

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

HEAR THAT THE Homer Dormans pulled out early today for Illinois. The Cisco Junior College science teacher for the past two years has accepted a University of Illinois associate professorship. And he will complete work toward a doctor's degree.

The Dormans are fine young folks and we hate to see them leave.

LOCAL GOLFING experts kind of feel that Byron Nelson may win the Colonial Country Club open in Fort Worth this week. We got this impression from talking with Mr. W. C. McDaniel and Mr. Norman Huston.

Mr. WCM says he was so busy running into Cisco folks at the tournament Thursday that he didn't get to see much of the golf playing. Among the Ciscoans there were Zan Burroughs, Ralph Glenn, Claude Wilson, Johnny Cousins, Bill Jenkins, Buddy Deen, J. A. Robinson, Mr. Huston and Mr. McDaniel.

They report that it was the largest opening day crowd ever to attend the Colonial tournament.

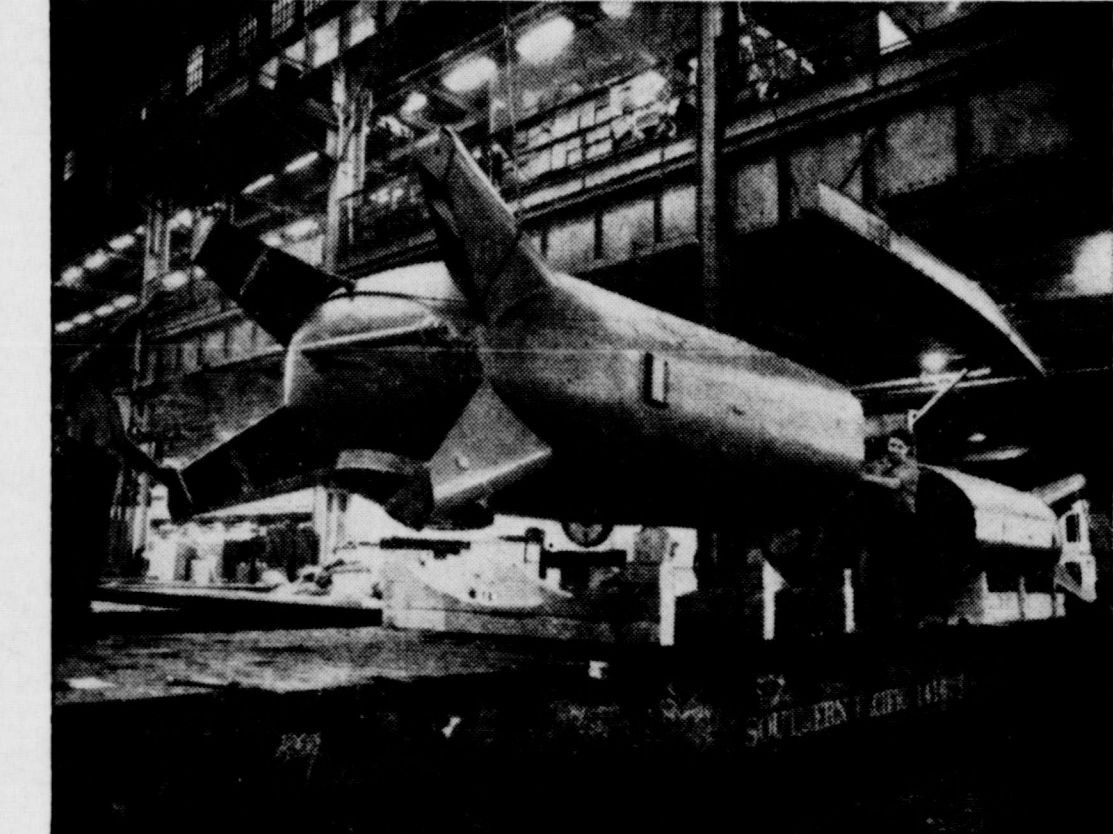

SPEAKING OF golf, there's some talk of the Lions and the Rotary Clubs of Cisco playing a tournament. Guess it would be a match play affair, and it should be interesting. Understand that the Bill Barnbys are leaving for Austin and the University of Texas. Bill has been with the Humble Pipe Line Company and has resigned. Needs a couple of years to complete work toward an engineering degree. Mrs. B. is a talented musician and will do some studying in Austin, we hear. Sorry to see this fine young couple depart.

MR. O. B. GRAHAM, who helps with the teaching chores over at the West Ward and Junior High schools, departs early Saturday for two weeks of active duty with the U. S. Naval Reserve. He's a Navy man and attends the Navy Instructor's School at New Orleans for two weeks. Mr. Graham enjoys his Navy work. While he's away, Mrs. G. and their little daughter plan to visit relatives down south.

WE GOT OUR bugs mixed up the other day. It's the doodle bug that you call out of his hole instead of the lady bug, and we're glad to correct this. Some 15 people called our attention to the mistake. Mrs. Charles Spears reports that they've located a residence in Sherman and likely will be moving about June 4. Hear that the Eastland and Ronger lake people have employed Mr. Boyce House of Fort Worth to handle a publicity campaign in the new lake. The L. H. McCreas are expecting their youngsters home from college this weekend.

BUSINESS WAS right brisk at Lake Cisco Park and Pool yesterday. Some 86 8th graders enjoyed a party, and so did members of the Lobo Band. One of the 8th grade swimmers lost a boy's wrist watch. This is the first loss of any article at the pool, they tell us. The pool is offering a reward for return of the watch. You can leave it at the Press office or at the pool if you found it.

SEE BY AN ad in today's Press that the T&P is making schedule changes. Telephoned over to their office and find that No. 7, the night west bound train, will stop here at 1:12 a. m. instead of 30 minutes later. Somebody found a lady's blue plastic rain cape and left it at our office. A reddish looking boy's jacket was also left at our office recently. Losers may have same.

FOR THE ATOMIC CAUSE—Because of its size, a three-pole circuit breaker built in East Pittsburgh, Pa., for an atomic plant in Ohio, had to be disassembled for shipment on railroad flat cars. This is the first of 35 which will be built. With an interrupting capacity of 25 million kilovolt-amperes, a single breaker can control the electric power of a large city.

History Of Money Is Told In Talk To Rotary Club

A history of the monetary system of the world was explained to Rotarians by Louis Goodwin, local authority on the subject, at the regular meeting of the club at the Hotel Victor dining room Thursday.

Mr. Goodwin, an Humble Pipe-line Company employee, has made an extensive study on the subject, and has been a collector of rare coins for the past 27 years. The former professional fighter brought a number of his coins to the meeting and showed them to members.

He said that for many centuries there was no medium of exchange, and that the population was divided into tribes or family groups that were self sustaining. As the tribes grew, he said, they became dependent upon other tribes and a system of trade was arranged in which the various nations traded or bartered goods for other goods.

PATROLMEN ARE BUSY
If you were stopped by a Texas Highway Patrolman during the month of April for an infraction of the traffic laws — you had a lot of company. As a matter of fact you had exactly 34,686 other folks in the same boat with you.

You could have been "lucky," though. You might have been one of nearly half of the total who got a warning ticket instead of an arrest ticket. And you might not have been involved in one of the 13,496 accidents during the month. Better than that . . . you might not have been one of the 6,840 persons injured in traffic accidents in April. And one thing is sure . . . if you're reading this you're really fortunate because you weren't among the 168 killed in Texas traffic during the thirty-day period.

Walter J. Elliott, chief of the Texas Highway Patrol, has just released a comprehensive breakdown of the activities of 444 patrolmen who were on duty during the month. It shows that the men, comprising the sixteen Texas Highway Patrol districts, worked a total of 108,922 hours during April at duties running the gamut from giving road information to tourists to making 11,850 arrests and passing out 16,926 warning tickets. en percent, or 40,239, of those hours were turned in on night duty.
The 444 patrolmen operated in 317 cars for the incredible distance of 1,082,617 miles. It wasn't all riding and writing tickets, however. Accident investigations took up 3,555 hours of the time; another 2,151 hours were devoted to safety work other than enforcement; and the men spent 3,612 hours on court duty.

According to Chief Elliott's figures, 8,544 of the arrests made were for hazardous traffic violations — the sort that cause accidents. Speeding, as usual, led the field with 4,803. Next in order was "Improper Passing" with 801; and drunk driving accounted for 554 of the apprehensions.
Speeding was also the leader in the "Warning Tickets" category, with 7,438. The nearly 17,000 motorists who received warnings, however, didn't get off entirely "free." A copy of the warning ticket was filed in their permanent driving record at the headquarters of the Driver's License Division of the Texas Department of Public Safety where enough of them, just like a small collection of arrest notations or accident experiences, will automatically bring the errant driver up for suspension or revocation action on his license.

"Our men always give two or three times as many warnings as they do arrest tickets," Elliott explained. "But sometimes we wonder if we're really doing the motorist a favor when he is released with merely a warning. We always hope the warning will work; that is, that it will keep the driver from repeating his error, but many times a Patrolman is called to investigate a fatal traffic accident and the driver of one of the cars is a fellow to whom he gave a warning a couple of hours earlier. Maybe an arrest would have saved a life. Maybe. I don't know."

In a candlelight service at 7 p. m. Wednesday at Wesley Methodist Church, Miss Kay Alexander of Bridgeport became the bride of John Edward White, also of Bridgeport. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bob Sanders, pastor of the church.

Both Miss Alexander and Mr. White attended Cisco Junior College during the past school year. She was a freshman and he was a member of the graduating class.

The couple was attended by Miss Cookie Barron of Georgetown and Jodie Shetter of Fort Worth. Hallye Johnson of Hamilton and Arnold Hunter of Roscoe were the candle lighters.

Mrs. W. O. Wylie was at the piano and played traditional wedding music. She also accompanied Jack Chambliss, head of the music department of Cisco Junior College, who sang "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The bride wore a gray suit and white accessories. For jewelry she wore a single strand of pearls and pearl studs. She carried a bouquet of shasta daisies. Miss Barron wore a brown linen suit with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies. The bride's mother wore a navy linen dress with navy accessories, and the groom's sister also wore navy linen with navy accessories.

The couple left on a short wedding trip immediately following the ceremony.
