rain. From it Austin office, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced that precipitation over much of the state, including drought-ridden West Texas, brightened the prospects for farmers and ranchers this year.

First Home Garden Feast is Radishes and Onions

Sow 7-Foot Row of Radishes Every Week and Eat Them Young and Crisp.

To sow the first seeds in the spring is adventure only exceeded in enjoyment by reaping the first harvest from the seeds which you have sown. You will not have long to wait for the harvest if you sow radish seed, and plant onion sets.

In three weeks you can serve both pungent vegetables to the family and let them know they are from your garden. The thrill of the first harvest is one of the pleasantest of the whole garden year. No one should miss it, but the experienced gardener learns that the sowing of radishes, at least, can easily be overdone. The onions will keep growing and are usable at all stages of growth, but early radishes quickly pass the edible stage and become pithy.

The early type, such as Scarlet Globe, matures in three weeks, and in another week loses quality, so if you have not used them all, there will be a sad waste of good radishes and garden space. To avoid waste, sow not more than seven feet of row each week until hot weather approaches, or double the sowing, but use a second early, such as Icicle, and start using it when half-grown.

For hot weather, sow one of the long, slow growing varieties; and in midsummer put in the winter varieties, which are largest of all, but good quality and can be used until Christmas.

But remember to sow radishes thinly, and give each plant plenty of room to mature. The seed come up in a few days, and many gardeners sow their first crop by mixing a few radish seed with the seed of other crops, such as carrots, parsnips, parsley and beets, all of which can be sown as soon as the soil has been prepared.

Be sure to use not more than a tenth as many radish seeds. They will come up long before their slow germinating companions, and "mark the row." This will help you cultivate without danger of disturbing the slow sprouting seeds. From 15 to 30 pounds of mature onions can be grown from one pound of onion sets, depending on the soil and care, and also on the size of the sets. For mature onions small sets are best, and they should be planted not more than an inch deep.

To grow green onions, select the larger sets, and plant them two or three inches deep. The large sets grow faster, and some of them will develop seed stalks, which is not favorable to the growth of large bulbs.

Big Horn Sheep Due From Arizona To Stock Texas

AUSTIN, April 17. — The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission said arrangements are going ahead with Arizona whereby Texas will obtain an original consignment of 25 Big Horn sheep for restocking the Big Bend-Black Gap area.

Authority for the program was granted by the Commission at its meeting at Wichita Falls. The Executive Secretary said the sheep will be obtained under the arrangement between Texas and Arizona to exchange certain wildlife species.

Texas crews will go to Arizona to trap the sheep, which will be taken during December and January and then transported to West Texas by truck. Big Horn sheep once existed in great numbers in far West Texas, but were almost exterminated by hunting pressure and destruction of habitat. A few head still remain in the Guadalupe Mountains in Culberson County.

Big Bend Park, which will receive some of the Big Horn sheep, is a game refuge, and hunting is not yet permitted in the adjacent Black Gap game restoration area created by the Game and Fish Commission. If the Big Horn sheep do thrive, the Commission plans to permit harvest of the scientifically-determined surplus on the same basis that the restored antelope herds are managed.

Mrs. Ray McEachern Honored At Shower

The Gleaner's Sunday School Class of the East Cisco Baptist Church honored Mrs. Ray McEachern with a come and go pink and blue shower Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. V. Woveler.

Gifts were on display in the bedroom on a background of green centered by a small bassinet trimmed in yellow and white with a stork resting on the top.

Yellow and white streamers ran from the lighting fixture to the four corners of the bed.

Mrs. Betty Green presided at the guest book and green punch was ladeled by Mrs. Alene Cotton. Mrs. Frances Pence served the punch, cupcakes, salted nuts, and mints to approximately twenty guests.

Those calling during the evening were Mesdames Alene Cotton, Frances Pence, Betty Green, Aline Bradley, Pat Kincaid, Freda Clay, Madeline Stewart, Frances Arrington, Marie Woolover, Oca Gibson, Don McEachern, Merle Holmes, Rebecca Green, C. A. Hailey, Oma Lee Holdridge, Tim Hamilton, Letha Stafford, the honoree, and Miss Nancy Hamilton.

Calvary Baptist WMU Has Meeting Monday

The weekly meeting of the Calvary Baptist W. M. U. was held Monday afternoon at the church.

The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Lois Carr. Mrs. W. L. Lewis gave the devotional and Mrs. I. E. Hodnett led the study of the book, "Intercessory Prayer." A discussion on the book followed. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Laverne Taylor.

Those attending were Mesdames W. L. Lewis, I. E. Hodnett, Lois Carr, Dillie Stevens, Laverne Taylor, three sunbeams, Patsy and Carolyn Carr and Melba Jean Dunham, their leader, Kay Jeffrey, and two visitors, Evelyn Taylor and Peggy Gryder.

PILED UP COMFORT—These chairs in London's Hyde Park will not be huddled around a lamp post much longer. Stored there during winter when few persons care to use them, they're now being placed throughout the park for sun worshippers.

Ever Think of Blue Monday --

... as a day when there's chores to be done which are not quite inspiring, but positively boring? Some do. But in our business we never have a blue moment, although pouring over ancient, dingy records sounds all but refreshing. To us it's all in the day's wash and we know what you mean when you say "build me a dependable abstract." Yes, it's hard work, tedious, exacting, responsible, but interesting. Try us on your next order — we never grow tired serving you.

Which of these TWO GREAT OILS should you use in your car

If your car is less than 4000 miles

Begin to use Esso Uniflo right away and continue to use Esso Uniflo throughout the life of your car.

This is a new type oil for high compression engines. Uniflo minimizes the deposits that are a principal cause of knocking and pre-ignition ping. Highest viscosity index prevents engine "drag," thus saves gasoline. HD, anti-acid, detergent. You get smoother, quieter engine performance . . . lower maintenance costs . . . improved gasoline mileage. A must for every new* car.

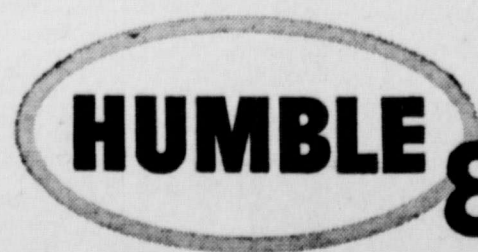

If your car is over 4000 mi. old

Humble recommends Esso Extra; it will give you outstanding performance.

Economical to buy, Esso Extra Motor Oil gives you more for your money than any other oil in the same price range. HD, anti-acid, detergent. Lengthens engine life, gives you better lubrication, a better oil seal, a cleaner engine. Premium quality . . . outstanding performance.

*Many Texans began to use Esso Uniflo in new 1953 automobiles. If you are one of these, Humble recommends that you continue to use Esso Uniflo, no matter how many miles you have on your car. To make a new car's engine run better and last longer, you should begin to use Esso Uniflo when the car is less than 4,000 miles old and continue to use Esso Uniflo throughout the life of the car.
