The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

YOU PROBABLY saw some 60 cars come into town about 1:30 p. m. Thursday. The autos contained members of the Central Texas Polled Hereford Association and guests who were on a tour of ranches in this part of the country.

The tour began at Merkel early Thursday and made stops at the M. E. Fry and Sons ranches in Callahan County during the morning. At noon, they went to another Fry ranch between here and Moran for a barbecue lunch.

THE BARBECUE was an outstanding affair with plenty of delicious meat and all the trimmings. It was arranged by Mr. M. E. Fry and his sons, Douglas and Henry, and his son-in-law, John Petty. The meat chefs were Mr. and Mrs. Emit Vick of near San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Fry greeted the visitors as they arrived. Assisting with the serving were Mr. and Mrs. John Petty, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fry and daughter, Pat, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heysler, Howard Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huestis, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Coats and others.

THE FRY RANCH has an outstanding reputation in Polled Hereford (a Hereford without horns) circles. As a matter of fact, the ranch has the fifth largest herd in the United States. The Fry Ranch was the third largest until 1952 when drought conditions forced them to reduce the size of their herd.

The Fry herds, which include some 450 registered mother cows plus calves, bulls and others, roam over about 14 sections of land in Callahan, Eastland and Shackelford Counties. The Frys own seven sections and lease another seven sections, including a portion of the old Mitcham home place where the barbecue was held.

WHEN THE FRYs decided to reduce the size of their herd in 1952 due to the dry weather, they sold off their heifer calves. And they sold for a little over $500 each. Conditions were better in 1953, so they didn't sell a female cow. Their bulls are usually sold by the time they're old enough to wean.

The Frys have some of the best known bulls in the Polled Hereford business. One famous bull is owned in partnership with a Merkel ranch. People come from far away places just to see the Fry cattle.

THE FRY HERD had its beginning back in 1926 when Mr. Fry acquired his first registered Polled Herefords. Careful breeding for the past quarter century is reflected by the high respect accorded Fry cattle throughout the country.

Back when World War II came along, the Frys were ranchers over near Brownwood. Their land was needed by the government for Camp Bowie and so they moved over this way. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Fry live in Cisco, Henry Fry and family live on the old Mitcham place, Douglas Fry and family live on their ranch between Cisco and Putnam, and John Petty and family live on the south ranch near Putnam.

THE BARBECUE at the old Mitcham place was held under two huge oaks in the pasture. A special cooking pit was built for the occasion. And tables were arranged under the trees. . . . Saw Mr. J. L. Thornton of Cisco among the guests. . . . Two of the cars had flat tires when they started to leave. . . . Many of the Fry Herefords were in lots for the visitors to inspect. They certainly looked good. . . . The ranch is equipped with a huge auction arena and barn where private sales were conducted years ago.

THE VISITORS included noted ranchers from Colorado, Nebraska and southwestern states. Many of them were looking for bulls and heifers. The Frys didn't have an animal for sale. . . . Reporters were present from Fort Worth and Abilene. . . . When the some 60 cars hit Cisco, they stopped to fill their gas tanks. And business was right brisk at all local filling stations. . . . The party spent Thursday night at Brownwood and continued the tour in south central Texas today.

Athletics Defeat Cardinals To End First Half Play

The Little League Athletics downed the Cardinals 7-5 in the final game of the first half of play at ABC Field Thursday night behind the pitching arm of Elmer Echebedo. The game was a make-up affair of the one originally scheduled for May 24, which was postponed because of rain.

Echebedo held the Cardinals to one hit until the fifth inning when the Cards staged a rally that netted four runs off four hits. The game was called at the end of the fifth because of the time limit.

Elder was charged with the loss when he allowed seven runs to cross the plate before he was relieved in the fourth by R. Miller. Harold Weiser sparked the Cardinal rally in the fifth inning when he hit a circuit clout with one on.

The Athletics were forced to forfeit their farm team game to the Card farm boys when they were unable to field a team at game time. It was the second forfeiture made by the Athletics farm club this week.

In the Teenage game which followed the Little League contest the Lions Club Lions downed the V. F. W. Tigers 8-2. Tommy Collier won his second game of the season by limiting the Tiger batters to a single hit. Arthur Chatman was the losing pitcher, but held the Lions to six hits. Chatman struck out 12 batters and Collier fanned 11.

Alpha Elder got three hits in three trips to the plate to lead his team to the win. Tonight the Panthers and Cats will play a Teenage game at 6 p. m. and the new high school age team, the Cisco Cubs, will play a strong all-star delegation from Comanche. The Cisco-Comanche game will start soon after 8 p. m.

Saturday night the Cubs will play the Albany All-stars in a single game at ABC Field. Admission for the Saturday night game will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for students.

Score by innings in the two Thursday games follow:
Athletics 002 50 — 7-5-3
Cardinals 100 04 — 5-2-2
Lions 330 020 — 8-6-1
Tigers 001 100 — 2-1-6

OIL'S CONTRIBUTIONS TO WORLD ARE OUTLINED ON ROTARY TALK

"The Magic Barrel," telling the story of the benefits to humanity contributed by the oil industry, was the topic used by Bob Tiffany, prominent Abilene business, church and civic leader, in his talk at the Cisco Rotary Club at the Hotel Victor coffee shop Thursday.

Tiffany, secretary-treasurer of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, used a big oil barrel in demonstrating his talk. From the "Magic Barrel" Tiffany pulled out dozens of items made from materials derived from oil and gas.

He stressed the importance of the petrochemical industry, and comparatively new industry making chemicals and other materials from petroleum and its kindred products. He said that approximately a half million compounds can be made today from petroleum and that the forecast was that a million compounds could be made in the future.

From the magic barrel Tiffany took items now being manufactured from compounds of petroleum that added much to the comfort and enjoyment of the world. He explained that petroleum compounds were being manufactured into items for the individual, the car, the home, the farm and industry.

He showed clothing, cosmetics, film, pharmaceuticals, soaps, sports equipment and toys being made for individual use. He demonstrated items for the use of the car made from petroleum, such as anti-freeze, paints, plastic and nylon gears, tires and tubes, upholstery and many others. He told that the petroleum industry had contributed much to the manufacture of hundreds of items to be used around the house and showed many of the items, including building materials, decorations, detergents, electric appliances, frozen food wrappers, fumigants, paints, preservatives, refrigerants and others.

He told how the industry aided on the farm in the production and preservation of food and showed many of the items manufactured from petroleum products. Among the items were fertilizers, insecticides, soil conditioners, weed killers and medicines. In demonstrating items manufactured for industry he showed adhesives, cellophane, fibres, coatings, plastics, printer's ink, solvents, rubber, lubricants and many others. Mr. Tiffany was on the program at the invitation of Rotarian George Irvine, chairman for the meeting. Mr. Irvine introduced the speaker.

Visitors at the meeting were Rotarians Hugh Waggoner of Odessa, Hal Half of Richardson, Dick Wesson, Cyrus Frost, Frank Sayre and Jim Kuykendall of Eastland and Frank Pruett, Elbert Hall, Elmer Hitt and Leroy Jennings of Abilene.

Other visitors included Robert Luff of Longview, Homer Johnson of Abilene and Melvin Proctor of Odessa.

Value Of Sun Tan Isn't Worth Risk Taken To Get One

AUSTIN, June 3. — The therapeutic value of a sun tan probably isn't worth the trouble and risk it takes to get one.

That's the word from the State Health Department. They say a tan is nothing more than a manifestation of a skin injury.

But these same health officials are first to admit that a sensible bask in the sun makes a fine mental pick-me-up. Overdoing it the first week of sunny weather is the thing that leads to trouble.

Sunshine in large doses can kill you. More than one "sunshine sucker" had succumbed to a hot sun when he wasn't accustomed to it. Even at best overexposure can mean two or three miserable days and sleepless nights when a mere shirt is torture.

Some people are physically unable to tan. Known medically as "heliophobes," they could spend the entire summer in the sun and all they'd get would be blisters on the blisters. The reason is that their skin lacks the pigment necessary to produce the tan tint, and each new exposure means a new burn.

But if you simply have to have that golden sheen this summer, you can avoid disastrous complications by following these recommendations from Dr. Henry A. Holle, the state health officer.

Assuming you're a type who can tan — a "heliophile," that is — do it by repeated exposures of, say, 5 minutes for the first two or three days. Then increase exposure time to 15 minutes for a couple more days, and then 30 or 45 minutes until you're well done.

After that, you'll probably be safe as far as burning is concerned. But there is still the danger of sun stroke or heat prostration.

Sunshine is a source of vitamin D, as most people know. What they apparently do not know is that ordinarily healthy people can get all the vitamins required simply by normal living.

Ever wondered about the source of freckles which sometimes spread so becomingly across an upturned female nose? Here's the answer:

The color of everyone's skin is determined by the amount of pigment which is formed by the body as a defense against sun rays. Dark-complexioned people have considerable, blondes very little, and albinos none at all.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brasher over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. A. Brasher of Baytown, Ed Brasher and son and Mrs. G. L. McDonald, all of Iowa Park.

POLITICAL POISON

Our present steeply progressive federal income tax rates run up to 91 per cent. A new slant on just who really pays this tax was given by economist Henry Hazlitt in Newsweek. He makes the biting criticism that "The workers of this country are being cruelly deceived when they are led to think that 'the rich' are paying most of the taxes because of . . . confiscatory rates. Of the $31,000,000,000 that the personal-income tax yields, only about $1,000,000,000 comes from the rates above 50 per cent. Only $3,000,000,000, or one tenth, comes from the

Everyone enjoyed riding the roller coaster, going through the fun house and many other things. We arrived back at the motel about 12:00 and were very tired. The next morning, after a fine breakfast a tour of the old French Quarters was taken. We visited the old St. Louis Cemetery, drove down Pirates Alley, saw the banana docks, the old Cabildo, Jackson Square, the French Market, the famous lace grillwork, rode up Canal Street, and learned a lot of the strange history of the French Quarters. After the tour, a period of shopping and eating was enjoyed on Canal Street. That afternoon we returned to the beach and enjoyed more swimming. Everyone then went back to the motel and cleaned up. The majority of us wanted to attend the movies downtown. So, we boarded a city bus and after two transfers, one to a street car, we were back on Canal Street. "As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — After a long fight of almost a year, it is gratifying that the Department of Agriculture has decided that State and County cotton acreage allotments will be adjusted upward to compensate for acreage not planted during the last three years because of drought conditions.

Along with others, I have been working on this proposition, and have been at times rather discouraged, but finally we have had a favorable decision and hope it will be of real help to the cotton farmer in receiving a fair allotment.

It is a peculiar thing that we as individuals usually believe that which we want to believe. Consciously or otherwise, we seemingly close our minds to those things which we do not want to believe. Evidently we did not believe Hitler's MEIN KAMPF, and perhaps no one wants to take warning at Karl Marx's DAS KAPITAL.

In March, 1953, Mao Tse-tung, ruler of Communist China, sent a message to Moscow by his right-hand man, Chou En-lai, who is now representing Communist China at the Geneva Conference. Mao Tse-tung's letter was an outline of a program for the world revolution of Communism.

The message itself, insofar as the Communists are concerned, was secret, but from reliable sources we know of it.

In this message, Mao Tse-tung said that the time had come when they (Communists) must look upon Asia as their immediate goal. The reason given was that there was good chance for revolution in Asia, but that the time for the collapse of Europe was not yet at hand, and that forceful means applied in Europe might bring on a war which at the time they wanted to prevent.

The message said that the United States must be isolated by all possible means. His plan laid out directions for driving a wedge between the United States and her Allies. It said that Britain must be convinced that possibilities exist to settle the differences between the East and the West and that Communist and capitalist countries can live in peace. World Trade was to be used as bait for the British. The letter stated that in the case of France, her fear of Germany must be thoroughly exploited; that France must feel that her greatest security was in cooperating with the Communists, rather than with the Western countries.

Japan, according to the document, must be convinced that rearmament endangers instead of guaranteeing her national security.

He said that there must be 25 million well trained troops in Southeast Asia for immediate mobilization. These troops were to force the capitalist countries to keep increasing defense expenses until economic collapse overtakes them, and that a show of force, when the time is ripe, will bring about capitulation of the ruling cliques of the countries to be liberated.

Mao Tse-tung's advice to Stalin was to agree to an armistice in Korea until such time as a navy could be developed; that the lack of naval support was their greatest weakness.

The letter went on to say that Formosa must be taken over by Communist China, and that they would help the Indochinese in their revolution. (Bear in mind that this was in March of 1953.) He described the war in Indochina to be one of such an extent as to make it extremely unpopular with the French people, and to make the French and Americans hateful among the Indochinese. He said that two years may be needed to completely take over Indochina. After Indochina would come Burma, Thailand, and Indonesia, which would complete a circle around the Malay Peninsula, held by the British. When this was accomplished, explained Mao Tse-tung, the British would realize the hopelessness of putting up a fight and would withdraw, and that this whole process should be completed by or before 1960.

The Chinese Communist leader finished his letter by discussing the fall of Japan and India by 1960, after which would come the collapse of the Philippines and the Arab countries in the Middle East. After India and the Middle East would come Africa, and with this much accomplished, Western Europe would collapse. He said after the European collapse, Canada and South America would find themselves helpless and defenseless, and that twenty years from now world revolution would be an accomplished fact.

They tell us the exact pattern. Will we believe it?
