WILL INTEREST you to know that Cisco was prominently featured in "A Texas Roundup" a fancy news release just out by the USO folks. It is about the cities that are getting funds for the support of the USO through their Community Chest budgets. And it mentions a few towns like Fort Worth, Cisco, Beaumont and Midland that have made their quota. The Cisco situation is right. Our people have raised over their $8,000 quota. Treasurer Paul Farrow shows that the Community Chest has $8,149.16 and there will be a few more checks to add to the total.

THE CHAIRMEN of committees meetings around town will be alert for the C.J.C. class in parliamentary procedure has just graduated. The members will know it or don't follow the rules. Members of the class were Mrs. A. Bible, Mrs. J. J. Porter, J. V. Heyser, Sr., Mrs. Raby, Mrs. Leo Clinton, Mrs. A. Kleiner, Mrs. J. B. Elder, T. G. Caudle, Mrs. George, Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Mrs. H. Hucy, Mrs. Joe Clements, Helen Crawford and Leland.

Yesterday, her Junior Girls' quartet, composed of Misses Judy Slaughter, Carole Kaye May, Mary Ward and Linda, won a Grade A blue ribbon superior in the District music festival at Abilene. Mrs. Hammett is the highest rating.

Mrs. Hammett and the quartet go next to Corpus Christi for state Baptist contest during Thanksgiving weekend.

TOMORROW WILL be the birthday of Winona McKinney. Miss Catherine Cunningham and the Crawford Insurance Agency is vacationing up in Boston, Mass. Her trip will include Washington, New York and other places of interest in the East.

OVER AT THE First Christian church tonight the Men's Bible class is having a chili supper for members and invited guests. This real chili eating weather, and seems to us that some of the arches ought to put on some chili chili suppers like they did last year.

If you remember, they had a chili making contest at the First Methodist Church. And it was wonderful. How about several of the churches nominating a chili maker and having a city-wide chili contest?

MR. AARON Robinson, president of the Cisco Country Club, is us that the CC members will meet Thursday at 7 p. m. for family night supper. And after supper, the membership will hold an annual meeting. Commission Approves Plan To Refinance City's Bonded Debt

The first step in a program that would free the City of Cisco from a federal bankruptcy decree was taken by the City Commission at a special meeting Tuesday night at the City Hall when the council gave approval to a plan for refinancing the public debt.

The Commission entered into agreement with Rauscher, Pierce and Company and R. A. Underwood and Company, Dallas bond brokerage concerns, to undertake the refinancing program. By refinancing the bonded debt with bonds to be retired serially, the city can be released from bankruptcy, under which it has operated since 1941.

Mayor G. C. Rosenthal said he considered the action desirable and "one that will be of much benefit to our city."

The bond companies have until Feb. 15, 1955, to contact the holders of current City of Cisco tax and revenue bonds. They will seek to exchange the new bonds, with retirement serial numbers, for the present bonds that mature in 1981.

The present bonded debt amounts to about $495,000, including some $160,000 in tax bonds. The City retires some of the bonds each year under terms of the bankruptcy decree.

By refinancing the bonds and lifting the bankruptcy, the city will be eligible to issue revenue bonds up to $400,000 for new construction such as the Battle Creek Water Project, a new filtering plant, sewage disposal plant improvements, overhead water tanks and so forth.

"The commission considered this a step in the direction toward preparing ourselves for future public improvement needs," Mr. Rosenthal said.

Refunding the debt would permit retirement of the City's entire tax debt by 1971 and the revenue debt by 1977, approximately within the annual minimum amounts now required to be provided for debt service by the existing court decrees, it was pointed out.

The attorney general will not permit a city to refinance its bonded debt unless it can do so at a savings, the bond men pointed out. No election is required by law on refinancing. An election would be necessary, however, if the city decided to issue new bonds for public improvements.

In 1941, the bonded debt was reduced in a bankruptcy proceeding held in Federal Court at Abilene. The bond men pointed out that in recent years a number of cities with similar problems, including Electra, have taken steps to free themselves of the court decree.

Mr. Rosenthal pointed out that the Commission will not know for several months how the matter will work out. If the refinancing program goes through, the bond firms will be paid a commission not to exceed 5% on the new bonds.

All members of the Commission and a number of interested citizens were present. No other business matters were discussed.

OPERATION SUCKER

"Operation Sucker is rolling down from Canada's largest city at high speed," writes G. Keith Fuston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, in the November issue of The Exchange Magazine. "Despite laws, international agreements, warnings from stock exchanges and regulatory officials here and in Canada, despite the good advice of thousands of legitimate brokers here and in Canada, despite persuasion and horrible examples — in the face of all this the United States is being flooded with high-pressure sales literature and telephone calls from a few so-called brokerage firms and investment advisory services, mostly in Montreal. . . Unfortunately their sensational sales patter is all too successful. I'm almost tempted to believe that a large number of people take morbid pleasure in burying their savings in moose pastures."

a nation's resources to work. What he is talking about is stocks, usually very low-priced per share, for which ridiculous claims are made — and which, inevitably, are worth exactly nothing nine hundred and ninety-nine times out of a thousand.

The get-rich-quick boys have plenty of nerve. Mr. Fuston tells of receiving sales literature describing profits ranging up to 10,000 per cent and more. In one classic instance, purveyors of such sucker-bait actually went into the office of a legitimate American brokerage firm, mingled with its clients, and managed to persuade one of them to place an order, through the firm, for the worthless security they were touting. The firm, of course, refused to accept it.

There aren't many of these chiseling salesmen — probably less than 200. But, as Mr. Fuston says, there are enough to tar "the brokerage industry of two nations with their swindles." Recently the problem has cropped up this side of the Canadian border, due to uranium strikes in the West. The salesmen are experts in cashing in on human foolishness and cupidity. They have various effective techniques, of which the option ruse is a favorite. They offer the sucker an option to buy shares at a price which, they say, is well below that at which it will be offered to the general public. The catch is that the stock is worthless.

Both Canadian and American authorities are trying to stamp out this graft. But all the laws in the world can't succeed without the help of a public which, in Mr. Fuston's words, "will join forces with the decent elements of the securities industry." He urges that before anyone does business with a high-pressure securities salesman he check on his credentials. This can be done, without cost, by getting in touch with such organizations as the New York Stock Exchange, regional stock exchanges, the National Association of Securities Dealers, the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, state securities administrators, and local better business bureaus.

To quote him once again: "Don't let the few termites of the securities industry undermine your financial security. "Don't fall for the glib lies and fancy phrases of salesmen who are out to take you for every cent you've saved. "It's your money — protect it."

Martin and Lewis Again Issue Plea To Aid Muscular Dystrophy Research

By Dean Martin & Jerry Lewis. As National Co-Chairmen in the Fire Fighters March for Muscular Dystrophy during Thanksgiving, we receive voluminous mail requesting more details about the disease and the reasons for participation in the nation-wide campaign by fire fighters, fire chiefs and volunteer firemen.

Here are some of the answers: We have met children afflicted with this mysterious, crippling disease. We have seen the agony on the faces of their parents as they whisper that their loved-ones have but a few years to live. And, we have heard their tearful words of "thanks" for our small part in helping them. At their conventions this year, firemen and fire chiefs heard about muscular dystrophy. They saw pictures of child patients, their little arms and legs out of shape, painfully reaching the wheel chair stage, awaiting only death. But our heroic fire fighters also heard that muscular dystrophy need not be hopeless; that through generous public support scientists would be enabled to seek and find a cause and cure for the dread malady. Then and there they decided to do everything in their power to raise funds for battling this killer.

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. Thus, during the Thanksgiving season they will call on homes requesting help in their humanitarian effort. By their very calling firemen are life savers. Now they are giving up their precious free time, voluntarily walking for those unable to walk for themselves. Who'd refuse to back them up in such a wonderful cause?

Vets Questions And Answers

Q — I am planning to apply for disability compensation. Since I have just had a physical examination at a recognized private hospital, would it be necessary for me to be examined again by the VA?

A — No, it would not be necessary for you to be examined by VA, so long as your hospital examination identifies your disabling condition and presents sufficient findings so that VA can properly evaluate the condition. Further, your examination must have been certified by the hospital's chief medical officer or his physician-designate.

Q — I am in the organized reserves, and I have been called to active training duty for two weeks. Will those two weeks count in lengthening my entitlement to Korean GI Bill training?

A — No. Training duty may not be counted in determining entitlement to Korean GI Bill training. Only active-duty — as opposed to training duty — may be considered in computing entitlement.

Q — I lost my GI insurance policy. If something happens to me, will my beneficiaries still be able to get the proceeds of the policy?

A — Yes. The policy, which has been issued to you, is for information purposes only. It is not necessary to produce the policy as evidence that the insurance is in effect; proceeds will be paid anyhow, so long as VA records show your policy was in force.

Q — I am attending a trade school full-time under the Korean GI Bill. I have been told that I will be allowed 30 days of absences a year. Is this total prorated on a monthly basis, or are any number of absences during a single month permitted?

A — The absences are not prorated on a monthly basis. You are permitted to take your allowable absences at any time during your school year, according to your own needs.

HE HAS TROUBLES—Young Daniel Eisenberg, a student at New York City public school, was submitting to the needle during a health test. Perhaps the lad felt he'd feel it less if he wore a blindfold, but he seems to have changed his mind about that. After the worst was over—and even it wasn't very bad—Dan took solace in the fact that he was contributing to the advance of the medical science.

A CAT'S MEOW—Cady de Padirac, who comes from a long line of distinguished white Persian cats, fits very snugly into the cup he won as the best feline in the International Cat Club show in Paris. Cady, who's owned by a Parisienne, doesn't seem very happy about the fact that he won that award.

Prehistoric Man May Be Woman, Is Opinion At Uoff

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. — "Midland Man" — the remains of a prehistoric human unearthed near the West Texas city of Midland — probably isn't a man as first announced, University of Texas scientists declared.

Anthropological tests indicate "he" is a woman, Research Scientist Alex Krieger said.

"Midland Minnie," as one of the researchers jokingly refers to her, first was called a man because of the custom of designating ancient human remains that way.

Careful measurements of the skull proportions, brow and mastoid formations, teeth and finger bones indicate the remains are those of an Indian woman who died about age 30.

Her age was estimated by examining the closing of the sutures, or anatomical cracks in her skull. The sutures in a person's skull knit together at a given rate as the person grows older.

Krieger and Dr. Fred Wendorf of the New Mexico Museum also announced chemical tests support other archeological evidence that Midland Woman was one of the earliest known residents of the Southwest.

Tests of flourine, nitrogen, carbonate and water contents in the Midland Woman remains match similar tests of elephant, horse, camel, and giant wolf and bison bones found in the same excavation.

Any approximation of the woman's total age must await tests by machines which measure the radiation disintegration of carbon in artifacts. However, the scientists say she might be as much as 20,000 years old. Artifacts in the Folsom culture, estimated to be about 10,000 years old, were found nearby in a much later deposit.

Keith Glascock of Pampa, an amateur archeologist, discovered Midland Woman last summer in a sand blowout near Midland. Dr. E. H. Sellards, Texas Memorial Museum director, is guiding further excavations, seeking fossils which will help determine what Ice Age animals were hunted by
